About Town

Christopher Gill has been awarded a varsity letter in football from Norwich University. A junior government major, Gill is the son of Nathaniel road resident Robert Gill.

Charles Tarbell, who recently participated in an educational program sponsored by the Associated General Contractors of Massachusetts, was awarded a certificate of course completion.

Winchester realtor Ann Blackham will serve as co-chairman for the Massachusetts for the Connally for President Committee in Massachusetts.

Edward Carey Scanlon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Scanlon of Glengarry road, recently graduated from the Whittemore School of Business and Economics of the University of New Hampshire with a bachelor of science degree in hotel administration.

A graduate of Winchester High School, he was a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity and also attended Boston University.

Two Winchester residents were members of this year's soccer team at Allegheny College. Christopher L. Morgan and Thomas E. Shirley were members of the team which finished fifth in the NCAA Division II Presidents' Athletic Conference with a 2-4 record. The team logged a 6-6 mark overall.

Thomas Vangell, currently assistant vice president in charge of the money department at the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, has been appointed vice president and will assume responsibility for the money and securities division.

Vangell's association with the Bank started in 1965 when he joined the accounting department. His assignments as assistant vice president included responsibility for the accounting, security, and data systems operations departments before he transferred to the money department.

Vangell is a graduate of Boston College and holds a master of business administration degree from Babson College. He is married with three children.

Rev. Kenneth Orth, minister of youth at the First Congregational Church, will be participating in a seminar in analytical psychology in Zurich, Switzerland, from Jan. 6-31.

Rev. Orth is serving as one of the representatives from the Andover Newton Theological School where he is completing doctoral work in psychology and clinical studies. At the seminar he will be involved with pastoral counselors, psychologists and psychotherapists from various parts of the United States.

Recent volunteers at the Channel 2 pledge night were Eleanor Bates, Frances Cosentino, Hannah Dizio, Frank LaSalle and Betty Vallee, all of Swanson Associates. Along with several other members of the Greater Boston Real Estate Board they received telephone pledge donations to the station.

William F. Caci, realtor, Paul Crotty, Jean Fitzgerald, Norma Foti, Judy Lynch and Mary Ann O'Callaghan recently attended a week long seminar sponsored by the Realtors Institute of Massachusetts. All five passed the final examination at the end of the week which qualifies them to take the second course.

Susan P. Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford W. Scott Jr., has been named to the dean's list at Wheaton College for the semester.

For The Vietnamese Refugees, A Weary Ten-Month Odyssey Is Over

Even the young ones have already lived through a lifetime of experiences. They've traveled for almost 10 months, sometimes for days at sea in a boat jammed with people, sometimes in a craft knee deep in water. They've been shot at, fenced in like criminals, sick and nearly starved. When they arrived in Winchester two weeks ago, the family of seven Chinese refugees, driven from Vietnam early this year by the Communist government which has taken over that country, had at last reached the end of their odyssey. Sitting in the living room of their new home on Wildwood street last week, the father of the refugees, Khai Tran, 41, spoke of their journey which began on the night of March 10.

The Tran family left Vietnam on a boat about 16 yards long and four yards wide. They were among 157 people who were fleeing Vietnam, having had their property, their food and their freedom severely restricted.

Two boats headed south from Long An, Vietnam, where the Trans had lived. After five days at sea they finally reached their destination of Malaysia around midnight of March 15. However, the Malays, not wanting their country overrun with refugees, began shooting at the boats. This continued for hours until the Malays, realizing that the majority of the people on the boats were women and children, agreed to let them come ashore.

Once on land the Malays herded the refugees into a factory and fenced them in. Prohibited from leaving the factory, sick and starving, the refugees were given one can of rice each which was at first supposed to last them five days. As time went on it had to last seven days and finally 10 days before they received anything else.

Most of the refugees traded gold jewelry with the soldiers and police for money. But when they tried to escape from the factory to buy food they were severely punished. "The people were so hungry they escaped," says Tran through an interpreter, 13-year old Anh Nguyen, another Vietnamese who lives in Winchester with his family. "When they broke through the fence the Malays kicked and beat them like dogs," Tran recalls.

After a month the Malaysian government sent one boat of refugees back up to Vietnam. The boat which Tran and his family were on, knee deep in water, would never have made the trip however, and it was decided they would go to an island not far from the coast of Malaysia called Bex Donh.

But in a turn of events which was typical of the treatment the boat people had been receiving, they were towed past Bex Donh and towards Indonesia. At one point, their boat was cut from the Malaysian craft leaving the refugees in

Edward Brickley: Accountant By Day, Patriots' Scorekeeper On Weekends

By JIM HARTMAN

Edward G. Brickley, 44, looks just like what one would expect an accountant to look like - neat and conservative down to his horn-rimmed glasses. Clean shaven, his light brown hair cut short and parted to the side, Brickley appears physically to have been cut from the same cloth that produced John Dean, the notorious ex-White House lawyer.

His eyeballs slightly magnified by the lenses in his glasses, his words coming out mildly but in crisp and clear clipped notes, Brickley seems perfectly adapted to his position as manager of Corporate and General Accounting for the Polaroid Corporation in Cambridge.

But, on Sunday afternoons from August through December, whenever the New England Patriots play home games at Schaefer Stadium in Foxboro, Brickley uses his professional skills to be part of, in true "Walter Mitty" fashion, a team entirely apart from his gray flannel weekday world.

On Sundays, from his perch in the press box high above the playing field, Ed Brickley becomes the Official Scorer and Chief Statistician for the New England Patriot Football team, the 1978 AFC Eastern Division Champions.

Brickley, who has lived in Winchester for 15 years, has been working on the Patriots' statistician crew for the last 13 years. His appointment to the position of chief of the crew came in 1974, when his predecessor, Jack Dwyer of Lexington, resigned and recommended him as his "strongest assistant" among the six staff members.

"I had an affinity for it, I guess, I liked it," Brickley says. "But you have to enjoy working with numbers, otherwise it would drive you wacky."

Brickley says that if it hadn't been for Dwyer, his career with the Patriots "never would have happened." Dwyer, the Chief Statistician for Boston College and the former head swimming coach at Lexington High School, knew Brickley at Boston Latin High School and then at Boston College.

When he needed a new staff member back in 1966 he remembered Brickley's youthful devotion to baseball, as well as the fact that he had become an accountant.

"I loved baseball when I was growing up," Brickley says. "I used to think the sun rose and set on Ted Williams, and I kept detailed stats on him."

Edward Brickley

"I had no interest in pro football until the late '50s when television started showing the games. But, I always had the illusion, growing up, that I might have a job in sports one day, somewhere or other."

As Brickley says, it was "a classic case of not what you know but who you know," that enabled him to have his youthful dreams realized.

In reality, the responsibilities of Brickley's sideline occupation demand a good deal of effort and concentration. During the week he spends approximately six hours preparing for the upcoming game. He checks to see that the cumulative statistics for the team and its individuals, which he records, agree for the team and its individuals, which he records, agree with the worksheets compiled by his staff during the game on various documented statistical categories.

The National Football League (NFL) requires this information to be collected for each game by the home team. After each game, Brickley adds the data from it to the cumulative information from the preceding games, and phones it in to the Elias Sports Bureau in New York City. Elias keeps the official NFL records, and annually prints the Official NFL Record Manual, in which every conceivable statistic relating to the league's history can be found.

Tri-Hospital Merger Plan Rejected By Winchester Hospital

A proposal by Health Systems, Inc. that would merge the corporations of Winchester Hospital, Choate Memorial Hospital in Woburn and Symmes Hospital in Arlington has been rejected by Winchester Hospital, possibly signaling the end of any tri-hospital consolidation plans. "The thing at this time just isn't going to fly," said Jack Hunter, administrator of Winchester Hospital last week. He declined to comment further on why the local hospital has pulled out of the merger plans, stating that he was in the process of preparing a presentation explaining Winchester's position which he will give to various health services.

In a news release issued by Winchester Hospital, it was stated that much of the motivation behind a consolidation stemmed from changing circumstances in which community hospitals find themselves. Increasing governmental regulations as well as pressure to control costs in a period of high inflation, have severe effects for labor intensive businesses like hospitals.

"At the same time," the release continues, "medical research, largely supported by the federal government, has provided many new procedures and equipment for treatment of the sick. The proliferation of alternatives has offered the doctor and the patient more choices and inevitably the opportunity to incur greater cost for health care. At the time of illness, both patient and family want the benefit of the best care, utilizing all appropriate alternatives. In that moment, seldom is the financial cost considered."

The statement also pointed out that "other major issues which the hospitals have tried to address together include: changes in their market like the coming of the Lahey Clinic in Burlington, needs of increasing numbers of elderly, broader health education in the community and elimination of unnecessary duplicate services. "Some action has been taken. Choate and Symmes have closed their obstetrics departments. The result is that Winchester has the number of births which the government considers necessary for the continuance of an obstetrics department. Another example of cooperation has been the institution of joint educational meetings by the medical staffs of the three hospitals."

"Early in their effort to work together, the three hospitals realized that the greatest benefits could be achieved if merged into a single facility. The hospitals have gone so far as to obtain an option to purchase a large portion of the Winning Farm which was found to be the only well located site large enough for the combined system. The Winning Farm would continue its present activities which use only a portion of its property."

"Recently, however, the hospitals have had to conclude that they cannot at this time afford the new combined facility. But, they intend to maintain their option at Winning Farm."

"The hospitals turned their attention to the alternative of a corporate merger with the continued operation of the three present acute care facilities. The complications involved in this approach are such that the benefits became somewhat illusory and much more difficult to achieve. Bigger is not necessarily better and less costly. The operation at three locations will complicate internal communications."

The idea of a merger, especially between Winchester and Choate has been around since 1965. The possibility of a tri-hospital fusion came about 1977.

In late November, directors of the Symmes and Choate hospitals indicated that they were ready to go ahead with the merger as proposed by Health Systems, Inc. However, the corporate board at Winchester Hospital had not yet met on the matter.

Poole Becomes First New Policeman Hired In 4 Years

In what is the first new appointment in four years, Winchester Police Chief John P. McHugh announced Monday that David Poole, a member of the Auxiliary Police Force and the son of a former Winchester Police Officer, has joined the local police department.

"This is the first of perhaps many," said McHugh. Poole, whose father Al was a member of the Winchester Police, will attend a 12-week training course in Topsfield before being assigned to duty.

Poole has been a reserve police officer for the Salem, N.H. Police Department since June. Previous to that he has worked as a summer replacement in Barnstable County, and a summer replacement in 1977 in Winchester. A graduate of Northeastern University, Poole is presently a member of the Massachusetts National Guard Military Police and is 27-years old.

charge of their own fate. "When they told us where to go we asked them how we could get there," Tran states. "They said that when we got there we'd know how."

Sick, hungry and slowly sinking, the refugee craft traveled for 72 hours before coming to the Indonesian island of Tulai where they stayed for five months.

It was on this island where the fate of the Trans and all of the other refugees was most in jeopardy. Although they received about a can and a half of rice every two days from the Indonesians, almost 80 of the 157 people originally on the boat died from disease and starvation.

"We didn't know if we would live or die or whatever," Tran recalls. "On all of these islands nobody had ever lived there before and people got sick from the water."

The first two months were the toughest. The Trans had to buy their own "apartment" on Tulai. "It was in fact a one room hut about the size of the living room they were sitting as they recalled their trip."

"The house was made out of wood that would shake when the wind blew," begins Tran. "One day, there was a storm that took the roof off."

Although diarrhea was a common illness, Tran and his family were lucky in that none of them were severely ill. After two months, organizations from the United States and Italy came to the island with more food and medical supplies. "They brought food for the people, but most of it was taken by the Indonesians before it got to us," Tran points out.

Plans were made to move the refugees to another island called Galang, a sign to Tran that he and his family would survive and that their nomadic life was near an end.

After 27 days on Galang, many of the refugees were moved to Iraq, where they found out they would be coming to the US. "That was our happiest day," Tran states.

The Ecumenical Association, which is seeking monetary donations for the Tran family that can be sent to Post Office Box 322 in Winchester, heard about the refugees through Richard Miller of the International Institute of Boston, who spoke to them during the recent fast for Oxfam America. He told them that three refugee families were coming to Boston and they indicated their willingness to support one of the families in Winchester. The arrangements were made and the Tran family was welcomed to Winchester two weeks ago.

The conditions that drove the Trans out of Vietnam are incredible, Tran, who had moved to Long An from China when he was seven, was a merchant there when the Communists finally toppled the Saigon government four years ago. His business came to a quick end with the new regime. "When the Communists came they took all their properties and told them to go to another place to live," says Nguyen, a refugee who traveled a similar journey as the Trans when he escaped from Vietnam hours before Saigon fell.

"The Communists would show up at midnight with guns and take what they wanted," states Tran. "They would take our property and then make us sign a sheet of paper saying we gave up that property."

Tran and his family were sent to an area that was basically a forest where they had to clear the land and then build a home from the trees they had chopped down.

Even after starting over, the Communists were still a force in their lives however, claiming 80 percent of the food which Tran and other families grew. The people who were professionals or who owned businesses were effected the most by the Communist takeover. The poor were usually left alone, since they had nothing worth taking.

Speaking with neighbors was forbidden as it was assumed the topic of conversation was escape or revolt. "If they caught you they took you both to different rooms and told you to write what you talked about. If the two writings matched it was alright," Tran points out. "But if they did not say the same thing, they put you in jail."

Tran and his family were allowed to travel practically anywhere in the country, but their property and possessions could not be moved. They did escape with some belongings on the night of March 10 when they began their trip.

According to the Ecumenical Association, checks to the Winchester Ecumenical Refugee Resettlement Committee should be made out to the church of your choice, with a note attached that it is to be forwarded to the committee. By addressing it to a church, the donation then becomes tax deductible, while it would not if sent directly to the Resettlement Committee.

"wild pitches and passed balls," although several calls he does make are "brutal for statisticians."

These include determining who recovered a fumble, made a tackle or blocked a kick. Spotting the ball causes further headaches. For example, the sideline yard-markers will call the line of scrimmage the 20-yard line while the referee might place the tip of the ball over the 20, which makes the 21-yard line the official line of scrimmage.

And, regardless of what the scoreboard says, or even what the referee says about a "third-and-ten" situation, if Ed Brickley decided the ball is nudging over the line, then he'll call it a "third-and-nine" situation. And that's what will go into the record books.

"That's where my decision making comes into play," he says, adding that he and his staff members confer continually. But, "my decisions are final" he adds.

Brickley's family includes his wife, Betsy, and three children, Beth, 17, Pamela, 16, and Edward Jr., 13. All three children enjoy sports. However, none go to the games with him, as they can't get into the press box, and he feels they are too young to be by themselves in Schaefer Stadium. Since Brickley also does statistics for the Boston College team on some Saturdays during football season, he doesn't get to spend much time with his family.

"It's good when it's over," Brickley says. "It's a bit of a hardship for my wife. It's a very long process on the day of the game. But, the off-season is good because it gives me time to spend with my family."

There does seem to then be at least some sympathy for spouses and children who lose family members to the football spectacle during the fall and early winter. But, though the afflicted souls who cannot keep themselves away from those helmeted gladiators on Sunday afternoons might express their sympathy as Brickley does, they offer little hope for change.

"I love the atmosphere of the press box," Brickley says, "and the sports scene is different from anything else I've been associated with. There are fascinating people in the press box, and I get to rub elbows with them. I'm not a back-slapping sort of guy, but it's kind of a kick when you get to see people you'd only see on TV otherwise, like Don Gillis and Roy Reese. After all these years they recognize my face and will give me a nod." "Sometimes Howard Cosell, Frank Gifford or Don Meredith will come into the press box to talk to the writers. I guess it's kind of a closet thing, to be with the famous and near-famous. Generally the: come across as relatively ordinary people. Their job puts them a step ahead of the rest of us."

On Sunday afternoons, his gray flannel temporarily put aside, Ed

Brickley climbs up those press box stairs, and, for a short time, lives in the clouds with the likes of Pete Rozelle, Howard Cosell, and Walter Mitty.

Youths Return From Florida

A young Winchester girl, missing since Dec. 24 after she withdrew $500 from her bank and drove to Florida, along with three Arlington boys in her father's car, has been returned to Winchester after she was picked up by the police in Daytona, Fla., according to the Winchester Police.

The four runaways, including one of the Arlington boys who was sought on two misdemeanor charges by police in that town, were stopped by Daytona Police after they had abandoned their car following a breakdown. The four were held by the U police after it was learned that the car had been reported stolen by the Winchester girl's father.

The four youths had stayed out all night on Dec. 24 along with a Burlington girl. She declined to go south with them on Christmas however, and reported to the police where they were headed. On Dec. 26, one of the Arlington youths called home to his girlfriend from Daytona and told her they were on their way to Miami.

Two days later, the runaways experienced car problems and were subsequently picked up by the Daytona Police. The Winchester girl's father, along with the father of one of the Arlington boys, flew to Daytona to bring the youths home.

One of the Arlington youths, who was 18 and the oldest of the group, was held by the Daytona authorities for grand theft of an automobile since the car had been reported stolen. However, the Winchester parent has told Winchester Police that he did not wish to press charges against the youth. As of Monday morning, the Arlington boy was still being held in Daytona, pending formal notification from the Winchester Police.

In other police news, local authorities are investigating an illegal entry at a Thompson street dance studio, following a report of 12 shirts missing on Friday. According to the police report, a small bathroom window was found open with no other signs of forced entry.

Vandalism was reported on Friday also as five Ford vans at Bonnell Ford on Cambridge street had the tires removed during the night. A total of five tires and rims, valued at $545 were stolen.

On Saturday, three Winchester youths were arrested early in the morning for being idle and disorderly in Winchester Center.

An Interview With State Senator Samuel Rotondi

He is 33 years old and is in his second term as State Senator. As a freshman legislator in 1978 he received the Legislator of the Year Award from the Mass. Municipal Association, and in 1979 he received the first Legislator of the Year Award to be given by the Mass. Hospital Association.

"I feel much better about my job now than I ever did before," Samuel Rotondi said recently. "I don't have the automatic built-in reactions that I used to have. I'm much more careful about weighing issues and much more in tune with other ideas than before. I have participated in the process to the extent that I would not necessarily go along on issues with the leadership lines."

In a recent interview Rotondi spoke on his tenure and the issues that have been before the General Court in the last legislative session.

Rotondi, an attorney, serves on the legislative judiciary committee, is vice chairman of the taxation committee, a member of the healthcare committee, has worked with State Rep. Sherman "Whip" Saltmarsh on transportation, and is chairman of the two-month old Civil Service Commission.

This commission, which is currently sponsoring a series of state wide public hearings to consider revamping the civil service system, was formed through the Public Service Committee, of which he is the chairman.

In the present Civil Service system, there's no real recruitment program of qualified individuals, little or no merit rating to evaluate public employees, no structure where a person could improve with increments, and little effective management.

He sees several potential solutions to the problems of civil service. He believes that it is better to have a civil service system than not, otherwise the system of political patronage would be worse than it already is. The appointment and granting of public sector jobs has to be insulated, Rotondi says.

Some communities would do well without the system, others wouldn't. But, there has to be a delegation of authority to decide whether or not the system should be state or locally controlled. At present only three communities have local control.

The Commission will have to weigh the issues of tenure, veterans' preference, and the system of controls in a state controlled system.

Rotondi, who sponsored a bill to allow communities to better allocate and appropriate monies to lessen the future impact of pension costs, says there are several reasons why local pension systems have problems. Some of these include the fact that there is no central computerization of local systems, the majority of cities and towns have not addressed the issue of appropriating monies for future use, and the Commission of Insurance office "is in a mess."

My goal, he says, is to have a computer bank - a central terminal which would be in tune with the status of various local boards. Rotondi, who says he is interested in pensions because of his chairmanship of the state Public Service Committee, says that the area of pension assets must also be addressed.

On the question of the four percent tax cap, Rotondi says he voted in favor of it because it allowed flexibility for communities. He says he thinks there are so many state mandates which have little regard for the community that this mandate should be subject to the will of those on whom it is imposed.

Acquisition of the minibuss system, to which Rotondi credits Saltmarsh for work the State Representative did, was also accomplished during the last legislative session.

Rotondi says he has been involved with the deinstitutionalization of state mental patients. Although he says the Cross street project is a blatant example of insensitivity by Task Oriented Communities to local residents, he supports the concept that patients who don't really need state hospital care should have the right to access in the community.

The problem with the approved pay raise legislation, according to Rotondi, was in the public's perception of the bill. It came in a setting when the public had little faith for an established political process, and it came on Halloween Night. What the vast majority of the public didn't understand was that the package voted on Halloween was an amended version of a bill from last February.

The form of that bill, Rotondi says, was bad. Larger legislative increases "were bad." "But, the essential element of whether legislators should begin to earn more than $20,000 a year, and correspondingly be forced to work at their legislative duties on a more full time basis was really the issue."

Legislative duties, Rotondi thinks, have become more full time than ever. There is little choice anymore as to whether or not a legislator can perform duties on a part time basis. Those legislators who complain the loudest, he says, often have the greatest outside interest. Do constituents want this type of legislator or do they want a legislator who is putting in time and being paid for the work, Rotondi queries.

Rotondi, who voted in favor of the pay raise, says that the increase will not make a difference as to whether or not he will stay in office. "Behind the bad form and the exorbitant and unjustified increase that night was a very vibrant issue affecting the future of the state."

If legislators are paid commensurate with their work, it will be evident in either services or time spent. If legislators are full time, the office will attract people into the system, and force the public to demand full time services.

Rotondi says that things were done which made this legislative session a very productive one. "It's too bad that this issue has colored the work of a whole session."

Although it is almost impossible to gauge how the majority of voters feel on a particular issue, Rotondi says he is often able to get a collective sense from going door-to-door. He will vote according to this on everyday issues, however on serious moral legislation he goes with personal feelings more often than not.

Rotondi attended the Winchester Public Schools, and was captain of the football team during high school. He graduated from Brown University in 1969, where he majored in English, and graduated from Suffolk Law School in 1972.

After passing the Bar exam he went into the Air Force, and is still a Captain in the Air Force Reserves.

Practicing law from 1972 through 1974 became "too much of a private life for me." Whereupon he took a job as director of legislation for the Mass. Bar Association. After observing the legislature in session he started a six-month campaign for State Senator in February, 1976.

In September, 1976 he ousted then incumbent Senator John Bullock from Arlington and was elected to a first term in November of that year.

English Tutors Needed For Vietnamese Kids

English tutors are needed beginning this week to teach the children of the Vietnamese family who have resettled in Winchester. The three children, who are attending the Lincoln School, are learning English from 1 to 2:30 every afternoon. Volunteers are needed one afternoon a week to help in this program, which runs until the end of the school year.

No experience is needed and no knowledge of Vietnamese is required. Lee Behnke is coordinating the tutoring program. She can be reached days at the school department, 729-8850, and evenings at 729-5788.

Donations of money are also needed for this family of seven to pay for food, utilities, rent, and other expenses. Tax deductible contributions may be made payable to the church of one's choice, earmarked for Refugee Resettlement, or to the Rev. Thomas Donnelly at St. Eulalia Parish, 50 Ridge st.

Letters From Readers

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Ayatollah Khomeini is the Soviets best friend in the Islamic world. He fraternizes with the Soviet supported PLO terrorists and Libya's infamous Quaddafi, bankroller of revolutionary assassins.

It has been charged that Khomeini was a Soviet agent during the 1950s "when the KGB penetrated the Shiite Moslem sect."

As for the Shah, he was a bulwark against Soviet adventurism for more than 30 years. He backed anti-communist Arab regimes, permitting the US to use important missile monitoring installations, and a safeguarding the oil producing areas of the Persian Gulf. If he was authoritarian, he granted more personal freedoms than Iranians will ever enjoy under Khomeini's tyranny. Carter was warned many weeks prior to the attack on our Embassy that there might be "an attempt to take hostages" and he chose to ignore the warning.

There is a saying in the Middle East "it's a wise Arab who ducks before the camel spits." Carter didn't duck.

Wages

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Here we go again with gloom and doom.

I do not know how our Congress expects our people to live who are getting paid minimum wage today because every time you go into a grocery store everything has gone up over the weekend.

Wages stay the same and everything else goes up. Congress can vote themselves a raise any time. Go into a doctors office and if he is a (specialist) he will say $40. please, and they want cash. In some cases he will wait, but if you can't pay for a while you get a demand for this amount from a collector's agency.

Wait a worry for our low paid man. Really he can't sleep at night because he is so worried about bills.

The government men have all this paid for by good old Uncle Sam.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Speaker O'Neil claimed that the oil companies' profits were "obscene." When one speaks of "obscenities" how about the "obscenity" of Carter's $10 billion Department of Energy which hasn't produced one gallon of gas, hasn't promoted alternative fuels, oil from shale, gasohol, alcohol, etc., but whose regulations resulted in long gas lines.

What about Carter's "obscene" $14 billion Department of Education ending local control of schools.

What about the mis-named "Windfall Profits Tax" that will prevent oil companies astronomically expensive exploration for new oil sources, ending Arab oil domination, but will be a "windfall" for Campaigner Carter, rewarding supporters with more costly Washington bureaucracies.

The "obscenity" of a $750 federal debt, a $40 billion interest, chief causes of inflation.

The "obscenity" of giving away, despite public outcry, America's priceless Panama Canal plus $4 billion to Castro cohorts, aiding the Sovietization of Central America.

Oil companies now pay a 60 percent profits tax, employ thousands, produce a vital product, pay dividends to thousands of shareholders.

There is no "crisis of confidence" in the American spirit which has weathered wars, depressions, and created the world's most prosperous and freest country, but in a profligate president and congress buying notes with taxpayers' money, spending this nation into bankruptcy - how "obscene!"

Pay Raise Repeal

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The petition drive to repeal the legislative pay raise slowed down during the holiday season. The issue is still controversial and has offended the citizens of the Commonwealth.

I sponsored the pay raise repeal petition drive because I felt the way it was enacted - in the wee hours of the morning - was an outrage. It was untimely and the amount of some of the raises was unfair. If you agree, there is something you can do about it.

We need people to help us collect signatures to put the pay raise repeal on the November, 1980 ballot as a binding referendum question. Some 29,000 signatures must be gathered by Jan. 18, if we are to succeed.

Petitions can be obtained by calling me at the State House at (617) 727-2375 or by writing me at: State House, Boston 02133. I will forward petitions immediately to those who would like to help me repeal the pay raise.

Postal Boxes

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

When Congressman Markey was first elected as our Congressional Representative I wrote to him concerning a lack of postal boxes in my neighborhood. I never received a reply.

Recently, a friend of mine reported that he had contacted Markey's J.F. Kennedy Building Office and talked with a Mr. Ogle. Two weeks after the contact with Ogle, neither Mr. Ogle nor Congressman Markey corresponded further, despite Mr. Ogle's assurance that this would happen.

This is a minuscule sample of Congressman Markey's contacts with his constituency, perhaps not the least bit typical. My question is "Are there any of the Star's readers who have had better luck with Markey's office?"

I do not like to think that those of us who live in Winchester only hear from our Federal elected officials when they are running for office.

(Editor's note: According to a spokesman in Congressman Markey's Boston office, no letter was received concerning an inquiry about postal boxes).

50 Years Ago

An interesting relic of a bygone age was unearthed recently by workmen of the James J. Fitzgerald Contracting Co., who were at work in the sandpit in the rear of the Puffer Factory between the railway tracks and Aberjona River.

They found a curious stone implement resembling a carpenter's gauge. About eight inches long and two inches wide, it was hollowed for about half its length, the solid portion evidently serving as a handle.

The curio was turned up by Joseph Delorey of Medford who was screening loam. Struck with its appearance, he took it home and then turned it over to his employer, James J. Fitzgerald. The latter was using the thing for a paper weight when it caught the eye of Samuel S. Symmes who owns an extensive collection of Indian relics.

Symmes was given the relic by Fitzgerald and says it is one of the most interesting he has ever seen. He believes the stone implement dates far back beyond Indian times because of the pitted condition of the stone, some of which is now crumbling with age. Symmes hopes to secure information which will help him in dating the relic more accurately. All who have seen it agree that it is a rare find. And workmen busy at the site where it was discovered are on watch for more treasures.

A Thought Out Letter In Favor Of An Underpass

(Editor's note: Henry Simonds, local historian, recounts tales of Winchester in 1930).

TO THE EDITOR OF THE STAR: Some years ago when there was agitation in regard to removing the monstrosity at the depot, better known as the bridge of sighs, that was recently removed by the folks that control the bridge; namely, the Boston & Maine Railroad officials, I was opposed to an underpass because I believed it would be an expense to the town.

I have, however, after careful observation, come to the conclusion that the bridge should be removed. Why? Because very recently a train of cars with a huge crane, or derrick attached to one of the cars, demolished the bridge.

Now then, assuming that some of our children, brothers or sisters, fathers or mothers, were on the bridge at that time. What would have happened? That is not for me to assert! I believe it has come to pass that the time has arrived when we certainly need an underpass.

Let us pass the word around that the construction of the underpass is one of the most progressive, humanitarian movements that the electorate has been called upon to decide for a number of years.

In one sense there is more danger at the depot than at the crossing. Why? Because at the crossing there are gatemen and policemen to warn pedestrians. No such protection is manifested at the depot. You are permitted to ascend the stairs if there is a train approaching. And remember, the voters may defeat this proposition, but that does not necessarily signify that we acted wisely when we cast our votes.

Why? Because when the Manchester Field proposition came up for discussion it was defeated. The men who believed Manchester Field would be a valuable asset to the town apparently were not discouraged. They labored more efficiently than ever to prove to the inhabitants of Winchester that Manchester Field and the Mystic Valley parkway would eventually be developed into one of the show places of the Commonwealth.

There they stand! What do you think of the development? Hence, when the proposition came before the voters for the second time, the voters apparently exercised their intelligence and believed that the men were behind the proposition were working for all the people and the future people of Winchester.

How well I recall our first Water Board was criticized when they suggested that we construct a reservoir of our own instead of drinking the water from the Aberjona River and the wells that were so numerous in our backyards adjacent to pig pens, hen yards and livery stables.

You can very readily ascertain that every progressive movement that was advocated by men who believed they were working for the best interests of us all was criticized, but that is natural, if it is constructive criticism.

We all should be grateful to the men who extend their time gratis to the town. We should encourage and not discourage the men and women who are laboring for the best interests of the Town of Winchester. Surely none of us is infallible. We all make mistakes like the baseball players make errors on the baseball diamond and the football players fumbled on the gridiron when a touchdown is in sight.

Let us not delay in the construction of this underpass. What would have happened to the Duke of Wellington if Blucher had delayed? I do not choose to gobble up four columns of your paper, hence, I will now abdicate.

Very truly yours, Patrick H. Craughwell

The Chamber of Commerce sponsors an outdoor festival called "Discover Winchester" in October.

Barbara Pickett's second and third grade class at the Parkhurst School was the first group of children in the Parkhurst Readers program to spell out the program's name. This is an independent reading program, started in October, in which a classroom receives a letter for every 20 books a child participating in the program has read. The program is expected to continue through the end of this year, although the next phrase to spell out has not been decided. (Photo by Laura Walker)

Planning a long-
awaited cruise?
Although the cruise season is at its peak, there are several things you will need to consider carefully before making a decision. First, beware of advertisements with unusually low prices.
When the price is suspiciously low, the quality of service and accommodation has often been sacrificed. If you have any doubt about the food quality, sanitary conditions, or the size of cabin, your travel agent is the best source of information and advice.

Before making a decision on a cruise, be wise and check with a

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Utt

Laura Cavender Marries Walter Utt In California

Laura Gene Cavender, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cavender, and Thomas Walter Utt, son of Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Utt of Napa, Calif., were married Dec. 16 in Napa.

Dr. Malcolm Maxwell officiated at the 6 p.m. ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory chiffon gown with a Victorian neckline and bishop sleeves. Re-embroidered lace accented the bodice and sleeves. A fingertip length veil of imported illusion caught a mantilla cap with small pearls, and she carried a bouquet of pink and mauve silk roses.

Kathy Lewis of Dallas, Texas, was matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Diana Cavender, Karen Whitcomb and Susan Nelson. They wore mauve gowns with long sleeved removable jackets and raised waist band and a gathered skirt. Both the bride's and attendants gowns were designed by Bianchi.

Robert Johnson was the best man. Ushers were Rick Utt, Terry Utt and Brent Edgerton.

The bride graduated from Lorna Linda University in June with a degree in dental hygiene. She attended Southwestern Union College in Keene, Texas.

The bridegroom is a third year dental student at Lorna Linda University. He received an undergraduate degree from Walla Walla College in Walla Walla, Washington.

After a trip to San Francisco and Carmel the couple will live in Lorna Linda, Calif.

Anne Marcoux, Robert Falzano Are Married In Newburyport

Anne Yvette Marcoux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Marcoux of Newburyport, was married Oct. 3 to former Winchester resident Robert W. Falzano, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Falzano, also former residents who are now living in Medford.

Rev. Gerard Darcier officiated at the 6 p.m. ceremony, which was held at St. Louis de Gonzague Church in Newburyport. A reception followed at the Amesbury Town House.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown with Queen Anne neckline trimmed with silk tulle lace and a matching mantilla style headpiece. She carried a copper wood basket with fall flowers and four yellow tea roses.

Linda Lombardi of Lawrence, a friend of the bride, was the matron of honor. Michelle Bridge of Haverhill, godchild of the bride, was the bridesmaid. They wore blue tea cocktail dresses and carried copper wood baskets with fall flowers.

Richard A. Falzano of Woburn, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. David J. Marcoux of Amesbury, a cousin of the bride, was the best man.

The bride is employed by the Anna Jaques Hospital in Newburyport and a private doctor in Haverhill. She is a graduate of Newburyport High School, Lowell General Hospital School of Nursing and is a nurse practitioner graduate of Northeastern University.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Winchester High School and attended Northeastern University. He is employed by Greyhound Lines Inc., Boston. He is a member of the Winchester Knights of Columbus.

The couple is living in Newburyport following a trip through Canada.

Noonan Holds Song Fest

A Holiday Song Fest was held on Dec. 20, at the Noonan School, sponsored by Noonan School Parents Association.

Students, faculty, family members and friends gathered together to sing Christmas songs under the direction of Herman Green, music teacher and accompanied by Helen Mallion, K-1 teacher.

A huge paper Christmas tree was displayed on the wall and decorated with beautifully designed ornaments that the students made themselves. In order to hang their ornament on the tree, a donation was first made to Globe Santa. A "Globe Santa" box was available for all donations.

Refreshments were served by the social charmen immediately following the program.

The Winchester Star's news copy deadline is 3 p.m. Mondays for the following Thursday's edition.

Republican Club Meeting

The Women's Republican Club of Winchester will meet Jan. 9 in Crawford Memorial Church. Sherry will be served at 11:30 a.m.; lunch served by Ethel Gorassi, will be at noon.

After the business meeting, conducted by President Mrs. Charles H. Perenick, a Massachusetts State Police representative will present a program on self-protection.

Guests are welcome but reservations for lunch must be made by tomorrow with Mrs. Charles Perenick.

...On March 20, 1853 the Town of Winchester experienced its first serious fire when, on that Sunday morning, the 12-year-old Congregational Church burned to the ground.

The first Town Clerk in the Town of Winchester was Dr. David Youngman who not only ran an apothecary shop but was also a bookseller and stationer.

HAVE A HAPPY NEW YEAR WITH OUR NEW 2½ YEAR CERTIFICATE!
11.12% 10.40%

Effective Annual Yield Annual Rate
$500 Minimum Deposit

Rates in effect January 1 — January 31, 1980

If you want to earn these big interest rates without investing big bucks or taking big chances, look into our new 2½ year savings certificate. The minimum deposit requirement is only $500, and your money is fully insured. You'll also feel good knowing Medford Savings Bank pays the highest interest allowed by law. In fact, a full ¼% higher than commercial banks offering similar certificates. Plus our continuous compounding produces an even higher effective annual yield.

NEW, HIGHER 90-DAY NOTICE INTEREST!

As of January 1, 1980, our 90-day Notice Account will pay an annual interest rate of 6%, which is ¼% higher than commercial banks can pay. The effective annual yield is an impressive 6.27%.

* Interest rate changes monthly, but the rate at time of purchase remains in effect for life of certificate.

INSULATION

(Blown in or Batts)

Cellin insulation can save up to 38% on your heating bill year after year.

Cellin is a superior loose fill cellulose insulation which is blown into walls, floors and ceilings. Cellin offers all these advantages:
Safe and reliable. Cellin is non-toxic, non-irritating to the touch, flame-retardant and non-conductive. It meets or exceeds federal specification HH-1-515C, Type 1, Class 25, and carries an Underwriters Laboratories labeling.
Natural product. Cellin consists of short cellulose wood fibers made of selected newspaper which has been processed and chemically treated.
Total coverage. Unlike many insulations, Cellin fills every possible space, giving you even complete coverage.
Higher R-value. Cellin has a greater R-value (resistance to heat flow—the measure for insulation) per inch than most insulations.
Non-corrosive and moisture-resistant. There's no corroding of pipes, no rotting of wood in walls and ceilings.
Other advantages. Cellin is vermin-resistant, reduces noise levels and is long-lasting.

REAL ESTATE

ASK NOW - SAVE TEARS LATER

From a buyer's viewpoint, I could not think of a worse time to discover that a home has basic flaws than after the deed has been signed, sealed and delivered. There is no need to be unpleasantly surprised. How do you avoid this frustration? Have a ready checklist of items to ask your REALTOR—especially on items that the eye cannot see.

For example: Type of and age of heating system. Types of siding, insulation and roof. Kind of interior walls. Type of waste disposal (city sewer, cesspool or septic). Type of water supply (well or municipal). Does it contain fluoride? Average or yearly operating costs for utilities; taxes on house for last year and assessed valuation. Accessibility to public transportation, shopping and schools. We like our buyers to ask us questions. If we don't have all the answers—we'll get them. These are facts you should know before you sign the contract. Not after!

In all your real estate needs—buying—selling—rentals—appraisals—consultation—please phone or drop in at:

Tracksters Split Meets With Wakefield, Melrose

By TOM DOOCEY

After a convincing victory over Belmont, the Sachem track team split their next two meets, losing a seat-squirm to Wakefield 44-42, and drubbing Melrose 51 and one half-33 and one half. Although early in the season, the meets could be considered the turning point of the season.

A victory against both would have given Winchester a possible shot at a good season, a double loss would have placed a winning season out of Winchester's grasp. The split meant that Winchester would have to work hard to achieve a winning year.

Wakefield

When Winchester entered the Lexington Fieldhouse, revenge was on the team's mind. In the previous year Wakefield defeated Winchester by a mere two points; this year the team was confident after decimating Belmont. And they thought they could beat a strong Wakefield team, however this was not to be.

The meet started off on the right foot with Loukas Natsis taking first in the high hurdles with a time of 6.6 but in the 45 yard dash Winchester could only take a second and third, Bob Mueller taking second in 5.8 and John Alcione capturing third in 5.9.

Things began to look up for Winchester when they took first and second in the 600. Ken Jacobson ran a strong race to win with a gutsy 1:19.0. Second was Co-Captain Ken Kirk with a time of 1:20.3. The outlook brightened even further as Co-Captain Ken Kirk with a time of 1:20.3. The outlook brightened even further as Co-Captain Don Macmillan and Tom Wilsack took first and third in the 300 with times of 34.6 and 36.0 respectively.

In the field events Winchester was only to capture four points out of a possible 18. Phil Japy took second in the high jump with 5'4," while Rob Cooke took a third in the shot put with a throw of 43' one half inches.

In the 1000 Winchester's Dan Joslin, who has become a vital part of the team, grabbed second with a 2:32, but Wakefield was beginning to close the gap that the Sachems established early in the meet.

The distance events saw Winchester take only a second in the mile behind Rob Flynn's 5:02, while in the two-mile Pat Kennedy captured second with a strong 10:48. John Provinzano took third with a time of 10:54.

In the 4x400 relay Winchester's team of Macmillan, Wilsack, Jacobson and Kirk easily defeated the Wakefield team in 3:41.7 to establish the best relay time in the league.

Melrose

This meet would dash any hopes of a winning season. The meet would also be a clash of different strengths; Winchester's distance events versus Melrose's distance events. The team that could break up the others strength would win the meet.

Winchester's strength immediately showed up in the high hurdles as Loukas Natsis powered his way to 1st in 6.5 and Wayne Ciarcia captured third with a time of 7.2.

In the 45 yard dash Bob Mueller took second with a time of 5.7 edging out fellow teammate Rich Doran who took third with an identical time of 5.7.

Ken Kirk and Ken Jacobson continued their domination of the 600 by taking first and second in 1:20.1 and 1:21.2 respectively.

Meanwhile, in the 300 Don Macmillan won his third straight race with a time of 34.9. John Alcione a fine sophomore took second in 35.8 and John Hennely tied for third in 37.0.

In the 1000 Dan Joslin continued his consistent fine running by taking second in 2:33.6. Feza Koprucu captured third with a time of 2:37.1.

The high jumpers who were sub-par in the previous meet, rebounded back to take first and second. Phil Japy won with a jump of 5'6" and Steve Lungo captured second with 5'2".

The shot putters, like the high jumpers came back from a disappointing meet and took first and third. Rob Cooke won it with a throw of 44'4" and Paul Manganaro took third with 41'3".

In the mile and two-mile Winchester could only take a third in each event. Rob Flynn put on a good kick to take third with a time of 4:59.7. While in the two-mile Pat Kennedy cruised in at third in 10:41.4, his personal best.

Winchester put the icing on the cake by winning the relay in 3:43.7. The team of Macmillan, Hennely, Jacobson, and Kirk never received a serious challenge from the Melrose team.

Arlington Does It Again, Tops Sachems, 65-52

Ah for the want of a dead-eye shooter, a dominating big man or a smooth small forward. Christmas came and went this year, leaving varsity basketball coach John Myers without any of these gifts, all of which would have helped the Sachems in their 65-52 loss to Arlington last Friday at the High School.

"I think we're going to go back and do even more work on fundamentals," said Myers on Monday. "In terms of setting up we're doing okay, but we just haven't been able to finish it off."

Friday's game gave the Sachems an early opportunity to see how much they've progressed this season, having already met Arlington once this season, that time in the opener. In that game it was the full-court press of the Trojans which stymied the locals. "I think we handled their press better this time," Myers points out. "The problem was that we handled it in terms of handling the ball but we just didn't put the shot in."

The game was basically over by halftime when Arlington lead 31-15, although the Sachems did chop off a couple to make it 45-33 by the end of the third quarter. But it was a question of too little too late.

"We were competitive on the boards," Myers noted. "We had good shots we just didn't make them."

Perhaps the only Sachem shooting respectably was senior guard Jeff Cahill, who again led his team in scoring, this time with 11 points.

Myers is somewhat disappointed at the progress his team has made so far. "I think maybe I thought we'd be a

Wrestlers Split Two Matches, Even Record

The Winchester wrestling team came out of the Christmas vacation week with one win and a tough loss bringing their season record to 2-2.

The Lexington match was a tough one to swallow for Sachem boss Bob Tufts, since it was his team's first Middlesex League encounter. Despite finishing on the short side of a 34-27 score, there were many bright spots for the Sachems Thursday.

For sophomores Colozzi and Barger their wins also marked their varsity debut for Winchester.

Captains Gary Errico and Lennie Bellino continue to impress opponents and remain undefeated for the year.

The new year will bring one of the Sachem's toughest opponents tomorrow when undefeated Reading, always a Middlesex league power, will visit the Winchester field house at 3:30 p.m.

Houghton Sees Sachems Improving, But Two Losses Keep Them Winless

Unfortunately they're still winless after four games. But coach Mike Houghton is confident that his Sachem hockey team is making progress and the signs are starting to show. "Each game I can see improvement and I think the scores have definitely shown it," said Houghton Monday. "I'm not the least bit discouraged and I don't think the kids are."

The scores have pointed to better times. After losing by scores of 8-1 and 10-2 in their first two games of the season, the Sachems dropped a 5-1 contest to Belmont and then a 3-2 heartbreaker to Reading last week.

In the Belmont game the Sachems actually only played poorly for the first couple of minutes, but it cost them dearly. Belmont scored two goals in the first 48 seconds of play and the Sachems just couldn't get over the top after that. "I think we played pretty well," said Houghton. "Actually we played very well after that first period." Belmont made it 3-0 in the second before Jeff Stackpole rapped in a Tom Sullivan shot to make the score 3-1.

The killer for the Sachems came late in the period when the Marauders stuck in another goal with a less than a minute to play. As Houghton pointed out, it would have been tough to try and make up two goals in the final period, but three would really be difficult.

"I felt we outplayed them in the third period," Houghton noted. "We just couldn't get anything in the net, which has been the story of our season so far."

The Reading game was the same story for the Sachems. Posts were hit and open nets were missed. Reading, on the other hand, was getting the breaks as their first score came off of the skate of one of their players. "It was a soccer goal," said Houghton. But it was allowed by the referees and the first period ended with the score at 1-0. "We just didn't play well," Houghton admits. "We stood around a lot."

Reading scored one more in the second while the Sachems went into the final period still not on the board. Sullivan, a sophomore center who was played well for the varsity in this still young season, brought Winchester to within one early in the period.

Mike Jackson netted Winchester's second goal but in between Reading scored their third and the eventual winner.

"I think the big thing is that we're still hustling," Houghton points out. "We've been getting outmuscled in front of our own net but I think each game we've gotten a little better at that." The Sachems have gone more with the underclassmen than was originally anticipated as Houghton is now skating some 14 of them. "They're coming along, there's no question about it," says the Winchester coach. "But this is a very unforgiving league. If you make a mistake it will cost you. We've been cutting down on our mistakes both mental and physical."

As Houghton noted, originally the locals were having a hard time getting the puck out of their own end, then there was the problem of setting up in the opponent's end of the rink. Both of these areas have seen improvement. "We've come out of our own end and we've set up," Houghton explains. "but we just haven't finished off the play."

The loss of a consistent scorer, such as Hugo LaFauci on last season's club has also been a problem for the Sachems. "No one has come to the forefront as a goal scorer and that's important," states Houghton. "I'm waiting for that first line to score some goals. So far it's been the sophomores." That first line of Buddy Pronski between Jackson and Danny Hines is definitely the key for this season's club.

The Sachems travel to the MDC LaConte Rink in Medford tonight to meet the Red Raiders of Melrose. It'll be the start of a rough two weeks where they meet Stoneham, Wakefield, Burlington and Woburn. "I'll be very interested to see how we do in the next four or five games because we're looking at the iron of the league," Houghton points out.

Sachemettes Beat Belmont Improve Record To 2-1

The Winchester High varsity girls' basketball team recorded their second win of the season last Friday, topping Belmont 43-37 at the High School.

"We were slow starting in the first quarter, but we picked up later," said coach Barbara Hollis on Monday. "We got tentative on offense again."

But the way the Sachemette defense was playing, offense really wasn't all that crucial. Belmont scored only three baskets in the first half, the rest of their 15 points came from the foul line. The locals controlled the contest from the beginning, never allowing Belmont to come any closer than four.

Laurie Redmond, playing fine basketball so far this season, scored 18 points and pulled down 13 rebounds for the Sachemettes. Joanne Maloney and Kathy Heffernan came off the bench to supply some excellent defensive play. Indeed it has been the depth of the Sachemettes that has been this team's biggest surprise to this point.

"I think we actually played better basketball in the Burlington game," Hollis noted. "But I think the difference was that the kids sort of kept their cool better in the Belmont game when they started to gain on us. In the Burlington

Women's Indoor Soccer Team Defeats Dedham

The Winchester Women's indoor soccer team captained by Mary Russo, a freshman at Merrimack College, shoots into 1980 with laurels. In the last weeks of 1979 the Winchester team, made up of high school, college and post college players, was responsible for launching the first high school indoor soccer league in the United States.

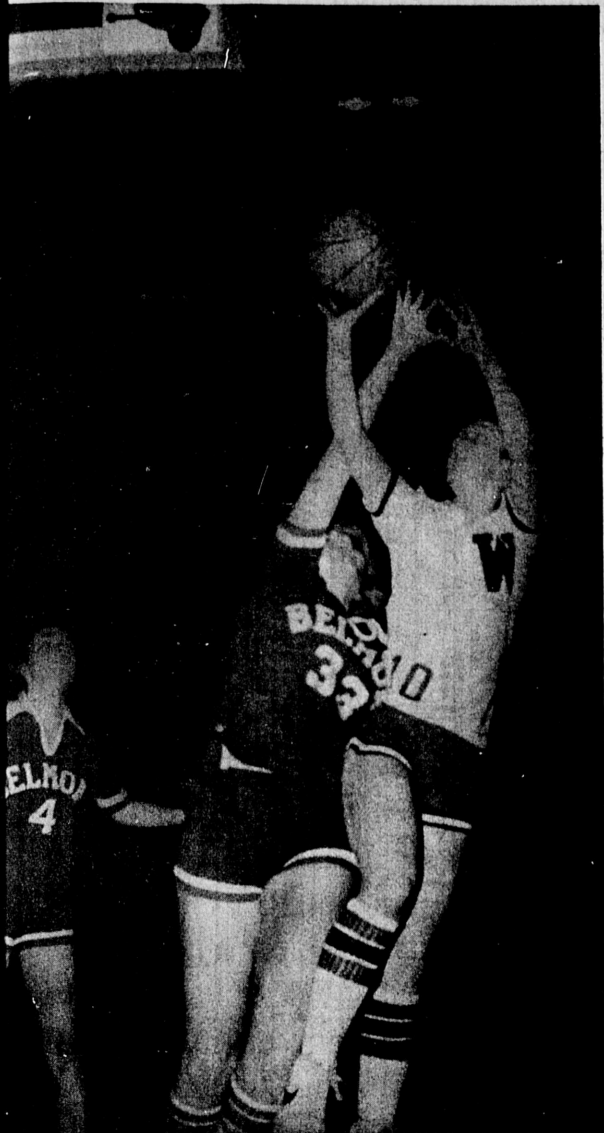

Winchester's role was more one of exhibition than competition, but this did not inhibit an exciting first game against Nobles school of Dedham. Winning by three goals to nil the Winchester squad included the Sachmettes Ann Porell, Andrea Demars, Kathy Mahoney, Leslie Nason and Carol Donahue. Player-coach Donna Tanner showed her versatility with bravura performances first as a forward and then as goalkeeper.

Kelly Gately, a member of Harvard's Championship winning outdoor soccer team and a recipient of an all Ivy award, also made a significant contribution.

Winchester's mentorial role as veterans of three seasons of indoor play with the New England Soccer League, was further underscored when Mary Russo guested as goalkeeper and coach for the host Cambridge School of Weston.

More Winchester indoor soccer teams are being formed involving any skill level. Girls and women interested in playing should contact the New England Soccer League by calling 864-8181.

In 1914, four years after the Boy Scouts of America was started, a troop was organized in Winchester by Robert W. Fernald who then became the troop's scoutmaster. On different occasions four of that troop's members later each rescued a drowning person. Girl Scouts in Winchester began on May 18, 1917 at the home of Mrs. Addison R. Pike.

Winchester's Ann Porell goes high to bank in a shot against Belmont during last Friday's 43-37 victory at the High School. The Sachemettes, who take on Wakefield tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. at the High School, currently have a record of 2-1. (Photo By Marc McGeehan)

Stop excusing your life away.

Everyone has an excuse for not seeing their doctor about colorectal cancer. However, every year 62,000 men and women die of colorectal cancer in this country alone. Two out of three of these people might be saved by early detection and treatment. Two out of three.

So what is your excuse? Today you have a new, simple, practical way of providing your doctor with a stool specimen on which he can perform the gualac test. This can detect signs of colorectal cancer in its early stages before symptoms appear. While two out of three people can be saved. Ask your doctor about a gualac test, and stop excusing your life away.

Congressman Markey Named To Investigative Committee

Congressman Ed Markey has been appointed to a seat on a congressional subcommittee charged with a broad range of investigative responsibilities. The panel, the Oversight and Investigations subcommittee of the House Commerce Committee, has been called the "60 Minutes" of Congress. "Eliminating waste and inefficiency in government takes a strong concerted effort," Markey said. "This committee has a record of effective investigations into programs that have outlived their usefulness or have been bureaucratically sidetracked from their original purpose. Serving on this committee will enable me to pursue inquiries into areas that need a thorough house cleaning." Markey's appointment was announced by Commerce Committee Chairman, Harley O. Staggers (D-W.Va.). "Congressman Markey has demonstrated outstanding ability and initiative on the committees on which he already serves," Staggers said. "I am confident he will make an equally significant contribution to the work of this highly regarded panel." The Oversight and Investigations Subcommittee concentrates on researching and reviewing the effect of laws already enacted in such areas as health, communications, transportation, consumer protection and energy. "Monitoring the delivery and cost of health services has long been one of my top priorities," Markey said. "Now I will have the vehicle to translate my concerns to action." Markey begins work on his new committee this week. He will continue to serve on the Commerce Committee's Energy and Power and its Communications subcommittees as well as on the Interior Committee's Energy and the Environment subcommittee. To assist him with his new responsibilities, Robert D'Annunzio, a Congressional Science Fellow, has joined the area Congressman's Washington staff. A member of Duke University's Roundtable on Science and Public Affairs, D'Annunzio's special interests are in health issues and the development of solar and other alternate energy sources. The Congressional Science Fellow program provides an opportunity for a working scientist to become involved in the legislative process. The one-year appointment of D'Annunzio to Markey's staff is funded by a grant from Duke. "I am looking forward to this new challenge," he added. "It will offer me the chance not only to use the experience I have gained in serving on the energy and communications committees but will allow me to look into other areas of immediate importance to me and to the people of Massachusetts." "The government of this country extends in so many ways into everyone's life. We need to vigilantly oversee our laws to be sure they are accomplishing what they were intended to do."

For Senior Citizens

Bantam A's Crunch Lowell 4-0

The Winchester Bantam AA's skated to an impressive win defeating Lowell 4-0, last Sunday at the Burlington Ice Palace.

Displaying excellent hustle and an impressive balance of offensive and defensive play, the Bantams closed out the first half of their season in excellent style.

Captain Steve Masiello, started the Bantam scoring late in the first period. Taking a pinpoint pass from Billy Eaton over the red line, Steve skated in and put a wrist shot in the upper left corner to put the Bantams ahead 1-0.

Alert goaltending by David Boyle held Lowell at bay during some shorthanded situations late in the first period. Boyle's agility and good pad saves foiled several Lowell chances around the crease.

Second period action saw good up and down play as both teams battled evenly. Scott Gediman, playing his best game of the year, put the Bantams up by two. After some nice passing by Mike Griffin and Andy Guleserian, Scott sailed in and putting a deke on the goalie, slipped the puck under the pads of a surprised netminder. Two minutes later Steve Masiello capitalized on some loose play in the Lowell end and blasted home the third Bantam goal with a good assist to Coley Wilson.

The third period saw excellent defensive play with Pat Falla's sharp goaltending coupled with the backchecking of Griffin and Masiello and the defensive efforts of Bob Divencenzo, Paul Tucci and Billy Eaton telling the story. Mike Griffin closed out the scoring late in the third period. Bob Divencenzo cleared from the Bantam zone and, following a good effort by Eddie Holloran along the boards, Griffin scored on a downed goalie.

An assist goes to Holloran on the play. Special mention should be made of the hard work and determination of Bob Paine and kudos to Paul Tucci who turned in a commendable two-way performance.

Tree Pickup

The Winchester Jaycees will hold their annual Christmas tree pickup this Saturday, starting at 8 a.m.

To facilitate the pickup, the Jaycees request that residents leave trees as close to the street as possible.

Christmas Party Dec. 14

The annual Christmas party of the M.E. Murphy Apartments on Palmer street was held Dec. 14.

A roast beef dinner, which was prepared and served by senior citizens, music, and Santa Claus with a bagful bag full of gifts completed the evening.

Winchester Hospital's in-service education department recently sponsored a panel discussion on "Preventing Child Abuse" for its staff. Panel speakers included representatives from the Mystic Valley Office for Children, local psychiatric nurses, and the Community Health Education Coordinator at Melrose-Wakefield Hospital.

Events

Workshop

A performance practice workshop for pianists and harpsichordists will be held Jan. 12 from 1-4 p.m. at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston. Both auditors and performers are welcome.

The Museum of Fine Arts in Boston is sponsoring a series of courses on techniques of recorder making, the history of harpsichord decoration and a ballad opera workshop. Classes begin Feb. 11.

Concert

The Mystic Valley Chamber Orchestra will present Beethoven's "Symphony No. 8," Hayden's "Oboe Concerto," Hindemith's "Trauer Musik," and Handel's "Concerto Grosso" Jan. 12 at Arlington Town Hall, 8:15 p.m.; and Jan. 13 in St. Peter's Church, 320 Boston Post rd., Weston, at 4 p.m.

Class Reunion

Members of the Roxbury Memorial High School class of 1955 who are interested in attending a reunion in May should contact Maxine Clayman Bloom, 105 Winnifred rd., Brockton, 02401.

Professional Career Training for Women

Middlesex Community College's Division of Community Services will sponsor a series of seminars and discussions about professional part-time and full-time careers for women. The program is called LIVE. An open house will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Jan. 16 at the college for women who are interested in hearing about the program.

Special attention will be given to interviewing and resume preparation, and arranging on-the-job training for each person.

Obituaries

Norbert Gates

Norbert S. Gates, a printing estimator for W.F. Andrews Co. in Bedford, died Dec. 25 at Winchester Hospital after a short illness. He was 63.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Mr. Gates lived in Winchester for the last five years.

Mr. Gates is survived by two daughters, Sharon O'Connor of Winchester and Kathleen Grass of Southboro; two sons, Stephen Gates of Winchester and Gerald Gates of Marlboro; and seven grandchildren.

At his request a private graveside service will take place at Wildwood Cemetery. Arrangements were made by the Costello Funeral Home.

Memorial donations may be made to the Ronald MacDonald House, in care of the Children's Hospital, Boston.

Gladys Carney

Plato terrace resident Gladys A. (Farnworth) Carney died Sunday unexpectedly at her home. She was 64.

Born in Beverly, Mrs. Carney was educated in Beverly schools. Before moving to Winchester 15 years ago she lived in Somerville.

Mrs. Carney was an honorary member of the Handi-Kids Association and was a volunteer member of the Home For Little Wanderers in Boston.

Mrs. Carney was the wife of Francis W. Carney. She is survived by two children, Elizabeth Duggan of Burlington and James Sullivan of Puerto Rico; five grandchildren; one great-grandchild; and one sister, Blanche Smith of Myrtle Grove, Fla.

A funeral mass was celebrated Monday in St. Mary's Church by Rev. Arthur Reardon. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery. Arrangements were made by the Lane Funeral Home.

Memorial donations may be made to the charity of one's choice.

The first Winchester baseball game was reported on Oct. 10, 1868 between the Eagles of Woburn and the Clippers of Winchester. The Eagles won 31 to 26.

Joanne Sawyer

Former Winchester resident Joanne (Faieta) Sawyer Sawyer died Dec. 27 at Winchester Hospital after a few months illness. She was 45.

Born in Winchester, Mrs. Sawyer lived in Winchester for 28 years. She was living in Woburn at the time of her death. Mrs. Sawyer had been a Woburn resident for 17 years.

Mrs. Sawyer attended local schools and graduated from Winchester High School. She was employed at the Marylan Sandal Co. in Stoneham for eight years.

Mrs. Sawyer is survived by her husband, William; four children, Robert DiGirolamo, Mark, Beth and William Sawyer, all of Woburn; one sister, Theresa A. (Faieta) Mack of Winchester; and three brothers, James A. Faieta of Lynn, Frank J. and Richard A. Faieta, both of Winchester.

A funeral mass was celebrated Dec. 27 by Rev. Willfred Scanlon of St. Mary's Church. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Woburn. Arrangements were made by the Lane Funeral Home.

About Town

Three winners in the recent Metroguide Puzzle 110 contest are: Clare Keane, Pandora Zettler and R. Bairnsfather.

James Beck has been named the Winchester coordinator of the Mass. George Bush Committee. Beck, who is a regional group manager for Mass. Mutual Life Insurance, lives in Winchester with his wife, Beatrice, and two children.

Joanne Franklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Franklin Jr. of 19 Hollywood rd., has been awarded a merit scholarship by the Nurses Alumnae Association of Mass. General Hospital. Franklin, a 1978 graduate of Winchester High School, is presently a student at the Mass. General Hospital School of Nursing. The award is presented annually to a student in the second year of the nursing program.

Recently named to the Dean's List at Loyola College in Baltimore, Md., for the first semester is Mark Stephen Hurley. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Hurley Jr. of York road.

Thomas J. Mulvaney, MD was recently elected by the executive committee of the Mass. Eye & Ear Infirmary to the position of president of the medical staff for 1980.

Local members of the Lawrence Memorial Hospital Auxiliary include Frances Schutzberg, treasurer, and Barbara Micicic, scholarship co-chairman. The Auxiliary will hold its annual brunch Monday at 11 a.m. in the living room of the nurses' residence.

Local Winchester High School students who presented a $213 contribution to the Globe Santa fund include: Dawn Dixon, Sean Manderville, Michael Fiorillo, Rose Cormier, Patricia Swymer, Ellen Doucette, Doreen Sylvia, Karla Roemer, Julia Coan, Joseph Burns, Tom Cavarretta, Mark Peterson and Thomas Walsh, a teacher.

Local realtor William F. Caci has been appointed by Middlesex Community College to teach a course for their Division of Continuing Education entitled "How to Buy a House."

Caci, the proprietor of Winchester Realty Co., holds a bachelor of science degree in engineering, a master of science degree, and has 10 years experience in residential sales.

The course will be held at Stoneham Jr. High School, 149 Franklin st., Tuesdays from 7-9 p.m., starting Feb. 26.

John D. Phillips Jr. has been named a partner of State Street Research and Management Co., investment adviser to State Street Investment Corporation, Federal Street Fund, Inc., State Street Exchange Fund, and pension and endowment funds.

Phillips, who is a graduate of Hamilton College and the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, has been with the firm since 1972.

A collection of framed color photographs by Roland A. Nault are on display at Catrina Crafts' Studio in Meredith, N.H. The selections, which are entitled "Images of New England," depict sea and landscape, nature, closeups and sports.

During the Christmas holidays Nault presented color-slide programs to the shut-ins of the Winchester and Aberjona Nursing Homes. The program was called "Arizona, Land of the Native American."

School Committee Has Hearing On The Fiscal 1980 Budget

As of the public hearing last week, the School Committee budget projected for fiscal 1981 stands at $9,140,379 compared with this year's fiscal 1980 budget total of $9,156,560.

Despite increased costs in some areas of the budget, and one-time costs associated with the consolidation and redistricting of three elementary schools, the budget has been trimmed in several areas.

In her opening remarks at last week's hearing, to which approximately 10 persons appeared, Committee Chairman Constance Papas said the budget picture to date is a "general structure." Additions and deletions will be made as necessary up until Town Meeting in the spring.

Papas said that the budget does not now include that amount of money expected necessary to negotiate as a general wage increase for school department staff. According to Assistant Superintendent Jack Fallon, approximately $5.8 million is subject to negotiation.

Although the persons haven't been named, the budget provides for a total of 31.9 staff reductions. This calculates to two principals; six-tenths of a counselor; 3.8 specialists; 3.5 secretaries; 4.7 custodians; and 17.3 teachers.

Education Budget

In the main section of the school budget for education, the fiscal 1981 budget is now figured at $9,140,379, compared with the fiscal 1980 total figure of $9,193,920. (Last year's total included the Spring Town Meeting appropriation as well as an additional allocation in November for increased fuel costs). According to Papas, this approximate $50,000 decrease is largely due to school consolidation next year.

The "other expenses" category of this section, however, is increased approximately $300,000. Papas said that this was due to an increase in the text-book account of $14,000 (which had been reduced last year by $20,000); fuel and gas increases by $140,855 (which Fallon estimates is "unquestionably" still too low); tuitions for out of district special needs students of $41,000; an increase of $50,000 for one-time moving and

Winter Wonderland Recreation

By ELIZABETH FERRARINI

By taking advantage of the numerous winter recreational facilities in the Boston area, a Winchester family may only have to contend with lack of snow and not rising gasoline prices this winter. Within a 30-mile radius areas can be found for ice skating, cross-country skiing, downhill skiing, coasting, snowshoeing, or just being in tune with nature. The following is a list of these facilities and their location.

Ice Skating

The Metropolitan District Commission (MDC) operates 25 indoor or semi-indoor ice skating rinks in the Boston area. The closest rink for local residents is located on the Medford-Stoneham line off the Fellsway. Two other rinks are the Breakheart Rink just off the Lynn Fells parkway in Saugus and the rink on Totten Pond road in Waltham.

Public indoor skating is also available on weekends at the Joyce Jr. High School on Locust street, Woburn, and at the Arlington town rink on Summer street at various times during the week and weekend.

The Ice Palace, Ray avenue, Burlington, and the Hayden Memorial Rink, Wirthen road, Lexington, are two private indoor rinks available to the public.

For those who prefer to skate out of doors there are many ponds available in Winchester. A spokesman for the town's Recreation Department says that the town does not support ice skating facilities. He recommends that parents should take caution in letting their children skate on frozen ponds; children should never skate alone and should always skate near the edge. He says Winter Pond on Chesterfield street is the pond most residents prefer because it is shallow.

The Town of Wellesley has supervised skating at Kelley Pond, Elwood road; the Longfellow Pond, Oakland street; and Reeds Pond, Beachwood road at Weston road.

Downhill Skiing

Downhill skiers who are reluctant to drive to nearby New Hampshire or Vermont this year can take advantage of several nearby facilities. The Town of Waltham maintains two large downhill slopes plus several downhill trails for beginners to advanced skiers. The facility which provides lessons is located on Totten Pond road.

The Town of Arlington plans to sponsor a series of one-day Wednesday ski trips this winter to Nashoba Valley in Westford. Since the dates have not yet been scheduled, further information can be obtained by contacting the Arlington Recreation Department.

Free downhill skiing is available at the Woburn Golf Course off Cambridge street. And skiers can also take advantage of the Boston Hill Ski Area in North Andover off Route 114 where equipment rentals are available.

Other downhill ski facilities include: Groton Hills Ski Area, Martin Pond road, Groton; Hamilton Ski Slopes, Moulton street, Hamilton; and Blue Hills Ski Area, Route 138, Canton. These three facilities all rent equipment and provide lessons.

Cross-Country Skiing

With the interest in cross-country skiing on the rise, Winchester residents have a choice of available facilities, including one in the town.

The MDC's Middlesex Fells Reservation, which extends from the Border road section of Winchester into Medford, Malden, Stoneham, and the Breakheart Reservation in Saugus, contain numerous cross-country skiing trails, snowshoeing, or just plain immersing one's self in the quiet splendor of a winter's day. A map of reservations can be obtained from the MDC by telephoning (727-5207).

Other cross-country facilities which require a fee include: the Martin Memorial Golf Course, River Side Park road, Weston; Wellesley Country Club, Forrest street; and The Club, 225 Old Billerica road, Bedford.

The Town of Lexington has set aside several areas of woods that can be used for cross-country skiing. For beginners there is Willard Woods off North street near Middlesex Turnpike. For the more advanced skiers there are Hayden Woods near Waltham and Spring streets off Rt. 128 and Whipple Hill near the Harrington School on Maple street.

This summer the Town of Woburn will be cutting paths at Horn Pond for cross-country skiing to be available next winter.

General Facilities

The Hale Reservation, 80 Carby st., Westwood, which is open to the public, provides 16 miles of groomed and patrolled cross-country skiing trails.

The reservation rents equipment, gives lessons and loans snowshoes free of charge. When cleared, the many ponds on the reservation can be used for ice skating.

A collision at the intersection of Church and Fletcher streets occurred last week when an operator, heading east on Church, ran a red light and hit a car crossing Church from Bacon and Fletcher streets. No injuries were reported. (Staff Photo)

MBTA's Problems Largely Political, Says Rep. Saltmarsh

Rep. Sherman "Whip" Saltmarsh, speaking before the Board of Selectmen, said Monday night that the problems at with the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority are largely political between Governor Edward King and Boston Mayor Kevin White and that the MBTA situation in 1980 could be worse.

Saltmarsh, who is Winchester's representative to the the MBTA Advisory Board, told the Selectmen that he has filed legislation that would reorganize the voting system of the Advisory Board, which he sees as another of the problems with the MBTA.

Under the present weighted vote format the total vote of the Advisory Board is 197.5. Of that total, the city of Boston, which has the most involvement with the MBTA of the 79 cities and towns who are members, has a vote of 50.75. The highest vote in influence after that is the city of Cambridge with 7.5. Boston's strength in the Advisory Board is obvious.

This strength becomes a factor, according to Saltmarsh, when the political battle between King and White is considered.

Saltmarsh noted the bad blood between White, chairman of the Advisory Board and Robert Foster, administrator of the MBTA. It was King who appointed Foster one year ago and removed the former administrator of the MBTA Robert Kiley, the former deputy mayor of Boston under White.

Selectman Barbara Hankins suggested to Saltmarsh that there might be further problems between Foster and Advisory Board Budget Director James Smith. "The chairman of the Advisory Board pretty much had the say as to who was on the staff," said Saltmarsh. "As a result you have the budget committee, the chairman and the staff on one side and Mr. King and Mr. Foster on the other."

Selectman Wade Welch asked Saltmarsh if there was any chance that the Public Transportation Committee, which the Winchester Representative is on, could "round up some votes" in the House of Representatives and put pressure on White or King to settle things, since both men need the support of that committee on occasion.

"You are perfectly right that the governor and the mayor are not going to resolve this themselves," noted Saltmarsh. He added that he feels reorganization is the key to the solution.

Saltmarsh began the meeting by reviewing the budget problems of the past year which eventually led to the mass transit system running out of operating funds and the state taking emergency control of the system.

"We're going to have a similar problem in 1980 only more severe," stated Saltmarsh. He pointed out that the administration of the MBTA figured on a budget of $301 million for the 1980 year. That budget is going to be "light" according to Saltmarsh and the MBTA administration knew it, but wanted a budget that was under the governor's four percent tax cap. "That budget should be at least $335 to $340 million," he stated.

He noted that because of the "light" appropriation, new lines like the Quincy to Braintree extension of the Red Line will not be opened. "There are no funds in the budget for that line to be opened," he added Tuesday.

Saltmarsh is concerned about possible cuts Foster might make in service in order to stay close to the 1980 budget. He pointed out that half of the cost of the mini-bus in town is paid by the MBTA. He also noted the railroad line which runs through Winchester. "Winchester does quite well as far as commuter rail service. It's dirty, it's late, but it's there. I don't know where the cuts will come from, but I will do all I can to see we hang on to what services we have."

Saltmarsh stated that he was opposed to the Advisory Board denying the MBTA funds in December to continue operation until the end of 1979. Foster claimed that he needed approximately $12 million to continue service. The Advisory Board, upset because they had given the MBTA an additional $11 million in July, refused further funding.

Saltmarsh felt that some funding should have been given. "I felt the Advisory Board had a responsibility to do something. From the figures I had and from different sources I think $8 million would have done it."

'A Quiet Man' Boss Calls Accused Slayer

The president of the Winchester business that employed a 25-year old Medford man accused of stabbing his two young sons to death Saturday, said he never would have expected the man to be capable of committing such a violent act.

"Oh goodness no," said Robert Diamond, President of Dynamic Measurements Corp., of Michael B. Ughart, an employee of that Lowell street business for the past six and one-half years, who's been charged with stabbing his two sons at their grandmother's home Saturday morning. "Mike has always been a reasonably quiet fellow." He added that Ughart was a "quiet guy, very personable."

Ughart is presently in critical condition at Hunt Memorial Hospital in Danvers after he apparently tried to take his own life late Saturday by crashing into a concrete overpass abutment near the Boxford-Danvers line. Police also reported that he had five stab wounds in the chest, which they believe to be self-inflicted.

According to reports, Ughart, who had separated with his wife about two weeks ago had gone to visit his sons, Jason, 7 and Jeremy, 3 at his mother-in-— Apparently after a short time, he went to an upstairs room with the two boys. Moments later he ran out of the house and drove off. A babysitter ran upstairs and found the two stabbed children.

According to Diamond, Ughart was not in work on Friday, but that that was not unusual. "This happens a lot of times. People will call in and say they have a personal matter to handle." Diamond also noted that he was aware that Ughart was having "some domestic difficulties" but that he did not discuss them at work.

"He was one of our key people," Diamond continued. "He has been extremely steady for us." Diamond stated that Ughart's job was a specialized one in that he was responsible for inspecting new equipment before shipment for the electronic circuit modules manufacturing company.

Diamond also pointed out that the tragedy has been a shock to all of the employees at his business. "We're a small company, about 40 odd people. Everyone here is having a difficult time trying to sort it out."

Only One Candidate Seeks Re-Election In March So Far

By LAURA WALKER

To date, only one person has taken out papers to qualify for candidacy in the March 25 Town Election, according to Town Clerk Elsie Nelson.

Loretta Reading, who is running for re-election as a Trustee of the Public Library, took out papers Monday, thus becoming the first to seek re-election, according to the Town Clerk's office. Eleven Town Meeting members and 74 Town Meeting members will be up for re-election in March.

This year the following terms expire: John J. Sullivan's term as Moderator, leaving a one-year vacancy; two Selectmen offices to fill the expired terms of Richard W. Wilsack and Arthur E. Dunbar; Assessor George Andersen's term, creating a three-year vacancy on the Board of Assessors.

Voters will also elect two School Committee members for three years since the terms of Heinrich D. Holland and Catherine S. Alexander expire. One member of the Planning Board will be elected to a three-year term with the end of Anthony Pelletier's term. Board of Health member Lawrence Quigley will be up for a three-year term, and a member of the Winchester Housing Authority will be chosen for a five-year term, created by the expiration of Mary Murphy's term.

Eight Town Meeting members will be elected from each precinct for three-year terms, 10 additional members will be chosen from various precincts to fill one or two-year vacancies.

Election papers may be obtained from the Town Clerk's Office until Feb. 13 and must be filed by Feb. 18, said Nelson. In order to appear on the ballot, Town Meeting candidates must receive 10 signatures from within their precinct while other candidates must obtain signatures of 50 registered Winchester voters.

★ Budget

He noted that when Foster came to the Advisory Board in July, he was advised to curtail spending upon receipt of the $11 million. Foster did not. "They continued to spend at the same rate. We gave them $11 million and they didn't cut. They went along with the same spending level."

Saltmarsh is worried, because of the emergency state takeover, that the cities and towns will foot the bill. "In the past, half of the cost was picked up by the state and the other half was included in everyone's property taxes. The thing I fear now is that the $12 million can now be assessed to the cities and towns."

Saltmarsh also made a number of suggestions on how the MBTA might be improved. He would like to see the following:

1. Reduce hiring. "The payroll down there has gone up considerably."

2. Eliminate the automatic cost of living increase for union employees. Saltmarsh pointed out that this provision in the union's contract, which calls for a cost of living increase annually, regardless of how the economy has changed, was challenged by the legislature. They passed a plan, which was later signed into law, that would eliminate this measure. The union appealed the proposal to the Labor Relations Board who ruled in favor of them. Presently the matter is in court.

He feels the work laws are archaic. Due to union contracts, only certain employees can perform certain tasks, cutting down on efficiency and adding to overtime, another Saltmarsh criticism.

4. He feels that the MBTA should sell its power plant in South Boston and buy power from Boston Edison or a similar company at what would amount to a cheaper cost. If the power plant isn't sold, Saltmarsh suggests selling electricity to electric companies during their peak seasons.

The strength of the unions has been cited as a problem by many sources, especially since King became governor. "I think the fact that King won certainly solidified the position of the unions," said Saltmarsh on Tuesday. He added that during his campaign for governor, King received overwhelming support from the Carment's Union.

Saltmarsh also noted that there is a "fairly good chance" of a fare increase in the future. "We have gone almost 10 years, I think, without some sort of increase," he pointed out that presently the total income of the MBTA is approximately 25 percent of the operating cost. Saltmarsh feels that about one-third of the budget "should be picked up by the user."

★ MBTA

renovating expenses; $12,000 for a new SEEM collaborative program in which Winchester must participate; and a $37,000 increase in educational equipment — new computer equipment for the high school, for example.

Secondary Budget

In outlining the secondary school budget, Committee member Heinrich Holland noted that next year's four-year high school and one junior high create a different budget picture than in previous years.

In fiscal 1981 the total secondary budget for the four-year high school is approximated at $3 million for 1424 students, which calculates to a $2,104 per pupil cost.

In fiscal 1978 the high school budget total was $2.08 million; $2.28 million in fiscal 1979; and $2.46 million in fiscal 1980.

Holland noted that next year's high school will be somewhat crowded and necessitates a somewhat different curriculum. Although expected curriculum changes are not extensive, Holland characterized them as "first rate."

The addition of the ninth grade to the high school next year is expected to create an influx into the band, the costs of which, Holland said, is a definite "add on to an otherwise spartan budget." Upgrading computer facilities at the high school he cited as another major expense for this year.

The McCall Jr. High School budget for fiscal 1981 is projected at $1.30 million for a 655 student population. This compares with previous budgets for both Lynch and McCall junior high schools as follows: fiscal 1978, $1.93 million; fiscal 1979, 1.93 million; and fiscal 1980, $1.93 million.

Elementary Budget

The fiscal 1981 budget is projected at $2,774,000 compared with the fiscal 1980 budget of $2,860,000. Major changes in the elementary budget are the result of closing three elementary schools and opening Lynch as an elementary school, Catherine Alexander told the Committee.

These major changes are reflected in $250,000 savings; $221,736 in personnel services; $57,950 in other expenses; and $20,000 in capital equipment if the schools were kept open. She said the elementary school budget continues to reflect an enrollment decline, which is expected to decrease 10 percent next year.

Alexander noted that the minimum salary for an elementary staff school teacher entering the Winchester system with a bachelor of arts degree is $11,843.

However, due to staff reductions over the last few years the school department will be paying a minimum of $17,135 to its elementary staff, before a negotiated increase.

The budget now contains the most that would be needed if all programs were implemented. The morning kindergarten and gifted programs deserve further consideration, she said.

Special Education

The total fiscal 1981 special needs budget is planned for $989,283 compared with the fiscal 1980 budget of $1,009,000, according to Sandra Rodgers.

Despite the reductions in staff of one teacher, one aide, one specialist and seven-tenths of a counselor, there is a forecasted increase of $25,000 in out of district tuitions and $12,000 for the SEEM collaborative program.

Systems Services

The fiscal 1981 systems services budget is $401,397 compared with the fiscal 1980 budget of $238,582.

According to Roger Bauman, these increases are due to the one-time $50,000 moving expenses and provisions for $114,000 to allow for five teacher and one principal sabbatical leaves.

Athletic Budget

Although the athletic budget doesn't now include a possible increase in coaches salaries, the increase in next year's budget is largely due to the addition of the ninth grade to the high school.

The high school athletic budget for fiscal 1981 is planned at $197,000 versus the $186,000 for the 1980 fiscal year.

Although there will be no interscholastic athletic programs next year at McCall, the intramural program there has been budgeted for $10,600. This is an $8100 increase over this year's intramural program for both junior high schools.

In explaining the athletic budget, Mary Jean Weyman noted that recreational supplies, repair and cleaning equipment and transportation fees have all increased.

School Lunch

The total cost of the school lunch program next year is projected at $348,620 against this fiscal year's figure of $348,620. However, according to Fallon, the net cost to the town next year will be $79,675 against this year's net cost of $85,759. This approximately $6,000 decrease, said Fallon, is due primarily to a decrease in general operating costs and an increase in prices.

Schools-Community

Although $9,214 has been budgeted for school use of the schools-community program next year, the actual cost to the town is estimated at $5,000, due to income from rental of space.

The total cost of the community programs (adult education and open gym) is expected at $20,000.

The School Committee is expected to vote the budget Jan. 21, after which it will be transmitted to the Town Manager for review by the Finance Committee.

FinCom Seeking

To Fill

Board Opening

The Winchester Finance Committee is seeking to fill an opening on the board that has arisen due to the retirement of Committee member William Zettler. The term for this position is only to the next election, but Chairman Carolyn Ward points out that a full committee is needed at this time of year, as the Finance Committee will soon be reviewing budgets for the 1981 fiscal year.

Anyone interested in the opening can contact Ward by letter through the Town Hall or at her home on 16 Myrtle st.

Republicans Playings Politics With Pay Issue - Rotondi

State Sen. Samuel Rotondi said on Monday that the controversial legislative pay raise issue will be cleared up as soon as possible and that the Republicans in the Legislature are using the matter to revive their sagging party.

"I'm saying they playing a terrible game with the people of the Commonwealth," Rotondi commented from his office. "The Republican leadership in the Senate could have objected to the bill ever being considered. You needed unanimous consent that night but nobody ever said anything against it."

The payraise issue involves the hike which the legislators voted themselves Oct. 31. It increased the rank-and-file legislator's annual salaries from $18,000 to $20,200. In addition, House and Senate leadership salaries were hiked anywhere from $3200 to $17,550. Finally, the governors' salary was increased from $40,000 to $60,000.

But what perhaps infuriated Massachusetts taxpayers the most was the manner in which the House and Senate members voted themselves the increase. In the late hours of the Halloween session, the Senate gave its approval by a voice vote, while the House took a roll-call vote to pass the proposal. Taxpayers woke up the next morning to find that their lawmakers had not only voted themselves a raise that exceeded the governor's four percent tax cap, but also President Carter's seven percent guideline.

Currently there is a push, backed by House Republican leader William G. Robinson of Melrose, to have the leadership direct the joint Committee on Public Service to hold a public hearing on the legislative pay raise. However, the legislative leadership has not yet done so.

Rotondi, who is the Senate chairman of the Public Service Committee and who voted in favor of the raise in October, feels that the issue is not the raise itself, but the manner in which it was done. His committee will eventually address the issue. "This thing will be resolved one way or another," said the Winchester resident. "I am not reluctant to consider this thing as soon as possible. I just don't want it to clog other vital issues."

A salary review commission of citizens outside the legislature was recently activated by Gov. Edward J. King. Rotondi points out however, that he and Methuen Representative Nicholas Buglione recommended to King last March that the commission be activated, but no action was taken. "There weren't a lot of complaints then," Rotondi points out. Rotondi also adds that a separate commission did recommend to his Public Service Committee increases for the governor and administrative personnel well before the pay raise vote. "We decided against them at that point because we had not addressed property taxes." His committee also had to deal with a number of other matters more pressing at that time. "We did address every one of those issues and there was something done for each of them."

Another delay in beginning the public hearing is that Rotondi also chairs the commission which is studying civil service. "We've got hearings scheduled right through January," he noted. Following that are planned hearings for normal Public Service Committee business.

Approximately 26 state legislators have decided not to accept the pay raise until the controversy is settled. Rotondi is not one of them. "To me that's grandstanding. I don't think the public wants legislators to back off every time someone sends out smoke on an issue. The issue is whether a legislator should be encouraged more on a full-time basis and paid commensurate to that."

Rotondi, who stated that the job of a state legislator has become a full-time position, feels that those who are against the pay raise are so because "they are making too much on the outside. They'll be on the outside two-thirds of the time."

Rotondi also called the picture of an empty Senate Chamber corridor, which appeared on the front page of the Boston Herald American last week, "shoddy journalism."

"I think what we're seeing are two giant dinosaurs about to become extinct and using this issue to stay alive, the Boston Herald American and the Republican Party in Massachusetts. I don't get paid to stand in the Senate corridor. That picture to me really epitomized shoddy journalism."

Registration Closes Feb. 5 For Presidential Primary

Winchester residents who wish to vote in the March 4 presidential primary must register by Feb. 5 at the Town Clerk's Office, according to Town Clerk Elsie Nelson.

Registration takes place at the Clerk's Town Hall Office from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., with a special registration Feb. 2 from noon to 8 p.m.

The March 4 ballot will include a choice for the Democratic and Republican Party presidential nominee, the selection of one State Committeeman and one Committeewoman of the Democratic and Republican State Committees, and choices for members of the Democratic and Republican Town Committees.

Independents may vote in the primary by requesting the ballot of one party, thus changing their voting status from Independent to that particular party. Applications for absentee ballots may be obtained in the Town Clerk's Office. Registered voters who are away from Winchester may also write a letter requesting an absentee ballot be sent by mail.

According to Nelson, a resident must register to vote only once, unless one's address changes. However, one becomes ineligible to vote if the census is not returned and a subsequent notice of removal from the voting list is also not returned.

The 11,713 registered voters in Winchester as of June 1 included 4,884 Democrats, 3,155 Republicans and 3,773 Independents. According to Nelson,

"Winchester used to be a very Republican town, but we are in a transitional period. There is a decided trend of more Democrats."

Jaycee-ettes Plan Lecture For Wednesday

On Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Mt. Vernon street, the Winchester Jaycee-ettes guest speakers will be two gentlemen from Mr. Meat.

There will be a lecture given on how to be economical when purchasing meats and poultry; how, as a consumer, to choose the best cuts of meats suited for one's family and how to get the best value from those particular cuts of meat to avoid any waste.

There will be a demonstration on the technique used in cutting various meats and poultry which, for the most part, can be done at home. There will be a contest for all meats used in this demonstration.

For more information and to confirm attendance, contact Mrs. Lloyd Frank, 12 Stone ave. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Drama Workshop Opens January Series Wednesday

The Winchester Drama Workshop opens its ninth January series for boys and girls in grades four through six on Wednesday.

Until the limited enrollment is filled, registration is open to all, regardless of experience, by applying to Recreation Director Kenneth Cereghino.

The group will meet Wednesdays from 3:15 to 5 p.m. in the carpeted Social Studies open area of the high school, second floor front. The 12 sessions will include Yoga to stretch and relax the body; sensory awareness exercises to stimulate the imagination; mime and movement for organic communication; theater games to develop spontaneous ensemble playing; and finally improvised scenes, which can lead in time to an original production.

Through this expressive arts process players learn to work from within themselves toward more effective outer communication, whether in theater art or in daily living.

Leaders will be Amy Shulman, teacher of movement and dance; Tony Johnson, veteran of WHS Curtain and Cue productions; and Paulett Taggart, who may be contacted for further information at the Winchester Drama Workshop, 17 Ridgfield rd.

Police Report Several Break-Ins During Week

A number of illegal entries were reported in Winchester in the first week following the holidays, according to the Winchester Police.

On New Year's Day, a Crescent road woman heard an intruder on the entrance floor of her home while she was upstairs. When the woman yelled to find out who was in her house, the intruder ran off. Nothing was reported stolen.

Two breaking and enterings were reported by the police on Friday. A Ridgfield road was ransacked with an undetermined amount of furs and jewelry taken as well as a candelabra and some silverware. On Bigelow avenue, eight pieces of Pewter and four pieces of a silver service were stolen.

On Saturday a number of illegal entries occurred in town. An oriental rug was taken and all of the rooms of an Everett road home were ransacked. On Berkshire drive, a $9000 oriental rug, a $400 gold necklace and assorted amount of jewelry, value undetermined, were stolen by intruders according to the police.

On Seneca road some gold silverware, a gold bracelet, a 22-caliber Remington Pump gun, as well as jewelry and watches were taken from the home.

Four illegal entries were reported on Monday, two of them occurring on the same street. On Ardly road, police report a swiss wrist watch, valued at $200, a color television valued at $450 and a three piece silver toilet set, as well as an unknown amount of jewelry were taken.

As police investigated that break it was discovered that another Ardly road home had also been broken into. With the owners vacationing in Florida, intruders made off with three oriental rugs, jewelry and two carving knives, according to the police report.

Finally, on North Gateway, an unknown amount of jewelry, a black ornax ring, a diamond ring, a wedding ring, one pair of pearl drop earrings as well as some stocks and silver were taken.

Beacon Hill Roll Call

House and Senate The House and Senate reconvened Jan. 2. The House has not held any roll call votes.

The Senate defeated, 20-18, a motion to suspend rules to allow consideration of an amendment to the Senate rules. The amendment would have required a roll call vote on all legislative pay raises.

Supporters argued that this rule change would have prevented a repeat of last fall's legislative pay raise, which the Senate passed on a voice vote. Some opponents contended that the rule change was premature, or unwarranted, and that the pay raise issue was too complex to be dealt with through this procedural rule change.

Sen. Samuel Rotondi voted against rule suspension.

Before A US Boycott, Why Not Exclude Russians

By WILLIAM DONOVAN

President Carter's hint that one of the United States' retaliatory measures against Russia for their invasion into Afghanistan could be an American boycott from the 1980 Olympics in Moscow, probably would not have the effect he hopes it would.

Indeed, a United States boycott would certainly be an embarrassment to the Soviets and would affect the games by removing one of the most competitive countries involved.

But an American boycott, without a similar following by many of our allies, would only penalize our athletes who have dedicated their lives to the Olympic games.

The games would still go on, Russia would still be in Afghanistan and for our athletes it would be wait until four years from now.

A more effective alternative, though perhaps more difficult to pull-off would be to move the games out of Moscow and exclude Russia. The logical sites would be to one of the countries that has held the summer games in recent years like Mexico City, Montreal or even Munich again. These cities still have the facilities to hold the events and the crowds.

The effect of this world boycott or Moscow exclusion, depending on how you look at it, would be devastating to the Russians. How could they possibly cope it up with their citizens? What explanation could they give for being the victim of a boycott of the entire Olympic community?

If the International Olympic Committee announced that the games were to be held in Montreal again, for example, because all major countries in the world had denounced Soviet actions in Afghanistan as the expansion of control over foreign soil by brute force that it is, and then excluded Russia from the games, wouldn't the Russian people start to ask a few questions?

The argument against any form of boycott is that part of the "purity" of the Olympics is that they are apolitical. The Games should not be used as a wedge between countries or they will be destroyed, say Olympic officials.

In fact the Olympics, whether they care to be or not, have indeed become political. Russia has strived for years to get the games in their country. By allowing the Olympics into Russia, by presenting the "spirit of friendship" in Moscow, Russia has brought itself to a level of acceptance with countries that it wishes to dominate.

Aren't we compromising principals by allowing the Soviet Union to participate in games that are intended to be another way for countries of the world to live in peace? A world the Soviets wish to dominate?

In the past few weeks nations around the globe have expressed their distress and shock at the Soviet aggressions in Afghanistan. But this summer they'll all close their eyes for two weeks and pretend all is right in the world.

Nobody wants the Earth to end up looking like a cigar ash, but it's time free governments around the world united, put their foot down and said Russia you are out!

Moving the Olympics out of Moscow and excluding the Russians would only be a small step. But it would be a united act and it's symbolism would be awesome: the free world before the USSR.

(Henry Simonds recounts tales of Winchester in 1930).

Miss Maribel Vinson of Winchester and Radcliffe was one of the superior skating stars who thrilled a huge crowd Monday evening, Jan. 6, in Madison Square Garden, N.Y., where one of the greatest ice carnivals America has ever seen was held.

A thousand skaters, among the best that America, Norway, Canada and Austria have produced, dipped and spun over the frozen surface of the garden in "The Land of the Midnight Sun," a pageant of the far north, given with the aid of the New York Music Week Association. A Wagnerian Orchestra and a black and white robed chorus of 350 voices furnished music.

Featured with Miss Vinson were Sonja Henie, 17-year-old world champion amateur figure skater from Norway; Will Boeckl of Austria, three time champion world skater; Roger F. Turner, United States champion; and Beatrice Laughran, former United States women's skating champion.

Delegations of prominent skaters from Toronto, Ottawa, Boston and Philadelphia attended. Miss Vinson was a striking figure, skating in a costume of green velvet and white fur. Among the participants was Irving Brokaw, known as the "Father of figure skating," who took the role of the Ice King.

Miss Vinson lost nothing by comparison with the foreign participants in the carnival. The following press clipping shows the esteem in which Winchester's champion was held by Metropolitan skating savants:

"The honor of the United States was duly upheld by Miss Maribel Vinson of Winchester, 18-year-old American champion, who placed second to Sonja in the world championships of 1928 at London. Early in her program, Miss Vinson spiked herself while doing a difficult spin, but she bravely continued her exhibition to a glorious finish, showing that she too can be ranked of first rate championship caliber. Her program contains many of the hardest figures in skating also done in flawless form, and with a verve and spirit that carried the New Yorkers away in ecstasy."

Parkview Apartments

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I would like to alert you to the growing unrest of tenants at Parkview Apartments. Within two years, Berndt Realty plans to convert this apartment building to condominiums.

This is a very serious concern since most of the inhabitants of the 320-apartment complex can neither afford nor desire to invest a large sum of money in a condominium. As so, many condominium dwellers are finding out, high interest rates and maintenance costs are making such purchases expensive propositions.

Where are the people presently living at Parkview to go? Winchester does not offer alternative rental housing for approximately four hundred people. Contrary to common belief, many of these people are long time Winchester residents and wish to remain in the town. Some are elderly. Some are handicapped. Is there anyone in Winchester who cares? Is there anyone who will speak in their behalf?

You may not wish to print this letter because I do not wish to give my name. If this is your policy I would appreciate it if you would at least investigate Parkview's plans for condominium conversion and determine whether any consideration has been given to the amount of hardship it is going to cause. Name withheld on request

Editor's Note: The Star has been in contact with representatives of Berndt Realty Co., owners of the Parkview Apts. and according to them "as of this moment there are no definite plans" to convert the complex into condominiums. Officials also said that any possible conversion would not be for at least two years from now.

George Bush

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Democrat contest for the nomination for President between the front runners Kennedy and Carter may turn out to be little more than sound and fury.

This fascinating and expensive display may be to select the appropriate contender to lose the race next November. It's now time for an alleged Republican to occupy the White House, according to the scenario.

If the Trilateral Commission and its parent organization, the Council on Foreign Relations (both Rockefeller control groups) have their way the next President will not be Reagan or Baker or Connally. It will be another dark horse - a la Carter in 1975 - a man by the name of George Herbert Walker Bush.

Rockefeller has been heavily financing Bush, relatively unknown today. But, when the state primaries commence Bush will arise "from nowhere" - just like Trilateralist Jimmy Carter did in 1975.

Bush is a an organization man, an "insider." He has been a director (no less) of the Council on Foreign Relations, head of the CIA, chairman of the Republican National Committee, Congressman and Ambassador to Red China. He has been closely associated with "insiders" like Fed. boss Paul Volker, presidential advisor Hedley Donovan and Henry Kissinger, among others.

When Bush decided, or was directed, to run for the presidency, it was David Rockefeller who immediately gave him the maximum possible contribution at the time, $5,000. He will receive much more as time goes on.

Jimmy Carter, your number is up. George Bush, the Trilateralist and C.F.R. man, has a friend at the Chase.

Voter Registration

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Last week was the first in the New Year, new decade and the presidential election year! In particular, the primary vote this year will prove to be tremendously important to us all.

The Voter's Service Highlight in 1980 will be the drive to help all students and young people over 18 years of age register to vote in time for the primary in March.

The last day to register for the primary is Feb. 5th! Are you home from college on vacation? Take a minute to stop in at Town Hall to register won't you? You may vote by absentee ballot from school as well as in person if you are home.

Please - don't be part of the apathy problem. Stop in at Town Hall today, and join those citizens who value the democratic process enough to exercise their right to vote.

Nuclear Power

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Congressman Marky's Star editorial, Dec. 15.

The editorial by Mr. Markey entitled "Congress Fails Nuclear Safety Test" argues that because Congress by a one sided vote rejected his amendment to delay start of construction on new nuclear power plants, therefore Congress failed the safety test.

Nuclear reactors have demonstrated their safety over a 25-year period. Sixty six are in operation in the US and 165 in other countries as quoted by US News & World Report. Private industry has learned certain lessons from Three Mile Island which further insures the unique safety record in the United States of no fatalities from nuclear reactor failure, a record not equalled by any other similar industrial development.

I believe, contrary to Mr. Markey's opinion, that Congress passed the Nuclear Safety Test because of this long record of the Nuclear Power Industry. Dr. Edward Teller, senior research fellow of Stanford University, one of the developers of nuclear energy during and after World War II, said last July, "When our existence is at stake, we cannot afford to turn our backs on any source of energy. We need them all. When it comes to generating electricity, we especially need nuclear power. Contrary to what Nader and Fonda would have you believe, nuclear power is the safest, cleanest way to generate large amounts of electrical power. This is not merely my opinion - it is a fact.

"I believe that we have reached a turning point in history. The anti-nuclear propaganda we are hearing puts democracy to a severe test. Unless the political trend toward energy development in this country changes rapidly, there may not be a United States in the 21 century."

Dr. Teller's concerns are now being emphasized by Russia's moves in Afghanistan and Iran to get access and control of Near East oil.

Bird Bath

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

It was above freezing this January morning so I refilled my birdbath. Several sparrows and chickadees came for a drink almost immediately after I came back into the house.

I watched them for awhile as they drank and fed and also watched a Downy woodpecker at work on my suet feeder.

It suddenly occurred to me that I have never seen a woodpecker in the act of drinking! Can they metabolize water from the food they eat, I wonder, as some rodents do?

Church Women United, which recently sponsored the sale of UNICEF holiday cards and gift items between Nov. 15 - Dec. 15, is most appreciative of the publicity coverage the Star afforded it. This exposure plus posters in the local merchants' stores made the effort a success.

Alcoholic Care

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

It is said it cost $20,000 per year to care for one alcoholic in Massachusetts. The government expects the elderly to survive on from $3-4 thousand. This is supposed to pay for the following: rent, food, insurance, telephone, milkman, laundry, clothing, shoes, medicine.

There are some medicines Medicare does not pay for, also eye examinations and glasses, hearing aids, teeth, etc.

Medicare pays only 80 percent of hospital care which means you get a bill. Yet there are many who think the elderly have it made. Because the elderly are proud and quiet, they do not have it made. Some of these old folks have to have eye checks every three months, $35 each time.

Louise Chase

P.S. They say alcoholics are ill: if so why doesn't our government do something for these unfortunate people and cure them.

From Zachariah Symmes To Charles Reinhardt, The History Of The Unitarian Society

By HENRY E. SIMONDS

The story of the Winchester Unitarian Society began with the arrival of Rev. Zachariah Symmes, one of the early settlers in the Waterfield section of Charlestown which is now part of Winchester. He preached his sermons to faithful parishioners who gathered in private homes. Symmes Corner was the center of Unitarians.

After the death of Rev. Symmes, his descendants and other parishioners in 1855 held services on Sunday afternoons in the old Mystic School on Bacon street, near Symmes Corner. The original Mystic School was replaced in 1900 by another school and now converted into a residence.

In 1855 a Unitarian Sunday School was organized, under the direction of Edward Wadeigh, which met for four years at the home of Mary Sharon. This is the red house which stands at 403 Main st near Black Horse Terrace. One-half of the 50 members of the Sunday School came from the Industrial School for Girls, located at Highland avenue and Eaton street, of which Sharon was the matron. When the girls' school was discontinued in 1858, Sharon retired and the Sunday School was discontinued.

During the Civil War years, the Unitarian Church's activity was suspended. However, the spirit of Unitarianism was kept alive by Luther H. Symmes, one of the Symmes Corner Unitarians, who lived in the house still standing at 212 Main st between Grove and Sanborn streets. Symmes kept the books, records of the Sunday School and Bible at his home where the children and adults came to visit and read them.

Following the war, Dr. Frederick Winsor came to Winchester and purchased the house of Dr. Ingalls. In his corner of Main and Mt. Vernon streets, where the Brown and Stanton block now stands, The Winchester Unitarian Society had its beginning Sunday afternoon, Nov. 19, 1865, when 25 men and women gathered in Winsor's parlor to listen to a sermon by Rev. Samuel R. Calthrop, a Harvard classmate of Winsor.

This sermon proved to be the start of continuous Unitarian preaching in Winchester. The following Sunday Dr. Calthrop was invited to return. But, this time the group had already outgrown Winsor's parlor and had to meet in Lower Lyceum Hall to accommodate the 80 citizens. Four days later, on Nov. 29 the articles of association were drawn up and signed. The first meeting of the corporation was held on Dec. 5, 1865 with officers elected and a code of by-laws adopted, and the third religious society in Winchester entered upon its corporate existence.

Lyceum Hall was engaged, and the Winchester Unitarian Society held its first religious service on Sunday, Dec. 3; 100 persons were present. A Sunday school was formed in the afternoon, with Charles J. Bishop as its superintendent, and 50 scholars came together as the nucleus of the present school.

For the next six months Harvard Divinity students filled the pulpit for the services which were held in the Upper Lyceum Hall. At a special meeting of the Society, May 18, 1866, it was voted to invite the Rev. Richard Metcalf of Providence to become the pastor. The call was accepted. And on June 14, 1866 he was duly installed as the first minister, serving the church for 15 years.

On June 26, 1866, William Everett, a son of Edward Everett, then a resident of the town, and a worshiper in the church, presented the Society with a set of communion vessels, consisting of four goblets, two plates, and a tankard.

The Ladies' Friendly Society was organized Feb. 14, 1866 to foster a kindly interest among its members, and to raise funds for the church and parish. The membership fee was $1 for gentlemen and 50 cents for ladies. This organization was known as the "Alliance."

The membership under Rev. Metcalf's leadership had so increased that a church building was deemed necessary. In 1869, land was purchased on Main street where the present McCall Jr. High School now stands. The cornerstone was laid Aug. 25, 1869 and dedicated on March 17, 1870 with appropriate ceremonies. The total cost of the church, including land, building, and furnishings was $27,000, most of it raised by subscription.

The tall gray wooden structure with a high steeple on the right hand corner, which was 110 feet tall, contained 72 pews, seating 380 persons. In addition there were 14 pews in the gallery. A gifted minister, Rev. Metcalf led the new church forward and his spiritual outlook set the goals which succeeding ministers have striven to attain throughout the century. He died on June 30, 1881 and was buried in Wildwood Cemetery. The Ladies Friendly Society erected a granite monument on his grave in memory of his 15 years of devoted ministry to the church.

In 1882 Rev. Theodore C. Williams, a Harvard graduate, served the parish for one year. He has the distinction of being the only minister of this church to have been ordained here. Rev. Williams wrote many hymns during his lifetime. He was followed by Rev. John Lewis Marsh from 1884 to 1888; and Rev. Herbert H. Mott, who came in 1889 and stayed until 1892.

The pastorate of the Rev. Arthur W. Littlefield extended from 1892 to 1898. During the last year of Rev. Littlefield's pastorate, the church was destroyed by fire on Nov. 16, 1897. It was a great loss to the church, for the building was in perfect repair. And the beautiful organ installed in 1873, a gift by Emmons Hall, was also lost. After the fire, the Unitarians met in the First Congregational Church and then at the small Town Hall until the present church was erected.

Within five days of the fire, a committee was formed to plan a new church.

From left are the Unitarian Church, built in 1869, and the former Gifford School. Built in 1860, the school was moved in 1866 from the lot on Washington street between Myrtle and Mt. Vernon streets.

It was finally agreed to locate on the east side of the Parker lot. The Parker homestead, which stood in the middle of the lot, was moved to the corner of Lloyd street and the parkway, where it stands today. Work and construction proceeded quickly and the cornerstone of the new building, made of Quincy granite, was laid in 1898.

The church was completed and dedicated on April 27, 1899. The cost of this church was $40,000, including land, building and furnishings. The dedication of the church coincided with the installation of the Rev. William I. Lawrence. Rev. Lawrence was devoted to the Sunday School and work with the young people.

Throughout his pastorate the life of the church was broadened from Sunday services to weekday activities. Rev. Lawrence was with the Church from 1899 to 1910, when he was called by the American Unitarian Association to organize its Department of Religious Education.

Two important contracts occurred in the early part of the 20th century which demonstrated the progressiveness of the Church. One, dated Dec. 29, 1905, between the Church and the Boston Edison Company, called for the installation of electricity for a minimum charge of one dollar per month, and a 35 percent discount on all charges in excess.

The second contract, dated March 6, 1906, between the telephone company and the Church, authorized the installation of a telephone for 30 dollars per year, payable quarterly in advance.

The next minister to serve the church was Rev. Joel H. Metcalf, nephew of the first minister, Rev. Richard Metcalf, who served from 1910 to 1920. Rev. Metcalf was an outstanding astronomer, and during his lifetime was credited with the discovery of more than 40 asteroids, three variable stars, and three comets. The young people of the Church and the community used to delight to visit the Metcalfs and be initiated into the mysteries of the heavens.

As a young boy, when he was a next door neighbor on Crescent road, I can remember spending many evening hours in his observatory. His observatory used to be on my land and had a roof made in two parts which could be opened to use the 16 inch diameter telescope. It was mounted on a rotating platform reached by a ladder. He told me that he discovered one of his comets from this sight.

After Rev. Metcalf was called to Portland, Maine in 1920, he was succeeded by Rev. George HALE Reed, who served as pastor until 1940. Many important events occurred during his pastorate. An organ given by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Parkhurst and the chancel was dedicated on April 21, 1928. Also a chime of bells were given by Jere A. Downs and Elizabeth S. Downs in memory of their mother, Elizabeth E. Downs, and installed in the tower of the church in 1924. Four years later the same donor replaced the four original bells by a full chime of 18 bells which was dedicated on Dec. 30, 1928.

One of the biggest events took place in 1929 when the new Parish House was dedicated on Feb. 17, 1929. The Parish House, designed by Smith and Walker of Boston, who were the architects for the chancel, conforms in style to the modified-English Gothic of the main church building. It is joined to the main church building by a beautiful cloister, opening off of which are the ministers study and a secretary's room. It contains on the street floor a ladies parlor, a kindergarten, and a Sunday School assembly hall.

The basement of the main church was divided to make separate classrooms and the old Metcalf Hall has been converted into an exquisite crypt chapel called the Meyer Chapel. The chapel and two manual organ are gifts of Mr. & Mrs. John C. Meyer. Also in this part of the church is the Winsor Room dedicated to Dr. & Mrs. Winsor, two founders of the Winchester Unitarian Society. Also in the basement is Metcalf Hall, named after the first pastor of the society. In this room is a spacious stage, four dressing rooms, and the hall itself which seats some 400 persons. Off this hall is a splendid kitchen and serving room. Among other memorials given during this time were many stained glass windows in the auditorium and the Alice F. Symmes window in the Symmes room who was superintendent of the Sunday School for some time.

The contractor in charge of the building was Frederick C. Alexander, who was a member of the Society. Also during Rev. Reed's pastorate, the Ever-Member Canvass was adopted, and the pew rental system was abolished and the Unitarian Players was organized in 1931, which was originally the social club of young people.

From 1940 to 1949 Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman, who came from the First Parish in Lexington, served the church. Rev. Chapman was interested in young people and their religious growth and organized a Religious Education Committee which created a strong Church School. The purchase of a parsonage at 33 Glen Green was acquired at this time.

Rev. Robert A. Storer came to the church in 1950 from the old Meeting House Hill parish in Dorchester and served until 1969. He was very interested in promoting religious drama and he has written and produced dramatizations, rituals, and special services for the church. His interest in drama led him to re-activate the Unitarian Players in 1950, which is now an active group in the church and community. The dramatic growth of the Church School in numbers and effectiveness showed Dr. Storer's ability to make religious education an exciting concept to youngsters and adults alike.

The Alliance of the church is an active group, which raises money for many benevolences. There are many other active clubs and groups in the church which supply the many needs to the church and community.

In 1958 the pressing need for more space for church school classrooms was met. On Dec. 7, 1958 the new two-story wing was dedicated. Arthur H. Brooks Jr. was the architect and Conti and Donahue were the contractors. The roof of Lawrence Hall, which was above Metcalf Hall, was raised and made into two floors of separate classrooms. Much of the money was raised by the children of the Church School. Two special rooms were dedicated, in memory of Inga Michelsen and Dr. John Wallace, both of whom were very much interested in the very young members of the parish.

In 1965 the church celebrated their 100th Anniversary on Dec. 5. Two special stained glass windows in the Symmes Room were also dedicated which show both the original and the new churches.

In September, 1969 the Rev. Robert Storer resigned to become the minister emeritus and the Reverend Jack D. Zoerheide, formerly a minister in Needham, became the pastor. Rev. Zoerheide was very interested in the senior citizens of the town and through his efforts as chairman of a Steering Committee established in 1972, an 11-member Council of Aging was appointed by the town in 1973.

The planning sessions of the senior group was held in the Unitarian Church and the Senior Hot Line had its beginning in the Unitarian Church for several weeks. At the ground breaking ceremonies of the center on Dec. 2, 1976, Rev. Zoerheide, chairman of the Building Fund Committee and one of the most dedicated workers for the center, gave a most inspiring speech. He also gave the dedication address at the opening day of the Jenks Senior Center on April 2, 1978.

In the fall of 1979 Rev. Zoerheide resigned and Rev. Charles A. Reinhardt was installed as minister on November, 1979.

All the past ministers have contributed in their different ways to the growth of the Winchester Unitarian Society.

Supper Program Planned For Dr. King Day

On Monday at 6:30 p.m. the Congregational Church will celebrate Martin Luther King Day with a covered dish supper, followed by a program planned by Winchester students under the direction of Tony Johnson and Pamela Brooks.

Dramatic readings of Dr. King as well as a keynote speech by John Reilly, director of equal opportunity at Tufts University will be featured at the event. The program is sponsored by the Winchester Ecumenical Association and reservations can be made by contacting one's church. If no church affiliation call 729-1922 in the daytime or 729-8637 at night.

There is no charge as each person will contribute part of the dinner. For those who don't care to cook, a $3 donation will be required towards the food costs.

The Star welcomes letters to the editor of interest to the citizens of Winchester, written by Winchester residents or former Winchester residents. Letters should be typed, double-spaced, and no longer than 250 words. They must also be signed and accompanied by the author's printed name, address and phone number in order that we may verify letters. Names and addresses will be withheld on request.

Toastmistress Club Meeting Planned For Monday

The Winchester Toastmistress Club will hold an Open House meeting on Monday, in the Suter Room of the Church of the Epiphany, beginning at 8 p.m.

The Club is one of many associated with International Toastmistress Clubs which is a non-profit, international, educational organization with members in more than 24 areas, incorporated for the purpose of developing proficiency in communication, leadership training, skill in organizational techniques, and self-development. The Club, which is the oldest Toastmistress Club on the Eastern Coast, has meetings on the second and fourth Monday of each month from September until June.

Gail Connor of Malden will be the Toastmistress for the program which will feature two speeches. "Anatomy of a Speech" by Madeline Murray of Somerville, and "Bubastis by the Fire" by Gail Harris of Melrose.

Other participants will be Topic-mistress Mrs. Preston Johnson of Melrose; Mrs. Charles Tyner of Medford, lexicology; Mrs. Joseph Darish of Malden, topic critic; and Dorothy-Elizabeth Tucker of Medford, general evaluator. Narrator for the evening will be June Pietrantonio of Medford. Lois Hamilton of Malden will preside over the business meeting.

The club is open to adults of any age. For further information call 665-1796 or 321-2624.

Selectmen's Notes

Community Residence Committee

Constance Williams and Deborah Cary appeared before the Board of Selectmen Monday night to be interviewed for possible appointments to the newly created Community Residence Study Committee.

"I think that homes for the mentally ill and mentally retarded are in the right direction," said Williams. She added that she feels the location of the homes and the makeup of the neighborhood are important when selecting sites for possible community residences.

Cary, who is a former member of the Mystic Valley Area Board, told the Selectmen that she could see herself as a sort of go-between with the Selectmen and the Department of Mental Health.

When asked about her opinion of regulations on community residences, Cary replied that "I think if we get overlapping regulations that gets to be a waste of time." She added that "I think it's got to be a question of working together and if it takes a zoning requirement to get people together than I'm in favor of it."

Cary also stated that she is not a part of Task Oriented Communities, the organization that established the controversial community residence on Cross street last summer. "I have nothing to do with TOC," Cary stated to the Board.

Williams and Cary are the first two citizens interviewed for the committee. The Board has received one more other letter of application, but are still looking for least two other applicants.

Resource Recovery Committee

Neal J. Harte, a certified public accountant from Mayflower road, was interviewed by the Board for a position on the Resource Recovery Study Committee.

"It seems as though you should look at it from a couple of points of view, one of them financial," Harte stated. It's from that aspect he feels he could be an asset to the committee.

Harte mentioned that he was not completely informed on the North Andover resource recovery project, which the town is considering becoming involved in. "But it looks like it's big dollars over a long period of time," he noted.

He did add that it was a proposal that should be looked at in great detail. "Very often the guy who puts this thing together really doesn't lose anything if it doesn't work."

The Selectmen have not interviewed anyone else for the committee, although another interview is planned for Monday's meeting.

Attitudinal Survey

Barbara Crowell, the executive vice president of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce, met with the Selectmen to discuss the recent results of the town's attitudinal survey and how business could be improved in Winchester.

"I definitely hope that it doesn't get put to rest and filed away," said Crowell of the survey. "I think the thing we have to keep in mind is that the things that came out of the survey and the problems we have are not unique to Winchester."

Crowell also pointed out that "Winchester is changing. It's not the Winchester of the 50s. We're competing with Faneuil Hall and the Burlington Mall. It's not that easy right or now to rent a store and run a business in Winchester, Massachusetts."

Crowell and fellow Chamber member William Caci suggested to the Selectmen that a full-time professional planner be hired. "I'm not sure that this board has developed a comprehensive plan. That would be the first step in any revitalization."

The idea of a professional planner was received well by the Selectmen and by Town Manager Thomas Groux who mentioned that some consulting firms offer planners to a town on a full-time basis for as long as they are needed and then assign them elsewhere when their job is done in the first community.

After further discussion on the possibility, Board of Selectmen Chairman Richard Wilsack summed up the discussion by stating, "We seem to have planted a germ tonight for a professional planner."

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri paper. One day he received a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his paper, and asked if this was an omen of good or bad luck.

Twain replied: "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

Recreation Department Announces 1980 Winter Schedule

Now that the holidays are over the Recreation Department is starting a new series of winter programs. Although registration for boys' basketball and soccer for adults has passed, it's not too late to sign up for programs such as folk dance (for adults); drama workshop (grades 4-6); or women's physical fitness (adults).

According to Recreation Director Ken Cereghino, "The Winchester Recreation Department adopts as its general objective the provision of a balanced and diversified program of leisure services for all populations within the community."

"The 1980 winter programs are attempting to meet this objective, providing a strong, basic program of activities that reflects the best utilization of the tax dollar," notes Cereghino.

Activities are available for preschoolers through senior citizens.

A complete list of the available programs and where and when they're taking place is listed below. Brochures are available in the Recreation office in the Town Hall.

Garden Club Plans Program On Mushrooms Wednesday

On Wednesday the Winchester Home and Garden Club will hear member Maria Maravigna, artist-sculptress, speak on "Being Lured by Wild Mushrooms" at the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church.

There will be a workshop at 10 a.m., followed by a casserole tasting luncheon at 1 p.m. Alice Keating, president, will preside at the business meeting. Grace Dignam, program chairman, will present the speaker.

Maravigna, internationally known as the "Mushroom Lady," will illustrate her talk with a selection of edible and poisonous species from a display of her sculptures and water color panels.

From coast to coast she has exhibited in libraries, banks, art and nature centers, museums of science and natural history, universities, garden clubs, mycology clubs and women's clubs. A permanent exhibit is in Kingwood Center, Mansfield, Ohio. She has been featured on several TV programs. For the past 20 years she has shown her mushroom sculptures at the New England Flower Show.

She attended the Boston Museum School, Boston University and the Child Walker School. Maravigna also studies under prominent art teachers and was a professional artist, having several one-person showings of her portraits, florals, still lifes and landscapes before concentrating on mushroom sculptures.

No. 129478

Mary E. Migliacci Plaintiff vs.
Joseph A. Migliacci Defendant
Summons by Publication

To all persons interested in the estate of Robert Cameron late of Winchester, in said County, deceased.

You are hereby notified pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 72 that the twentieth thru twenty-second accounts of Cambridge Trust Company as Trustee (the fiduciary) under the will of said deceased for the benefit of Bessie C. McNeill and others have been presented to said Court for allowance.

If you desire to preserve your right to file an objection to said accounts, you or your attorney must file a written appearance in said Court at Cambridge on or before the twenty-ninth day of January, 1980, the return day of this citation. You may upon written request by registered or certified mail to the fiduciary, or to the attorney for the fiduciary, obtain without cost a copy of said accounts. If you desire to object to any item of said accounts, you must, in addition to filing a written appearance as aforesaid, file within thirty days after said return day or within such other time as the Court upon motion may order a written statement of each such item together with the grounds for each objection thereto, a copy to be served upon the fiduciary pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 5.

Witness, Edward T. Martin, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, the fifteenth day of December, 1979.

Foreign Languages

Foreign language classes at the Cambridge YWCA start in January in Italian, Portuguese, French and Spanish Call for registration.

To the above-named Defendant:

A complaint has been presented to this Court by your spouse, Mary E. Migliacci, seeking to stay the judgment of divorce Probate No. 129478 Middlesex County entered in your favor on July 24th 1979 from becoming absolute.

You are required to serve upon Kenneth F. Buss plaintiff's attorney, whose address is 406 Main Street, Woburn, Mass., your answer on or before March 24, 1980. If you fail to do so, the Court will proceed to the hearing and adjudication of this action. You are also required to file a copy of your answer in the office of the Register of this Court at Cambridge.

Witness Edward T. Martin, Esq., First Judge of said Court at Cambridge.

Approximately 25 persons attended the recent reception at A.R. Decorating Center for Joseph Mantini, whose Cross street restaurant suffered extensive damage during a recent two-alarm fire. According to Anne Rebello, over 40 citizens and companies have contributed approximately $1,000 to date. "I think that it's going very well. It's still an ongoing thing; we are still getting responses daily in the mail. There's been a nice banding together and it's a good beginning," she said. Rebello said Mantini is looking for another place to continue his business, and hopes to settle in Winchester. From left are: Ted Rose of Running Racquet, Rebello of A.R. Julie Gravallesse

Julie Gravallesse Plans Wedding For March 8

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gravallesse of 20 Ledyard rd., announce the engagement of Julie Marie Gravallesse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Gravallesse Jr., of Arlington, Va., to Dr. Bradley T. Hargroves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther J. Hargroves of Connecticut.

Miss Gravallesse will graduate in May from the University of Virginia with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering. She plans to receive a master of science degree in civil engineering after another year of study.

Her fiancé received both a bachelor of science and master of science degrees from the University of Connecticut. He received his Ph.D. from Pennsylvania State University and is a professor of civil engineering at the University of Virginia.

A March 8 wedding is planned.

Joseph Santo, who recently turned 80, was treated to two birthday celebrations in honor of the occasion. One, at a restaurant in New York City, and the other, at a restaurant in Wilmington, were attended by family and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cross Jr.

Anne Smith, Roger Cross Marry At St. Eulalia's

Anne Marie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson Smith, was married Nov. 24 to Roger James Cross Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger James Cross of Ann Arbor, Mich.

Rev. James J. Haddad officiated at a nuptial mass at St. Eulalia's church. A reception followed in the Continental Ballroom of the Sheraton Lexington.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white quana with a fitted bodice and long sleeves. The dress was appliqued with beaded re-embroidered alencon lace and accented by a chapel length veil. She carried a cascade of phalaenopsis and soft pink roses.

Deborah Linville of Media, Pa., was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Ellen Sullivan of Boston, Katherine Bliss of West Springfield and Denise Pettengill of Stoughton.

Jeffrey Burns of Denver, Colo. was the best man. Ushers were Stanley Otterstrom of Denver, Paul Smith of Winchester and David Cross of Santa Barbara, Calif.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and The University of Maine, where she was a member of the Chi Omega Sorority. She is employed by Electronic Data Systems of Dallas, Texas, and is now working in Frazier, Pa. as a systems engineer.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Simsbury High School and Western State College, Gunnison Colo. He is a sales representative for the tool division of Stanley Works, New Britain, Conn.

After a trip to Jamaica and the Bahamas, the couple will live in Exton, Pa.

Pianists Participate In Music Club's Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Ain Laats hosted the December meeting of the Winchester Music Club Dec. 9. Susan Cowen planned the evening's program.

Pianists participating in the program include: William McCarter, who played "The Little Witch" by Waxman. Daphne Zervoglos followed with a waltz by Sibelius, Nicholas Rossettos played "Gavotte" by Telemann and Andrea Kenerson played "Mountain Melody" and "Small Fry" by Dello Joio.

Charlotte Hartunian played a mazurka by Chopin followed by Elizabeth Wechsler who played two Slovakian songs by Bartok. Andy Laats played the "Horseman" by Kabalevsky and Patty Richardelli played "Touches Blancs" by Milhaud.

Leslie Lien followed with a waltz by Chopin. Lisa Crisafi played "Peasant Dance" by Beethoven and Mary Hartunian played "Invention No. 14" by Bach. Marisa Gulino played two selections by Kabalevsky and Joan Baruffaldi followed with Fantasy Dance by Schumann.

Yael Falb played a mazurka by Chopin and Dance in form of a Rondo by Beethoven. Eric Fieleke played two sonatas by Scarlatti and Anne Hitchcock played a waltz by Prokofieff and Invention No. 4 by Bach.

Flutist Poppea Dorsam and pianist Eric Fieleke concluded the program with a "Romance" by Schumann. Teachers assisting in the program were Carol Fieleke, Kitty Laber, Anne Francoise Perrault and John Willis.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nichols will host the next Music Club meeting Feb. 3. Junior high and high school instrumentalists wishing to perform should speak to their teachers who in turn should contact program planner Kitty Laber.

Lisa Rau

Lisa Rau Plans To Wed Kevin Connors

Mrs. Judith Rau of Stoneham announces the engagement of her daughter, Lisa Jean, to Kevin Michael Connors, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Connors of Whitinsville.

Miss Rau, a former Winchester resident, is the daughter of the late George F. Rau of Stoneham, and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Sullivan of Winchester.

A 1976 graduate of Arlington High School, she is a senior at Providence College where she is majoring in psychology.

Her fiancé is also a senior at Providence College where he is majoring in history and education. He is a 1976 graduate of Northbridge High School.

The engagement was announced Oct. 13 at the Sheraton Tara in Framingham.

WHS Presents 'Hello Dolly' February 7-9

"Hello, Dolly!" a long running Broadway show, adapted by Michael Stewart and Jerry Herman from Thornton Wilder's comedy, "The Matchmaker," will be presented by Curtain and Cue at the Winchester High School Music Department Feb. 7-9.

Dorothy Santos is directing the production; Jean Pendergrass is choreographer, and Burton Cowgill is music director.

The leading role of Dolly Levi will be played by Ann-Louise Casey, who will be remembered as the mother in the fall production of "The Diary of Anne Frank." Other cast members include Robert Hallisey, Chad Rosenberger, Jeff Richmond, Criss Currier, Lisa Hirschhorn, Mark Bishop, Rene Torriero, Arty Nasson, Chris Wilde, Dan Schutberg, Melissa Eugley, and Judy Fabuss.

The cast also includes 51 students as chorus and/or dancers.

Assisting with the production are Chris Hill as stage manager; Will Moore as assistant stage manager; Bill Cochran as technical advisor; Doug Watts as stage crew chairman; and Joann Stevens as production coordinator.

Chairing various production committees are Mary Ann Hirschhorn, costumes; Jon Haber, props; Julia Gittleman, publicity; Anne Donahue, program; Agnes Reidinger and Laurie Wood, make-up; and Ann-Louise Casey, ushering. Ticket sales are under the direction of Burton Cowgill.

March Concert Auditions Open

Auditions for Winchester junior and senior high school dancers and actors-actresses to take part in Adventures in Music's March Concert will be held tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. and Saturday at 10 a.m. at Clark Jr. High School, Stedman road, Lexington.

The concert will feature "El Salom Mexico" by Aaron Copeland. Prepared pieces are not necessary. Separate auditions for third through sixth graders will be held in February.

Kalahar Son

On Dec. 30 a first child, Jonathan Paul, was born to C. Thomas and Joan Kalahar at the Beth Israel Hospital. The Kalahars live at 247 Washington st.

The first Town Clerk in the Town of Winchester was Dr. David Youngman who not only ran an apothecary shop but was also a bookseller and stationer.

INSULATION (Blown in or Batts)

Cellin insulation can save up to 38% on your heating bill year after year.

Cellin is a superior loose fill cellulose insulation which is blown into walls, floors and ceilings. Only Cellin offers all these advantages:
Safe and reliable. Cellin is non-toxic, non-irritating to the touch, flame retardant and non-conductive. It meets or exceeds federal specification HH-1 515C Type 1 Class 25 and carries an Underwriters Laboratories labeling.
Natural product. Cellin consists of short cellulose wood fibers made of selected newsprint which has been processed and chemically treated.
Total coverage. Unlike many insulations, Cellin fills every possible space, giving you even complete coverage.
Higher R-value. Cellin has a greater R value (resistance to heat flow—the measure for insulation) per inch than most insulations.
Non-corrosive and moisture resistant. There's no corroding of pipes, no rotting of wood in walls and ceilings.

THE MONEY TREE

In my experience, money and elbow grease spent wisely on landscaping will pay off handsomely in adding value to your property — in dollars — not just in impression. Some go as far as to say that a mature tree in the right place is worth a thousand dollars. Landscaping gives a house personality. It is exterior decoration. Landscaping and the house facade greet the visitor and give that important first impression of the owner as well as the home. It can work both ways, too. A plain house can be made attractive with the right landscaping. A beautiful house can become ugly with the wrong landscaping. In fact, a prospective buyer will have a pretty good opinion of what the inside of the house will look like by the time he has finished perusing the appearance of the exterior decoration. Aside from increasing value, good landscaping pays dividends in other ways. It adds pleasure to your family's life. And it's not all that difficult to achieve and maintain.

Employment

TECHNICAL OPPORTUNITIES

We are an expanding division of the Burroughs Corporation, a worldwide leader in the manufacture of computer-based systems with the following interesting opportunities.

TEST TECHNICIANS

Do you enjoy challenging work and have a strong digital background? You may qualify for one of these interesting openings. You will provide final system checkout and contribute to analysis of engineering and production problems. On a rotating basis, if desired, you may choose field service assignments. You must be a technical school graduate; however, minimal industry experience is acceptable. For the above position, please call Tony Garofalo.

ENGINEERING TECHNICIANS

Do you enjoy the challenge of developing and refining original digital concepts? You will work on advanced engineering products and develop new computer-related systems in the microprocessor and optical recognition field. You should have an ASE and at least 2 years of relevant experience.

SOFTWARE DESIGN ENGINEER

We are seeking a talented individual with a background in FORTRAN and Assembly Level programming to work on an entirely new product line. You will be involved with microcoded controllers, micros and minis in both CAD and product-oriented areas. Your background should include a BS in Computer Science or an EE with a heavy programming history. A minimum of 5 years' experience is required with previous hardware design a plus.

DIGITAL DESIGN ENGINEER

We have an outstanding opportunity for an experienced digital design engineer with a strong hardware background. You will be part of a select team developing a completely new product line. Assembly and/or micro-code software experience would be an asset. Background should include an EE degree with at least 5 years' experience.

For the above positions, please call Howell Mitchell or send a current resume.

MANUFACTURING OPPORTUNITIES

QC TECHNICIANS

High QC standards and initiative would qualify you to join our staff as a QC technician. You will develop and maintain in-process inspection systems, make visits to vendors for on-site acceptance of their parts, perform final QC on products and decide on whether equipment is ready for shipment.

For the above position, please call Dan Vititi.

ASSEMBLER/INSPECTORS

We are looking for people experienced in the area of PCB loading, cabling and chassis assembly. If you are a quality-oriented person, interested in a future in quality control, this is your opportunity.

ELECTRICAL/MECHANICAL ASSEMBLERS Experienced

Expansion of our Assembly Department has created a number of positions for experienced Assemblers and Group Leaders. Our equipment involves chassis assembly and wiring, PC board assembly and precision mechanical assembly. If you have experience in one or more of these areas we can make a very attractive offer to you.

Entry Level/Trainees

Learn by doing. If you appreciate quality workmanship, have a flair for assembling mechanical things and would like to get the opportunity to enter the computer field, then we would like to meet you. We will train you to assemble and wire electronic chassis, printed circuit boards, as well as assemble precision mechanical and optical units.

For the above positions, please call John Shemkus.

Substitute Teachers

Applications are being accepted by the Arlington Public Schools. Salary: 23/day added increments for long term assignments. Positions are available at all levels and disciplines.

For information and applications contact:

SECRETARIES

College Medical Setting

Good secretarial skills — not necessarily a medical background — are needed to be considered for a variety of interesting openings.

If you're a medical secretary, or would like to learn the medical secretarial field, we want to tell you more about opportunities in this modern (and expanding!) medical service.

Our Medical Department provides comprehensive services to students, employees and their families, and we need the support of secretaries with at least a year's experience to assist physicians and others in meeting our community's needs.

We think you'll find our salary and benefits package attractive, plus tuition assistance, recreation facilities and easy access to MBTA.

Please contact: MIT Personnel Office, (617) 253-4251, 400 Main Street, Cambridge, MA 02139. MIT is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.

Residents Volunteer For Christmas Bloodmobile

Thirty-six Winchester residents made the Fourth Annual Christmas Bloodmobile held by the Winchester Red Cross at the Chapter office on Church street. Thirty-five badly needed units were collected.

"We're very happy with the response," said Bob Gerrity, the Chapter's Executive Director, "and we especially appreciate the students home from college who took the opportunity to donate. The need for blood never takes a holiday."

"Blood collection in Winchester this year is down by about 10 percent," Gerrity said. "We hope those donors who were unable to make it to either St. Mary's or this visit will be able to donate at next month's community visit."

Volunteer assistants were Katie Beaton, Allison Lowell, Barbara Panosian and Diane Tracey.

Those who volunteered to donate were:

Obituaries

Gertrude Barry

Main street resident Gertrude Ann Barry died Jan. 1 at Winchester Hospital after a short illness.

Born in Cambridge, Mrs. Barry lived in Medford before moving to Winchester 51 years ago.

Mrs. Barry was a member of the Guild of the Infant Saviour, former prefect of St. Mary's Sodality, and member of the Medical Missionaries of Mary and the Sen Fu Club.

Mrs. Barry was the wife of Henry F. Barry. She is survived by three sons, Henry F. Barry Jr. of Grafton, David J. Barry of Framingham, and Rev. John D. Barry, team ministry at the Church of St. Anthony, Woburn; one daughter, Mrs. Raymond Cooke of Raynham; and 15 grandchildren.

A concelebrated mass, with her son, Rev. John D. Barry officiating, was held Jan. 4 at St. Mary's Church.

Concelebrants of the mass were: Rev. Leo X. Lynch of St. Anthony's; Rev. William M. Helmick, secretary to the Cardinal; Rev. Charles E. Anadore of St. Barbara's, Woburn; Rev. Bernardo P. McLaughlin, Logan Airport Chapel; Rev. John B. McCormack, Salem Catholic Charities; Rev. Daniel J. Doyle, St. Joseph's, Ipswich; Rev. Arthur Reardon, St. Mary's; Rev. Mark S. Sheehan, St. Mary's; Rev. Benedict J. Mawn, C.P., St. Mary's; Rev. Bernard M. Hoy, Sacred Heart, Lexington; Rev. Richard J. Brady, St. Barbara's; Rev. Robert N. Kelleher, Corpus Christi, Auburndale; and Rev. Joseph J. Curran, St. Mary's, Beverly.

Rev. Francis V. Strahan, archdiocesan director of music at St. John's Seminary, Brighton, was the soloist. Most Rev. John J. Mulcahy, auxiliary bishop of Boston and regional bishop of the Lynn region presided.

Burial was at Wildwood Cemetery. Arrangements were made by the Robert J. Costello Funeral Home.

Memorial donations may be made to the Barry Scholarship Fund, in care of Winchester Savings Bank, Winchester.

Elizabeth St. Croix

Elizabeth A. St. Croix, 88, died Monday in the Jordan Hospital in Plymouth after a brief illness.

Mrs. St. Croix was born in Newfoundland.

She was the wife of the late Andrew F. St. Croix Sr. and mother of the late Andrew F. St. Croix Jr. Mrs. St. Croix is survived by two daughters, former Winchester resident Lorraine S. Parkhurst, now of Manomet, and Florence E. Baker of South Weymouth; seven grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 this morning at the Magrath Funeral Home, 325 Chelsea st., East Boston. Rev. Philip E. Anthes from Melrose will officiate. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett. Arrangements are being made by the Magrath Funeral Home.

Memorial donations may be made to the Heart Fund.

Hoopsters Split: Top Belmont Then Get Trowned By Wakefield

The Winchester High varsity boys' basketball team advanced their record to 2-4 with a win and a loss last week, defeating Belmont 60-59 and losing to a strong Wakefield club, 81-60.

The Belmont win was an important one for Sachem coach John Myers' boys, as it was their last strong chance for a win before they faced the iron of the Middlesex League in four consecutive games.

"I was pleased overall until we had some difficulty near the end," said Myers on Monday of the victory over the Marauders.

The Sachems went into the break at halftime tied at 29 with the small Belmont club. But in the third quarter they began to hit the boards and the nets. Jeff Cahill and Eddie Pratt, who lead the Sachems with 19 and 12 points, carried the locals to a seven point lead at the end of three, 47-40.

The Sachems tacked on seven more to that lead early in the fourth quarter and the Marauders were forced to press Winchester. "We handled it well up to this point and then we started to break down," said Myers.

Slowly the Marauders ate away at Winchester's lead with Kevin Hynes showing the way for Belmont, leading them with 19 points.

With Sachem center Bill Herder out of the game with fouls, the locals held on and when Pratt hit both ends of a one-and-one with seconds left that was the ballgame.

Against the Warriors of Wakefield on Friday, things were completely reversed as the Sachems found themselves in a 19-point hole early in the first quarter. "It was pretty much even after that," said Myers, referring to the fact that the Sachems lost by 21, 81-60.

"We didn't have anywhere near the trouble we figured we would with their press," Myers noted. "Kevin Thomas was the key to that. He's looking like he's going to be a good point guard."

The Sachems were simply out-matched by the undefeated Warriors in this one. Wakefield has height, speed, talent and savvy. Matched up against the inexperienced Sachems, it was an unbeatable combination.

Billy Herder showed some signs of being a positive factor in the Sachem offense as he banged home 18 points, 12 in the final quarter. "Hopefully that's a sign he's going in the right direction," said Myers of Herder, who scored only two points against Belmont. "If he does that against Lexington I figure he's starting to arrive."

Early foul trouble has been a problem for Winchester as they out fouled both Belmont and Wakefield nearly two-to-one.

"They were shooting one-on-one three minutes into the first period," said Myers of his opponents in the Belmont game. "A lot of the fouls are reaching and a lot is failing to clock out."

But the Sachem coach is seeing progress. "The quickness is beginning to show. We're not playing with our heads well enough. The main thing is not to get discouraged. I really think we're improving. You have to take a loss to Wakefield by 20 as a learning experience. Somebody's going to have to finish up around fifth and we have as good a chance as anyone to do that. It may take a good eight or nine wins."

Tennis Center Plans Expansion Of Facilities

John Koslowski, president of Sports Management Services, Inc., owners of the Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis Center, Charles River Tennis & Health Club and the Nashua Swim & Tennis Club, says that construction is underway for nine racquetball courts at the Winchester facility located at 41 East St. This will make the Winchester facility of 12 indoor tennis courts and nine racquetball courts one of the largest racquet sports complexes in New England.

Completion date of the nine courts is scheduled for March 15th, but Koslowski states that three courts will be ready for play and inspection shortly after Jan. 20th. New locker rooms and amenities are planned in the separate building housing the nine racquetball courts.

Fifteen years ago Sports Management Services with the Winchester Indoor facility was the first in the public indoor tennis business. From 1966 to 1971 the Winchester Cathedral hosted the Women's National Indoor Championships, bringing to the area such stars as Billie Jean King, Rosie Casals, Kerry Melville Reed, and other players.

Koslowski states that the same interest and concern will be given to all racquetball enthusiasts at Winchester. Further expansion is planned for Newton and Nashua.

Sachemette Hoopsters Lose 49-41 To Wakefield

The Winchester High girls' varsity basketball team watched their record slip to 2-2 last week after they dropped a foul filled 49-41 tilt to Wakefield at the High School.

The Sachemettes actually lead by two going into the fourth quarter and as much as seven midway through the third. But the visitors from Wakefield began to apply the pressure and Winchester, with floor leader Kathy Day on the bench in foul trouble, couldn't keep the ball. The locals began to turn it over to Wakefield who cashed in on their shots.

Day would eventually foul out as would center Laurie Redmond for the Sachemettes. The loss of Redmond, who was gone midway through the third quarter, hurt Winchester in both rebounding and scoring.

The referees played a large part in the contest, calling 44 fouls, 33 on Winchester which didn't make coach Barbara Hollis too happy. Hollis in fact was slapped with her first technical foul in 10 years of coaching.

Barbara Jacobs, the one player the Sachemettes have been waiting for to arrive on offense, did so Friday, tossing in 18 points and pulling down 13 rebounds in her finest effort of the season. "She really came through," said Hollis later. "I think she just started to hit her stride. Laurie was off a bit so Barbara decided to pick up the slack."

But Jacobs alone was not enough against the tall Wakefield club. Gail Oram, who did an admirable job for Redmond while she was on the bench, was able to work for position underneath the basket, but didn't have the strength of Redmond and was getting moved out of the inside, leaving Jacobs pretty much on her own.

Hollis wasn't exactly overjoyed with the execution by the Sachemettes, but admits the loss of Day to fouls was a factor. "She's sort of the key to how well we execute," the Winchester coach noted.

Hollis did point out that the front line of Oram, Martha Doherty and Joanne Maloney were fairly effective early in the third quarter when the Sachemettes moved out to their seven point lead. But fouls began to hurt Winchester as Wakefield, going to the line in the penalty situation, began burying their foul shots. Indeed, games are won and lost at the line.

Redmond and Day did do some scoring while in the game, contributing 10 and six points respectively. Wakefield was led by a fine freshman, Renee Najarian, who fired in 19 points.

Surabian Shines In Goal, But Skaters Drop Two More

It's tough to be optimistic when your club is holding up the Middlesex League with a 0-4 record. But after last week's Sachem hockey coach Mike Houghton feels that his team may have turned the corner, thanks to the fine play of goalie Bobby Surabian.

Against Stoneham last Saturday the senior captain came up with the best performance of his career, stopping 40 Spartan shots and although Stoneham eventually won out 4-1, Houghton was not unhappy.

"The Stoneham game was the best hockey we've played in two years," said the Sachem coach later. "They got an awful lot of shots on us but they were one at a time. Bobby was able to take the rebound away and we were controlling the game the way we wanted to play."

The two teams entered the final period tied at one goal each. Bill Connolly had given the Spartans a 1-0 lead late in the first period, with Winchester answering back with a Bill Ferry score in the second, off of a rebound from a John Ferullo shot.

The Sachems came out flying in the third period, but it was Stoneham that came through, scoring three third period goals to kill any upset hopes Winchester had. Still, Houghton was pleased.

"They looked like a hockey team. Nobody's legs locked. They skated into the corners and they skated out of them." He added that Surabian may have found himself. "I just hope he keeps it up now. I hope he has some confidence now."

It was a different story earlier in the week as the Red Raiders from Melrose blasted Winchester 10-2 at the LoConte Rink in Medford, another one of the Sachem's "home games."

Melrose broke fast and took a 4-0 lead into the locker room after the first period. The Sachems had some scoring opportunities, but they couldn't put the puck home. "We just don't take good shots," Houghton lamented.

Melrose actually took the wind out of Winchester's sails early with two power play goals and a shorthanded score, the later particularly damaging. "They put out their four best players when they're shorthanded and we put out our five rested players on the powerplay," explained Houghton. "We sometimes take chances to score goals because we feel this is our chance to do it."

What happened was that a Sachem shot was blocked at the point with the Melrose skater walking in on Winchester goalie Steve Grainger. He made the first save but the rebound was knocked home. "That was a typical sophomore mistake," said Houghton of the blocked shot at the point. "That's a cardinal rule in hockey that you never let that man block your shot."

The second period was more of the same with Melrose adding on four more goals while Jeff Stackpole tipped in a Dan Hines shot from the point for Winchester's first score. In the final period, Doug Ross tallied the second Sachem score, as the Red Raiders added on two more for the final 10-2.

"I really think that we're getting better and better," Houghton mentioned on Tuesday. "I know I say that all the time but I really believe it. They know they're playing better every game. It would be different if we were getting blown out and still in the same old rut."

Girls' Varsity Wins Two In Gymnastics

By JOYCE FRYKLUND

The girls' gymnastics team displayed fine talent in their first two victories against Reading and Melrose.

Against Reading, Winchester scored 94.05 to their 91.25. In the Melrose meet the scores were: Winchester 102.70 and Melrose 98.15.

In the Reading meet Carla Gulino placed first on the uneven bars and vault, and second on floor. In the Melrose meet she tied for first on uneven bars, placed first on beam and floor, and second on vaulting.

Other outstanding performers were Michele Collins and Suzanne Virelli. In the meet against Reading Michelle placed first on floor, and Suzanne placed fifteenth on beam with a second on bars. Suzanne also tied for first on bars and placed third on beam in the Melrose meet.

Another fine performance was displayed by Haley Greenberg who placed second on beam in both meets.

In their last meet the girls lost to Burlington by a score of 114.75 to 99.55. The team did a fine job with outstanding performances by Suzanne Virelli, who tied first on bars and Carla Gulino, who placed second in the same event.

The girls are looking forward to a strong season.

Burlington, Lincoln-Sudbury Crush Sachem Gymnasts

The Winchester High boys' varsity gymnastics team went up against two of the finer teams around last week, Burlington and Lincoln-Sudbury, and paid the price, dropping both meets by large margins.

In the first meet against Burlington, the Red Devils cruised to an easy 108-63 triumph. "They score well into the hundreds even this early in the season," said Sachem coach Steve Hood last week. "They have more of a yearly program than we do."

The Sachems were also without the services of Captain Steve Galante, who competes on all six pieces of apparatus.

On the individual events, Burlington's John Knowles was the high man on the side-horse with a score of 4.2. The Sachems were lead by Russell Leach with a 3.5.

On the high bar, Dave Lawton was high for Winchester with a 3.35, but far behind Burlington's Jeff Gordon with a 6.7. Gordon also lead the Red Devils on the rings with a final of 7.7, followed by Winchester's Paul Abanate with a 3.5.

Knowles was again the leader for Burlington on the parallel bars and in vaulting Knowles had a 6.45 followed by Abanate for the Sachems with a 3.5. Abanate was again the high man for the Sachems on the vault with an impressive 7.1, but well behind Knowles' 8.35.

Over a season a team should progress about 20 points from where they first started," Hood notes. "Burlington can probably get up around 124."

Judging from the Sachems meet on Friday with Lincoln-Sudbury they had better pick up the pace if they plan on making that 20-point improvement. The regional teams in the state, scored an impressive 115-65 victory over the Sachems at Lincoln-Sudbury.

As far as improvement between the two contests, Hood didn't see much. "I really didn't and I think the score is indicative of that. A few individuals scored higher like Jonas Bjarnagard."

Bjarnagard, an ABC student, was the high man for the Sachems on the parallel bars with a 3.05, behind L-S' Glist with a 4.45.

But the man who did the Sachems in at this meet was L-S' Stevens, their all-arounder. Stevens was high man on the side-horse with a 5.75 (over Winchester's Russell Leach with a 3.25), the highbar with a 7.7 (over Galante with a 3.2) and the vaulting with an 8.15 (over Galante with a 6.75).

On the rings, L-S' Connolly finished with a 7.75 and Galante was the high man for the Sachems with a 3.65.

"I'm hoping that we can get four or five wins," Hood pointed out. "We've really got to start working on our routines. For what they're doing, they're doing well. We have to add more difficulty, more continuity and more form to our routines."

Recreation Department Starts 8-Week Folk Dancing Jan. 18

"Jopa!" This Central European phrase used to express emotion during folk dancing will soon be heard in Winchester, as the Recreation Department's eight-week folk dancing course gets underway.

Starting Jan. 18, and continuing through March 14, the course will be taught by local resident and folk dance enthusiast, Gretchen Hemmingsen. Classes will be held from 8 to 10 p.m. at the Lincoln School Gymnasium.

The dancing will be international, covering such countries as Romania, Greece, Russia, Israel, Scotland and Bulgaria. In addition to the steps of each dance, style points, history, and technique will be discussed. Weekly attendance is encouraged, though not essential, to build on the steps taught previously. In addition, regular attendance helps to build up one's stamina, so that eventually one can dance a full two-hour session without stopping.

Folk dancing was originally, and still is, dancing done by towns celebrating special occasions such as a victory, wedding, or good harvest. These celebrations were also opportunities to meet and socialize with friends. It is in this spirit that the Recreation Department program hopes to capture. There are many different tempos and styles of folk dance, so if one is too fast, a dancer can sit and chat with neighbors.

Registration is required and may be made through the Recreation Department through Jan. 16.

Travel Along with

When planning a trip, there are some vital questions to verify with your travel agent. If you are planning a trip which is part of a package deal one that includes hotel, transportation, restaurant, etc., be sure to ask whether the price includes all costs of transportation and transfers. Ask whether you will be taking a bus, ship, plane, or train. Ask if the cost entitles you to travel tourist or first class. Ask if assistance will be provided if help is needed with your luggage. It is important to fully understand what you are paying for to preclude being shortchanged and inconvenienced.

In 1914, four years after the Boy Scouts of America was started, a troop was organized in Winchester by Robert W. Fernald who then became the troop's scoutmaster. On different occasions four of that troop's members later each rescued a drowning person. Girl Scouts in Winchester began on May 18, 1917 at the home of Mrs. Addison R. Pike.

Christian Science Church Plans Lecture For 19th

Members of First Church of Christ, Scientist are sponsoring a free lecture at 10 a.m. on Jan. 19 in the Jenks Senior Center. Among those on the committee handling arrangements are Frederick Herberich, Jean Noble-Neal and Elizabeth Sampson.

The lecturer, John Tyler, will discuss what he calls "one of the central messages of Jesus' teachings and of Christian Science: that man is not what the physical senses tell him he is, despite the persistence of their message."

The title of the lecture is "Spiritual Man Discovered," and Tyler emphasizes that "Jesus recognized the great need to lead human thought back to the recognition of man's true and original identity, back to our native freedom and spirituality - our unity with God. In fact, Tyler points out, 'everything Jesus knew about man came from his understanding of God.'"

Tyler, a former professor of political science with degrees from Cornell, the University of Paris and Princeton, was founder of the Intercultural House at the University of Pittsburgh, a project which brings together back and white Americans in an original living-learning program. He will be speaking here as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. He has been a public practitioner of Christian Science for a number of years and cites a variety of healing experiences during his lecture.

The lecturer describes Christian Science healing as "not mysterious, nor supernatural" but an opportunity "for man to learn about God as his literal Father, his only creator and cause."

Christian Science, he points out, is a revival of "the method of healing which Jesus taught his disciples," and which is again available to anyone interested in learning more about the spiritual values of primitive Christianity.

Tyler will be introduced by Joan E. Friborg, who is currently serving as Second Reader of the Winchester church.

About Town

Mae Serleka and Gil Rodrigues will be the Winchester coordinators for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's presidential campaign in Middlesex County.

Eight Winchester residents are serving on a committee for the promotion of the fourth annual Winter Carnival to benefit the chaplaincy program of the New England Rehabilitation Hospital in Woburn. They are: Catherine Welch, Loretta Stillman, Mrs. Albert Maggioni, Mrs. Paul C. Keleher, Sister Gertrude Quinn, Judy Wheaton and Margie Johnson.

The Carnival will held Feb. 22 at the O'Brien Skating Rink, Joyce Jr. High School, Woburn.

Recently promoted to market manager of the Specialty Products Group, Fisons Incorporated, was Keith O. Story.

For the past two years, Story has been the United States National Sales Manager for FICAM. Before joining Fisons in the United States, he was involved in international development, sales and marketing of FICAM for Fisons Limited, headquartered in Hauxton, England.

Prospect street resident Stacey Brown, vice president and sales manager of WCRB Sound Systems, was recently has been elected to the Executive Club of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

The Club is an honorary organization composed to top ranking business and professional executives representing a variety of commercial and industrial businesses in the Boston area.

Brown has served as an account executive with the WCRB Sound Systems Sales Department for 16 years. In 1978 she was promoted to sales manager.

During a State House ceremony Richard C. Cully was one of five Massachusetts residents sworn in as a member of the Mass. Fire Training Council.

Joann Stevens will make her dinner theatre debut Jan. 27 at the Chateau de Ville in Saugus.

The musical revue, which is entitled "Broadway - Our Way," will feature songs, dances and comedy from Broadway shows past and present. Tickets may be obtained by calling Frances Keene.

Timothy R. Morgan, son of Crescent road residents Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Morgan, is currently on tour through Great Britain with the Hamilton College Choir. The choir is taking a three-week trip through England, Scotland and Wales.

Janet M. Pavliska has been elected a member-at-large of the Board of Directors of the newly formed Patriots Trail Council of the Girl Scouts of America. She will serve a three-year term on the Council, which is the largest Girl Scout Council in New England with a membership of 24,000 girls and 5,500 adult volunteers.

Pavliska is president of the Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank, president of the Savings Bank Officers Club, director of the Business Advisory Council of Suffolk University, director of the Savings Bank Association of Massachusetts and first vice president of the Savings Bank Life Council.

Veronica Karp, a Winchester High School student, has been named by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy as one of 10 nominees from Massachusetts to the United States Naval Academy.

John D. Phillips Jr. has been named a partner of State Street Research and Management Co., investment adviser to State Street Investment Corporation, Federal Street Fund, Inc., State Street Exchange Fund, and pension and endowment funds.

Phillips, who is a graduate of Hamilton College and the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, has been with the firm since 1972.

A collection of framed color photographs by Roland A. Nault are on display at Catrina Crafts' Studio in Meredith, N.H. The selections, which are entitled "Images of New England," depict sea and landscape, nature, closeups and sports.

During the Christmas holidays Nault presented color-slide programs to the shut-ins of the Winchester and Aberjona Nursing Homes. The program was called "Arizona, Land of the Native American."

Assessors Looking Into Status Of Tax Exempt Properties

By LAURA WALKER

The Winchester Board of Assessors is investigating the tax exempt status of several local fraternal organizations.

At present, the Elks, the Knights of Columbus, the Rotary Club and the Christopher Columbus Society do not pay property taxes to the town because they are defined as "charitable" organizations, said George Andersen, chairman of the Board of Assessors. "We will reassess how much work for charity they do and reconsider whether or not they can be considered charitable."

Lucille Bayes, tax supervisor with the Mass. Department of Revenue, said that "in our opinion, fraternal organizations are not charitable organizations and should never get the whole property exempt by the state Supreme Court in support of her view. In that instance the judges advised that a request made by the Elks and Moose fraternal organizations, to be given special exemption from property taxes, was unconstitutional. This advice was also extended to include other fraternal organizations."

Over $43 million of property, or about 18 percent of the total property value in Winchester, is not subject to local taxation. All property owned by the town, state, and federal governments, religious organizations and hospitals is tax exempt if not used for profit. According to Andersen, other non-profit organizations, like fraternal clubs, must qualify as charitable organizations in order to be exempt from property taxes.

The decision as to whether an organization can be considered to be charitable rests with each local Board of Assessors according to state guidelines which define charitable as "benefiting an indefinite number of people" said Bayes.

The Winchester Board of Assessors, which Andersen described as "almost completely autonomous and quasi-judicial in nature" has exempt fraternal organizations from property taxes for "at least the last 10 to 15 years," said Andersen.

"In the past, they were considered charitable and the practice has continued from year to year. We just assumed that these organizations should maintain that status."

The total values of the property and buildings owned by the Elks, Rotary, the Knights of Columbus and the Christopher Columbus Society, according to 1978 assessment figures, is $338,700. If taxed in 1979, they would have paid over $25,000 to the Town of Winchester.

Bayes said that while fraternal clubs were not ordinarily considered to be charitable "they may get partial exemption" if they can show "that part of their building is used for charitable purposes."

The Board of Assessors will "reassess how much work for charity they do and reconsider whether or not they can be considered charitable. This will require some study," said Andersen. He said that this month the Board will "look into the history of the tax exempt status of these organizations and come up with a conclusive report. If they are in fact taxable, we would move swiftly to tax them properly."

Wilsack Says He Won't Seek A Second Term

Calling his time on the Board of Selectmen "one of the highlights of my life," Chairman Richard N. Wilsack told the Star Tuesday that he will not seek reelection to the Board in the upcoming March town election.

"It was one of the more difficult decisions I've ever reached," Wilsack said from his office. "For personal reasons and some career needs I cannot make that commitment. I will not be a candidate."

Wilsack has served only one term as a Selectman, though he originally planned to stay longer and feels that the town needs "battle seasoned" members on its boards. "I think with the type of demands that are on the Selectmen, the School Committee and the Planning Board, you need that type."

Wilsack joins fellow Board member Arthur Dunbar in leaving the Board. Dunbar announced months ago that he would not seek reelection after nine years as a Selectman.

Wilsack calls that present Board and the Board when Harry Chelaflo was a member, one of "tremendous range." He pointed out that in almost every program or proposal that was presented before the Board, at least one member had some detailed knowledge of what was involved. "You really need that type of broad background that we've had on the Board," the Chairman noted.

He originally entered the race for Selectman because of an "interest in serving the town" and because of the field that was being offered the town when he decided to run. "I felt there was a need for the town to make a choice." "I felt that I had a management background and had spent sufficient time as a Town Meeting member," Wilsack states. "We've had our problems, working through Cross street and Holton street. But I think we've tried to deal with these issues head on. In the whole Cross street thing I think we're ending up with an understanding with the various organizations that want to come into the town."

Wilsack feels that there have been a number of highlights during this time as a Selectman. "We've kept the tax rate, even though we have a poor tax base, as low as we have over the three years and that's something I'll always look back on as a particular achievement."

"We've handled a wide variety of issues. I think cable tv will be a high point. I think the whole relationship we've had with State Senator Samuel Rotondi and Representative Sherman Saltmarsh has been an example for the town on how to work effectively with your legislators."

He added that the town has awarded the first liquor license, the revitalization of the center has been set in progress and that the DPW complex is now underway.

Along with praising his fellow Board members, Wilsack also noted the fine work of Town Counsel Douglas Randall and Town Comptroller Alphonse Faggiano. He also has great respect for the abilities of Town Manager Thomas Groux. "Winchester is managed well. I frankly don't see how a town like Winchester can function without a person like Tom Groux."

Wilsack also mentioned the cooperation the Selectmen have received over the years from the other boards and committees in Winchester.

"It's been one of the most impressive and meaningful experiences in my life. I'm going to miss it."

The action was fast and furious on Winchester's ponds last weekend as cool temps and sunny skies brought out the best in the town's Sunday all-stars. (Staff Photo)

Permanent Building Committee Discusses Town Yard Project

By PEYTON FLEMING

At a meeting with the Permanent Building Committee, Architect Richard Mullin and Superintendent William Hanley were cautiously optimistic about the odds of the DPW building completed before the June deadline.

"It seems to depend on the type of weather that we have during January and on the availability of manpower in the spring," said Ron Milsaukas, chairman of the ad-hoc committee that has been meeting with Mullin and Hanley once a month since construction at the Lake street site first began last June.

According to Hanley, the person contracted by the Permanent Building Committee to oversee the day to day activities of the $942,000 building project, the exterior portion of the new building is now about 90 percent completed. This includes the foundation work, the block-work and all of the exterior concrete walls, constituting approximately 45 percent of the building's overall construction.

Committee members on Monday were more concerned with the fact that 10 percent of the exterior was not yet finished.

The Committee's primary concern wasn't the 45 percent that has been completed already, but that small aspect of the exterior that hasn't been finished. They wanted to know when the roof would be done.

With good January weather Hanley believed that the roof could be finished within three to four weeks, and that the deadline would most likely be met.

However, bad January weather, Hanley estimated, would delay the roof's completion until mid-February, and would jeopardize a June completion. (Once the roof is on the building, the contractor has to model the interior and cover the entire exterior with brickwork. The interior work can be done in any kind of weather, and the exterior work can be done in the spring.)

Some of the committee members felt that bad weather could conceivably halt construction for the entire winter.

"There is no question that a big snowstorm in the next few weeks could kill P and H General Contractor's chances of meeting the June deadline," Milsaukas commented.

P and H General Contractors, who were not directly represented at Monday's meeting, is obligated to pay $250 a day for each day that their work extends beyond the agreed-upon completion date. Initially, the deadline was June 1, but Monday night the Committee passed a contract change-order extending the completion date another five working days because of an unforeseen delay that the contractors had encountered while excavating the site last August.

A special contingency fund that is part of the $1.2 million bond issue for the overall DPW Reconstruction Project will cover the $4,621.75 that August's additional work cost.

Even if the weather does remain faithful in January, committee members were concerned that P and H General Contractors wouldn't have the necessary manpower to complete the job on time. Last fall the contractor had five

West Side Residents Outraged Over Vandals

About 20 residents of the West Side Field area appeared at the Board of Selectmen's meeting Monday night, complaining of the vandalism and disturbance by gangs of youth who gather at that playground.

The neighbors, who complained that the youths are loud and destructive, cited a number of examples of town property that has been ruined by youths, as well as their own property. "They have destroyed the equipment there that was for the young children," said Phyllis Stewart, a resident of the area. Another neighbor pointed out that the soccer goal posts that were erected last spring were torn down the night after they were built.

Selectman Edward O'Connell, who had mentioned to the Board last week that he was alarmed at the rise of housebreaks and vandalism in town, agreed with the crowd. "I am sick of seeing wanton destruction."

The residents, who made a number of suggestions for measures that could be taken to eliminate the problem including placing a parking barrier at the Wildwood street entrance at night, as well as more lighting, particularly in strategic places, said they appeared before Town Manager Thomas Groux with a signed petition by the neighbors about the problem in June of 1977.

At the meeting with Groux, the residents were told to contact him or Police Chief John P. McHugh whenever they have problems with the vandals in the area. "We've been calling and calling and calling and it doesn't stop," said Stewart.

The neighbors stated that McHugh has told them that a regular patrol car goes by the area every hour. According to the residents, they haven't seen any police cruisers unless one of the neighbors calls for one.

O'Connell mentioned that the problem wasn't so much the police, but the youths involved. "I'd like to know where the hell are the parents of those people and why aren't they in the room with us," said O'Connell. "I think it's gone beyond reasonable tolerance of reasonable people," he added.

On Tuesday McHugh admitted there was a problem, but no more in Win-

First Congregational Church Honors Martin Luther King

By PEYTON FLEMING

Standing on top of the stairs leading to Washington DC's Lincoln Memorial in 1963, a young and vibrant black civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., told the half-million spectators in attendance about his dream, or hope, that everyone might someday be able to walk down the same street together in peace, and be judged by their character and not by the color of their skin.

At a commemorative dinner honoring the birth and lifetime of King Monday night at the First Congregational Church, Dr. John Reilly, the keynote speaker, asked the 125 Winchester residents attending the dinner if they shared in King's dream.

"Is your own dream a dream of hope that persons, regardless of race or color, may be able to live harmoniously and in peace," Reilly, the director of the Equal Opportunity Program at Tufts, asked, "or is your dream a nightmare about individuals that aren't able to walk down a street in Winchester or in Boston because they are afraid of being called a nigger, a spic or a kike?"

Although no one was given the opportunity to respond directly to Reilly's question, the final event of the night that saw the young, many of whom couldn't remember Dr. King's assassination in 1968, and the old, the rich and the poor, and the black and the white, all holding hands and singing in unison to "We Shall Over-Come"; indicating that everyone wanted to share in King's unfulfilled dream.

The hour long program, sponsored by the Ecumenical Association, and which included a poetry reading by Tony Johnson, an ABC student at Winchester High School, a speech by Reilly, a tape-recording of King's famous "I Have a Dream" speech, and two songs sung by local resident Jim Reynolds helped, in Reilly's words, "to make people realize the depth of Dr. King's commitment, and how it relates to our own lives."

Reilly, who spoke earlier in the day with Johnson at Winchester High School, feels that "there are a lot of young people today, especially at the high school level, who are groping for their own ideas and who are trying to shape their own worlds, outside of their own home where too many ideas are presently being fostered."

Reilly used the Pop Warner Football League as an instance where parents try to inject their own ideas into the game, oftentimes at the expense of the child's own enjoyment and benefit.

Speaking in a manner faintly resembling King himself, Reilly warned the audience about the hazards of adhering to one's own value system while at the same time challenging them to try and do it. "To dream Dr. Martin Luther King's dream means that you mustn't ever back down in the face of criticism, even if it comes from your best friends or your own family. To back down is to give in to the pawns of power, profit and prejudice, the forces that ended up killing Dr. King in 1968 and which are still trying to kill his dreams now."

Judging from the enthusiastic response to Winchester's second annual commemorative dinner and the call by high school students earlier in the day for more open discussions within the school to improve communications, appears to indicate that Martin Luther King's dream is a long way from dying out.

bricklayers on the job, now they only have two.

The availability of construction materials, oftentimes a cause for work delays, has not prohibited the DPW Project in any way. Mullin commented that he had never come across a job before where the materials were so readily available at the job site.

All of the committee members were satisfied with quality of the work that has been done thus far.

Requisition Six for December's work was expected to be signed by committee members today, once Milsaukas had received a minor report about how the contractor would change the structural tier work on the top five feet of the new building (if the committee decides to change the brick layering on the top from the horizontal course to a vertical layering).

Mullin and most of the committee members agreed that the soldier coursing, or vertical brick layering, would make the whole building more aesthetically pleasing. But, they weren't sure if they wanted to spend $4,000 out of the contingency fund for such a change. The issue will be decided next month.

Hanley admitted at the end of the meeting that he had been quite concerned with the lack of progress that had been made by last November and believed that the contractor was lucky for December's good weather. He felt that the most worrisome aspect of the job was over however now that the framework was nearly completed and proven to be sound.

chester than in any other town. "It's not just the youths of that area that congregate there," the Chief said of West Side Field. It's kids from all over the town. He went on to add that about two percent of the youth in Winchester, around the ages of 14-16, are the real problem.

At the Selectmen's meeting, the neighbors, though happy the Board was behind them, pressured the Selectmen for deadline for action. O'Connell pointed out however, that it was not the type of problem that the town could decide to fix "two weeks from Friday." He emphasized that the Board was also upset with conditions. "We've not been asleep at the switch."

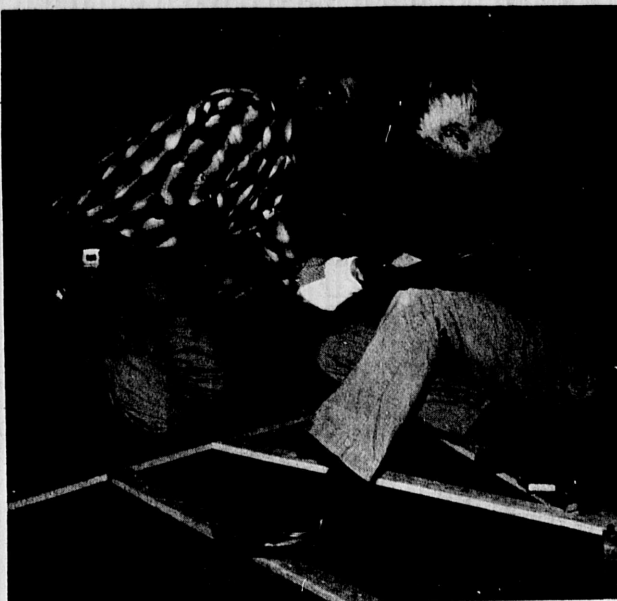

"I think you've presented a problem and you have the commitment of this Board that we will try to actively do something," Chairman Richard Wilsack pointed out.

Backyard Fire Causes $3000 In Damages

A backyard fire of suspicious origin destroyed a small hut made by children, then spread to two adjacent garages Monday night, causing approximately $3000 in damages, according to Winchester Fire Chief Robert McElhinney.

The fire was in the backyard of Mr. and Mrs. David Donahue of Alesworth ave. It apparently spread from the wooden hut, to the wall and roof of a wooden garage on one side and onto the wooden roof of the garage on the other side. "Actually they were lucky there wasn't any wind blowing," said McElhinney. "It might have really been a problem."

Two engines were sent to the scene, and additional help was called for when the firemen could see the blaze from Church street.

Library Pre-School Story Hour

A sure sign that winter is well on its way toward another season is the advent of the spring session of the Pre-school Story Hour at the Winchester Junior Library. Monday was the opening date for registration for the sessions which will begin at the end of February.

The groups meet once a week on Tuesday or Wednesday mornings from 10 to 10:45 or on Wednesday afternoons from 1:30 to 2:15. Children who are four years old or who will turn four by June 1, may be registered in the Junior Library. Five-year-olds who are not in kindergarten are also welcome.

Mrs. Henry Twitchell, children's librarian, and Mrs. Robert Stettiner, assistant, will conduct the programs which consist of story telling, games, finger plays, songs and films as the youngsters share in a group learning experience.

Selectmen Choose Dates To Interview Cable Companies

Seven of the eight cable television companies who have filed applications with the town have submitted amendments to their proposals, which the licensing procedure allows them to do, according to William McCarter, chairman of the Cable TV Advisory Committee.

In addition, McCarter also announced Monday that a ninth company, Bay State Cablevision, has applied for a license in Winchester. Interested companies had until last Thursday to submit applications or amendments for the proposals they have already presented to the town.

At the Monday night Board of Selectmen's meeting, the Selectmen chose the order, on a random basis, that the companies will appear to be interviewed. The dates of the interviews will be Feb. 6 at 7:30, Feb. 9 from 9-11, Feb. 12 at 7:30 and Feb. 13 at 7:30.

The companies will appear in the following order:

Feb. 6 - Adams Russell Company at 7:30, Warner Cable at 9.

Feb. 9 - Bay State Cablevision at 9 a.m., Colonial Cable at 10:30, Winchester Cable TV at 1 p.m. and Commonwealth Cable at 2:30.

Feb. 12 - Greater Boston Cable at 7:30, American Cable at 9 p.m.

Feb. 13 - Continental Cable at 7:30. The site of the hearings will be the Winchester Library.

School Committee Considers Enrichment Program Request

Although no commitment was made, the School Committee this week heard a request from the Community Schools Association Enrichment Program Committee for $1,300 to standardize enrichment programs in the six elementary schools next year.

The CSA Program request for funds to match the $1,700 committed by parents is "to equalize and improve the quality of the enrichment programs for students in all six Winchester elementary schools by creating a fund consisting of monies from the Winchester School Department and the elementary parents' associations." The request is for the fiscal 1981 budget.

School Committee Chairman Constance Pappas said that, in view of the yet unfinalized budget, "the best we can say now is that 'we'll try'."

CSA Enrichment Co-chairman Lorraine Veitch told the Committee that the object of the plan is to bring in quality enrichment programs which all schools are not able to finance individually. She suggested that a sub-committee could be delegated to choose these programs.

School Committee member Sandra Rodgers, who is the Committee's link to CSA, said this was an excellent time, with the consolidation of three schools, to bring the schools together and offer similar programs.

Catherine Alexander said she endorses the proposal's idea but is concerned with the funding. She suggested that the School Committee look at budget account 380, which includes approximately $4,000 for elementary school field trips, as a possibility from which to appropriate the requested funds.

On a question from Roger Bauman as to why it is vital to have taxpayers money to make the program work, CSA representatives said they felt it important for the School Department to back up the program. However, they noted that the proposal could work, on a more limited basis, without School Department matching financial support.

The Winchester Enrichment Program is an eight-year-old plan, the objective of which has been to bring programs and enrichment activities into schools. According to representatives of the CSA Enrichment Committee, it has been a fragmented program which has been implemented solely by parents working in individual schools.

Three Charged In Beating To Be Arraigned Jan. 31

Two Winchester women and a Winchester girl will be arraigned Jan. 31 on charges of assault and battery with intent to murder in connection with the Dec. 10 beating of a 14-year old girl according to Winchester Police.

At the probable cause hearing it will be determined if the three women, who allegedly beat the Winchester youth, stripped her of her clothes and left her lying unconscious next to the North Reservoir behind the Washington School, should stand trial. The victim, who was found by police after they received an unidentified phone call, was treated at Winchester Hospital, then transferred to Choate Memorial Hospital in Woburn, before being released the following day. She suffered bruises and scratches.

The three defendants apparently had been friends of the victim, according to the police. "She did not suspect them as enemies," said Winchester Police Chief John P. McHugh earlier this week.

In other police news, a gun totting robber fled empty handed from in front of the Cumberland Farms on Washington street last Sunday night.

According to the police, Robert W. LeBlanc, the manager of the store, was getting into his car after closing the building shortly after 9 p.m. on Sunday. As he got into the driver's side, a masked man, described by LeBlanc as being just under six feet tall in his mid-twenties with a black ski-mask and a blue waist length parka, entered on the passenger side.

The robber was armed with a silver automatic pistol according to LeBlanc.

When LeBlanc told the gunman that he didn't have any money on him, the robber got out of the car and fled the scene.

Police report a house on North Border road was ransacked by intruders Sunday night, with an assortment of jewelry being taken.

On Monday, a Highland avenue home was illegally entered as the living room and the bedrooms were ransacked. Missing at this time is a complete setting of French silverware, value unknown.

Two vans on Holland street were broken into last Saturday as they were parked behind the Swanton St. Deli.

According to the police, the vent windows were forced open and three vacuum cleaners, valued at $500 each, were taken from one van and one vacuum cleaner from the other van.

High School Dance On January 25

On Jan. 25 the glamour and grandeur of Hollywood is coming to Winchester High School through an all school semi-formal dance, to be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Original movie posters from the 1920s and movie stills of the stars and starlets of that time will decorate the hall. In keeping with the movie theme, popcorn will be served and students will be able to have their pictures taken in authentic Hollywood costumes.

A WHS student will cater the event. The band, "Smoke," who appeared and were well received at last year's Senior Semi-Formal, will provide live music and entertainment. A dessert buffet and coke bar are also included in the admission price.

...In 1914, four years after the Boy Scouts of America was started, a troop was organized in Winchester by Robert W. Fernald who then became the troop's scoutmaster. On different occasions four of that troop's members later each rescued a drowning person. Girl Scouts in Winchester began on May 18, 1917 at the home of Mrs. Addison R. Pike.

Hurlbert Appointed Bank Branch Manager

Walter W. Hurlbert, an assistant vice president of Cambridgeport Savings Bank, has been appointed branch manager of the bank's new Winchester branch office.

Hurlbert joined Cambridgeport in 1963 as a teller, advanced to assistant treasurer in 1970, and was named an assistant vice president in 1978. He studied business at Bryant & Stratton in Boston from 1952 to 1953, then served a four-year tour in the US Air Force. His professional training includes participation in a number of courses offered by the American Institute of Banking.

A Waltham resident, Hurlbert's interests include antiques and furniture building and restoration.

Located at 522 Main st., the branch office will open its doors Jan. 19th. Regular banking hours in Winchester, as announced by Cambridgeport President Raymond J. Adams will be 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Monday through Thursday, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays. Special opening day hours on the 19th will be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Services available at Cambridgeport Savings Bank will include savings and NOW accounts, loans, retirement plans, money orders, travelers checks, US Savings Bonds and Savings Bank Life Insurance.

Other employees at the Winchester office will be Angela Cefali, new accounts clerk, and tellers Gay Pollino and Elizabeth Rogers of Winchester as well as Margie Wayne, head teller, of Watertown and Louis Agenio Jr., teller, of Medford.

St. Mary's Club Plans Dance Class Feb. 9

On Feb. 9, from 8:30 p.m. to midnight, St. Mary's Mr. and Mrs. Club is sponsoring a dance class. Fran and Manny Correa of Woburn will instruct club members and their friends in several varieties of ballroom and disco dancing.

Marilyn and Peter Lane, along with Margaret and Creighton Wheeler, are in charge. Refreshments will be served.

In 1780 Winchester had to provide 24,078 pounds of beef under the levied "beef taxes" for the revolutionary army. The town, like all Massachusetts communities, was also required to provide as many shirts, shoes and stockings as would cover one-seventh of the town's male population. In Winchester this meant 21 blankets and 42 each of shirts, stockings and shoes.

Adult Education Winter Session Starts On 28th

The winter session of the Adult Education program will begin Jan. 28. New courses this semester include: Consumer Law, Speed Reading, Stained Glass, BASIC Computer Programming, Basic Karate, Dessert Delights, Beginning and Intermediate Sign Language, Lose Weight and Keep It Off, Modern Dance, Real Estate and the Homeowner and Discussion Group for Women.

Students may register by mail (descriptive brochures are located around town in various spots including the Public Library and the High School) or in person Jan. 23 and 24, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in the main office at Winchester High School.

Courses vary in length from four to 10 weeks (most are one night per week). Classes will not meet during the week of Feb. 18, which is winter vacation for the day students. The final week of the program will be the week of April 7. Inquiries concerning the program should be made to: Director of Adult Education, Winchester High School.

JEWELRY JOTTINGS

By Jack Kazangian

The birthstone for January is the garnet, one of the most attractive gem stones, usually found in a dark red color. However, the denantoid garnet... most expensive of all... is an unusual green color.

THE WINCHESTER STAR

Serving The Community For Over 95 Years

Bring In A Planner

The revival of the Chamber of Commerce in Winchester was the first solid step forward in an effort to revitalize the downtown center. However, the next step, one which would compliment the Chamber and perhaps even make them more effective, would be the hiring of a professional planner.

The results from bringing on a planner have been outstanding in a number of other communities such as Lowell, Newburyport and Malden. It was necessary to bring in someone to concentrate on reshaping the business district of those cities as it is in Winchester.

The Planning Board in town has not been remiss in their responsibilities. But the fact is, they are a part-time committee which meets only once a week. They have full-time jobs of their own.

A professional planner, who would work in unison with the Planning Board, would develop a comprehensive plan, setting goals and steps the revitalization would take. He would hopefully unite the merchants in town, and actively pursue some of the larger department stores or supermarkets which are often anchors to a thriving business district.

The position of professional planner would not be a permanent one. Many consulting firms in a sense, "loan" planners to towns until the job is finished. He then moves on to another assignment.

Times have changed in the greater Boston area and in Winchester. If there was any doubt, one look at the town's sagging tax base, which was once fed by a movie theatre, a large department store and other well known businesses, will confirm the problem.

With the Burlington and Woburn Malls, Faneuil Hall and downtown Boston, there are many attractive spots for shoppers, Winchester shoppers, to spend their money. If management in this town wants people to shop here, they have to go out and get them.

The US Ship Of State: Floating Blind To Turmoil

By PAULA AND JOHN WELLS

I saw a flag at half mast this afternoon and allowed myself a second to wonder "for whom?" I remembered, and felt I heard, like a whisper, "Ask not for whom the bell tolls... it tolls for thee."

If, in some enormous flash of clear understanding, Americans could only know how the world sees us, only start to see the rest of the world as it is! Most of us have been behaving as if the rest of the world either were not there, were territory for business as usual or more than usual, or too frightening to contemplate.

The world situation today is deteriorating, faster than most of us think mainly because the "USA" has missed its chances so far to understand the world and its place in it. It is both a result and a symptom that our leader failed to see the case of the Shah of Iran in perspective - first Iran's and then ours and made a disastrous decision.

The United States may very well have cause for nothing but despair - the bell toll for us all - in the not too distant future. It may already be too late, with an unstable Iran, an occupied Afghanistan, Soviet-dominated South Yemen, weak, trembling Pakistan, the conceivable prospect of unrest throughout the Middle East and/or takeover of the Arab sources of our oil - our resource of heat, of getting to work, of the fuel for the nation's self-defense.

No reassurance is good enough now; we had better prepare to prevent, or face, the worst. For if the Afghanistan take-over came as a surprise to our president (who is entitled to the best sources of information available) on what reassurances can we rely?

In its foreign policy, indeed in its awareness of where it fits in the world, this country has been a ship drifting without lights: nobody else knows where it is or where it is going, nor do we, the passengers. A first step in finding, and showing that we are finding, a direction will be to help bring the deposed Shah of Iran before an international tribunal, to make amends for exploiting his country so as to amass wealth for himself, and for ruling as a tyrant while being accepted as a friend of liberty and democracy.

This could put America in a new stance before the world - for this reason alone it is a matter of extreme urgency. But Iran only represents the danger to which most of us are sensitive and about which it is in our power quickly and dramatically to do something with practical consequences. In Afghanistan we are powerless, at least in the short run, and it is a source of immense potential danger.

We must wake up. We must become enlightened. We must get the total dynamic world picture into focus. We must insist that our leaders and our media promote an awareness of the world such that our people will understand it, and participate in purposeful dialogue in our nation and with others. Everything we and our friends throughout the world treasure depends on it.

Our country has slept because we have been too ready to escape from the pressures of international politics. After "Vietnam" we forgot history, we forgot about almost everything except business as usual, or doing one's own thing, or blaming each other (rightly or wrongly) when it was more important to solve the next decade's problems. We forgot Khrushchev's candid remark "we will bury you."

Long ago, long enough ago to have learned to find a viable alternative to Vietnam, in the form, say, of non-military intervention, we should have turned every possible resource to mastering the world around us. We should have been seeking communication with people of many different groups in all other countries, listening and learning about them, the world, even about ourselves.

We should have been learning how to exercise pressure without causing harm, in the short or the long run, especially to friends and non-aligned countries. We should have been learning not to try for quick solutions where patience and more information are called for, learning to beware of making moves without adequate background and information. (Any reader can think of one or two examples.)

We should now turn every possible resource to mastering the world around us. This will take a lot of work, on a permanent basis, (not just a project or a program). We need much more contact with other countries, we need - all of us - to hear more unpleasant things which we can face and deal with.

We need to understand ourselves more, subjectively from others' points of view as well as objectively. We ought to find out why we are on the verge of failing as a world power and rescue ourselves. And this will take not only effort and time. It will take faith and heart.

Glory Days

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am an ex-teacher of the Winchester School System who left in the "glory days," the years when working in Winchester was an honor - not the horror it has become today.

I frequently return to Winchester and can't believe what I read and see. The School Committee is acting like "little Ayatollahs." The School Committee meetings theme song is "Whose Head Will It Be Tonight." They spend their off hours looking for faults not strengths. They are tearing people down both professionally and personally.

There was a time when Winchester prided itself on a staff of the highest quality. The School Committee looked to better that staff, not destroy it.

Isn't it time the School Committee went back to basics - pride and a positive, supportive attitude to their excellent administrative and teaching staff?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am concerned that we Americans may lose our free country in the 1980s.

We are no longer the most powerful nation on earth. We find ourselves negotiating with the Russians, Chinese and yes, even the Iranians from a position of weakness. Salt II, like Salt I, is leading us into a position of inferiority militarily.

We may not be able to reverse that trend. We are spending less money on

The Life And Death Of The Chapin School

By HENRY E. SIMONDS

This month we will write the history of the Chapin School which stood on Swanton street near the entrance to the Town Dump on the site where the Fitzgerald Fuel Oil storage tanks now stand.

The Chapin School is the outgrowth of the two-story Adams School, named after John Quincy Adams, which was built in 1857 on Swanton street near the corner of Washington street. It contained both a primary and a grammar grade for the children of a rapidly growing part of the town - the Plains.

The old Adams School, having become too small to accommodate the number of children in this district, was abandoned. Another lot further west on Swanton street was secured for $2200. The new Chapin School was built in 1875 and dedicated on Jan. 3, 1876. It was named in honor of Dr. Alonzo Chapin, who had served on the School Committee a considerable portion of the 25 years since the town was incorporated.

The work on the new building was begun in the early summer and was completed and ready for occupancy in November. J.C. Whitchee of Woburn was the contractor for the carpenter work and Nicholas Fitzgerald of Winchester was the contractor for the foundation. Fitzgerald was the father of James J. Fitzgerald, who continued the contracting business on Oak street and grandfather of former Selectmen James J. Jr. and Nicholas Fitzgerald. The cost of the new school including the lot, building and furniture was about $12,000.

The two-story school is built of wood, with hipped roof, and a high basement. There is a front entrance with portico and hall, running back between two schoolrooms on the first floor, and connecting with rear entrance hall, which extends the whole length of the building. A middle partition separating the boys' and girls' entrances, which are at either end. Two large rooms on the first floor are occupied by the primary departments. The second story is reached by stairs from both rear entrance halls, and contains two large schoolrooms for the Intermediate departments.

Mary A. Emerson was the head teacher and taught the Intermediate grade; Caroline B. Symmes and Cora E. Dike were the primary teachers. The salaries per year were as follows; Emerson $520; Symmes, $427; and Kike, $277.

In September, 1894 the seventh grade was transferred to the Wadleigh Grammar School to make room for a kindergarten which opened at the Chapin School. It was in charge of Olive Webber, who received a salary of $322 per year. In 1905 the Chapin School was enlarged from four to eight rooms and renovated. The school continued as an elementary school until the Lincoln was built. Pupils of the Chapin School were then transferred to the new school.

At this time it might be interesting to note that all the children of James J. Fitzgerald, Margaret, Harriet, Nicholas, and James J. Jr., all received their early education at this Chapin School. All are still living in Winchester, with the exception of Margaret who has died.

By 1920, the Winchester elementary schools began to be overcrowded and the old buildings were of frame construction and considered unsafe. A school building program was started and land purchased for four new elementary schools, one of which was the Lincoln School to replace the Chapin School.

It was first considered to be built on land between Chester and Florence streets, but proved to be too small and was purchased on Western street. The Lincoln School was built in 1924 at a cost of approximately $180,000, including land, building, and furniture. It opened in September of that year. The Lincoln School continued until 1976 when it was demolished to make way for the new Elderly Housing Unit and occupied in June, 1978.

After the Chapin School was closed in 1924, it was sold in June, 1925 at a public auction to Ralph P. Sylvester of Winchester for $6400. Sylvester rented the building to Columbia Interior Finish Company which handled sash, blinds and doors. In 1930, James J. Fitzgerald Contracting Co. bought the building and land and conducted a builder's supply business such as lime, cement, brick, lumber, sand and gravel until 1952.

In 1952, James Violante of Winchester bought the property from the Fitzgerald Co. and conducted a business under the name of Winchester Building Materials Co. until Aug. 22, 1961 when the building was destroyed by fire and later demolished.

The two-alarm fire started at 6:30 a.m. and the raging, racing fire was not under control until 8:30 a.m. The all out was not sounded until 4:45 p.m. When the firemen arrived the second floor was completely engulfed in flames. Shortly after the roof collapsed and the front of the building snapped free from its moorings and buckled outward. Great clouds of smoke from the fire could be seen some distance away.

The Winchester Auxiliary Fire Department, along with Woburn, Stoneham and Arlington aided the local firefighters. At this time I was an auxiliary member and worked at this fire.

Several teams from New York state, Canada and two local teams were represented in the recent Mixed Invitational Bobsled curling match, held at the Winchester Country Club. The winning team was a rink from Lennoxville, Quebec, while two Winchester Country Club teams placed in the second and third events.

Letters From Readers

defense than the Soviet Union spends. We have a crisis of will in this country. We are not committed to - victory. We have lost the will to stay strong. We have lost every war since 1945.

Because of the overwhelming conventional and nuclear strength of the Soviet Union, it is now possible that the Soviet government could demand capitulation by this country by the 1980s.

They could do this on the basis that we are unable to respond to a nuclear attack. Unwillingness to pay the price of a nuclear conflict could well force our surrendering the American people to the will of the Communists in Russia. There has never been a time in our history when such a condition existed.

For president and in the Congress we need people with the courage of a General Singlaub who took a stand regardless of personal cost, invoking dismissal by one you've seen on TV and in the newspaper, smile on face, fist over head. (Where have you seen that gesture before?) Had Singlaub not taken a stand, it is to be doubted 1600 generals and admirals would have had the courage to sign the statement denouncing Sat Salt II.

Disarmament is evil. There are worse things than war: one is surrender of defenses; another is slavery.

Squirrels

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I find that however inconsistent it may seem to many bird lovers, it is possible to like birds without hating squirrels.

I don't hate them - I don't wish them all to drop dead - I just positively insist that they do not abrogate to themselves the feeders that I put out for the birds. Left to their own devices, they will do just that. And I have spent countless hours inventing and fabricating innumerable devices designed - I hoped - to keep them off the feeders. I am sorry to relate that the little varmints outsmarted me in almost every instance. But, I got 'em licked now - I think!

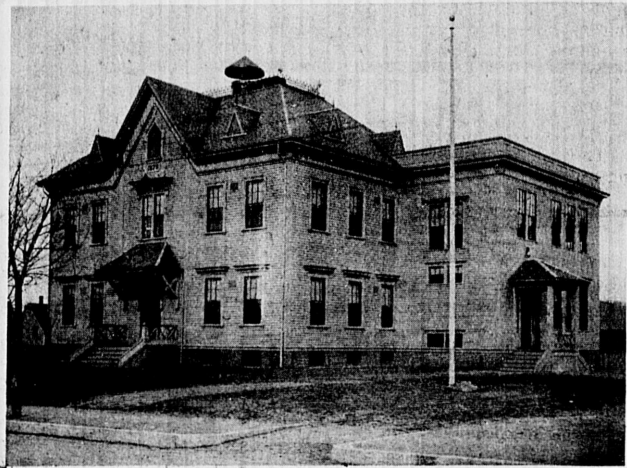

For various reasons, most of my efforts turned out to be futile. I wanted the feeders to be as close to the house as possible, the better to watch them as they feed. Also, to take advantage of the shelter of the house against the cold North winds.

For another thing, I wanted to be able to replenish the food supply from the above window, other than from the ground outside. Also, when the snow was too deep for many another neighborhood feeder to be reached, mine would always be well supplied. (And that, I reasoned, was the time that the bird would be in most desperate need of food!)

The important features, close proximity to the house, was always my undoing. The squirrels leaped from the blinds, then from the shrubbery, then took to flying off the roof. I hung screens, baffles, foilers of all kinds - they just climbed up in the nearest tree and, with their bright little shoe button eyes, sat there motionless, studying the new situation until they had it solved. (I refused to admit that they were smarter than I - they just had nothing else to do all day!)

The Single Parent Family: No Longer The Exception

By MARTY KELLY NUGENT

There are 20 million single parents in the US, most of whom are women. It is also estimated that over one third of the children alive today are destined to live in a single-parent household at some point in their lives.

If these facts are valid, then where does the normal or nuclear family fit on our social scale? If the single parent family unit is increasing, why are community programs and social institutions still maintaining that the normal family unit is mother, father and children?

The escalating use of divorce today, which often brings about the single-parent family, is stern evidence of a society living out its own reform. Societal institutions create norms and more to sustain, more or less, the harmony of its culture.

When a major portion of that population is not able to live up to or maintain traditional marriage and family arrangements, it suffers a kind of communal guilt and sense of wretched failure. Consequently, the children of the divorced and separated living in the single-parent household suffer doubly from this stigma of abnormality.

We all know the pain associated with feeling different or apart from what is "best." Re-thinking and reorganizing our social systems seems far more creative and dynamic than blaming and judging millions of human beings.

What is being done in our communities to make ourselves aware of the growing social dilemma? At the very least, reform of our attitudes, traditions and laws would suggest a willingness to accept change as a way of life. We could then keep pace with our highly transient, fast paced society, hungrily looking for workable support systems.

Next is to find ways to make traditions work for us now. Marriage has never been more popular than it is today. Is it still the best path toward achieving a sense of belonging, a basic human need. Dissolution of this union must, then be necessary in order to maintain personal well being as a human priority.

Our past can be used as a foundation but it must be made static to be useful for our future. Individuals need special tools for untangling emotional knots as well as skills for tying these knots.

Uncoupling and coupling are learned skills. Other societies are not strangers to this problem. How do they divorce constructively? What happens to their children? Who determines, and on what basis, which parent will maintain the family unit?

The community can help by reaching out to the single parent, thereby making the family feel more accepted. Resources can then be shared, giving support and cooperation to whatever the family unit.

Dropping the branding iron involves shifting societal attitudes from punitive to rehabilitative.

Let us deal with divorce respectfully as a viable alternative and then pick up the slack for the single parent; the children of divorced and the departed parent or person. Family forms are many and varied. Let us recognize them as a family and give them resources and tools. Society cannot be maintained by disharmony fostered by the dissatisfied.

(Editor's note: Henry Simonds recounts tales of Winchester in 1930).

A switching and transformer station, one of the largest of its type in New England, has been erected by the Edison Electric Illuminating Co. of Boston at the junction of Cove and Pons streets in Woburn.

The building is of concrete and steel construction with brick facing and stone cornices, and measures 222 feet long by 50 feet wide. The interior will have tile facing on the sidewalls and concrete floors.

The station itself will be semi-automatically controlled and consists essentially of three parts: a 110,000 volt switching structure with a two 25,000kv-a transformers (special fan equipment for cooling which will permit a 50 percent increase in rating or a 37,500 kv-a capacity for each one), a 14,000 volt switch house which will house two large synchronous condensers for voltage regulation, and a 4000 volt switch house extension to care for local distribution circuits supplying Woburn, Winchester, Stoneham and Burlington.

The 110,000 volt and 14,000 volt main circuits will be manually controlled along with six street lighting circuits. The remaining nine local distribution circuits, which operate at 400 4000 volts, have been equipped with automatic reclosing services.

The new station will go into service at an early date, at which time the present Woburn substation, located directly across the street, will be taken out of service. In conjunction with the building of the new station, construction work is progressing on two single circuit, high voltage lines. This will connect the new station with the Tewksbury substation of the New England Power Co., approximately 13 miles away.

Halpin Becomes New Chief Of Auxiliary Police

Donald J. Halpin, a resident of Winchester for 12 years and a member of the Auxiliary Police Force for the past four, has been named the new chief of that organization, replacing outgoing Chief Robert Elliot.

Halpin, who was sworn in recently by Town Clerk Elsie Nelson, is president of the Winchester Financial Management Corp., located in Winchester and Chicago. He is a graduate of Boston College and also holds an MBA in finance from Babson College. He has taught at both Boston College and Babson.

A resident of Main street, Halpin lives with his wife and two children.

The first major step taken to petition the State Legislature to incorporate South Woburn into a separate town was at a meeting held in the vestry of the Congregational Church Monday Nov. 26, 1949 at 6:30 p.m. Names under consideration for the new town included Appleton, Winthrop, Avon, Channing, Waterville and Winchester.

School Committee

Orientation

June 5 will be a release day in which students entering Winchester High School and McCall Jr. High School in September for the first time will be able to participate in guided tours and discussion groups at each school.

Minimum Competency

Assistant Superintendent Walter Gleason, as well as the directors of the high school English and Mathematics departments, discussed this week with the School Committee plans for standardizing schoolwide levels of minimum competency in those areas.

Family Film Schedule At Jr. Library

"The Happy Prince" and "The Saga of Windwagon Smith" will be shown in the Story Hour Room of the Junior Library Sunday at 2:30 p.m. and Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. as part of the library's Family Film Program.

"The Happy Prince" is an animated film story of the prince and the swallow adapted from the children's story by Oscar Wilde. "The Saga of Windwagon Smith" is an animated film detailing the American folklore story of an ex-sea captain who outfits his covered wagon with deck sails and an anchor.

These films are provided through the state funded Eastern Mass. Regional Library System.

Assessors Soliciting Firm To Conduct Study Of Property

By LAURA WALKER

Following the appropriation of $200,000 from the November Town Meeting for the assessment of all buildings and property in town, the Board of Assessors is now in the process of soliciting an independent firm that will conduct the study, according to Werner Carlson, a member of the Board of Assessors.

"The actual knocking on doors won't start until around April," he said. Property owners will be notified of the reassessed values of their property in early 1981 and will have "an opportunity to discuss the new values," said Carlson.

At present, property values dating from 1968 are used to compute both the tax rate for the town and the amount that each property owner pays in local taxes. The 1980 assessment, according to Board of Assessors Chairman George Andersen, will erase inequities between different property values that have developed in the last 11 years. "The state has decided that we must do a complete revaluation of all property," Andersen said.

The new values, obtained from the reassessment, will also change the town tax rate and affect the actual amount that individual property owners pay.

The tax rate for Winchester is determined by dividing the amount of money that the town needs to raise in local taxes (about $15 million) by the total value of taxable property.

Last year the rate was $74 per $1,000 of assessed property. Since reassessed values will be substantially higher than those dating from 1968, the tax rate will decrease.

"The higher the assessed values are, the lower the rate will be," Andersen says. However, the actual amount of taxes paid by each property owner will not necessarily increase, he says. "That is difficult to predict."

"Theoretically, the amount of taxes paid by each property owner should stay the same, but it usually doesn't work that way," said Carlson. Relative values of property in Winchester have changed as some neighborhoods and buildings have appreciated more in value than others.

Carlson added, "Some people will end up paying more, some will pay less."

Approximately $15 million from local property and personal taxes, along with over $7 million from the state pays for "school services, salaries of fire, police, town employees and for operating costs such as fuel, gasoline and equipment," Andersen said.

Local Chapter Of Red Cross Reaches Goal

"Winchester Red Cross has reached its Disaster Campaign Goal," announced Jack Ellis, volunteer chairman of the fund-raising drive. "We received on Friday a generous pledge from the J.H. Winn Co., Washington street. This community-spirited action puts us over our goal of $1719." The pledge was made on behalf of the Winn Company by its president, Albert Vanderbilt, also of Winchester.

Ellis went on to say that the chapter now stands at 104 percent of goal, making it one of the few chapters in Massachusetts that has to this date reached its quota. "The Chapter would like to commend the Winn Co. and the many other Winchester contributors who responded to our appeal in late December. Their willingness to aid the Red Cross in its work ensures that the national Red Cross will be able to meet disaster relief needs this winter and spring as completely as it has in the past. Thank you."

In 1914, four years after the Boy Scouts of America was started, a troop was organized in Winchester by Robert W. Fernald who then became the troop's scoutmaster. On different occasions four of that troop's members later each rescued a drowning person. Girl Scouts in Winchester began on May 18, 1917 at the home of Mrs. Addison R. Pike.

Title I Staff Plans Series Of Three Workshops At High School

The Winchester Title I staff and Parent Advisory Council are sponsoring the first in a series of three workshops Tuesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Social Studies Open Area at Winchester High School.

The workshop, entitled "How Parents and Teachers can Motivate and Guide the Junior High Student to Reading Enjoyment," will be conducted by Dr. Miriam Marecek, Ed. D.

A Winchester resident, Marecek has credentials both in her educational background, her work, and in her consulting background. Born in Prague, Czechoslovakia she is fluent in Czech, French and English and has an adequate knowledge of Japanese.

Marecek, a graduate of Earlham College in Indiana, obtained her M.A. and Ed. D. from Columbia University, New York. In addition to teacher certification in Indiana and New York State, she has taught at Tufts University and Wheelock College in Massachusetts, Bank Street College, New York, and held numerous other posts in various schools in curriculum development and open classroom teacher training.

Her educational consultant activities range from staff development consultant for the Florida State Department of Education (60 principals and superintendents - Right to Read Effort) to consultant and writer of film guides for

Equal Opportunity Committee Reports To School Committee

Representatives from the Winchester Committee for Equal Opportunity this week presented the School Committee with a report outlining the committee's history, achievements, and recommendations for further action.

The Winchester Committee for Equal Opportunity is an ad hoc committee appointed by the School Committee in June, 1978 to assist the Committee in implementation of the Affirmative Action Program and aid them to comply with Chapter 622 regulations which prohibit discrimination in public schools.

Some of the areas cited by Harris Gibson Jr., chairman of the ad hoc committee, as WCEO proposals which have been implemented include: several racial awareness and sensitivity training workshops were held during 1978 and 1979 for school teachers and administrators; a Winchester Star editorial in 1978 on Christmas and Hanukkah; community programs commemorating Martin Luther King Day in January, 1979; the creation and appointment of a multi-cultural specialist position; and the approval at November Town Meeting of a warrant article for creation of a town wide Committee of Equal Opportunity.

The report also cited several areas for further action. Some of these include: that the two newly created central office positions (directors for curriculum and personnel) should reflect a commitment to equal opportunity; promotion of minority and ethnic awareness within the school system; a review of library books and audio-visual materials to ensure they are free of bias as required by law; continuation of in-service programs; increased support for the multi-cultural specialist position; active seeking of public and private grants to augment the school budget for related activities (such as in-service education); and continuation of the WCEO until the town wide committee is appointed.

Although School Committee members pressed the ad hoc committee for a prioritization of items, members of WCEO appeared reluctant to detail specifics. Heinrich Holland said that it was unfortunate the report was received after the budget had been prepared. However, Committee Chairman Constance Papas noted that a "great deal of it is a thought and an attitude that we can do at any time."

Freeport is one of the fine cities of the Bahamas. When visiting, you will find its shopping based in the International Bazaar in the downtown area. The Bazaar is a simulacrum of market streets found in countries such as France, Spain, Mexico, Japan, and the Scandinavian nations and displays goods from these countries at bargain prices. Interspersed with the shops are cafes and restaurants serving various national cuisines. In addition, branches of Nassau stores are scattered throughout the Bazaar and a small straw market is located at one end for last minute souvenirs.

Freeport and the Bahamas is a very exciting and interesting spot to visit. Call McGrath Travel Service and speak with one of our friendly staff. You'll find out about the lowest airfares and the best accommodations for your travel dollar. We can even tell you what type of weather to expect and how to plan your wardrobe. REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

Medford CETA is accepting proposals for government and community agencies interested in sponsoring work programs for local youth. It was announced today. Medford CETA is soliciting proposals under the Youth Community Conservation and Improvement Projects (YCCIP). These projects should provide constructive work experience for unemployed youth (16-19) in labor intensive projects having lasting, tangible and beneficial community impact. Proposals selected by Medford CETA will compete with proposals from 15 other subgrantees in the Balance of State CETA Plan Sponsor area. The U.S. Department of Labor retains final approval of YCCIP projects.

The deadline for submission of proposals for this program is February 7, 1980. Proposals will be reviewed and ranked by Medford CETA staff and reviewed by the Youth Council of the Medford CETA Advisory Manpower Planning Board (AMPB). Final review rests with the Balance of State Prime Sponsor. Projects must begin on April 1, 1980.

The projects funded under YCCIP will emphasize youth with severe difficulty in obtaining employment (high school dropouts, minorities, offenders, etc.) and meaningful and well-supervised work experience which will enhance the youth's long-term career prospects. Likely projects include improvements to public facilities, neighborhood conservation, weatherization and basic repair to low-income housing, energy conservation, and other resource conservation on non-federal publicly-held properties. Agencies eligible to apply to sponsor projects include units of local government, community organizations (public and private non-profit), and local educational agencies. Sponsoring agencies must have at least two years experience and demonstrated administrative capability in project operation. Community-based, minority, and private non-profit agencies are encouraged to apply. Applications and project criteria are available from Medford CETA Youth Office, and must be received by Medford CETA, 22 Forest St., Medford, Mass. 02155, by 4:00 P.M. on February 7, 1980.

Obituaries

Leslie Rawding

Leslie G. Rawding, who founded the first bus line in Massachusetts, died Monday at the Liberty Nursing Home in Danvers after a long illness. He was 89.

Born in King County, North Mountain, Nova Scotia, Mr. Rawding came to the United States as a teenager after working his way here on a lumber schooner. He settled in Boston and eventually founded Rawding Bus Line, of which he was the president and treasurer. He later became treasurer of the Grey Lines. Mr. Rawding was retired at the time of his death.

Mr. Rawding was a member of the Masonic Lodge in Somerville, was an Exemplar of the Boston Rotary Club, a member of the Boston Baptist Social Union (where he was also a director), and was vice president and president of the Boston Baptist Social Union.

He was a trustee of the Baptist House of Mass., where he served as president for four years, was a corporate member of the New England Baptist Hospital, was president of the Federation of Men's Classes, and was treasurer of the old radio program "Uncle Elmer's Song Circle" several years ago.

Mr. Rawding, who was an avid sailor, was a member of the South Boston Yacht Club.

For the last 13 years Mr. Rawding lived in Lynnfield. Prior to that he lived in Arlington for several years.

Mr. Rawding is survived by his wife, Thelma S. (Gray) two sons, James Irving Rawding of Winchester and Wilbur Roy Rawding of Philadelphia; one daughter, Beth Rawding of Lynnfield; one sister, Addie Duncan of Somerville; five grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held today at 2 p.m. in the Trinity Baptist Church in Lynnfield. Rev. Howard Keeley will officiate. Burial will be at Puritan Lawn Memorial Park in Peabody. Arrangements are being made by the Morrison Funeral Home, Wakefield.

Paul Marchesi

Medford resident Paul J. Marchesi, 62, died Jan. 13 at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Marchesi was born in Winchester where he grew up. Until he retired seven years ago, Mr. Marchesi was a self-employed oil dealer. The name of his company, which was located in Medford, was the Marchesi Oil Co.

Mr. Marchesi served in the US Army from 1941-1945. He served in Guadalcanal as a Staff Sergeant.

Mr. Marchesi was a member of the Medford Lodge of Elks, the Winchester Sons of Italy, and the disabled American Veterans Post in Medford.

He is survived by his wife, Frances (DiCarlo) of Medford; two daughters, Mrs. Charles DiMinico of Stoneham and Mrs. William Moulton of Billerica; four grandchildren and nine brothers and sisters, Peter, Angelo, Ralph, Mrs. William Lionetta, all of Winchester, Mrs. Peter DiCarlo of Medford, Catherine Glynn, Grace Anderson, Mary Nigro, and Joseph Marchesi, all of California. Mr. Marchesi was also the brother of the late Anthony Marchesi.

A funeral mass was celebrated yesterday at St. Clement's Church in Medford. Burial was in the family lot at Oak Grove Cemetery. Arrangements were made by the Dello Russo Service in Medford.

Walter Meehan

Pickering street resident Walter F. Meehan, 79, died unexpectedly Sunday at his home.

Born in Woburn, where he attended local schools, Mr. Meehan was a Winchester resident for 48 years.

Until he retired 15 years ago, Mr. Meehan was employed for over 30 years as a leather worker at Beggs & Cobb in Winchester and at Riley Leather Co. for 12 years.

Mr. Meehan was a member of the Winchester Council Number 210 of the Knights of Columbus, and a member of the Holy Name Society of Immaculate Conception Church for many years.

Mr. Meehan is survived by his wife, Mary A. (Grady) Meehan of Winchester; two children, Walter F. Meehan Jr. of Wilmington and Beatrice M. Meehan of Winchester; five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

A funeral mass was celebrated Tuesday by Rev. George DuFor at Immaculate Conception Church. Burial was at Wildwood Cemetery. Arrangements were made by the Lane Funeral Home.

Memorial donations may be made to the Winchester Hospital, 41 Highland ave.

Charles Joyce

Longtime Winchester resident Charles R. Joyce died Jan. 11 at Lakes Region Hospital in Laconia, N.H. from cardiac arrest. He was 86.

Mr. Joyce was born in North Andover where he attended school. He lived in Winchester for 68 years.

Mr. Joyce was a private chauffeur for many years. He was a call fireman for the Winchester Fire Department and was a member of the Winchester Auxiliary

Fire Department.

He was the husband of the late Blanche C. (Lewis) Joyce. Mr. Joyce is survived by his children, Robert Joyce of Winchester, Harold V. Joyce, Norman L. Joyce, Barbara Waldron and Betty Ann Hamel, all of Laconia, N.H.; 14 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

A private funeral was held Monday at the Lane Funeral Home. Burial was at Wildwood Cemetery.

Teresa Bertelli

Teresa Bertelli, 77, died Dec. 6 1979 at Winchester Hospital.

Born in Boston, Mrs. Bertelli grew up in Medford. She lived in Winchester for 18 years.

She was employed at Filene's Department store in Winchester. Mrs. Bertelli belonged to St. Mary's Church.

Mrs. Bertelli is survived by her husband, Alfred; and three sisters, Mary J. Lyng of Arlington, Elena M. Jones of Moultenboro, N.H., and Beatrice F. O'Neil of Medford. She was the sister of the late Edward Rizzo of Medford.

A funeral was held in St. Mary's Church. Burial was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

Winton Club Rehearsals And Stage Production Underway

"Moving Right Along" is doing just that. The 59th annual Winton Club Cabaret Show is in its second week of rehearsal and the Winchester Town Hall auditorium is full of activity morning and night.

Rehearsals for the traditional Winton Club Drill begin early each morning. The 16 members will spend three weeks becoming a close order performing unit. Mrs. Robert Joyce is handling the dual position of drill coordinator and drill mother. She arranges schedules, monitors drill members, and also keeps a watchful eye on the troop of preschoolers that accompany their mothers to the rehearsals.

"Moving Right Along" is a magical musical cabaret show. To complement it and set the mood for this show, Mrs. Richard Bannister and Mrs. Webster Brockelman are designing the scenery and sets for this year's production. These set and scenery designers have created a world of fact and fantasy for the show's lovable green and white adventurous snail.

The energetic pair of Brockelman and Bannister can be found daily with their committee sketching and painting square yards of flats. It takes gallons of paint to transform the town hall stage into an ocean view from a pirate ship, and this is only one of the sets to be used this year.

Sets have to be constructed, flats built and hung, curtains opened and closed, and in order to produce a show of this magnitude a large and experienced stage crew is required. Club members husbands have always been on the floor as performers, but they also have been behind the scenes making things work. John Sutherland and Frank Gunby share the responsibility as stage crew co-chairmen. They and their committee have been working at the Town Hall long before Talent Night and tryouts for the 1980 show. The ramp encircling the Town Hall stage has to be reassembled and rebuilt, flats have to be constructed for the set designers, and special effects needed for the various acts invented and tested.

During the day stage crew members are professionals in their own fields of endeavor — nightrimes and weekends they don work clothes and perform backstage miracles. Show weeks they change the scenery, pull curtains, and produce all the special efforts. The day following the five performances of "Moving Right Along" they will strike the sets and restore the Town Hall to its quiet Victorian slumber. The Winton Club recognizes that without these dedicated and supportive men cabaret shows such as "Moving Right Along" could not be produced.

Performance dates for "Moving Right Along" are Jan. 29th through Feb. 2nd. Ticket information is listed on the playbill in this week's issue of The Star or call Mrs. Charles Harris.

First Congregational Adult Education Series

The Adult Education Committee at the First Congregational Church is offering a series of discussions in its winter-spring program. The sessions, which are open to the public are held in the Palmer Room of the church Sundays at 11:30 a.m.

The first series on "Help in Crisis" began Jan. 13 and dealt with "Parenting of Adolescents" led by June McGrath, social director for the Brookline School system. Today's topic is "Aging" led by Sara Dillon, program coordinator of the Winchester Council on Aging. "The Hospice Movement" is the topic for Jan. 27, led by Carol Bortman, member of the Board of Directors of Hospice Care, Inc. The second series considers "Human Rights on the International Scene." On Feb. 3, Adam Kline of the Harvard Business School will discuss "South Africa."

"The Middle East" will be the topic for Feb. 10, led by Prof. Arpad VonLazar of the Fletcher School of Diplomacy at Tufts University. On Feb. 17 "Southeast Asia" will be the topic, led by Russell Johnson Jr., program associate, American Friends Service Committee. On Feb. 24 and March 2, Dr. D.T. Rowlingson will lead a discussion of "American Religion in the 70's." Relating religion and the arts, on March 9 and 16 "Images of Easter" will be the topic for Marie Diamond, lecturer at the Museum of Fine Arts, the Gardner Museum, and Boston College.

This will be followed on March 23 and 30 by a program on "Theology and Music" conducted by Paul and Lynne Rahmeier, musicians and members of First Church. On April 13, 20, 27 a program on "Social and Christian Response to Inflation" will be coordinated by Alan Baughcum and Quinn Mills, economists and members of First Church.

The series will conclude with a discussion of "United Church of Christ Issues" on May 4 and 11 led by Rev. Walter B. Davis and lay delegates to the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ William and Dorothy Burrows and Richmond and Lyn Gardner.

...With the signature of Gov. George N. Briggs, Winchester was incorporated into a separate community from its original status as South Woburn.

Mystic School Students Have Holiday Program

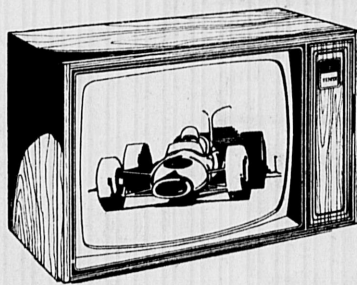

To celebrate the International Year of the Child, students in grades one through six presented a holiday program featuring songs of the world and instrumentals, just prior to Christmas vacation.
Grade one performed songs and a dance from Holland and Sweden. Grade two presented songs from Germany and songs from Israel to celebrate the Hanukkah Festival of Lights. Grade three performed songs from Mexico. Polish verse was highlighted by grade four. Grade five represented France.
Beethoven's Ninth Symphony "Song of Joy" and selections of Bach were instrumental interludes by grade six. The Mystic School fifth and sixth grade Chorus sang selections including "African Noel" and "Kumbaya." Parents and relatives expressed their appreciation to the pupils and faculty for the program.

Wakefield, Burlington Keep Sachem Skaters Looking For A Win

It was not a good week for the Winchester High varsity hockey team. Indeed, losses of 11-2 to Wakefield and 10-3 to Burlington don't exactly indicate that coach Mike Houghton's young troops are making progress, but there were some signs.

"Wakefield is truly one of the better teams in the state," Houghton said earlier this week. "The size of them and the way they pass the puck around is the difference."

The Sachems fell behind 4-0 at the end of the first period and it looked as though their inexperience was going to cost them dearly. Intercepted passes in the Winchester end allowed Wakefield to apply heavy pressure on Sachem goalie Bob Surabian.

The locals actually pulled to within three with a quick goal at the start of the second period and then skated with the Warriors. Surabian was again the key for Winchester with some outstanding saves, smothering rebounds, cutting angles and directing shots to the corners.

"We're capable of playing very good periods but a team like that is able to wear us down," Houghton points out. "I thought we did play a good second period. But we need something in the first period so that we come out of it even or behind by only a goal or two."

The Warriors broke the game open late in the second period with three goals to offset one more by Winchester.

Against Wakefield, a team dominated by seniors, the Sachems youth was more of a factor than in any other game. Out of the 20 members of Winchester's team, 14 are sophomores. "They kind of play in awe of the other team in the first periods," says Houghton.

True, but they seem to adjust and play decent second periods each game. They struggle and skate with the other team, then seem to get deflated by late second period and third period goals.

In the Burlington game, the Sachems played their finest period of hockey in the second period, totally dominating the defending league champs, but were broken by five third period goals.

"That probably was the most disappointing loss of the season," Houghton commented. "The score was no indication of how well we played. People pick up the paper and they see 10-3 and they figure we were blown out. It was the first time we dominated a team in a period."

The Red Devils jumped to a 3-0 lead after the first period, providing the Sachems with the now all too familiar challenge of climbing a high hurdle in the second period.

But in fact it appeared they might make it as Burlington, though scoring two goals in the middle stanza, was basically forechecked like mad. "We just did not let them out of their end," Houghton stated. "With a little luck it could have come out 5-5 at the end of that period."

A quick Burlington goal in the third period made it 6-3 Red Devils, then the game was decided when Burlington scored four goals in the last two minutes while the Sachems took chances to try to get back into the tilt.

The problem at this point seems to be that most of the clubs in the Middlesex League can put three solid periods of hockey together on most nights, while Winchester has not been able to accomplish that yet this year.

If the Sachems can come up with second periods like they played against Wakefield and Burlington, it's obvious that in time they should be able to extend that concentration over the full course of the game.

"I think the biggest thing that I'm looking for is not to get the kids discouraged," Houghton pointed out. "In stretches we're playing good hockey and in stretches we're playing alright hockey."

And there are stretches where the inexperience, the sophomore mistakes, dominate there play, though it's not always the sophomores making the errors.

Houghton feels that the mental errors his club was making earlier in the year have been reduced drastically and hopes it will continue. "If we can do this I think that we can be in a lot more games than we're out of."

Lynch Tops Burlington, Watertown

After dropping their home opener to Melrose by a 62-56 score, the Lynch boys' basketball "A" team has rebounded with two impressive 80 plus point victories.

Hosting perennial power Burlington on Jan. 8th, the Lynch "A" team built up a 20-point lead only to see it melt away to one point in the third quarter due to a pesky Burlington press. Clamping on a full court press of their own in the final period coupled with an impressive 30-point output from Tim Hoffman, the Crusaders were able to take an 80 to 64 victory from Burlington.

Journeying to Watertown on Jan. 12 the Winchester team found itself up against a difficult homecourt advantage in Watertown's "band-box" gymnasium which is very much under regulation size. The Lynch boys took charge from the outset controlling the boards and forcing Watertown turnovers.

Good ballhandling and penetration to the basket from guards Dave Palumbo and Paul O'Brien helped set the tempo for the local entry. A 28 and 31 point effort from forwards Steve MacDonald and Tim Hoffman respectively plus some excellent inside rebounding from Rob MacDonald sealed the victory as Lynch posted an 88 to 56 victory.

Lynch's "B" team also defeated Watertown to extend their record to three wins and no losses led by eighth graders Mark Herlihy at guard and 6 foot forwards Barry Sirchis and Eric Svahn.

Last week's games marked the first time in seven years that coach Bill Chase could recall a Lynch team coming away from Watertown's subnormal gym with both the A team and the B team victorious.

Eighth graders: Bill Derry, Bill Harris, Mark Herlihy, Brian Mulvaney, Willie Porter, Barry Sirchis, Eric Svahn.

Fire Dept. Joins Aid Pact With Lexington

Winchester Fire Chief Robert McElhinney met with the Board of Selectmen Monday night to discuss plans for the fire department to become involved in a mutual aid agreement with Lexington.

"We discussed it and thought it would be a good idea in both communities," McElhinney said of his discussions with the fire chief in Lexington. He noted that the two towns have helped each other on an "informal basis" in the past.

Under the terms of the agreement, Lexington will answer three box alarms on the west side of Winchester if needed, and Winchester will answer one of theirs. The pact only involves fire apparatus, not ambulances, and is for an indefinite period. Should one of the towns feel that it is not an equitable agreement, they will have to give 30 days notice before they can pull out.

The Selectmen also asked the Chief about the prospect of closing down the West Side station. In the budget he recently submitted to Town Manager Thomas Groux, McElhinney has requested four new additions in personnel. Selectman Barbara Hankins noted that if the West Side station closed there would have to be a savings in manpower at the main station, since when the West Side station opened four new firemen were added.

Selectman Arthur Dunbar disagreed with Hankins, pointing out that the engines at the West Side Station are used for 90 percent of all calls in Winchester, regardless of where they are located. If the station closed the level of manpower would remain the same.

McElhinney, who is opposed to closing the station, pointed out that the reason it was built in the first place was to save time travelling to fires in that part of town. McElhinney estimates that about 10 minutes are saved when reporting to fires in that area.

McElhinney agreed to do an analysis of the benefits of the West Side Station and return it to the Board.

EMT Course Starts Feb. 19 At Win. Hospital

Area residents may enroll in an Emergency Medical Technician course at Winchester Hospital starting Feb. 19. The course, offered through North Shore Community College in cooperation with the hospital, will meet from 7-10 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The course is designed for employees or volunteer members of public and private groups responsible for providing medical care. Topics will include: respiration and resuscitation, medical and environmental emergencies, emergency childbirth, bleeding, wounds, shock, and various injuries. Besides regular class work, each student will work 10 hours in the hospital emergency room and attend a Saturday session.

The six-credit course cost includes tuition and fees, payable at registration. Students may register at the College, 3 Essex St., Beverly, Jan. 21 and 6-9 p.m. or on Feb. 2 from 9:30 a.m.-noon (a late fee is charged).

Markey Co-sponsors Bill Restricting Phone Soliciting

Unwanted telephone advertising spiels would be tightly restricted under provisions of a bill co-sponsored recently by Congressman Ed Markey.

Markey has joined 80 other US Representatives in backing the "Telephone Privacy Act," a bill to place controls on companies making the so-called "junk" telephone calls that irritate millions of Americans.

"When a salesman is allowed uninvited into a home via the telephone to press his product or service, it is more than an annoyance," Markey said, "it is an invasion of privacy. For many, particularly the elderly and the handicapped, just reaching a phone in order to answer it involves some effort. To then be greeted by unsolicited advertising is extremely aggravating."

"Others of us resent these unwelcome calls when they interrupt a meal, a project, or a quiet evening at home," he added. "According to the telephone marketing industry itself, millions of persons hang up on the advertising spiels every day."

Markey said that recent technical developments have made it possible for computers to dial homes and play taped advertising messages, thereby increasing the number of unasked-for calls an average homeowner can expect to receive.

The "Telephone Privacy Act," introduced by Rep. Les Aspin (D-Colo.) would require telephone companies to offer all subscribers the opportunity at least once a year to indicate they do not wish to receive unsolicited commercials over the phone.

Every firm making such calls would be required to obtain the list of subscribers who have said, "No Solicitor," and to delete those numbers from their call-out lists.

Violators would be subject to a fine of up to $1,000 for each call made in defiance of the act. Because a firm trying to comply could be expected to make honest errors, the bill provides that no prosecution could begin until the local US Attorney had received 10 complaints against the same firm.

According to the proposed legislation, costs to the telephone companies of administering the act would be recovered from the firms making the merchandising calls through fees charged for the lists of persons who do not wish to receive them. No extra charges would be assessed against telephone subscribers.

Hearings are expected on the proposed bill within the next few months.

In 1914, four years after the Boy Scouts of America was started, a troop was organized in Winchester by Robert W. Fernald who then became the troop's scoutmaster. On different occasions four of that troop's members later each rescued a drowning person. Girl Scouts in Winchester began on May 18, 1917 at the home of Mrs. Addison R. Pike.

Sachems Tip Watertown In OT After Falling To Lexington

Folks you've got progress, right here in Winchester City. With a capital P and that rhymes with B and that stands for Basketball.

After getting crushed by an awesome Lexington High club 72-49 last week, the Sachems came back on Friday and stole a two-point overtime victory from Watertown, in Watertown, 50-48. That means the Sachem record now stands at 3-5 overall, 3-3 in the Middlesex League and if that isn't progress for a program that was 1-19 last season then who knows what is?

Coach John Myers' boys were able to control the boards against the smaller Watertown club and it was that fact, getting the rebounds, that led to the victory.

The game was close throughout with the Sachems getting the ball inside where they wanted it, but then being unable to make their shots. "We got the ball on the inside, we just weren't finishing it off," Myers said earlier this week.

The turning point of the game came with about two minutes played in the third period and the Sachems down by nine points. Enter for Winchester senior John Brosnan to play the bottom man of a 1-3-1 zone defense and the Sachems were on their way back. "He really lit a fire under us," Myers noted. "He intercepted a couple of passes and all of a sudden we had six back."

Which had the Red Raiders reeling. The Winchester unit of Mike Blackwood, Bill Herder, Don Jordon, Kevin Thomas and Brosnan did an excellent job of team defense for the remainder of the game.

Thomas really got the Sachems rolling on offense from his point guard position. "He's a player," Myers said of his junior. "He's going to be a good point guard, he has the skills."

Regulation ended with the score tied at 44-44 and Brosnan gave the Sachems a lead in the overtime with a pair of free throws. Jordon made the Sachem lead four with two free throws of his own and the game was over.

The Lexington game was a different story. "Defensively, man-to-man, they're probably better than Burlington," Myers noted.

Winchester actually did a decent job of taking away the inside game against the powerful Minutemen front line of two-time all-scholastic Gene Mewborn (8 pts), Joe Partlow (11 points) and Jim Roberge (12 pts). However, it was the shooting of guard Mark Hedder, an all-scholastic candidate himself, that burned Winchester. "Their outside game just killed us," Myers stated. "They shot extremely well."

Winchester was paced by Jimmy Kohr with 11 points and Jeff Cahill with nine.

The Sachems tried to work the ball inside so that their shots were coming less than six feet from the hoop. It was successful early on, but then they started missing while Lexington did not. The Minutemen, with a very good chance of winning the Middlesex League title this year, led by 19 at the half and played just about everyone in the second half.

Quebec Team First In Bonspiel

Bill Fuller skipped the winning rink of Lennoxville, Quebec, to victory in an exciting match over the Dartmouth Curling Club of Nova Scotia to win the Farnsworth Trophy in the Mixed Invitational Bonspiel held at the Winchester Country Club Jan. 13. Other members of the winning rink were Josee Rourke, Bill Rourke, and Margaret Fuller. Members of the finalists rink were Renee Spencer (Winchester substitute) Charles Douglas and Pat Douglas.

Winchester Country Club number one team skipped by John Koslowski, Peg Pettingell, Jim Jefferson and Barbara Jefferson defeated the Schenestady Curling Club for the second event Neiley Trophy.

Winchester Country Club number two team skipped by George Whitten, Nat Whitten, Bill Ryer and Jane Ryer defeated the Utica Curling Club for the third event Barton Trophy.

A colorful opening ceremony with an Olympic theme featured a Scottish Piper opening the games with the help of Mike Wunder (a junior curler) carrying the Olympic torch and Cindy Card (also a junior curler) carrying the Olympic colors.

Mr. and Mrs. John Corcoran were chairpersons of this event. Dr. and Mrs. Michael MacKenzie were chairman of Invitations for this Bonspiel, which brought rinks from Canada, Quebec, Nova Scotia and the United States to the Winchester Country Club.

Housewife sells 'glass plate' for $40; worth $1,800

NILES, Ill. — The story of a small fortune, lost because a housewife had no idea her glass plate was a collector's item, recently came to light.

In a letter to J. R. MacArthur, chairman of the Bradford Exchange, world's largest trading center in collector's plates, a Madison, Wis., woman wrote: "I had a Lalique 1965 plate... which I sold to a friend for $40. I had not heard of you at that time."

The plate she sold is actually valued at more than $1,800. Although MacArthur points out that this price is exceptionally high, he said, "I'm afraid others may be losing hundreds or thousands of dollars by not knowing what their plates are worth."

To aid in identifying valuable plates, the exchange issues a report that includes current prices on more than 900 plates, guidelines on what to look for and when to buy, and the plate evaluation checklist used by the exchange.

To obtain a copy without cost or obligation, just send your name, address, and zip code before Saturday of next week to: The Bradford Exchange, Dept. A38103, 9301 N. Milwaukee Avenue, Niles, Illinois 60648. A postcard will do.

Sachemettes Have Successful Week, Down Lexington, Watertown

The Winchester High varsity girls' basketball team advanced their record to 4-2 last week with wins over the tough Minutemaid of Lexington and a scrappy Watertown club.

In the Lexington game, Barbara Jacobs and Kathy Day led the Sachemettes with 10 and nine points respectively as the locals held on to win a good old fashion "barn burner," 35-31 at the high school.

"I really think it was experience that won the game for us," said Sachemette coach Barbara Hollis earlier this week. "My kids just kept their cool and didn't throw the ball away in the end."

The game was a close one all the way, with an eight-point run in the third quarter by the Sachemettes being the turning point in the contest. Kathy Heffernan, getting her first start of the season, came through with a "super game" according to Hollis, playing aggressive defense which resulted in a number of steals. Heffernan also tossed in six points for the Winchester cause.

Rounding out the scoring were six points by Laurie Redmond and two each by Joanne Maloney and Kathy Corkery. In the 47-30 Watertown win, the key was clearly the return of Sachemette Christine Driscoll who has been slow in recovering from knee surgery as a result of a soccer injury.

"I think she was a real boost for the rest of the team," Hollis said of "Wounded Knee" Driscoll. "If her knee stays healthy I think we can go the rest of the way."

Though only in the game for slightly over half the game, Driscoll fired in 10 points, had a startling 18 rebounds along with three assists and two steals for good measure.

Kathy Day also had another fine afternoon for the locals. The point guard, who has become the floor leader of this Sachemette club, was the game's high scorer with 15 points. "She penetrated extremely well for us from the top of the key," Hollis added.

But it was again a total team win with Redmond (seven points, six rebounds) and Heffernan (another super job defensively) doing their share.

On defense the Sachemettes did what no other Middlesex League teams have been able to do this year, they stopped Watertown's Lisa Yankowski, the league's leading scorer. "We overshifted our center person on the 2-1-2 to her side," Hollis notes. "On defense we just drove against her and made her pick up three fouls in the first quarter."

Yankowski would eventually foul out in the third quarter, having scored only two points on the day.

"They really only got about one try at the basket each time," Hollis said of her team's defense. Watertown had been averaging around 55 points a game.

Swimmers Lose To Melrose, Still In Second

By MARY CRESSE
Okay, okay, so last Saturday night the WHS boys' swim team lost a difficult meet to Melrose. So...although it may sound as if their season may be following the all-too-familiar patterns of a few other high school teams, a few losses can hardly provide a firm basis for a cursory judgment of their abilities.

Their respectable second place finish in last Thursday's tri-meet against Salem and Waltham proved that no team can win every meet. With at least three swimmers as candidates for the League championships, and a record of five wins, three losses, the Sachems have justly earned themselves a second place ranking in the Middlesex League.

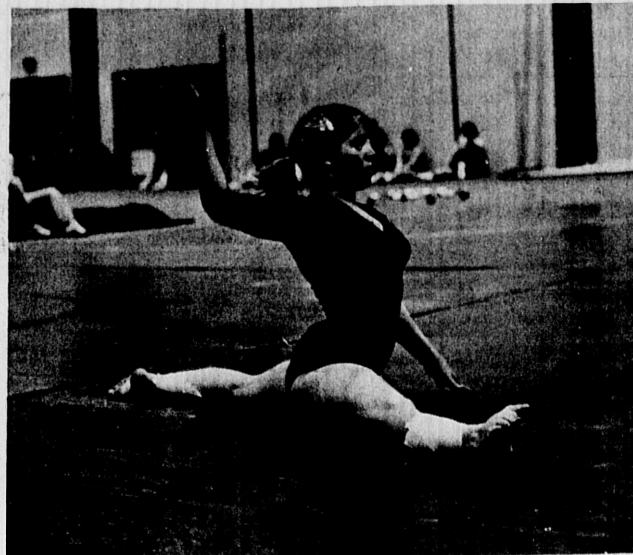

But, last Saturday Coach Palumbo and his swimmers were well aware that the meet could go either way. Alan Christy, Seth MacDonald, Mark Estabrook and Bob McGillicuddy led the way as the Sachems started off with a victory in the medley relay.

The 200 yard freestyle proved to be one of the closest races of the evening as co-captain Mickey Minutoli waged a side-by-side battle with the Melrose swimmer. Minutoli touched out his opponent and won by .01 seconds. Sophomore Mark Kennedy came in fourth.

In the 200 yard individual medley sophomores Richard Webber and Tom Kerrigan placed second and fourth as Melrose gained its first victory, evening the score at 12. Winchester sought to change this and did so in the 50 yard freestyle.

With times of 23.77 and 26.0 respectively, senior Chris Porter and sophomore Bob McGillicuddy staged a surprise attack, overwhelming the Melrose swimmers in the diving competition. Senior Mark Estabrook finished a suspiciously close second behind a questionably superior Melrose diver, Newcomer Colin Green, a junior, came in fourth.

At this point the score was tied at 19, putting undue pressure on the swimmers to follow. After the diving, Minutoli again found himself in an uncomfortably tight

Blood Clinic Saturday At 12

The January Blood Pressure Clinic, sponsored by the Winchester Chapter of American Red Cross is to be held this coming Saturday, from 10 a.m. to noon at the Chapter House on Church street.

"They tell me that high blood pressure can seldom be cured. But it can be controlled," said Walter Armstrong, Chairman of the Winchester Red Cross. "The first step is to watch the pressure readings each month and then consult your doctor if readings are high. Winchester physicians generally recommend the monthly check by the Red Cross free clinic."

REAL ESTATE

by Ann Blackham

YOU AND YOUR AGENT

The quickest—and by far the easiest—method of selecting a home is simply knowing all that's available on the market. And you won't get that information by charging around from one "house for sale" sign to another. Your best course is to seek help from a REALTOR. Preferably, one who knows—and is active in—the neighborhood you're interested in.

Before you sit down with your REALTOR, determine your family's needs; number of bedrooms and baths, storage needs, room for future expansion, recreation facilities, etc. If you're willing to compromise on any requirements, say so. Be flexible about architecture, and consider looking at a variety of home styles. And be particular about the location of the house. It's the one thing you'll never be able to remodel.

Final advice: Be candid about your finances and what you can afford. This information will come out sooner or later and you'll be wasting your time by looking at houses that are beyond your means.

In all your real estate needs—buying—selling—rentals—appraisals—consultation—please phone or drop in at:

Girls' Track Team Keeps Rolling, Stays Unbeaten In Middlesex League

By KATHY LOONEY

With the Winchester High School girls' track season two-thirds over, the Sachemettes are still undefeated in league competition. The loyal fans that have traveled to the Lexington Field House on Saturday afternoons have been treated to many surprises and much excitement. Under Coach Tom Kline's direction, the team has steadily grown in confidence and ability in its first year of competition in an official girls' track league.

The first meet saw Winchester taking on the Wakefield High School team. As this was the first league meet, the girls were looking forward to the challenge. The Sachemettes scored in every event, and won the meet 47-39. Winchester's Prudy Horne took first place in the hurdles with a time of 7.0 seconds followed by Mary Boland in second place.

In the 45 yard dash, Lisa Oliver took second with a time of 6.2 seconds. Andrea Demars won the 600 yard run with a time of 1:36.9. Co-captain Mary Grassi placed second in the 300 with a time of 45.3 seconds. Co-captain Barbara Meyers took first in the 1000 yard race with a time of 2:56.9. Meyers also placed second in the high jump with a height of four feet seven inches. In the shot put, Kathy Durante took second place with a throw of 30 feet 6 inches. Lauren Fryklund captured first in the mile with a 5:46. In the two mile, Lisa Grieci took first with a time of 12:33.4 followed by Kathy Welch in third place. The relay team of M. Boland, A. Demars, L. Fryklund and B. Meyers won with a time of 4:27.6.

Buoyed by their successes in the first meet, the Sachemettes took on Burlington and beat them by a score of 49-36. This victory was even more impressive as Winchester swept the 600, 1000, and two mile races. In the hurdles, Prudy Horne took first place with a time of 7.1 seconds. The 45 yard dash showed Lisa Oliver placing second with a time of 6.3 seconds, followed closely by Eileen Curry in third. Andrea Demars took first in the 600 yd. run with a 1:37.6, followed by Eileen Conley and Laura Consales. Barbara Meyers took a close second for Winchester in the 300 with a time of 40.5 seconds. In the 1000 yard race, Mary Boland took first with a time of 3:09.9, followed by Mary Grassi and Kathy Looney. Barbara Meyers took first in the high jump with a four foot six inches jump followed by Rachel Tringale in third. Kathy Durante captured first place with a throw of 33 feet 3 inches in the shot put. In the mile, Lauren Fryklund placed second with a time of 5:40.4. Winchester's Lisa Grieci took first in the two mile with a 12:35.4 followed by Kathy Welch and Diane Franchi. Winchester's M. Boland, A. Demars, L. Fryklund and B. Meyers again won the relay with a time of 4:25.3.

Traditional rival Woburn was the next victim of the Sachemette powerhouse. They presented a well balanced team effort in this triumph, capturing first place in all events except the 45 yard dash where they placed second. The final result was Winchester on top by a crushing score of 60-26. Prudy Horne again took first place in the hurdles with a time of 7.1 seconds, followed by Laurie Gleason in third place. Missy Meade placed second in the 45 yard dash with a time of 6.2 seconds. Andrea Demars took first place in the 600 yard run with a 1:35.8 followed by Eileen Conley in second place. In the 300, Barbara Meyers took first place with a time of 40.7 seconds, followed by Carol Donahoe in third place. Mary Boland captured first in the 1000 yard race with a 3:07.7. In the high jump, Rachel Tringale placed first with a jump of four feet six inches, with Barbara Meyers taking third.

Kathy Durante took first in the shot put with a throw of 33 feet 3 inches followed by Joanne Burke in second place. In the mile, Lauren Fryklund took first with a 5:55.2 followed by Kathy Welch in second place. Again, Lisa Grieci took first place in the two mile race with a time of 12:42.5. The relay team of M. Boland, E. Conley, L. Fryklund and A. Demars won the race with a time of 4:29.7.

These three victories didn't quite prepare Winchester for the stiff competition they would receive from the Lexington track team. The Winchester fans were kept on the edge of their seats through the entire meet. Lexington had a strong, well coached team. After running nine events the score was 41-40 in Lexington's favor. The last hope for Winchester rested on winning the mile relay. Because of Lexington's disqualification, Winchester was awarded the five points for the relay. The lead Lexington runner cut into the first lane before reaching the crossing zone. The final score was 45-41 with Winchester once again victorious.

Winchester's Prudy Horne as usual took first in the hurdles with a time of 7.1 seconds. Lisa Oliver placed second in the 45 yard dash with a time of 6.2 seconds. In the 600, Andrea Demars took first again with a 1:32.8. In the 300, Barbara Meyers placed second with a time of 41.0 seconds. Eileen Conley took second place with a 3:00.5 in the 1000 yard race. Andrea Demars took second in the high jump with a height of four feet six inches. The shot put was won by Kathy Durante with an impressive distance of 35 feet 2 inches. Lauren Fryklund captured the mile with a 5:32.7. Lisa Grieci placed first with a 12:14.2 followed by Kathy Welch in the two mile. The relay team of A. Demars, E. Conley, L. Fryklund and B. Meyers saved the Winchester team by finishing the race with a 2:24.5.

After the tough meet against Lexington, Coach Tom Kline cautioned the team against becoming overconfident and stressed the importance of not letting up in the meets or in practice. The Sachemettes look forward to their next meet on Saturday with Belmont at the Lexington Field House. The Sachemette track team has a good shot at the league championship.

Five Ski Areas On Route 93

By CAROL DIGIOVANNI

Route 93 conveniently cuts through the center of New Hampshire, running north and south and in the winter links five recreational areas which combine great skiing with the charm of Old New England.

Ski 93 consists of five ski areas, lodges, inns, motels, bunkhouses, condominiums, townhouses, and winter campgrounds. There are restaurants to fit every taste and pocketbook. And as all skiers know, apres-ski is an essential part of the ski scene.

Ski 93 ski areas are Waterville Valley, Loon Mountain, Cannon Mountain, Bretton Woods and Mittersill.

Snowmaking and grooming provide exceptional conditions even when natural snow may be plentiful. Here, in a nutshell, are what the five Ski 93 areas are like:

Bretton Woods has seven miles of trails, an annual average snowfall of 180 inches, and 35 acres of snowmaking. Two complete touring centers provide 95 kilometers of cross-country skiing in the shadow of Mount Washington.

Mittersill high in the White Mountains, Mittersill offers the facilities, atmosphere and challenge unique to European ski resorts; a variety of trails and slopes and a northern exposure of 4,200 foot Cannon Mountain.

Waterville Valley - here are 32 slopes and trails served by four double chairs, two triple chairs, a T-bar and a J-bar. There's a vertical drop of over 2,000 feet, with the longest trail three miles long.

Loon Mountain - a ski resort with four passenger gondola, four double chairlifts, 24 trails and slopes and 75 acres of snowmaking. Throw in a good ski school, a slopeside inn, and an unsurpassed setting, and there's the making of a great vacation.

Cannon Mountain - Cannon is a non-nonsense mountain 4,200 feet high, with eight lifts, including America's first aerial tramway, 50 acres of snowmaking coverage, 34 trails and 40 years of successful ski operation.

No Snow Yet, But McHugh Warns Of Winter Driving

There's no such thing as engineering "instant safety" into all of our roadways and our automobiles, according to Chief of Police John P. McHugh.

"It's true, we need all the built-in lifesaving devices we can get," Chief McHugh has pointed out, "but the way we use the product - in this case how we operate our motor vehicles - is the final test."

That, according to the Chief, adds up to a relatively new in-word - "consumerism," getting all the safety and utility from the way we drive.

Among the person factors that make even the safest vehicle more hazardous on our highways are: Failure to use the safety restraint systems built into vehicles.

Alcohol consumption that releases inhibitions - we do things behind the wheel we'd never do in saner moments.

Speed too fast for conditions. With today's emphasis on the 55 mph speed limit, many motorists completely overlook the fact that this limit is intended for ideal road and weather conditions. When pavements are slick and visibility is poor, speeds must be reduced drastically.

"These and many other factors, are at work in our traffic stream to keep us from realizing all the safety we pay for in our vehicles and in our highway system," Chief McHugh said.

"We are in the middle of the critical winter months when normal driving hazards are compounded by the weather," he continued. "Reduced visibility and inadequate traction make it tougher for a driver to stay out of trouble."

As an example, the Chief pointed out that even though a driver can bring his car to a stop from 55 miles an hour in about 150 feet on dry pavement, he would have to slow down to 20 miles an hour to stop his car in that same distance on a glare ice road surface.

The Chief urged motorists to study the following tips for safe winter driving which have been advocated by the National Safety Council and endorsed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police:

1. Get the "feel" of the road by accelerating carefully to see if wheels spin; or brake gently to see if they skid. Reduce speed accordingly.

2. Increase your following distance. Remember, it takes three to nine times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry pavement.

3. "Pump" your brakes to slow or stop

-- don't jam them on. An intermittent (on-off) pumping action keeps wheels rolling and helps maintain steering control.

4. Drive on good tires with good treads. Better yet, use snow tires which provide half again as much pulling power in snow as regular highway tires. Studded snow tires (where they can be used legally) offer still more help on icy surfaces.

5. Always carry tire chains in the trunk of your car for use during severe snow and ice conditions. Reinforced chains provide four to seven times as much traction on snow or ice as regular tires.

6. Keep your windshield and windows clear at all times. Replace streaking wiper blades. Be sure your windshield washer solution contains adequate anti-freeze.

"There's no better way to get all the safety built into your car than to use good judgment in your driving - whether the weather's good or bad," the Chief emphasized. "It's just sound 'consumerism' on our highways!"

Andrea Gish Weds In October To Stephen Heitz In Reading

Andrea F. Gish, daughter of Lyle L. Gish of Reading and the late Helen M. Gish, was married Oct. 6 in a double ring ceremony to Stephen D. Heitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Heitz of Winchester. Rev. Arthur Flynn performed the 2 p.m. ceremony at St. Agnes Church in Reading.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white crepe back satin gown in an A-line silhouette. The gown was enhanced with a border of scalloped Venice lace trim which swept into a cathedral train. A high bridal ring collar, victorian flounce bodice, sheer Venice lace yoke and fitted sleeves accentuated the dress. The veil was a Camelot frame which held a cathedral length silk illusion mantilla edged in scalloped Venice lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Meredith Montella of Reading was the matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Cheryl Heitz of Malden, sister of the bridegroom, Karen Hartford of Brighton, cousin of the bride, Patricia Donovan, Lori Parks and Debra Brennan, all of Reading. Jennifer Gish, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

with pleated skirts. The waist line jackets were gathered and tied at the waist and shoulders. The matron of honor's gown was maroon while the bridesmaids wore rose colored gowns. They wore baby's breath and statin in their hair and carried baskets of matching daisies, elegance carnations and English ivy with matching streamers.

Robert Heitz, a cousin of the bridegroom, was the best man. Ushers were David Heitz of Winchester, brother of the bridegroom, John Rafferty of Melrose, cousin of the bridegroom, Todd Olson of Stoneham, a cousin of the bridegroom, Timothy Began of Stoneham and Mark Molloy of Lawrence.

The bride, who graduated from Reading Memorial High School in 1974, is employed at Data Resources Inc., in Lexington.

The bridegroom is a self-employed carpenter. He graduated from Winchester High School in 1969 and attended Fitchburg State College.

A reception was held at the Meadowbrook Golf Club in Reading. Anne Marie Flaherty of Reading was in charge of the guestbook.

The couple is living in Woburn following a trip to Bermuda.

Rotary Club Inducts Members

On Jan. 10th District Governor Bob Darby visited the local Rotary Club to formally induct five new members. The five Rotarians were called upon to give a brief biographical sketch after which they received their lapel pins and a pewter medallion commemorating Rotary. The five new members are: Tony Aliani, owner of Albani Real Estate Management Company; Dan Legatta, president of Geotechnical Engineers; Bob Leonard, professor of mathematics at Bunker Hill Community College; Sal Marino, owner of Sal's Hair Styles; and Carl Schwartzman, a financial planning consultant.

Helen Pashigian

The first major step taken to petition the State Legislature to incorporate South Woburn into a separate town was at a meeting held in the vestry of the Congregational Church Monday Nov. 26, 1979 at 6:30 p.m. Names under consideration for the new town included Appleton, Winthrop, Avon, Channing, Waterville and Winchester.

Events

Open auditions for "Mack and Mabel" will be held at the Arlington Friends of the Drama Theatre, 22 Academy St., tonight at 7:30 and this Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m.

This story of Mack Sennett and Mabel Norman at the beginning of the moving pictures including the famous "Keystone Cops" and the "Sennett Bathing Beauties" will be presented by the Friends April 10-20.

All characters must have good acting, singing, and dancing abilities. Principals and supporting characters all have some solos.

Helen Pashigian Is Engaged To Charles Bandoian

Mr. and Mrs. Sark Pashigian announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Kristine, to Charles A. Bandoian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Bandoian of Winchester.

The future bride graduated from Walnut Hill School in Natick and Lasell Jr. College where she received an A.S. degree in retailing. She was employed as a sportswear buyer for the G. Fox & Co. in Hartford.

Her fiancé is employed with Dames and Moore, a Chicago consultants company in Environmental and Applied Earth Sciences. He graduated from Tufts University with a bachelor of arts degree in government and from the University of New Mexico with a master of arts degree in geology. He received his doctorate from Rutgers University in New Jersey.

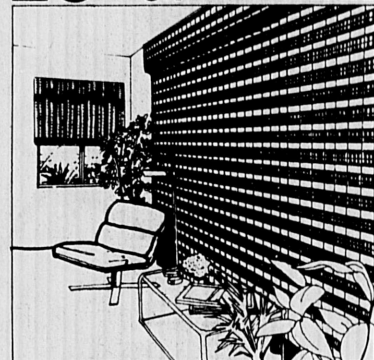

An April wedding is planned.

Fire damaged furniture is scattered in front of 354 Cambridge st. following last Thursday's fire which took the life of Kamalini Irving. Mrs. Irving had moved to Winchester in July and lived with her brother in the house. The cause of the fire is suspected to be electrical, though fire officials admit that they still haven't located the origin. (Staff Photo)

Woman Perishes In Cambridge St. House Fire, Cause Still Unknown

One week after the Cambridge street house fire which killed 54-year old Kamalini Irving and caused around $10,000 in damage occurred, fire officials have still not determined the exact cause of the blaze and may not know for quite some time.

"It's a real puzzle and it's driving us crazy," said Winchester Fire Chief Robert McElhinney earlier this week of the early evening fire last Thursday. "We're leaning towards an electrical fire, but we haven't come up with an exact cause yet."

McElhinney and an expert from the Massachusetts Wiring Board, as well as officials from the Massachusetts Fire Marshall's office, inspected the two floor home at 354 Cambridge st. on Saturday and again on Monday. From their investigations, they determined that the cause of the ignition may have been from an appliance, possibly a television set. Fire officials are also considering a lamp and a sewing machine.

According to McElhinney, all three appliances were in the den of the house, where the fire began and did the most damage. The Winchester Chief feels that the lamp is "highly unlikely" for the cause as inspection has revealed the wires were not damaged. He stated that the sewing machine might have been the cause, if it was being used. But he added that it also "didn't look that bad."

McElhinney also pointed out that Irvine probably wasn't using the sewing machine because she had guests a short time before and then had to prepare dinner, which she was when the fire began.

"If I had to bet on one I would lean to the television set," said McElhinney. On Monday it was removed from the home and will be sent to the television division within the state firemarshal's office for inspection. McElhinney noted that very often there is a problem in getting an expert to analyze an appliance, for if they decide it was the cause of a fire, it could prompt legal action from the manufacturer.

McElhinney did mention that there was heavy burning around a coffee table and a sofa, which could also be converted into a bed, and which the coffee table was located in front of. There was not an unusual amount of burning by the television set in comparison to the rest of the den.

The fire itself was spotted at around 5:36 last Thursday by off duty fireman

Known Only By A Few Yet Still Missed

Kamalini Irving may have come to the United States for a fresh start when she arrived in Winchester six months ago, having recently separated from her husband in Australia. But the 54-year old lawyer, a native of India, instead met tragedy last Thursday when she died in the fire at her Cambridge street home.

Partially paralyzed by a stroke, which affected the movement of her hand and arm on one side, Irving didn't get out to visit the people in town whom she knew that often, according to neighbors. But they were regular visitors to her home.

"I was very friendly with her," said Sarah Moss earlier this week. Moss had been with Irvine at her home at 356 Cambridge st. within two hours of the fire. "We had a very pleasant time. She was a quite person. She couldn't visit

Selectmen, Neighbors Meet With McHugh For Vandalism Cures

Saying that the problem of vandalism in Winchester has "expanded in some areas and diminished in others," Police Chief John P. McHugh met with the Board of Selectmen and a number of concerned citizens Monday night, to respond to growing complaints about the youth problem in town.

"It's a problem that exists throughout the community. It's a problem that the police department confronts on a daily basis," said McHugh, referring to the neighbors at the meeting from the West Side Field area who had confronted the Selectmen last week about vandalism problems in their neighborhood.

The Selectmen, in response to demands for action by the West Side Field residents against the gangs of youths who congregate in that area, approved three motions:

- They agreed to instruct the Department of Public Works to place a temporary fence or barrier at the parking area of the West Side Field until a permanent one can be devised.

- They instructed the police to patrol that area more frequently.

- They ordered that the area be posted for no trespassing and no parking.

The residents from the West Side Field area told the Selectmen last week that they had sent petitions to McHugh and Town Manager Thomas Groux over the past several years, but had not had any relief from the vandalism or the youths that are in that area. On Monday night, they were joined by neighbors from the Lynch Junior High School neighborhood and the Loring Field area.

"I think it's the work of a small group, but it's a very effective group," said McHugh about the youths in town.

McHugh also pointed out that part of the problem in dealing with youths in town is their parents. He noted that many parents, when told by police that their son or daughter has been arrested, resent the action and usually respond by asking the police why they aren't out catching the real criminals.

McHugh also noted that many habits the youths pick up are acquired at home. "A father gets away with it at business, the mother beats a traffic rap."

Newly appointed Lieutenant Joseph Perritano, who accompanied McHugh to the meeting, agreed with McHugh and also noted that many residents, when given the choice of prosecuting a vandal who has damaged his property, or accepting restitution, will accept the payment. "What I'm telling you is that many people would rather have the almighty buck in their pocket than see justice done."

"Then they're part of the problem," answered Selectman Edward O'Connell.

Perritano also told the gathering that "I don't believe it's much different now than 15 or 20 years ago."

He added that the problem he sees with the youths in town these days is that younger kids are mixing more with the older youths. "As a result they become engaged in the activities of the older kids," said Perritano. He gave the drinking problem as an example, noting that the older youths can get liquor, which they pass down to their younger friends.

O'Connell disagreed. "I do not share the notion that it has not changed. I think that it has become almost senseless. As I read the police blotter, week after week, I'm distressed. I'm embarrassed for my town."

He went on to say that he didn't didn't blame the police for the increase in vandalism, and in fact was fully behind them. But he asked, "In 1967 or 1967, did we really have people running around town ripping off Christmas lights?" He was referring to a complaint by one of the West Side Field neighbors who complained that their lights had been pulled from their property during the holidays.

McHugh answered O'Connell by saying that "I myself am aggravated more than you. I think we're doing quite well to cope with it."

In discussing measures that could be taken to relieve the situation, McHugh pointed out that he has been understaffed since two of his lieutenants retired. He also noted that many of the high vandalism areas are difficult to patrol for a "motorized" police force. He did mention that when the youth at Noonan School became a problem, a full-time patrolman was put on duty at that site with orders to keep all youths, whether they were known trouble makers or not, off the property after a certain time. The result was an improvement in the problem. This method has been suggested for the West Side Field in the past. "Do you want me to try it?" McHugh asked the Selectmen. "I'll try anything."

Selectman Wade Welch, a criminal lawyer by profession, pointed out the absence of crimes of violence in Winchester. "Winchester should indeed be thankful that the streets are safe at all times," said Welch.

McHugh told the Board and the residents that another solution to the problem was for more neighbors to get involved in fighting the problem.

Retirement Board Says No To Colgan's Benefits Request

By PEYTON FLEMING

The Winchester Retirement Board announced yesterday morning that they were rejecting the request of former Winchester Police Lieutenant James J. Colgan for disability retirement payments, and refused to disclose the reasons why, according to Donald E. McNamee, the attorney representing Colgan and the Winchester Police Association.

"I'm shocked," said McNamee moments after receiving the news from the Retirement Board, following an early morning meeting in which further testimony as to why Colgan should receive those benefits was presented. "And they wouldn't even tell me why."

Colgan, retired from the police department in June of last year following two heart attacks suffered while on duty, both of which resulted in open heart surgery. He has been advised by his doctor not to continue working.

"The reasons behind their decision are a mystery to me," said McNamee.

Winchester Star Receives Two Press Awards

The Winchester Star and The Arlington Advocate, two publications of Century Publications, Inc., were award recipients at last week's New England Press Association conference, held at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel, Boston.

For a June 7 editorial entitled "Time To Face Reality," written by former Star Editor Karen Webber and Assistant Editor William Donovan, The Star received second place in that category. According to the judges who selected The Star's entry from 75 weekly newspaper editorials, "It's editorial 'Time To Face Reality' also wrapped up its subject with comparatively few words. The subject of race relations again speaks for itself in its importance."

The Star also received second place for the Best Local Color advertisement in which a Star Printing Center ad featured antique wood type letters.

The Arlington Advocate received second place in the Best Classified Section and second place for Best General News Photo.

A Veterans' Day photograph by Dan Walsh, entitled "A Father Remembers," was called "a solemn moment, well composed and taken at just the right moment." The classified section, although termed smaller than some, has "a great deal of reader appeal," according to the judges.

John Dooley as he was leaving Bonnell Ford, which is located directly across Cambridge street from the Irvine home. "The flames had burnt out the tops of the picture window and that's how I noticed it," said Dooley. "I have a radio in the truck so I called in and told them there was a fire on the first floor."

Dooley then tried to enter the house, but because of the heat and the smoke, he couldn't get near the den. He stated that when he entered the house, the flames had spread from the den into the hall. He had been told by a neighbor that Irving was in the house, but was unable to find her.

By the time the fire department arrived, "there was a pretty good fire going on the first floor," according to McElhinney. "They knocked the fire down probably in about five or 10 minutes," he noted.

Firefighters advanced one and a half inches of hose through the front door to extinguish the blaze. Patrolman James Gallant, who had entered the home to search for Irvine, was taken to Winchester Hospital for smoke inhalation and later released.

Irving, a native of India who lived in the house with her brother, Awinash Manmade, was found on the other side of the house from the den, on the first floor. Firefighters found her lying on the floor in between the living room and the dining room. A German Shepherd was found dead in a corner of the living room. Although she did suffer from partial paralysis on one side in her leg and arm, fire officials have speculated that she may have tried to put the fire out herself, and then realized it was out of control. According to Dr. Jacob Peretman, the medical examiner for the case, Irving died of smoke inhalation "almost instantaneously."

As well as destroying the den, the effects of the fire are noticeable throughout the house with heat and smoke damage upstairs as well as on the rest of the first floor.

very much because of her impairment, but I used to drop in every day or so."

Irving lived at her home with her brother, Awinash Manmade, a chemical engineer in Cambridge who was not home at the time of the fire. As well as her paralysis, she also had a history of heart problems, which led some officials to believe that she may have died from heart failure when the fire broke out. It was later determined by the medical examiner that the cause of death was smoke inhalation.

"She was on a visa," Moss recalled. "We talked about that and how she would have liked to go back to her country on a visit. But she would have had problems getting back into the country because of quotas."

"Her English was a little impaired because of her stroke," Moss continued, "but she never really made herself a cripple. In the summer she went around the yard and usually stayed around the house. She was lonesome so I told the neighbors to drop in and keep an eye on her. We all took an interest in her. She was an interesting person and a nice person."

The cause of the fire has not been exactly determined, though fire officials feel it might have been an electrical fire from a television set in the den where the blaze began. Irving was found in the living room on the other side of the house by firefighters.

It was indeed a tragic event and one which has jolted Moss and others who knew Irving. "It was a terrible shock," Moss recalled at first hearing of the fire. "I'll miss going in to see her."

★ Colgan

who also added that he will immediately appeal their decision with the Massachusetts State Contributory Retirement Board. "The law of the Commonwealth states that if someone passes the physical examination to work it must be presumed that the heart condition is directly related to that person's police work, thereby qualifying him for disability retirement benefits."

McNamee pointed out that during yesterday's hearing, he asked the members of the Retirement Board if there was any question that the presumption that the disability was job related is in jeopardy, and if there was he would present further testimony. The members of the Board stated that they had heard enough evidence.

At previous hearings, the Retirement Board had indicated some concern about a part-time job as a night watchman Colgan has had, besides working at the police station, and the effect that may have had on his heart.

Should the rejection of the seven-month old request hold up against further legal action, the 46-year old Colgan, a member of the police department for 25 years, would receive only retirement benefits that would normally be granted to a policeman who retired at age 46. Although an exact figure of what those benefits would be were not disclosed, Joseph Connolly, Chairman of the Retirement Board, admitted "that the pension would be quite low."

"I always thought that working for a community was viewed as an administrative function, not as an adversary one," McNamee commented to the Board members.

The Winchester lawyer also found it hard to believe that Town Counsel Douglas Randall, who was not present at yesterday's hearing, didn't even ask Colgan where he was when he suffered his heart attack at Colgan's deposition, until McNamee brought it up himself. "It was as if they were fishing for a way to deny Colgan his money," lamented McNamee.

Colgan, who claims that the town owes him $8500 since he retired last June 30, has said that if he doesn't receive disability compensation he would be forced to come out of retirement.

According to McNamee, the Winchester Police Department has already rejected an attempt by Colgan to rejoin the force on the grounds that he wasn't physically capable.

Planning Board Meets With Chamber Group

By PEYTON FLEMING

Once again, poor communication between the Planning Board and members of the Chamber of Commerce has hindered their efforts at responding to last summer's Attitudinal Survey about the economic slump in Winchester Center.

At Monday night's Planning Board meeting to discuss possible changes in the town's sign by-laws, the ad-hoc Chamber committee that has been actively studying ways to facilitate more economic activity in the town center through the local businessmen, didn't bring a lot of the descriptive slides that the Planning Board members felt they needed to understand many of their proposals.

"I'm sorry for my lack of intelligence," Charles Tsekare, the chairman of the Planning Board playfully chided at the meeting, "but I cannot comment conclusively on a lot of these proposals because I don't exactly understand them."

Judy Muggia, the main spokesman for the ad-hoc committee, explained that she didn't bring more evidence in the form of slides because she was led to believe that they only had half an hour to meet with the Planning Board that night. Therefore, she brought only a few slides.

The ad-hoc committee has studied a number of surrounding communities such as Concord, Cohasset and Salem for alternative ways to make advertising in Winchester more effective, and to make Winchester Center "more palatable."

Two of the preliminary proposals mentioned Monday, which will be voted on at May's Town Meeting, are to permit sign lettering on windows and to allow roof signs within the business community. The ad-hoc committee wants the Planning Board's full-fledged support before they introduce their amendments at that meeting.

At a previous Planning Board meeting the Chamber of Commerce and other town groups had been invited to attend to discuss the Attitudinal Survey, nobody from the Chamber appeared because they never saw the invitation at the back of the Attitudinal Survey when it was released.

Spot Pond Drained To Install 48-Inch Water Pipe In April

By LAURA WALKER

Spot Pond, located over the Winchester town line in Stoneham, was drained of its 1 billion, 830 million gallons of water in September and will remain unfilled until April, according to James Gillis, associate civil engineer of the Metropolitan District Commission (MDC).

The 290-acre MDC reservoir, was emptied in order "to install a 48-inch wide water pipe on the pond to provide increased water service to Woburn, Stoneham, Wakefield and Winchester," said Gillis. The one-mile long pipe will "connect the pump station on the eastern shore of Spot Pond to the northwestern side where 48-inch lines were installed four or five years ago," according to Charles Hitchcock, acting director of the MDC Water Division.

More pipes will be installed on the northwest side, resulting "in higher water pressure for Stoneham and Woburn where the water pressure has been very low. The line will make available more water at reasonable and constant pressure to the Town of Winchester," said Hitchcock. The cost of the project is covered by a state bond issue dating from 1972-1973.

The Town of Winchester normally buys 300 million gallons of water annually from the MDC as an emergency supply. This water is pumped from Spot Pond into North and Middle Reservoirs in Winchester where it is then held and distributed to the town.

Before Spot Pond was drained in the fall, Winchester pumped extra water from the pond into its reservoirs. However, due to the draining of the pond and the lack of rainfall, the MDC is "now providing Winchester with approximately one-half million gallons of water daily," said Hitchcock.

The 48-inch line now being installed across Spot Pond is the "backbone of a system" that will be built as a result of a recently adopted $9 million bond issue, sponsored by State Rep. "Whip" Saltmarsh. The legislation provides for the extension of the 48-inch lines to all parts of Stoneham, Woburn and Wakefield, and the construction of a new storage tank on Bean Hill in Winchester.

Native Resident

Joe Perritano

Promoted To Lt.

Joseph Perritano, a lifelong Winchester resident who only three years ago was promoted to sergeant in the Winchester Police Department, was recently appointed lieutenant, according to Chief John P. McHugh.

"He has a lot of drive and a lot of desire," McHugh said on Tuesday. "He's very well liked in the community."

Perritano, who permanently joined the department in June of 1965, is currently pursuing a bachelor's degree in criminal justice from Northeastern University. He has an associate's degree.

Considered an expert in fingerprinting, Perritano has been cited on a number of occasions by McHugh and former Chief Bowler.

A resident of Winchester, Perritano is married and has four girls.

...The first Town Clerk in the Town of Winchester was Dr. David Youngman who not only ran an apothecary shop but was also a bookseller and stationer.

Holton Street Study Group Needs Applicants

Interested residents are still being sought to make up a Town Meeting appointed study committee to look into the zoning problems that exist in the Holton street area. The seven member board, which will look into the conflict of residential and industrial zones that border 3ach other in the Holton street neighborhood, is seeking residents who either have some experience in town government, or feel their background would make them an asset to this effort.

There have been a few offers from citizens, but not enough to fill the committee. Interested residents, from the Holton street area or any other part of town, can apply for the committee by contacting Town Moderator John Sullivan through the Town Hall.

MAVIS

Everybody loves a bargain and a charter can be such a bargain. It costs less than practically any other form of air transportation. But the traveler gets the same amount of comfort and attention as in any other category of flight. People on the charter simply pay less per seat because the seats are bought all in one block. Bulk purchase of many things is less expensive and charter seats are no exception. Then, too, charters conform to the law of supply and demand. When enough people want to go somewhere, a charter flight can be born. Scheduled flights, on the other hand, have to leave on schedule regardless of how many or how few people are booked.

Whether you're looking for a bargain charter or need airline tickets quickly for a business trip, McGRATH TRAVEL SERVICE is happy to assist you. It makes good sense to rely on the expertise of a travel agent. If airline tickets are what you need, don't stand in line waiting. Several Homes Ransacked In Sunday Burglaries

A number of Winchester homes were reported illegally entered, with intruders making off with cash, jewelry, and rugs and other valuables, according to Winchester Police reports.

On Sunday, the kitchen, living room and bedroom of a Grove street home were ransacked, as thieves stole a wedding band, a color television and a credit card.

The Winchester Housing Authority Building was also broken into on Sunday, with a typewriter and various hand and power tools being stolen. On Lincolnshire way on the same day, intruders moved furniture in the living and dining room of a house and took three oriental rugs as well as some silverware, jewelry and a color television set.

A gold pocket watch and an undetermined amount of jewelry were stolen from a Standish lane home Sunday.

Earlier in the week, a Sheridan circle house was ransacked with intruders stealing a large assortment of gold and silver jewelry, including rings, diamonds, necklaces and earrings as well as $120.

In 1780 Winchester had to provide 24,078 pounds of beef under the levied "beef taxes" for the revolutionary army. The town, like all Massachusetts communities, was also required to provide as many shirts, shoes and stockings as would cover one-seventh of the town's male population. In Winchester this meant 21 blankets and 42 each of shirts, stockings and shoes.

Winton Club Cabaret Show Scheduled To Open Tuesday

The curtain rises on the 59th annual Winton Club Cabaret Show "Moving Right Along," Tuesday, at the Winchester Town Hall.

Opening night is a special Children's Theater evening starting at 7:30. Performances continue nightly from Wednesday, through Feb. 2. Seating will be cabaret style (at tables) with dancing featured at intermission.

"Moving Right Along" unveils as a lively musical revue, which blends magic and motion into a polished evening of entertainment and laughter. The grace of ballet, the precision of marching, the flash of disco, and the rhythm of jazz are featured.

Fast paced scenery changes range from a witch's grotto to a Broadway stage. Solos and choruses, acrobats and escape artists, the whimsical 1980 Cabaret has something to please all tastes - even escargot.

Creating the musical magic of "Moving Right Along" is a cast of over 100 performers from Winchester and surrounding communities. Throughout January, they have kept the Town Hall lights burning late, rehearsing tap dances, high kicks, choral ensembles, and comic sketches. Phyllis Gleason, cabaret chairman, has chosen professionals to teach and coordinate the show. Clint Hamblin, formerly with the Chateau de Ville, is the director and choreographer. Edward Madden, composer and arranger, is the musical director.

Tickets for all performances are available from Mrs. Charles Harris. Reserved balcony seats may be purchased at the door 30 minutes before curtain time.

Proceeds from the Winton Club Cabaret Show are donated to the Winchester Hospital to help maintain the patient linen supply. A large portion of this donation is due to the generous support of advertisers in the Cabaret program, for which the Winton Club is sincerely grateful.

Serving The Community For Over 95 Years

A Community Problem

The problem of vandalism in Winchester is really no more extreme than in any comparable community. Though residents in various parts of the town have decided they can't take it anymore, it doesn't mean an added legion of vandals has suddenly been sprung upon us.

But that shouldn't mean that the problem is to be accepted, simply because it isn't any worse than anywhere else. The gangs of vandals in this town are basically young criminals, the acts they commit are crimes and were it not for their youth, they would be treated accordingly.

Unquestionably, a good part of the problem lies with the parents. For many couples, admitting that their son or daughter is a destructive juvenile is admitting failure in their methods of child raising. When their son or daughter is brought home by the police or held at the station on charges, their first reaction is "Not my son!" From here they make suggestions that question the integrity of the arresting officers, they point out that the police in this town have something out for their child or that local law officials are doing a great job cracking down on the kids, while the real lawbreakers in this town go about untouched.

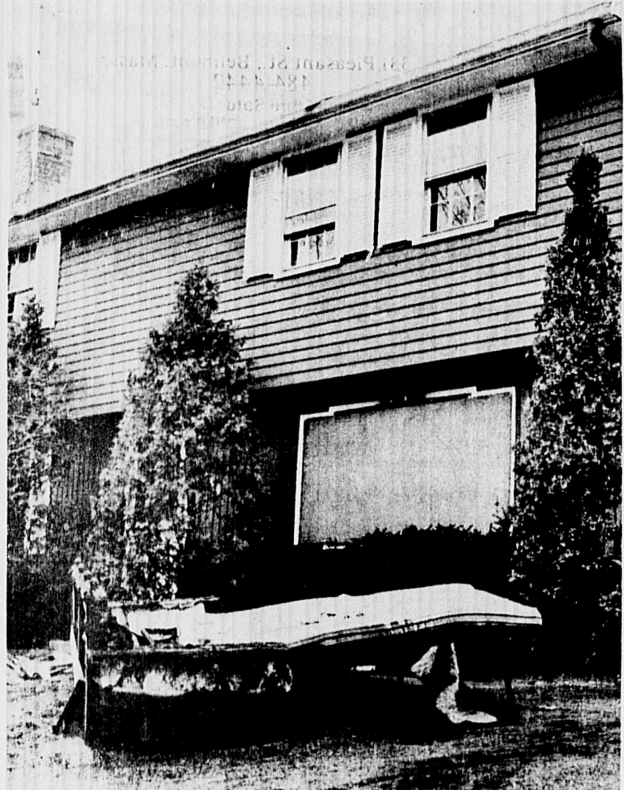

Many parents will admit that their child is a problem, but simply have no control over them. Perhaps it is a result of some methods of child raising that call for reasoning with children instead of using a little "parental authority" when it was called for. No one advocates child beatings, but perhaps every now and then a little force is needed to get some attention, as well as respect.

Perhaps another problem has been the restrictions imposed upon police when dealing with youths. With the safety and protection of the youth in mind, police have been limited as to how they can handle situations without violating personal rights. A child's rights are as important as any adults, but rights can't be used as a means of cheating the law.

The vandalism problem Winchester faces is not a sudden increase, but it is certainly different from the youth problems towns faced 20 years ago. It has to be, the kids today are different, society is different. They probably aren't any worse than the youths of 20 years ago, but they certainly are different.

If the vandalism situation in this town has finally gotten people so fed up they just won't stand for it anymore, maybe it's time for the people to do something. Don't take the law into your own hands, but work together with the police. Keep an eye on your neighborhood and call them if you see a vandal in the act.

The police say they're ready to try anything to help solve the problem. Take advantage of them and join with them to show the kids in this town who have no respect for others' property, that playtime is over and it's time to grow up.

School Committee

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

A lively letter like yours in the Winchester Star on Jan. 17 may do untold good. You and I, surprisingly, have much in common. I, too, am a former teacher of the "glory days" of teaching in a well known town not far from Winchester and I, too, am appalled by some changes in education, too long a list to identify here.

I only wish that more people would communicate their concerns. Many problems can be identified and solved before they appear in print.

Although your letter was perhaps unfairly critical, we on the School Committee owe you a debt of gratitude for provoking thought - what is it we expect of our public School Committee members? Your letter prompts us to ponder.

Should the School Committee play "the heavy" and ride a tough herd on administrators and teachers? Should the School Committee be the defender and protector of staff against its outside public critics? Is this year's committee doing the job as it should? In eight weeks two seats on the School Committee are up for election. Letters like yours jar a complacent public out of apathy in at least three ways.

One - some people agree 100 percent with your assessment. They feel - "this group certainly doesn't represent me; I could do a better job myself. (Exactly the thoughts I had two years ago when I campaigned.)"

Two - another group, unfortunately, conclude, "volunteer for public service? Spend three years of my life pouring over budgets, vying against union demands, sacrificing my family as well as myself, only to receive constant criticism, who needs it?"

Third - and I truly hope and believe this will be the overriding reaction. "I care about Winchester and especially our children. I'd like to put a shoulder to the grindstone. I have concerns and interests about what's going on in our classrooms. I'm not going to play the Monday quarterback another year. I'm going to run for election."

Winchester needs people both the critics and the fans, not merely to read letters like yours, but to respond with good thoughts, ideas, and suggestions for a better school system in our town. I am writing for myself, but I am convinced that every member of our six welcomes caring candidates to throw their hats in the ring.

Perhaps your letter will serve to light a fire under armchairs of the public. If your words get responsive citizens to become candidates this March, then strange to say, we, the Winchester School Committee will owe you a debt of thanks! Mary Jean Weyman (Editor's Note: This is a copy of the letter that was sent to Mary H. Coleman author of a letter which appeared in last week's Star).

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As a member of the School Committee, I feel I must respond to Ms. Coleman's letter.

Any response must begin, I think, with one's concept of what the role of a School Committee is. I feel that our role is to represent the public interest, to see to it that Winchester educates its children well and spends its money effectively, and to oppose and avoid anything - be it persons or programs - which do not further these goals.

We should not simply without question endorse school department programs and recommendations. Our job, then, is both policy maker and taskmaster. Of necessity our role must often be that of doubter and cynic - for only by questioning and demanding can we do what we were elected to do.

If we are sometimes too harsh and too negative, well, we are only human; I feel, though, that errors of this sort are not frequent, and we do make a sincere effort to acknowledge publicly the accomplishments of our students and staff when appropriate.

I detect in your letter, Ms. Coleman, a longing for a time when the process of education in Winchester was simpler and had fewer problems. Don't we all. But it is not and will never be. Past School Committees did not have to deal with severe inflationary pressures set against a four percent cap, a population demanding better education, but unwilling to pay for it.

They did not have to deal with the growth of unionism among our educators. And they did not have to take away jobs each year from professionals, not because they weren't performing their duties but because the positions simply were not available.

Yes, I believe in the basics - we've never left them. I have pride in the Winchester school system. But with pride comes responsibility, and in discharging that responsibility I will continue to demand the best. I hardly think this posture qualifies me as an Ayatollah. Catherine Alexander

Legislation

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Good news for those who wondered whatever happened to H. 1323, the anti-dog, anti-dog owner bill about which I wrote, in an appeal for letters and calls of opposition, last January.

This bill, called "the worst piece of legislation I have ever seen" by all of the legislators with whom we talked, on our twice a week visits to the State House (sometimes more often) - "died" in the Senate Ways and Means Committee, at the end of the 1979 Legislative session.

Many thanks to those of you who wrote or called, as I asked, and thanks must also go to Sen. Chet Atkins, his staff, and the Senate Ways and Means Committee, for recognizing a dangerous, expensive bill, with several virtual Police State sections.

That a bill as bad as H. 1323 could have been conceived and filed by a private, tax-exempt organization like the MSPCA (Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals), came as a shock to everyone, especially its members, who found it hard to believe that the bill actually retained Chap. 49A, the hated Pound Seizure Law.

The MSPCA had a hard time explaining that away, along with the sections that would give animal control officers special Police powers; the right to issue citations for suspected animal control law violations; that would give them the right to issue such citations on the complaint of a "third party," and, in all, thirty pages of such proposals, including $10 license fees for dogs not spayed or neutered.

There was also a clause that said that dog grooming shops would have to have a commercial Kennel license, and, since that is impossible to obtain in most towns and cities, these places would have been put out of business, a big financial loss.

One of the principal ideas of H. 1323 was to put all "animal control" under the Mass. Dept. of Agriculture, thus creating a vast, new, and costly bureaucracy, with loss of local control (home rule), and more new jobs, for which the taxpayers would have to foot the bill, as usual.

The MSPCA, worth close to $40 million, and with only eight shelters on property (tax-exempt) worth many millions of dollars, fought hard to get their bill through, but lost again (it was first filed in 1977).

So, thanks to all of you who opposed this massive takeover attempt, and thanks, too, to those in the Legislature who knew a bad bill when they saw one. Claudia Kelly Edgell

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

To continue my dissertation on squirrels, I probably have far more than my share of them. And everyone is fat, saucy and brazen as a bandit.

All I ask is that they play fair with me. But, trying to deal with them is about as futile as trying to reason with the Ayatollah Khomeini. To begin with, I put up the feeder for SMALL birds, not for pigeons, starlings or squirrels; and I do everything I can to keep the greedy creatures off the feeders.

That's all I ask, that they stay off the feeders! They can share between them all the feed that falls to the ground. The squirrels can have all the hickory nuts ("pig nuts") - several bushels, in fact - from the large shag-bark hickory on my lawn.

They can have all the hundred million whirligig maple seeds that helicopter down from my three big maple trees. I have even taken to feeding them orange seeds, squash seeds, melon seeds, which I toss out the window to the ground below the feeders.

At first, I tried to wash the squash seeds out of the fibrous matrix at the heart of the squashes, but now I no longer bother to do that.

I tried throwing the matrix out with the seeds still in it, thinking to let the lazy squirrels do some of the work. To my surprise, they ate the matrix as well as the seeds. Good luck to them. Just stay off of my feeders, that's all! You hear?

Documentary

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On Saturday Channel 2 will show "One Woman's Story," an extraordinary documentary of the terminal illness of Joan Robinson.

(Editor's note: Henry Simonds recounts tales of Winchester in 1930).

The Star believes it would not be a bad idea for the Town Fathers to take a long look at the cannon mounted on the Town Hall plot and have the gun fixed so that youngsters will be unable to tip the barrel and use it for a slide. Sooner or later someone is going to get hurt if the cannon is allowed to remain in its present condition.

And while we're making suggestions: how about granulithic walks for the Common? We believe those now in place have long since outlived their usefulness.

An ounce of prevention is worth plenty of remedy. That probably was the way Sgt. William H. Rogers and Officer

James P. Donaghey of the police figured last Friday afternoon when they discovered a 40-gallon late model still cached in the Highland district of the town not far from the Stoneham line.

Consequently, the stalwart members of the law took their find to headquarters where thus far its owner has not called to claim his property. The still was apparently new and was not in working condition when found by the police.

The owner of the property on which it was found knew nothing of the matter and was not especially pleased at the idea of someone using his land for an embryo brewery. The prompt action of the police very probably preserved for a time at least the eyesight of many a guileless individual.

Condominiums

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I would like to thank you for publishing my letter in the Jan. 10th issue of The Winchester Star.

I would also like to voice my disappointment in The Winchester Star's lack of concern and investigative reporting regarding the "possible" condominium conversion of Parkview Apartments. The two-sentence reply to my letter reveals a lack of interest on The Star's part and cursory attempt to write off a serious town-wide concern as a non-issue. Certainly the possible elimination of rental housing in Winchester deserves more than two sentences.

Parkview management does not want to make public long range plans for obvious reasons. It was hoped that The Winchester Star would look beyond the rental office at Parkview for some answers to questions that should be of concern to the whole community as well as Parkview's tenants.

Have any steps toward condominium conversion at Parkview been taken beyond the engineering firm's feasibility study which took place this past summer and fall? Does Winchester's Planning Board and Board of Selectmen have a means of preventing the total elimination of rental housing in Winchester? Is there any way of protecting the rights of the approximately 400 people who will be forced to leave Winchester if Parkview becomes a condominium?

At The Outset Of The 80s, Recession Warning Signs

By CONGRESSMAN ED MARKEY

When the 1970s began, Americans could be at least cautiously optimistic about the future of the economy. To be sure, unemployment was edging uncomfortably toward five percent, inflation was "raging" at five percent or faster and interest rates were at six percent.

Now, just 10 years later, that earlier picture looks rosy indeed. As America enters the 1980s, we are still outperforming all other industrial economies. But, at some time during the past decade, signs of deep and persistent trouble appeared.

The country's rate of productivity began to decline. We slipped from being No. 1 to No. 7 in per capita Gross National Product - that is, in the amount of goods and services we produce per person. Energy prices soared. The value of our dollar plunged on world markets. Inflation sharply eroded our purchasing power at home.

The long-advertised recession - which most economists predicted would begin sometime last year - has yet to show its face. But the recent round of OPEC price increases together with the new Federal Reserve "tight money" policy almost guarantees some kind of economic spill in 1980.

"It could be a grave crisis," predicts one respected Washington analyst, "threatening a breakdown of the international monetary system." For the moment, few officials openly discuss this possibility, but soaring gold prices may be a telltale sign of bad times to come.

What are the signals which warn of an approaching recession? Key economic indicators which forecast future activity dropped sharply in both October and November, the worst two-month drop since the one that ushered in the last recession.

If an economic downturn begins in earnest during early 1980, we will suffer our seventh business recession since World War II. Unemployment will climb, raising jobless rolls by several million more. Output and tax revenues will drop. The federal deficit will widen. Most signs today are that this is exactly what will happen this year.

The major uncertainty now is how long the recession will last and how deep it will go. That will largely depend on what shape businesses and consumers are in. If they are overextended, there is likely to be a rash of bankruptcies and bank defaults rippling through the economy and making the downturn long and deep. On the other hand, if businesses and individuals are not hip-deep in debt and inventories, the recession could be short and shallow.

On the corporate side, business has kept a fairly tight grip on inventories, and there is little panic buying. Aside from the auto and steel industries and construction, business today is in reasonably good shape.

The economic picture for consumers is much less clear, but the statistics hardly paint a bright picture. Ravaged by inflation, household net worth is considerably lower in real terms than it was in 1973. In the last year alone, the purchasing power of the typical nonfarm wage earner has fallen - roughly five percent. The major elements in family budgets - food, energy, housing, and health care - are now rising at annual rates of 18 percent, while wage and salary hikes average only eight percent.

Most people are feeling pinched where it really hurts - in their disposable income. Energy costs have crippled the ability of average people to pay all their bills. In Massachusetts this year, the average family will pay about $2685 for energy, up from $1679 a year ago. So, people must curtail spending elsewhere, borrow more, or do some of both, another sign that the economy could be in trouble.

Two-thirds of our GNP comes from consumer spending.

If recession does come, no one can contend it "just happened." Instead, the White House and the Federal Reserve Bank have lightened economic policy for just this purpose. I believe these policies are wrong. A recession will not solve our inflation problem. It will discourage investment and further depress our miserable productivity performance.

America needs an economic program aimed at promoting productivity and targeting investment to high technology and other new industries especially in energy and transportation. We concentrate on too many low-productivity industries, while leaving subcompact autos, light rail passenger equipment, color television etc. to foreign producers.

Tax reform, including new incentives for savings, investment and industrial research, together with specific steps to aid productivity - this is the economic direction we should be taking.

Theatre Group Performs Tonight At Lincoln School

"The Just Around the Corner" theatrical company will be at the Lincoln School tonight at 9:30 p.m. for a performance called "Monkey," which is an adaptation from a Chinese epic folk novel.

This is an actor-teacher group that involves children in the actual performances. Before each show the participants work with children in their classrooms to prepare them for their parts in the performance. In this performance kindergarten through fifth graders will participate while sixth graders will observe.

In this show the show students will participate along with the Monkey king as he battles supernatural forces and performs magical feats in an exciting and humorous journey which leads eventually to self-understanding.

The first child born in Winchester belonged to Mr. and Mrs. William A. Coburn. The Coburns lived with Dr. David Youngman who was the first Town Clerk in Winchester.

High School Max-Ed Program Now In Seventh Year

By MARGIE MCCARTHY

Now in its seventh year, the Max-Ed program at Winchester High School continues to receive enthusiastic acclaim from its participants.

The purpose of the program, according to Diane Boettcher, the high school's Max-Ed coordinator, is "to provide alternate kinds of learning experiences for kids." Approximately 100 students venture into the community for several hours each week to explore possible career choices or to volunteer their time and services to helping others.

Each Max-Ed participant has a personal incentive for enrolling in the program. "I decided to participate in the Max-Ed program because I thought it would be interesting and also fun to do something outside of the school for credits. Also, I'm interested in psychology as a future career and I thought it would be wise to explore it," said Susan Gunby, a senior doing social work under the supervision and guidance of Rev. Davis at the First Congregational Church.

Students' attitudes toward their internships appear extremely positive. In an evaluation done last year, 79 percent of the Max-Ed participants rated their experiences as very good or excellent.

Delaine Hudson, a WHS student working as an aide to Sen. Samuel Rotundi, explained how she has benefited from her activity. "Before I started this program, I was only vaguely aware of the Massachusetts legislative system. Working in the Senator's office, I have gained a clearer understanding of state politics."

Most students find it difficult to compare a Max-Ed internship to a traditional classroom situation because they are such completely different learning experiences. Julie Day, who is working as a legal assistant for a local attorney Joseph Marino, commented, "I think this type of exposure to the world outside of school is invaluable. Classroom instruction is not always bad, but this type of instruction, (Max-Ed), gives the student a chance to develop by himself and for himself."

Max-Ed appears to be a successful program, but some students believe that it still leaves room for improvement. "I would like to see it given more respect by students, administrators and teachers. Also, perhaps, I would like to see the program given more than pass-fail recognition on report cards and transcripts," remarked Chris Wilde, a student working as an elementary school aide.

Students are exploring a wide range of careers including architecture, the insurance business and the jewelry business. Some internships have become established elements of the program through the efforts of Boettcher, while others are designed by the students themselves, often with the aid of their individual supervisors.

According to Boettcher, one of the best aspects of the Max-Ed program is that it has "unlimited possibilities," thereby allowing it to grow and expand with each passing year.

(Editor's Note: Margie McCarthy was an intern in the Winchester Star editorial office through the Max-Ed program).

Sachems Put It Together, Top Watertown For First Win

All season long he has given us the "ifs, ands, buts" and even "onlys," as to why his club was losing. "If his team could put three solid periods of hockey together they'd win, he assured. But the players have been improving every game, he pointed out. The scores have not been true indicators of the actual effort of his club. If only they could go out for the second period without that huge four of five goal deficit to make up.

Well everything fell into place for Sachem hockey coach Mike Houghton on Saturday and the result was a 4-3 Winchester victory over Watertown, the Sachems' first triumph of the season.

"We just finally put three periods of hockey together," said Houghton earlier this week. "When you get bombed by those scores early as we have been, it's easy to get discouraged. But the kids didn't. This is the one we needed and we did it."

The win was significant for the young Sachem club, for it was the first game of the second half of the season and Houghton feels the second time around will be different. "We've been through the league once now and I don't think we'll be as tentative," said the second year coach. "The kids realize that that jump from junior high to high school is a big one. The players are that much bigger and that much stronger and that much faster."

Watertown opened the scoring in the first period with a powerplay goal. They made it 2-0 shortly after when a Watertown skater whacked a waste high Winchester clearing pass into the net with the shaft of his stick. "He just bunted the puck by the goalie," Houghton pointed out. "When that happened I just thought that it was going to be one of those nights because we had been playing well."

The period ended with Watertown up by that score but the Sachems were very much in the game and they knew it.

Steve Marino got the only score in the second period as he brought the Sachems to within one, blasting a blur by Watertown goalie Bill Agvtes from about 30 feet away. "Now it was just a case of who wants it in the third," Houghton stated.

Winchester senior Mike Jackson wanted it and wanted it bad. The Sachem forward scored two goals in the space of about 30 seconds to give Winchester their first lead of the season.

On the first score, the Watertown defenseman, trying to pass Jackson, fell down and Jackson scooped up the puck and moved in on Agvtes, snapping one past him to tie the score at 2-2.

On the following face-off, the puck was shot into the Winchester end. Sachem goalie Bob Surabian shot the puck along the boards out of the Winchester zone. Jackson raced down the side of the ice, got the puck around 20 feet out and put a slapshot in the top corner to give the Sachems the lead.

"He's a got a great shot," Houghton said of Jackson. "It's just a question of where it's going. Lately it's been on net."

But Watertown came back and tied the game at 3-3. Winchester however, didn't fold and actually went right for the throat. "We just kept going and going and going, but we couldn't score," Houghton noted. "We were putting a lot of pressure on them, but we've been having problems finishing off plays."

Winchester's Steve Tucci finally finished one off though, as a loose puck came out to him in front of the Red Raider net while Agvtes was trapped behind it. Tucci shot it into the open net and with just over five minutes to play, the Sachems were back in the lead.

But things still were hairy for Houghton as the Sachems had to hold off two shorthanded situations, plus a final minute when Watertown pulled their goalie. But unlike every other game they've been in this season, it was the Sachems who had the luxury of just clearing the puck and holding on. "The kids were ecstatic. They knew they had been playing well, they just weren't finishing off the play," said Houghton. "I told them if we could get four goals we'd win. The thing is though, you can tell them they'll win and that they're getting better, but until it happens it's a little different story."

Earlier in the week the Sachems faced a different story as Woburn, one of the stronger teams in the league in both talent and size, crushed the Sachems 12-2.

Sachemette Tracksters Still Unbeaten, Blast Belmont

By KATHY LOONEY

The Sachemettes keep rolling along! Last Saturday the girls track team smothered Belmont with a score of 62-24. They took first place in every event except the shot put, where they placed second and third. Winchester took two out of three places in every event and easily won the relay to clinch the victory.

Once again, Prudy Horne took first place in the hurdles with a time of 7.1 seconds followed closely by Leslie Keats in second. Lisa Oliver took first in the 45 yard dash with a time of 6.2 seconds with Eileen Curry finishing a close third. In the 600, Andrea Demars captured first with a 1:37.8 with Mary Grassi finishing second. Barbara Meyers won the 300 yard run with a time of 40.5 seconds, followed by Carol Donohoe in third place. In the 1000 yard race, Mary Boland finished first with a 2:56.3, with Eileen Conley finishing on her heels in second place.

Alicia Tringale won the high jump with a height of 4 feet 9 inches with Andrea Demars in third place. Joanne Burke placed second in the shot put with a distance of 27 feet 6 inches with Averil Svahn placing third. In the mile, Lauren Fryklund took first with a 5:38.3 followed by Kathy Welch in second place. Lisa Griecci placed first in the two mile, breaking her previous record with a 12:11.2, with Diane Franchi finishing in third. Again the relay team of A. Demars, M. Boland, L. Fryklund and B. Meyers won the race with a time of 4:28.6.

The Sachemettes are practicing hard for their next meet with Reading on January 30, at the Lexington Field House. This is the team's last meet and they are hoping for a final victory as this would leave them undefeated in league competition. The Sachemettes are looking forward to a perfect record for their first year in a girls track league.

...In 1914, four years after the Boy Scouts of America was started, a troop was organized in Winchester by Robert W. Fernald who then became the troop's scoutmaster. On different occasions four of that troop's members later each rescued a drowning person. Girl Scouts in Winchester began on May 18, 1917 at the home of Mrs. Addison R. Pike.

Woburn took a 3-1 lead into the locker room after the first period, one of their goals coming on a powerplay. Winchester got on the scoreboard when Billy Ferry snapped a wrist shot past Woburn goalie Peter Lawton. The second period ended with the Tanners doubling their lead to 6-2, Buddy Pronski netting the Sachems' second and final goal. Six third period goals blew the game open for Woburn. Physically they were much stronger than us and the goals they scored were physical goals," said Houghton.

Wrestlers Split Matches With Belmont, Salem

The Winchester wrestling team emerged through the week 1-1 with a 38-28 loss to Belmont on Thursday but then bounced back on Saturday with a convincing 49-18 victory over Salem.

The Belmont loss marked the fourth this season in which one pin would have swung the match their way, but it was not to be. Winners for the Sachems against Belmont were Sophomore, Ed Welch at 100 pounds by pin; Sophomore Mike Colozzi at 140 by pin; Gary Errico in the 169 pound class by pin; and Sophomore Charlie Kenyon in the heavyweight class by pin.

The remaining Winchester points were gained by Senior Len Bellino in the featured match of the day in the 187 lb. weight class against once defeated Dan Haverly as Bellino emerged a 6-4 victor. Bellino's win sets up a showdown next Friday against Burlington's Garrett Tate undefeated with also a 6-4 victory over Haverly.

The Salem win was a must for the Sachems in order to maintain hopes for a winning season. It took an outstanding effort from the last five weight classes as the Sachems went into the 147 lb. class winning by a slim 22-18 margin. In gaining the win, four Winchester wrestlers beat 4 undefeated 6-0 wrestlers for Salem. Two of these wins were come-from-behind.

Sophomore Scott Carzo came from behind 8-2 to pin his opponent at 128 lbs. After getting pinned at 134 and 140 lbs. the Sachems had their work cut out for them with 3 undefeated Salem wrestlers coming up.

McKenna wasted no time pinning at 147, setting the stage for a showdown at 157 between Senior D. Errico and Salem's B. Moore. After getting behind 5-0, Errico stunned the crowded Salem field house with a third period pin. At 169 lbs. Junior Gary Errico kept his string going of wins & pins with a 18 second pin. Sophomores Mark Johnson & Charlie Kenyon pulled the upsets of the day with Johnson pinning at 187 filling in for Len Bellino and Kenyon taking an 8-1 decision in the unlimited class.

Winchester's next match is Friday night at 7 p.m. at Burlington. The Sachems will be trying to spring a surprise on the always tough Red Devils in order to improve their 3-5 record.

McCall Girls' Hoop Teams Unbeaten After Five Games

The McCall Girls' A and B Basketball teams remain undefeated in their first five games.

The A team, captained by Maria Montuori, won easily over Kennedy 64-24. Maria was high scorer with 20 points, followed by Kim Donlon with 10 points.

They beat their next opponent, Joyce from Woburn 54-30. Montuori was top scorer with 20 points and Sarah Richardson followed with 14 points.

A strong defense and a good team offense helped McCall to beat Belmont 54-15. Montuori was again the top point getter with 18, followed by Richardson with 12 points and Donlon and Anderson with 7 points a piece.

McCall scored easy victories over Wakefield 54-20 and Watertown East 57-23. Montuori continued with a hot hand, scoring 21 points against Wakefield and 16 points against East. Kristen McNamara had 11 points against Wakefield and she and Anita Anderson each scored 12 points against East.

McCall's B team has also found winning ways this season. Co-Captain Susan Bararo and Jean Romeo helped lead their team to their first victory over Kennedy 33-15. Bararo had 8 points. Jean Benincasa 7 points and Romeo 6 points.

McCall had an easy time with Joyce 40-18. Bararo was high with 12 points. McCall then beat Belmont with a strong game from Denise Geannaris. She was the games high scorer with 11 points.

The B team then scored victories over Wakefield 29-13 and Watertown East 20-9. Bararo was high scorer in the Wakefield contest with 11 points.

This year's squad is made up of the following girls:

A Team-Co Capt. Maria Montuori, Anita Anderson, Beth Miara, Kim

Donlon, Paula Papastathis, Martha Davis, Pam Myers, Laurie Jeannette, Kristen McNamara, Sandy Jordan, Sarah Richardson, and Kindra Brown.

Century 21 Sponsors Film Series

Century 21, Brown Brothers, Inc. is sponsoring a series of three free movies on the third Friday of every month at 1 p.m. in the Senior Center.

"The Last Hurrah" was shown last Friday. Upcoming films include "Spellbound" on Feb. 15, "The Seven Little Foys" on March 21 and "The Solid Gold Cadillac" on April 18.

The team at Century 21 will work like to thank Sarah Dillon, Mal Masters and Joe Moran at the Senior Center for their cooperation for organizing the program.

The first major step taken to petition the State Legislature to incorporate South Woburn into a separate town was at a meeting held in the vestry of the Congregational Church Monday Nov. 26, 1979 at 6:30 p.m. Names under consideration for the new town included Appleton, Winthrop, Avon, Channing, Waterville and Winchester.

Track Team Beats Watertown, Falls To Reading, Burlington

By TOM DOOCEY

As the Winchester track team left the Lexington field house last Wednesday night, there was a great feeling and also frustration. After six meets they had expected to be 5-1 possibly 6-0, but many tough breaks have yielded the Sachem squad a mediocre 3-3 season, a season that insults the talent and depth on the team.

Before the loss of 45-41 to Reading, Winchester rolled over Watertown 56-30, but lost to a very beatable Burlington 46-40.

Watertown

Winchester expected a much harder time with a Watertown team, but it clearly became evident in the early going that this would be another easy victory for the Sachem team.

In the high hurdles Loukas Natsis took first with a time of 6.4 while in the 45 yard dash Steve Cricione and Tom Wilsack took first and third with times of 5.4 and 5.6 respectively.

Ken Kirk and Ken Jacobson continued the domination of the 600 by taking first and second for the fourth meet in a row. Kirk flew past the finish line in 1:18.5 while Jacobson rumbled in at 1:19.6.

Meanwhile in the 1000, Don Joslin took first with a time of 2:30.4; Feza Koprucic whizzed his way to third in 2:35.4.

In the field events Phil Japy took first in the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 6 inches, while Steve Longo took second with a spectacular throw of 47 feet 1 inch and Rob Cooke took third with a throw of 43 feet 1.5 inches.

Rob Flynn continued his consistently fine running by grabbing second in the mile in 4:58.4, while Tom Doocey took third in 4:59.2.

The two-mile saw Winchester's hopes of the future, Joe Callahan and Pat Kennedy take second and third in 10:50.6 and 10:55.7.

The relay team of MacMillan, Wilsack, Jacobson and Kirk easily defeated the Watertown team in a time of 3:40.4.

Burlington

The Burlington team simply caught Winchester off guard. Burlington in the past has been somewhat a pushover in Middlesex League track, but this year they have built up their track team, something the Sachem team was not quite aware of.

Burlington's improvement didn't appear right away as Loukas Natsis continued his unbeaten streak by taking first in 6.4. Wayne Clarcia took third with a time of 7.0.

In the 45 yard dash, Steve Cricione could only take second as Winchester began to become aware of the Burlington team.

In the 600, it first appeared that Ken Jacobson had won, but officials ruled otherwise and Burlington was given first place. Ken Kirk took second in 1:20.8 and Al Chen third in 1:23.9.

John Alcione came through in the absence of Don MacMillan to win the 300 in 36.0. John Henelly captured third in 36.9.

In the 1000, Dan Joslin settled for second in 2:30.8, after he was beaten by mere inches by his Burlington counterpart.

In the high jump Phil Japy's best effort of the year (five feet eight inches) could not overcome the opposing jumper. Steve Longo continued his fine jumping by grabbing third with 4 feet 4 inches.

Rob Cooke was edged out of first by one-half inch. His throw of 45 feet 2.5 inches was just shy of first place. Paul Manganaro took third with a throw of 44 feet 3.5 inches.

It was the same old story in the mile, Rob Flynn took second in 4:58.1 and Tom Doocey took third with 5:00.0.

In the two-mile Joe Callahan's gutsy effort of 10:46.3 was good enough for a second, but by that time Burlington had sewed up the meet.

To finish off a disappointing meet, Winchester won the relay behind the team of Wilsack, Chen, Jacobson and Kirk in 4:43.2.

Reading

Reading has always been a powerhouse for as long as anyone can remember, but this year they were not up to that standard, and could be beaten, but they were still strong enough to edge Winchester.

The meet started off right. As usual Loukas Natsis took first in the high hurdles with a time of 6.4. Dave Cricione captured third in 6.8. However in the 45 yard dash Winchester could only take second despite Steve Cricione's fine effort of 5.4.

In the 600, Ken Kirk was edged out at the wire as he took second in 1:19.0. Ken Jacobson took third with a time of 1:12.4.

Don MacMillan and John Alcione combined to take first and third in the 300, MacMillan in 34.8, Alcione in 35.5.

In the 1000, Dan Joslin's personal best of 2:30.3 was only good enough for a third place as Reading began to put the squeeze on the Sachem team.

Phil Japy and Steve Longo, both of whom have performed above everybody's expectations took first and third in the High Jump with leaps of 5 feet 6 inches and 5 feet 4 inches respectively.

Meanwhile in the shotput, Paul Manganaro took first with a throw of 45 feet three-quarters inch and Rich Montuori came through with a third with a throw of 43 feet 3 inches.

The mile saw the best effort turned in by a Winchester runner this year. However Tom Doocey's 4:52.7 was only able to take third.

In the two-mile John Provenzano's work managed to take second for Winchester with a time of 10:46.6.

The relay turned in the best time in the league this year of 3:38.9. The team of MacMillan, Wilsack, Jacobson, and Kirk easily defeated the Reading team, the way to setting the time to beat in the League.

Medical History Course To Start At Red Cross

Registered nurses and L.E.N.'s can receive 1.8 C.E.U.'s (Continuing Education Units) by taking the Red Cross Medical History course.

This free course will be held Feb. 4 from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Red Cross Chapter House on Church street. Interested nurses should call Mary Beaton at the Chapter house to enroll.

The course is in two parts. Part one is the three-hour orientation which covers blood donor suitability assessment, hemoglobin level assessment and the Red Cross Blood Services goals and objectives. Part two consists of clinical practice at bloodmobiles. The nurse must do a practical of 18 hours which can be spread over six bloodmobiles. Total time required to complete the course is 21 hours and can be spread over a one-year period.

This course, and other Red Cross courses, are recognized for C.E.U.'s by the Massachusetts Nurses Association. While not yet required for certification, courses taken now will carry over.

Wayland Beats Sachems 92-61 In Gymnastics

The Winchester High boys' varsity gymnastics team dropped their record to 1-3 last week with a 92-61 loss to Wayland. The Sachems stand at 0-3 in league play with their only win coming over Masconomet High in the season opener.

"We went with only six kids," said Sachem coach Steve Hood, noting that his club has suffered some key injuries. Captain Steve Galante has been out for the past two weeks with bruised ribs he suffered in practice, sophomore Jonas Bjargnard was on the injured list with an injured sternum and Lance Cowens, an ABC student, was in New Jersey attending a funeral. "We were just crippled without those three kids," Hood adds.

Wayland had the high man on all six events. On the side horse, Mark Krause led the way with a 6.35 while Winchester's Leach scored 3.75.

On the high bar, Wayland's Jeff Wood was the high man with a 4.34, with Sachem David Lawton the top Winchester scorer with a 3.35.

On the parallel bars, Krause again was the high scorer with a 3.95, followed by Winchester's Paul Abbanat with a 3.45. Abbanat was also Winchester's high man in the vault with a 6.7, but finished well behind Wayland's John O'Connor with a 7.9.

In the still rings it was Jeff Wood on top for Wayland with a score of 5.75, with Abbanat again Winchester's top man with a 4.3.

Wayland's Jeff Badger captured first on the floor exercise with a 6.1, while Winchester's Rafael Acevedo was Winchester's top scorer with a distant 3.4.

Hood was very impressed with the Wayland club. "I thought they had lost a lot more people but they filled in and they're doing well."

The Sachems are not yet scoring the way Hood thinks they can. "Several of the kids have come a long way. But the injuries have hurt and for the few kids who are doing better it's been very discouraging. Maybe if we get everybody back we'll be scoring up in the 70's and 80's."

INSULATION
(Blown in or Batts)

Cellin insulation can save up to 38% on your heating bill year after year.

Cellin is a superior blown-in cellulose insulation which is blown into walls, floors and ceilings. Only Cellin offers all these advantages:

- Safe and reliable. Cellin is non-toxic, non-irritating to the lungs, flame retardant and non-conductive. It meets or exceeds Federal specification HH-1-575C, Type 1, Class 25, and conforms to Underwriters Laboratories listings.
- Natural product. Cellin consists of short cellulose wood fibers made of selected virgin wood which has been processed and flame-retarded.
- Total coverage. Unlike many insulations, Cellin fills every possible space, giving you complete coverage.
- Higher R-value. Cellin has a proven R-value resistance to heat flow—three times that of other insulations.
- Non-continuous and moisture resistant. There's no settling of pipes, no rotting of wood or wallboard ceilings.

SNOWDATE — FEBRUARY 10

Alcohol And Drug Awareness

The week of Jan. 28 will be officially designated "Alcohol and Drug Awareness Week" at Winchester High School.

During that week, a special alcohol and drug education program has been planned for all sophomores, juniors and seniors who will be encouraged to avail themselves of an abundance of printed material that will be located in the Social Studies Open Area. The primary goals of the week's efforts are two-fold:

To provide basic factual information concerning alcohol and other drugs and the impact of these drugs on the nine systems that make up the human body;

To provide students with organized opportunities to explore their own attitudes and values in relation to the use of alcohol and other drugs.

With the support of the Social Studies Department, the Alcohol and Drug Education Committee will make a formal presentation to all sophomores Jan. 28 during American Studies I Classes. This presentation will include a brief introduction, showing of the film, "Psychoactive," and the distribution of reading material.

Following this activity will be three days of classroom sessions (including discussions, audio-visual material, role plays) conducted by trained teams of juniors and seniors. The teams of juniors and seniors have devoted considerable time and effort learning to be peer teachers during the Fall and early winter.

Their training has been organized and implemented by Winchester High School staff members Joseph Cantillon, JoAnn Schoenegge, Margaret Sullivan and Thomas Walsh. Barbara Kleeman, an alcohol education specialist, from Mt. Auburn Hospital and Dr. Andrew Guthrie served as consultants. Evander French Jr., assistant principal, was the administrative coordinator.

The Juniors and Seniors who should be highly commended for their voluntary participation in this vital program are:

Disco Lessons At St. Mary's

On Feb. 9 from 8:30 p.m. to midnight Fran and Manny Corria of Woburn will introduce members of the Mr. and Mrs. Club to the latest in disco and other dance steps at St. Mary's.

Marilyn and Peter Lane and Margaret and Creighton Wheeler are in charge of tickets. Refreshments will be served.

panded alcohol and drug education program at Winchester High School. Winchester is one of a small number of communities in this area in which such a program is operating. It is hoped that the opportunities provided through the program will assist its participants in making wise decisions about the use of alcohol and other types of drugs.

In the late spring, for the first time, the program will be implemented at the sixth grade level in Winchester's eight elementary schools. More information regarding the nature of the program will be made available later on in the school year.

Local Vocalists May Perform In March Concert

Local vocalists who are interested in preparing and performing the Requiem of Johannes Brahms with an orchestra March 23 at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of the First Congregational Church are asked to notify Robert A. White, musical director.

The orchestra for the performance will be drawn from professional players in the Boston area. Flora Mardigan Sander, mezzo-soprano, and James Reynolds, bass-baritone, are soloists.

Two weekly rehearsals are offered; participants are asked to attend one or the other. The choices are Thursdays from 8:30-9:15 p.m. in the music room or Sundays from 11:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.

...In 1914, four years after the Boy Scouts of America was started, a troop was organized in Winchester by Robert W. Fernald who then became the troop's scoutmaster. On different occasions four of that troop's members later each rescued a drowning person. Girl Scouts in Winchester began on May 18, 1917 at the home of Mrs. Addison R. Pike.

Sandbox time at the Methodist Nursery School is enjoyed by from left: Carter Browning, Charlie DiSilva, Liane Caci and Nicholas Lippman. The School is sponsoring an open house Feb. 5 from 7-8 p.m. where registration for the 1980-1981 school year will be accepted.

Adult Education Registration Is Next Week

Adult education classes for the winter session will begin the week of Jan. 28. In-person registration will take place Jan. 23 and 24, from 6:30-8 p.m. in the main office at Winchester High School. Mail registrations should be submitted by Jan. 25.

If further information is necessary, contact the director of adult education, Winchester High School.

Foster Care

The Extended Family Program, a "specialized foster care" program for couples and single persons who want to consider opening their homes to St. Anne's School adolescent girls, will begin its winter session on Tuesday from 7:30-9 p.m. in the dining room at 18 Claremont ave., Arlington.

It will be the first informational meeting of a four-part series on Tuesdays. The other three meetings are scheduled for Feb. 5, 12 and 19.

The initial meeting will start off with basic information about St. Anne's and its history followed by the reasons for the children's need for foster homes. Later, some of the girls will give parents a tour of the school and of their dormitories.

Ruth Soper, the program director, will deal with expectations attached to becoming possible foster parents on weekends, holidays or during part of the summer.

She will also discuss what sort of behaviors to expect from the girls, so as to aide parents in a better overall understanding of them.

Finally, there will be an explanation of what kind of support parents can expect from the Extended Family Program when a girl begins visiting with them.

Other meetings will deal with different kinds of adolescent behaviours, efficient parenting skills, and how a girl might fit into a particular family situation. The emphasis will be placed on learning about teenagers with special needs as well as on helping parents clarify the most viable form of participation for themselves in the program.

Democrats who believe John Anderson is the best candidate for President can vote for him in the March 4th Republican Primary.

It's simple. Before February 5th tell your city or town clerk — in person or by mail — that you want to change your registration from Democrat to Independent.

After you vote for John Anderson you can change your registration back to Democrat before you even leave your polling place.

Selectmen's Notes

Cable TV Hearings
The Winchester Cable TV Committee met with the Board of Selectmen Monday night to discuss the process which the selectmen will use in assessing the criteria presented by cable television companies, during the upcoming hearings which begin Feb. 6.

Selectman Edward O'Connell suggested a "report card," listing categories which the companies would be graded on, be used. However, Chairman Richard Wilsack and Selectman Wade Welch stated that they were considering more informal and less stringent method.

Cable TV Committee Chairman William McCarter suggested the use of a matrix, which the Selectmen said they were considering. However, both groups admitted that there could be a problem with a matrix, because of the exceptionally large number of companies who have applied for the franchise in Winchester. The Selectmen will be interviewing nine applicants.

It was also decided that Welch's desire to question the applicants about the town being a possible minority stockholder in the company's franchise, although none of the other members have indicated they are interested in the town buying shares.

Members of the two boards discussed the possibility that some companies might offer the town more stock than others in an attempt to sway the contract their way. "I'm not looking for a general bidding war," said Welch.

W. Thompson Lawrence, a mechanical engineer for Arthur D. Little and a resident of Winchester for the last 10 years, was interviewed by the Selectmen Monday night for a position on the Resource Recovery Study Committee.

Lawrence, who has a doctorate in mechanical engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said he was not too familiar with the idea of resource recovery for energy, but added that "It sounds like an interesting approach to the problem."

Wilsack and Welch were both pleased with Lawrence and his credentials, with Wilsack saying they "speak for themselves," and Welch stating they were "very impressive."

Animal Clinic
Opens As First
Local Facility

It started out as a dry cleaner's. Then it was converted into a boutique. And it now is an animal clinic. In fact, the Winchester Animal Clinic, located on Main street near the Woburn line, is the first local facility of its kind.

Business was fairly quiet on this day. But, Dr. Thomas McGrath, one of three resident veterinarians, expects it will pick up. Day and evening office hours as well as location he cites as positive aspects for Winchester residents.

Although the clinic treats most of its clientele as outpatient - taking care of ailments such as heartworm vaccinations, auto accidents and fleas and ticks during the summer - 24-hour emergency service is available through the McGrath Animal Hospital in Billerica, where all three vets are affiliated.

According to McGrath, whose associates at the clinic are veterinarians Ira Kaplan and Lance Weidenbaum, his Billerica Hospital began four years ago. Under urging from friends, the Winchester Animal Clinic was recently opened. McGrath points out that both Woburn and Arlington each have two animal clinics while Winchester previously had no local care facilities.

McGrath says that town zoning regulations prohibit keeping animals in the clinic overnight. Therefore, animals are treated on an outpatient basis, and the majority of them are by appointment. Emergency care is available both locally and at the Billerica facility.

McGrath is a graduate of the University of Mass. at Amherst and the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine. He spent a two-year internship at Angell Memorial Hospital before opening the Billerica Hospital.

Warrington Introduced
Director of the Department of Public Works Walter Tonaszuck introduced Richard Warrington, newly appointed operations manager of the water and sewer division of the public works.

"I've been very impressed with my discussions with Rich," said Tonaszuck of Warrington, who has a degree in civil engineering from Tufts University.

Warrington, who will be involved in revitalizing the town's water system, said that "It's going to have to be slow and steady and in a period of several years the system will be back in order."

Warrington, who's most recent work experience was a project to improve the water quality of Salem, feels that moving to Winchester is a step forward. "It's been a progressive approach towards management I've made and I consider this move in the same direction."

When asked by Selectman Barbara Hanks what he thought of the recent report by the engineering firm of Weston & Sampson on how to improve the water system in Winchester, Warrington said that he thought the report was "thorough," but that he would question the approach of the report concerning taste and odor rather than bacteria.

High School Students See
Program About King

By CHUCK MERRITT
On Monday morning Winchester High School students viewed a presentation about the slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King.

Sponsored by the newly chartered POWER Club (Pushing On Without Ever Resisting) of Winchester High, it consisted of eight Club members, under the auspices of social studies teacher, and advisor Pamela Brooks.

Lawrence's "Sympathy" in between. Blair Bradley and Orlando Ossorio maintained the audio-visual aspects of the presentation.

For those who attended, black and white, it was an interesting experience put on the right track by Tony Johnson's closing statement "I hope you got as much out of the program as we got presenting it."

The main speaker was Dr. John Reilly who delivered a thought provoking and often fiery speech to the students which had many attributes to those used by Dr. Martin Luther King in his timeless "I have a dream" speech. It spoke of a time for racial awareness in Winchester.

The speaker was flanked by six members of the POWER Club, each of whom rendered some contribution. At the opening, to set the atmosphere of the meeting, Jose Rios and Rafael Ascuedo, captured the audience's attention with their rhythmic chants on the congo drums.

Okimi Smith and Cheryl Spill introduced the presentation, and the main speaker respectively. Langston Hughes' "Let America Be America Again" and "Harlem," poems with underlying themes of freedom were, recited by Tony Johnson, with Earl Ward inserting Paul

Family Film Program
Schedule

The Family Film Program of the Winchester Public Library this week features "Capt. Noah and His Floating Zoo," and "The Little Ball That Wanted To Play."

On Sunday the program begins at 2:30 p.m. and will be held in the Story Hour Room of the Junior Library. It is requested that at least one adult accompany each group of children. The Tuesday afternoon program for school age children begins at 3:30 p.m. in the Meeting Room.

The films are provided through the state-funded Eastern Massachusetts Regional Library System.

Chinese Folk
Play Company
Tours Schools

"Monkey: A Folk Play of Ancient China" will be performed by The Just Around the Corner Company this month at various Winchester schools.

On Jan. 24 the morning performance will be at Lincoln School. There will be afternoon performance at Washington School Jan. 29.

Mystic And
St. Mary's See
Theatre Group

The Mystic and St. Mary's Schools were the first of six schools to enjoy the Just Around the Corner Company's production of "Monkey" on Monday.

This multicultural group of performers have gained acclaim with their lively and original participatory theatre for children.

"Monkey" is a play based on ancient Chinese folk tales. The program allows for controlled participation of most audience members through preparation and a commitment to theatre experience. Observers say it is a well developed, enthusiastic group which incorporates theatre, song, dance, mime and magic in one colorful production.

This program was brought to Winchester by the Community Schools Association. Funding was supplied through various parent organizations and a grant from the Mass. Council on the Arts and Humanities.

Within the next two weeks the group will perform at the Ambrose, Lincoln, Muraco and Washington schools.

Cooperative Nursery To Offer Enrichment Program

On Jan. 30, an enrichment program for parents sponsored by the Neighborhood Cooperative Nursery School will be presented in the Vinton Room of the First Congregational Church, Six street, at 8 p.m.

The program will cover three areas of child development. General stages of emotional development will be discussed by Mrs. John Duffy; Priscilla Ellis will discuss the child as a family member; and Mrs. John Doherty will cover the development of family values and faith systems. A question and answer period will follow.

Ellis is a full-time psychologist with the Mystic Valley Mental Health Association. She taught junior and senior high school students for 5 years and is now a consultant to the public schools. Duffy, a parent at the nursery school, has her Ph.D. in Developmental Psychology and is currently teaching a course at the Middlesex Community College. Doherty, also a nursery school parent, is working toward her master's degree and is teaching at Regis College.

Refreshments will be served at 7:30 p.m.

High School International Festival Planned For March

An International Festival, sponsored by the Student Union, will be held at Winchester High School March 15 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Several school and community clubs and organizations plan to participate in the event. For example, the high school Latin Club hopes to sponsor Olympic Games while a community Irish committee expects to have a thatched Irish cottage serving Irish tea bread.

Participating groups are responsible for setting up the display March 14 from 7-9 p.m. and-or March 15 from 9-11 a.m. Each group is also responsible for staffing time activity and cleaning up. A percentage of each group's proceeds will be collected by the International Fair Committee to cover general expenses.

Groups and persons interested in participating in the International Festival should fill out a piece of paper with the name of the club or individual, type of activity planned, what the activity would require, and the telephone number of the person in charge. This information should be addressed to Vin Larocco-Frank Bronzo, International Festival Committee, Winchester High School, 83 Skillings rd., Winchester.

Sen. Rotondi To Speak January 31

"An Evening With Sam Rotondi," sponsored by the League of Women Voters, will be held Jan. 31 at 8 p.m. at the home of Jean Mortenson, 6 Alesworth rd. The state senator will speak on civil service reform.

...In 1914, four years after the Boy Scouts of America was started, a troop was organized in Winchester by Robert W. Fernald who then became the troop's scoutmaster. On different occasions four of that troop's members later each rescued a drowning person. Girl Scouts in Winchester began on May 18, 1917 at the home of Mrs. Addison R. Pike.

Winchester resident Dorothy A. Powers receives a vacation award from Winchester Savings Bank Vice President and Treasurer Joseph C. Cioni as part of the Bank's celebration of the new Main street building.

Staff Party

A holiday staff party was held at the home of Marilyn McLearn Jan. 8 for Washington School teachers and staff. Refreshments were prepared and served by the Mothers' Association.

Direct Dial Overseas Now Available

By LAURA WALKER

Winchester residents may now pick up the telephone in their homes, dial anywhere from nine to 12 digits, and speak directly to Paris, London, Brussels or other foreign countries.

International direct dial service has been available to Winchester and Woburn residents since December when the telephone company installed a $7 million Electronic Switching System in the central offices on Main street in Winchester.

According to Beverly Morrison, manager of the regional offices, the new system also enables all telephone calls to be processed faster. "Before you get your finger out of the dial, your call goes through."

The computerized electronic system is paid for out of the "operating budget," said Morrison. Its installation does not directly affect telephone rates.

Other services such as call waiting, call forwarding and speed calling are available to customers at an extra cost as a result of the installation of new equipment.

Special Needs Disco Dance Saturday Night

There will be a special needs dance, sponsored by the Winchester Special Needs Scout Troop 333 Saturday from 7:30-10 p.m. at the Second Congregational Church at the corner of Washington street and Kenwin road.

This month's dance will feature disco and a live disc jockey. This is the first of many troop sponsored events for the special needs community. All special needs children, regardless of residence, are invited.

Any bands interested in performing for future dances, or anyone interested in additional information, should contact John Augello, 19 Fairmount st., after 6 p.m. daily.

Deborah Flight Weds At Grace Chapel In Lexington

Deborah C. Flight of Winchester, was married Dec. 15 at Grace Chapel in Lexington to Robert M. Strodel of Lexington.

The ceremony was officiated by Dr. Gordon MacDonald, pastor of Grace Chapel, and assisted by Dr. Harold J. Ockenga, pastor emeritus of Park Street Church of Boston.

The bride wore a white dress of chiffon and Brussels lace and carried a bouquet of red roses. The church was decorated with red and white poinsettias.

Elizabeth H. Lamade of South Carolina, a friend of the bride, served as maid of honor and soloist. Stephen E. Martin of Woburn, served as the best man. Other attendants were Constance Holleman, cousin of the bride, of Dorchester; Cheryl Stackhouse of Amesbury; and Donna Strodel, sister of the bridegroom of Lexington.

David Strodel, brother of the bridegroom, of Lexington; Bruce Flight, brother of the bride, of Arlington; and Daniel Strodel, cousin of the bridegroom, of Texas, were also attendants.

Serving as flowergirl and ringbearer were Kristine Barram of Lexington and Matthew Enlow of Chelmsford. William H. Reed served as organist and Paul Marcantonio was the trumpeter.

The bride is employed by W.R. Grace & Co. in Lexington as a senior secretary. The bridegroom is completing his engineering degree at Northeastern University in Boston, and is employed by Kennecott Copper Co. in Lexington.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple plans to reside in Arlington.

Popp Daughter

A first child, Alison Lee, was born Jan. 14 at the Boston Lying-Inn to Linda and Alexander Popp. Alison weighed eight pounds one ounce and measured 20 inches at birth.

Approximately 40 men from South Woburn, as Winchester was originally known, served in the army during the Revolutionary War.

Newest Wave Of Smoker Research:
MERIT favored 3 to 1 over high tar brands in tests comparing taste and tar level.

Merit Sweeps New Tests!

Smokers Report: MERIT Taste Matches High Tar Cigarettes.

New taste tests with thousands of smokers prove it.

Proof: A significant majority of smokers rate MERIT taste as good as—or better than—leading high tar brands. Even cigarettes having twice the tar!

Proof: Of the 95% stating a preference, 3 out of 4 smokers chose the MERIT low tar/good taste combination over high tar leaders when tar levels were revealed.

MERIT: Proven Long Term Alternative To High Tar Brands.

New national smoker study results prove it.

Proof: The overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers polled feel they didn't sacrifice taste in switching from high tar cigarettes.

Proof: 96% of MERIT smokers don't miss former high tar brands.

Proof: 9 out of 10 enjoy smoking as much since switching to MERIT, are glad they switched, and report MERIT is the best tasting low tar they've ever tried.

You've read the results. The conclusion is clearer than ever: MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar.

A combination that's attracting more and more smokers every day and—more importantly—satisfying them long term.

Bartlett School Plans Several Jan. Activities

Plans are being made for many activities for both students and parents at the Bartlett School this month.

The sewing classes for seventh and eighth grade girls started this week with Pam Purdy as instructor. Sixth grade dance classes continue with Steve White as instructor. The after school girls' basketball practice started with Karen Dantone as the instructor.

The after school boys' sports program continues with Jeanne Sandstrum and Steve Robinson. Robinson coached the Bartlett School floor hockey team which recently successfully beat the Arlington Boys' Club team.

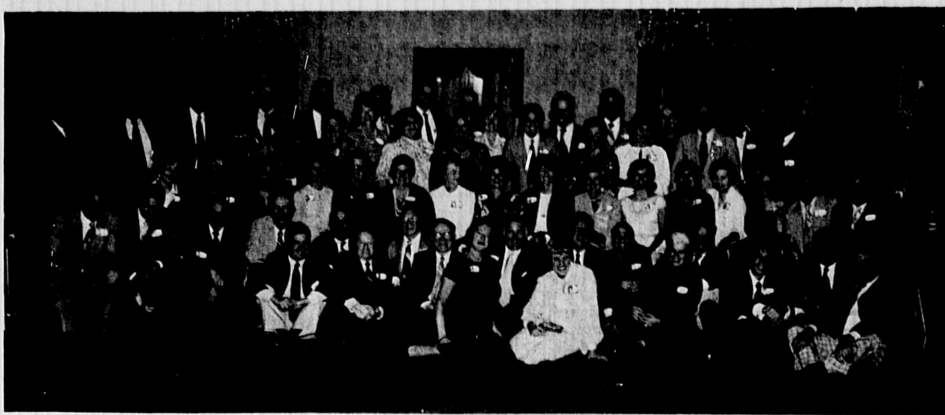

The New England Theatre Group for Children will perform "The Pied Piper" for the entire school in the gym Jan. 28. Students in grades five through eight attended the youth concerts at Symphony Hall Jan. 7.

Parents' activities include making plans for a dessert fashion show to be held in the school gym March 12. Sports outfits will be modeled by both professional models and Bartlett parents. A menu plus door prizes are planned.

Funds obtained at this fashion show will be used to buy "extras" at the school, such as the new audio-visual equipment and for the kindergarten room.

Registration forms for September enrollment at Bartlett School have been mailed to all parents. Any parents interested in Bartlett School are welcome to call the school for a personal appointment.

Members of the Bartlett School Development Fund Board include Mrs. Joseph Senna of Foxcroft road and Mrs. Robert Graves.

Over 100 classmates and guests attended the Nov. 10 Winchester High School class of 1944 reunion at the King's Grant Motor Inn in Danvers. In charge of arrangements were: Larry Smith, June (Preston) Pope, Gerry O'Neil, Tom Derro, Tony Saracco, Bill Wilde, all of Winchester, Joan (Hanson) Blake of Reading and Bill Carey of Wakefield. Phil O'Rourke was master of ceremonies; Senior Class President Joe Foley gave a welcoming address; Ted Atkinson offered prayers for deceased classmates; and thanks were extended to Gordon McGovern who provided table gifts of flowers and candy.

Girl Scout Cookie Sale To Be Through Feb. 3

It's that time of year again for Winchester Girl Scouts! The girls will be taking orders of cookies from Jan 19 to Feb. 3. This is the first major undertaking under the new council, Patriots' Trail Girl Scout Council, Inc.

The cookie supplier is the Little Brownie Bakers, a division of Beatrice Foods Company, who made last year's cookies. The girls will also be offering for sale cans of dry roasted peanuts and peanut crunch candy supplied by the Fisher Nut Company, a division of Beatrice Foods Company.

The incentive program for the scouts will include a 10-cent summer camp credit for each item sold; a patch for 50, 100 or 150 items; plus a "super patch" for the top seller in each program level in each community.

There will also be a specially-designed T-shirt for 100 items and a tote bag for 150. The girls were invited to enter the contest to design the T-shirt. Last year the contest was won by a Winchester scout.

Each troop will receive 20-cent profit on each item sold to be used or a project of their own choice. The council will receive 72 cents for each box of cookies and 55 cents for each can of nuts sold. Council profit provides help to leaders, camperships, girl events, campsites and buildings, training, program materials, and publications. If a Girl Scout does not contact you, those interested may call Pat DiGiovanni or Lorna Tseckares.

Obituaries

Alan Switzer

Alan A. Switzer, 74, of Sarasota, Fla., died unexpectedly of a heart attack in Sarasota Memorial Hospital Jan. 11.

Born in Watertown Conn., he lived for many years in Winchester, before moving to Sarasota 17 years ago.

Mr. Switzer was a member, Elder & Treasurer of the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, Sarasota; former administrator of the Plymouth Harbor Retirement Center, Sarasota; former manager of the Bellevue Hotel in Boston. He was active in the New England Hotel Association and in Rotary organizations both in the Boston and Sarasota areas.

Besides his wife, the former Ruth Davis, of Sarasota, he leaves three children: Alan Switzer of Bangor, Maine, Nancy Foss of Williamstown, and Carolyn MacKay of Saukville, Wis; two sisters and 7 grandchildren.

A memorial service was held Jan. 13, at the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, Sarasota, Florida.

Senator Tsongas Plans Town Meeting For Early February

Senator Paul Tsongas will hold his second Town Meeting of 1980 in Woburn, Feb. 2, from 10 a.m. until noon at Woburn City Hall in City Council Chambers. Residents from surrounding communities are encouraged to attend the informal question and answer session.

Tsongas will respond to questions on any topic - local, state, regional, national or international. At Town Meetings held last year, residents frequently asked him about energy, health care, social security, inflation, foreign policy and transportation.

When Tsongas campaigned for the Senate he pledged to continue the practice he began as a Congressman of holding question and answer sessions open to the public. In 1979 he held Town Meetings in Concord, Cambridge, Springfield, Williamstown, Worcester, Fitchburg, Haverhill, Arlington, Boston, Taunton, Harwich and Nantucket. He will hold his first Town Meeting of the year in Brockton Jan. 26.

Tsongas says the Town Meetings give him a person-to-person idea of residents' concerns. The sessions also give people a first-hand chance to get information on the latest actions in Congress.

Energy will continue to be an issue of major concern for Tsongas. As a member of the Senate Energy Committee he plans to remain active in seeking passage of much-needed energy legislation. He is on two House-Senate conference committees which will be resolving differences on energy proposals. Tsongas is advocating adoption of a stiff windfall profits tax as well as a comprehensive national energy conservation program.

Town Election Candidate Schedule

Feb. 12, 5 p.m. - final date for incumbent Town Meeting Members to become candidates for re-election by giving written notice to the Town Clerk.

Feb. 14, 5 p.m. - final date for obtaining blank nomination papers.

Feb. 19, 5 p.m. - last day and hour for submitting all nomination papers with Re the Registrars of Voters for certification of signatures.

Feb. 26, 5 p.m. - last day and hour for filing with Town Clerk certificates of nomination or nomination papers.

Feb. 27, 5 p.m. - last day and hour for filing withdrawals of and/or objections to all nomination papers and certificates of nomination with the Town Clerk.

March 5 - last day to register voters for the Town Election.

March 25 - annual Town Election.

Massachusetts is also another priority for Tsongas and his staff. The revitalizing of downtown business districts, investment in community projects by local banks, improving opportunities for expanded import-export operations, stimulating capital formation and securing federal funds to encourage local private investment are among the issues Tsongas and his staff are pursuing.

Tsongas praised officials in Wilmington and Woburn for their successful application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for federal funds for housing and development projects. Woburn received $2.4 million in a comprehensive HUD grant making possible the rehabilitation of 225 housing units and improvements in road surface drainage. Some of the funds will also be used to upgrade storefront facades in the downtown area.

Local Residents Board Members Of Visiting Nurse

Local residents Phyllis Fernald and Molly Lisberger were oriented to the board of directors of Visiting Nurse and Community Health, Inc., at a recent meeting for new members held recently at the agency headquarters.

A sound-slide presentation on home health care was shown. Jayne Tapia, professional director of the non profit visiting nurse agency, spoke on the current status of the delivery of home health care.

Participating in the board orientation of new members were two Winchester chairpersons of standing committees: Peggy Keele, personnel, and Margie McIndoe, planning and evaluation.

Openings are available for interested residents to become members at large of the board of directors. Members at large are eligible to serve on a variety of board committees. Normal progression is from member at large through election to the board of directors and advancing to the executive committee. For details, call Jayne Tapia at the Visiting Nurse and Community Health, 87 Pleasant st., Arlington.

Catherine Doherty demonstrates blockbuilding at a recent visiting day for fathers at the Neighborhood Cooperative Nursery School. The school will be holding an enrichment program for parents Jan. 30 in the Vinton Room of the First Congregational Church, Dix street, at 8 p.m.

Lexington Woman Seeks Re-Election To State Comm.

Jean E. Rubenstein of Lexington is a candidate for re-election to the Mass. Democratic State Committee from the Fourth Middlesex State Senatorial District, comprising the city of Woburn, and the towns of Arlington, Lexington, and Winchester.

Mrs. Rubenstein has served on the Democratic State Committee for four years, has been a member of the Lexington Democratic Town Committee for 12 years, and has been an elected delegate to both the Massachusetts and National Democratic Conventions.

She says that 1980 will be a politically active year for Democrats and indicated that there are several dates of which registered Democrats who are interested in participating in the presidential selection process should be aware. By Feb. 4, any registered Democrat who wishes to be a delegate to the National Convention must have submitted his or her name to the Democratic State Committee, 11 Beacon st., Boston, for approval by the presidential candidates.

On Feb. 10, at 2 p.m. caucuses will be held in each congressional district to select delegate slates for each presidential candidate. The Massachusetts Presidential Preferential Primary will take place March 4.

Mrs. Rubenstein is a member of the Boston staff of Senator Paul E. Tsongas, and has worked for him over the past

Hospital Confirms It Will Proceed Alone And Not Join Merger

Arlington's Symmes Hospital and Woburn's Choate Hospital continue to discuss merger and will file joint upgrading plans in May while Winchester Hospital is pursuing a course alone.

This update on the hospitals' plans was given at Tuesday's meeting of the Northwest Health Council of the Health Planning Council for Greater Boston Inc.

Between now and the filing of the certificate of need applications, the staff of the Health Planning Council will meet applicants and give them technical assistance such as reviewing council goals, suggesting areas for documentation and for consideration.

After a certificate of need is filed, the council staff prepares a summary of the application which is sent to the Acute Care Multi-Metro Committee. The application is analyzed, the applicant is interviewed, and, at a second presentation, state and federal guidelines and criteria are applied to the application.

After this, the council staff recommends action to the committee. Then it goes to a project review committee and to the Health Planning Council. Last step is the Public Health Council which acts on all applications in the state. Under the regulations, the process should be completed within eight months.

For two years the three hospitals had been discussing consolidation or merger and everything from construction of a new building to doing nothing through consolidation.

Joanne Bluestone, executive director of the Health Planning Council, reviewed the chronology which led to Winchester's board taking no action on a consultant's recommendation that the hospitals upgrade their separate facilities and develop a new system for service.

That was last August. In November Winchester raised the issues of pediatric bed distribution, physician representation on the board, the future of Choate Hospital's Wilmington Health Center, and the outlook for five to 10 years in the future.

Last month Winchester withdrew from the merger talks, but Symmes and Choate voted to continue to proceed with consolidation in some form.

Mrs. Bluestone said she understood that the two hospital groups would file certificates of need for approval in May. They will be comparable and will have to be looked at together, she said. The region is "over-bedded," pediatrics is an issue with 24 percent occupancy at the three hospitals, and the physical plants are older.

She termed an "imponderable" the impact which the Lahey Clinic being built in Burlington will have on area hospitals. A rational health delivery service and cost containment she noted as two major goals of the council.

Winchester Hospital administrator Jack Hunter said his hospital was also interested in quality care and being cost effective, but "we could not find anything that persuaded us we would improve the quality" of services. The consultant's recommendation would have provided another layer of administration which would have increased costs, Hunter said.

Symmes administrator Roger Martin noted that the hospitals had a different philosophic view in terms of where they were going in 10-20 years. He said it was not expected that costs would be reduced, but that Symmes and Choate felt they had a unique opportunity to address issues in the area through development of a systems approach together.

Choate administrator Paul Downey noted that nothing ever happened before when hospitals talked of regionalizing pediatrics, laboratories or obstetrics. Now the idea of a systems approach and integrating services in an innovative way has caught on.

When Hunter was asked what Winchester will seek in its May determination of need application he said he was not sure it would be filed in May. He told the council that Arthur D. Little was hired as a planning consultant in January and is looking at previous recommendations by Health Systems Inc. for upgrading the facility.

Question Of Public Garbage Collection May Be On Ballot

Chuckling that before he is through he will probably be known as "Mr. Garbage," Former Town Meeting Moderator and State Representative Harrison Chadwick outlined a proposal Monday to the Board of Selectmen that a non-binding referendum question be placed on the March 25 election ballot regarding the public collection of garbage.

Chadwick said that even though the population requesting the collection service is a minority, the elderly for example, he says that he regards it as an essential service.

"I have felt that the Selectmen, Town Meeting and Finance Committee have been greatly influenced by the four percent cap." Although he says he is greatly sympathetic, if a cap is imposed on Winchester, the town will be extremely hard hit. Chadwick says he doubts the tax rate would be greatly increased if there was public garbage collection.

Although the garbage collection proposal was defeated at Town Meeting last spring and again in November, Chadwick wants to give the voters a fair chance to decide on this advisory opinion. The results would then be left to the discretion of the Board of Selectmen.

Chadwick's proposal to the Selectmen would be the first time such a referendum would be placed on the ballot in Winchester. The option is the result of a 1976 law enacted by the state legislature to allow a non-binding advisory question on the municipal ballot.

Board of Selectmen Chairman Richard Wilsack asked Chadwick if he had considered "the 10-signature route" to place the question on the ballot.

Registration To Vote Is Next Week

A special voter registration service for all residents will be held Monday at the Jenks Senior Center from 11 a.m. to noon and Tuesday at The Parish of the Epiphany, same time.

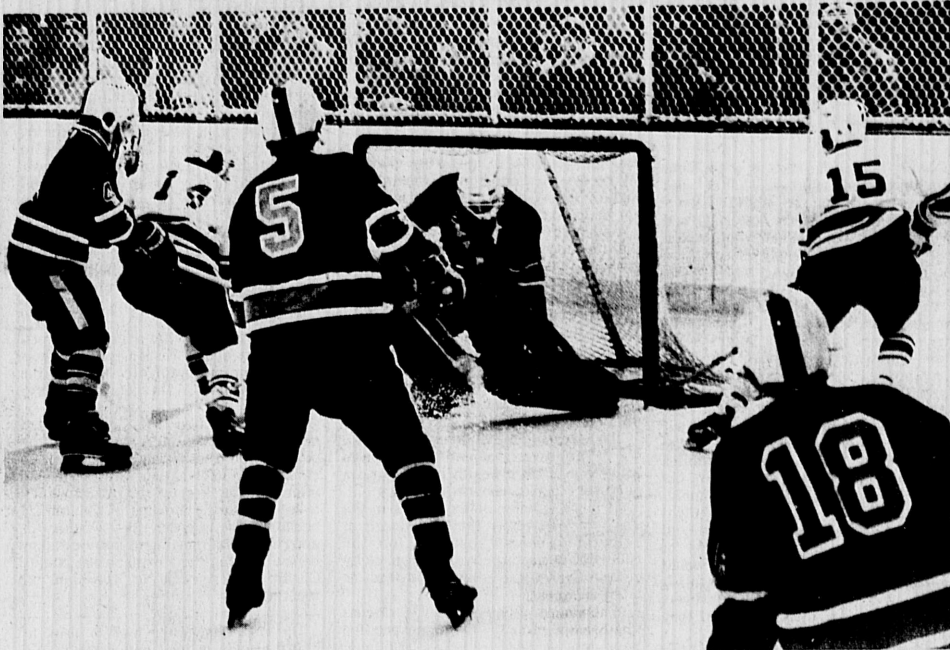

The last day for candidates to take out papers for office in the March 25 Town Election is Feb. 14 at 5 p.m. Papers must be filed with the Board of Registrars by Feb. 19.

As of Tuesday, three candidates for two Selectman positions have taken out papers, one filed; no one had taken out papers for the Town Moderator opening; one person took out papers for the single Board of Health opening; two persons took out papers for two Library Trustee openings, one filed; no candidates had taken out papers for two School Committee positions; one candidate took out papers for Assessor; no candidate had taken papers out for the one Planning Board opening; and one candidate had taken out papers for the single Housing Authority opening.

According to the Town Clerk's office there has "not been too much activity" in candidates running for Town Meeting.

There are eight three-year terms open in all precincts; one one-year term open in precincts one, four, six and seven; two one-year terms open in precinct five; one two-year term open in precinct six; and two two-year terms open in precincts four and eight.

Persons interested in running for Town Meeting have until Feb. 12 to take out papers.

Winchester's Bobby Surabian holds off a charge by Belmont's Brian Nally (14) and Billy Allard (15), as Sachems Paul White (4), Ken Blasi (5) and Doug Ross (18) move in to help out. All of the Sachems needed help last Saturday as the Marauders skated to a 7-3 victory over Winchester. (Photo By Rich Eckel)

Retirement Board Explains Rejection; Cogan Not Completely Disabled

Almost one week after rejecting former Winchester Police Lt. James J. Cogan's application for disability retirement for which it gave no explanation, the Winchester Retirement Board announced Tuesday that the reason for the denial was because "the applicant is not totally and permanently disabled."

According to Town Comptroller Alphonse Faggiano, a member of the three-member Retirement Board, the decision was reached after reviewing evidence which showed that Cogan had been working as chief of security at a second job with Electronic Corporation of America (ECA) since April 30 of 1979 and was being paid for 40 hours per week.

"The majority of the Board considers that this is a full-time employment and he's actually been a chief guard since 1974. The employment earnings are over five figures to the left of the decimal for 1979 and there's a security staff of about 20," said Faggiano.

Cogan, a member of the Winchester Police Department for 24 years, was applying for disability pension after retiring from the police department last June, on the advice of his doctor following two heart attacks since 1974, both of which resulted in open heart surgery.

Cogan and his attorney, Donald E. McNamee, have sued the town for withholding his disability payments. Their argument is based on Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 32, Section 94, also referred to as the heart law. In it the law presumes that if a police officer passes the physical examination to work and subsequently develops a heart condition, it must be presumed that the heart condition is directly related to that person's police work, thereby qualifying him for disability retirement benefits.

Cogan claims that the town owes him approximately $8500 since his retirement June 30. His income during that period has been a weekly check of approximately $300 which he receives from ECA for his services as chief of security. Although he is paid for 40 hours, Arthur B. Metcalf, president and chairman of the board of ECA, told the Retirement Board at a recent hearing that Cogan doesn't necessarily work 40 hours per week. Cogan and McNamee have stated that the 46-year old lieutenant works only a day or two each week. "He's paid the equivalent of a full-time salary but he only works a few hours a week," said McNamee Tuesday.

Faggiano stated that the Retirement Board would not have another hearing, as Cogan and McNamee requested, noting that the retirement process gives them 15 days to appeal the decision with the Massachusetts Retirement Board. The Retirement Board will wait until they receive a decision from the state board.

This action has upset McNamee. "This is another example of their callousness for an individual," said the Winchester attorney. "The Board knows there is a backlog of about a year at the state board."

McNamee, who represents the Winchester Police Association, stated that he was "encouraged to know the basis" of the Board's decision. But he added that "I think they're confused about the definition about being disabled and they're confused about Mr. Cogan's other job."

McNamee plans on answering from a number of fronts. He is presently drawing up papers for court action which would compel the Retirement Board to settle with Cogan. He also plans on requesting the Board of Selectmen to investigate the Retirement Board and the entire case.

Town Counsel Douglas Randall, who previously discussed the possibility of challenging the heart law, said Tuesday that strategy would no longer be taken. "I will defend the Retirement Board's decision," which has nothing to do with the heart act," said Randall.

According to the Retirement Board, Cogan could have been receiving a pension from the town, while applying for disability benefits, had he asked for superannuation.

Superannuation is a form of retirement based on age and length of service in the police department. The process begins at age 55, which is the retirement age for police officers. From that mark, one-tenth is subtracted for each year younger than 55 the applicant is, in order to determine the percentage of his salary he would receive as a pension. The total number of tenths subtracted, is then multiplied by the number of years in the department. This process would not effect the disability application.

In Cogan's case, at age 46, his pension would have come to about $9000, which would increase with the cost of living.

The Retirement Board claims that it was never consulted for advice and would have suggested this route had Cogan come to them.

In deposition taken on Jan. 11, Metcalf told the Retirement Board that Cogan

Should Winchester Own Stock In Cable TV?

Several meetings ago, Selectman Wade Welch sat pounding the Selectmen's table demanding that his minority opinion be attached to the majority report of the Board of Selectmen and the Winchester Cable TV Committee, as required in the cable television licensing process.

That minority opinion, which suggested that the town investigate the possibility of owning stock in the cable television company which is ultimately awarded the franchise in Winchester, was eventually attached. And Welch now intends to explore the idea with all of the companies in the upcoming hearings which begin Feb. 6.

"I want to make some money off of this cable tv gig," said Welch earlier this week. "I think it's the biggest thing coming into Winchester for a long time. With Winchester House gone I see it as the only ship coming in."

But Welch has met considerable opposition to his plan from at least two members of the Board of Selectmen in Chairman Richard Wilsack and Barbara Hankins, as well as the entire Cable TV Committee.

"My concern is that if you are involved you have to be totally involved," said Wilsack last Friday. "I think part public and part private is not a good mix." He added that "I don't sense there is significant support from the Board for this proposal."

"I think it's a bad idea," said William McCarter, chairman of the Cable TV Committee. "I don't think the town should get involved in this type of investment."

Though Welch plans on questioning each cable television company about the town owning stock, the fact is that at present Massachusetts law prohibits municipalities from owning shares. Welch has filed legislation, through Sen. Samuel Rotondi to which this law reconsidered.

Rotondi himself is not sure he favors the proposal. "I've filed the bill out of courtesy to Wade," said Rotondi Tuesday. "But I would have some reservations of any municipality running any business, reacting to it initially I have some reservations."

Welch was adamant that his opinion be attached to the main report at the Selectmen's meeting several weeks ago because he wanted the option of questioning the companies about stock left open. He also doesn't feel that the town would be using the companies.

"If none of them want to be used then they can't be used," Welch stated. "But if no one wants to ask the questions, then there's no way of knowing. I'm looking for money for the town. Our taxes are very high and our tax base is very small."

Indeed, it is the revenue which the town would receive from its share of the profits that is most attractive to Welch. "There's clearly an economic benefit because the town would partake in the profits," the first year Selectman noted. "I would think that in the long run the town would stand to make a substantial profit." He also pointed out that if the town owned stock it would have some say in the operation of the business in Winchester.

But opponents note that if the town controls a percentage of the stock, then the consumer in Winchester is ultimately going to end up paying higher costs for the operation.

★ Hospital

The hospital is already sounding out the communities which are served to see what programs residents feel are necessary.

Winchester physical deficiencies which were noted before include an intensive care unit in which there is no direct observation of patients from the nursing station; 1952 operating rooms which are too small for the procedures and equipment used now; an emergency room area planned for 6,500 visits and accommodating 23,000 a year; and parking.

Noting that pediatricians is a problem with all of the hospitals, Hunter said Winchester feels it should keep pediatricians because it has maternity and newborn units. When asked what impact Lahey Clinic will have on the hospital, he said he felt the first impact would be on personnel.

The Symmes and Choate administrators reviewed physical plant improvements which they might seek. While Winchester's had been estimated in a report to cost $13 million, Symmes' would be $10 million and Choate's $5 million.

The administrators were asked what the support of their medical staffs for the consolidation plans were. At Symmes and Choate there was support of the three-hospital and two-hospital planning.

Hunter said the Winchester medical staff and board of directors had mixed feelings. There was not a majority of support on either board and there would not have been the required two-thirds support from the corporation. However, he said the door was still open and they would talk to the other hospitals.

Martin said that Symmes has been planning and reviewing for 10 years and was committed to do something and not deviate from the schedule of presenting its plans to the council.

As the discussion drew to a close Mrs. Bluestone expressed concern that the council was hearing about plans for updating facilities and being told that the talk of systemwide changes would come later. She said some hard questions have to be asked about how much updating should be done before it is sure that changes will be implemented.

★ Garbage

Chadwick said he decided against this method because he would rather allow the Selectmen to decide what they want on a "contentious" issue. The question, Chadwick says, is whether the Selectmen desire to give voters the ability to express themselves.

Chadwick also noted he has taken this approach in view of upcoming changes on the Board of Selectmen. Incumbents Arthur Dunbar and Richard Wilsack will not be candidates for re-election.

Although Selectman Wade Welch says that he supports the public collection of garbage, Wilsack says that this is one of a number of items which would have to be scrutinized in the total budget.

In a letter outlining his proposal, Chadwick urged the Selectmen to place the opinion question on the March ballot in view of the April 1 termination of public garbage pick up.

The opinion Chadwick would like on the ballot states:

"Whereas many residents in the Town of Winchester consider garbage collection to be a health matter and a necessary public service, therefore:

It is the opinion of the voters in the Town of Winchester that the Board of Selectmen should arrange for the collection of garbage by the Town, or by contract, at regular intervals at least as often as weekly."

The Board of Selectmen will discuss Chadwick's proposal at an unspecified later date.

The first major step taken to petition the State Legislature to incorporate South Woburn into a separate town was at a meeting held in the vestry of the Congregational Church Monday Nov. 26.

★ Cogan

joined his company in 1966 to set up a security system recruiting police officers for part-time employment. Two other Winchester Police Officers, Thomas Parsons and Charles Culhane are also employed by the company.

In 1975, according to Metcalf, Cogan was appointed chief guard, though in effect he had always held that position. In 1979 he was named chief of total plant security for the Cambridge based company.

According to Metcalf's testimony, Cogan did not receive any benefits from the company in the form of Blue Cross, Blue Shield or any health plans. He did continue to receive his weekly pay from ECA while recovering from both operations, although he didn't work for ECA for almost a year after one operation. Cogan however, is living rent free at an Arlington street home owned by Metcalf and has resided there for the past four years.

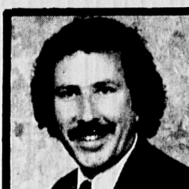

Cogan presently has a staff of 20 men under him and is responsible for their supervision. According to Metcalf, his position with ECA is considered permanent.

Faggiano stated that the Board had decided to release the reason behind the rejection on Tuesday as a result of the demand for information. On Monday he indicated that, because the Board wanted to be certain the minutes of the Jan. 23 hearing were in order, they would wait until their next meeting in late February before making their explanation public. Cogan was rejected at the Jan. 23 meeting.

In 1780 Winchester had to provide 21,078 pounds of beef under the levied "beef taxes" for the revolutionary army. The town, like all Massachusetts communities, was also required to provide as many shirts, shoes and stockings as would cover one-seventh of the town's male population. In Winchester this meant 21 blankets and 42 each of shirts, stockings and shoes.

Modeling the gown worn by Ethel Merman in the Broadway show "Hello, Dolly" is Anne-Louise Casey, who will play the part of Dolly in the Winchester High School production Feb. 7-9.

★ Cable TV

Welch counters that the profits which the town receives as a stockholder would be distributed among tax payers through lower property taxes. The question, which could only be answered if and when an arrangement is worked out between the town and the cable tv company as to how much stock the town could receive, is whether the profits would be substantial enough to offset added consumer costs.

Another benefit for the town would be that in the future, the town could sell it's interest in the cable television company at a "healthy profit," as Wilsack admits. Although representatives from all of the cable tv companies weren't reached for comment, a couple indicated that some sort of agreement would have to be worked out between the town and their company.

"We're always willing to negotiate with reputable groups," said Robert Carr of Warner Cable on Tuesday. He added that there could be legal complications, citing the state law preventing towns from owning stock.

"Although the prospect of town ownership of some WCT (Winchester Cable Television) partnership units is attractive in some respects, it would represent a significant change in the ground rules under which we raised our capital and planned our services offering and subscriber fees," said Richard Sampson of Winchester Cable Television, quoting a section of their amended proposal to the Selectmen. "If it is the board of Selectmen's will, that this become a part of the arrangement for the issuance of a cable television license, we would try to find a mutually acceptable basis for accomplishing such a goal."

Which leads to one of McCarter's arguments at a Selectmen's meeting three weeks ago. All of the cable companies have submitted their final proposals without any consideration for the town owning stock, since it was not in the original proposal guidelines. Sampson, for example, noted that his company submitted their best proposal before Welch's suggestion. "We put everything we could into the system. At that time this whole question of minority report hadn't come up."

Another concern is the question of the town tampering with First Amendment rights, by being involved in any decision making. Welch disagrees, pointing out that the town's share of stock, although he is unsure how much it would be, would not put Winchester in a position to be a dominant force on the company. With the law prohibiting the town from owning stock, presently in existence, Welch doesn't intend to limit his questioning of the companies to just that area at the hearings. He has other ideas. Another of his proposals would be for the company to give stock to a non-profit organization in Winchester, which would then use the profits for revitalizing the Center. "Perhaps they'd be willing to donate enough stock so that organization could hire a professional planner for the center," Welch suggested.

"I just want to get the process going," said Welch of his desire to question the companies. "If I'm right and there's plenty of profit in this deal, I don't see any reason why we shouldn't get the most of it we can."

'Hello Dolly' Is Next Week

When the curtains are pulled for the opening of the Winchester High School musical production "Hello, Dolly" February 7-9, audiences will be treated to a bonus.

In addition to the talent and spirit that will enliven the show, the cast will be lavishly costumed in the original Broadway company's costumes. Worn when "Hello, Dolly" opened in New York City, the costumes were designed by Freddy Wittop, costume designer. They were sold when the Broadway show closed, and finally found a home with the drama department of Waltham High School, from where they are rented.

The colorful costumes were assigned to enthusiastic cast and chorus members, who were delighted with the styles, which faithfully recreate the 1890's fashions. Anne-Louise Casey, who plays Dolly, will wear the dress worn by Ethel Merman in the Broadway production. Elaborate hats, parasols, and other accessories will add elegance to the scenes.

Dorothy Santos, director, explained that many of the sets, also rented, were used in the National Road Company of "Hello, Dolly," and are an additional professional touch to the show, since they were created by the Broadway set designer, Oliver Smith.

Tickets can be purchased from cast members, from the music department at the high school, or at the door. Senior citizens who attend the Thursday night performance will be able to purchase tickets at a reduced rate.

WHS Radio Station Needs New Location On FM Band

By PEYTON FLEMING

Due to a petition recently filed with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) by a large Boston FM radio station to displace WHSR-FM from its present 91.9 location on the non-commercial band, Dave Frary, faculty advisor to the 10-watt station, advised the School Committee this week to start looking for a new non-commercial band location before filing for a new license in April, 1981.

"We are definitely on the bottom of the totem pole," Frary lamented, when asked whether or not the FCC would uphold the rights of the high school station and allow it to remain on its present band location. "Already the FCC is trying to get us to re-locate voluntarily," he added.

The group filing the petition with the FCC is a 1,000-watt station that will be broadcast from the University of Mass. campus in Boston. The radio station won't be named until a license is received.

If the FCC upholds the new petition when it makes its final ruling in January, 1981, and WHSR-FM hasn't taken the new necessary steps to re-locate, the Class-D station would be hopelessly overpowered by its larger neighbor on the FM dial. The 25-year-old station is the oldest high school radio station in the state.

Although Frary thinks the FCC would favor the 1,000-watt station, he indicated that the FCC's decision would be a controversial and difficult one. A federal law now prohibits new stations from positioning themselves at locations on the non-commercial band which would interfere with the reception and signal of FM stations already there.

The reason why the FCC is asking WHSR to re-locate, Frary feels, is so that the FCC won't have to make a controversial decision next year by waiving this law which operates for the benefit and protection of smaller FM stations.

If such a decision has to be made because WHSR has either refused or wasn't able to re-locate, Frary believes the FCC would "probably waive the law anyway" in favor of the University of Mass. station.

Frary, who has worked at the station since 1972, felt that it would be smart for School Committee Chairman Constance Pappas to ask Congressman Edward Markey to write the FCC about "which way the winds might be blowing." Frary says they have been rather "closemouthed" with himself and his aid, Jack Rudolph, about the WHSR matter.

Applications for re-location must be submitted to the FCC by December, 1980. The approximate cost of re-locating WHSR on the non-commercial band would be $2,000. This includes a small amount of new equipment to make the transition and the cost of making an engineering study. The study would indicate to the FCC whether or not the new location would interfere with the reception of other stations in that vicinity.

Although Frary feels that re-location would be difficult since there are 15-20 other Class D stations faced with the same competition, he thinks it is the most viable alternative. They will probably lose their present position and commercial bands offer no reception for smaller radio stations, he said.

When asked by Supt. of Schools William MacDonald whether the School Committee could ever finance a 100-watt station, Frary said they definitely could not. The application deadline for such a transition was last December, and the costs of running a 365-day station are enormous.

The School Committee expects to contact Markey to determine what the expected FCC ruling will be and then decide whether or not to make the necessary re-location application.

Misreading Of Alarm Allows $2400 Robbery

A Fairmont street home was broken into and robbed of approximately $2400 in jewelry and silverware last Thursday, after an alarm from the home, which was connected to the police station, was misread, according to Winchester Police reports.

The report stated that the silent alarm from the Fairmont home rang in the station on Thursday morning and was checked out by the police. The officer who inspected the home reported to the station that all was secure and asked the desk officer to inform the owner. The owner was never notified according to the report.

At approximately 1:30, the alarm again sounded in the station, but the afternoon desk officer misread the signal, believing the home was secure because of the morning report.

Taken from the home were 12 sterling flatware knives, valued at $400; 24 sterling flatware forks, valued at $800; an 18th century sugar shaker, value unknown; a silver mug valued at $400, a gold stickpin valued at $100 and two gold bracelets with a combined value of $100. Also reported missing was a full jewelry box with assorted jewelry, valued around $100, two silver childrens mugs, valued at $500 and finally an unknown amount of money.

A Highland Avenue home was illegally entered on Friday with intruders ransacking the entire home and escaping with a silver service, a silver ladel, three oriental rugs, a diamond necklace and a Lullaby Doll.

According to police reports, at least one suspect is known following a housebreak on Thursday at Mayflower road. Police say they've determined that two intruders broke into the home and made off with three or four bottles of wine and then left tracks leading to Arlington. According to the report, the police were able to follow the tracks to two homes in Arlington and identify one suspect, but have not yet determined the identity of the second intruder.

The problem of vandalism in Winchester is a two-edged sword. As much as there seems to be a lack of discipline in the lives of those who thoughtlessly destroy public and private property, there has also been a lack of effort by the town to accommodate these youths with something to do on weekend nights.

The target group of youths in question are those in the junior and senior high school age bracket. It is at this age, where children are too young to be allowed into places like nightclubs, that they hang around playgrounds or parking lots, unless they see a more attractive alternative.

The suggestion of some sort of teen center or drop in center, does not have much support in Winchester. Many feel that, no matter how successful it is in the early stages, it almost always degenerates to the point of being a liability rather than an asset.

The Recreation Department offers a number of programs, but most are for the summer months and the few that are aimed at the junior and senior high youths in the winter, are held on Saturday mornings or weekday afternoons. The Recreation Department offers absolutely nothing on Friday or Saturday nights, when these kids are looking for something to do.

The student union at the high school has held a number of activities on their own, as well as with the help of the town on a number of occasions. We applaud the efforts of these students and urge the town to aid them further. But these events, which include dances and rock group acts, are few and far between. The kids in this town need more than just sporadic weekend entertainment.

In the Recreation Department's 1981 fiscal budget, a large portion of the activities planned are for this age group, with many programs being held on weekend nights. The question is whether many of these programs will make it under the tax cap cuts. The total budget of this department is approximately $35,000 higher than last year and in the past, branches of town government, such as the Recreation Department are the first ones to feel the knife.

No matter how many events the town offers, there'll always be a small percentage who seek no further entertainment than to sit on a cold park swing and drink the night away. But there are a number of youths who are waiting for something to do.

The town should step in, through the Recreation Department and offer more dances, concerts and other activities on a regular basis so that many youths in town will have more to look forward to on Friday night than which park they're going to drink at.

Hospital Merger

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I was sorry that illness prevented my attendance at the Winchester Hospital Annual Meeting on Jan. 22.

At that meeting I had intended to compliment the directors, the chairman and the officers for their courage, integrity and business judgement in changing course so completely and for dropping plans for the merger and for the construction of a new 500-bed unit.

I well remember a similar meeting only a year or so ago at which I and four others were the only persons to register a vote against the merger project as completely uneconomic.

It is unusual and reassuring to find a management with the courage to make such a sharp reversal of position. The change is a great step forward and deserves the enthusiastic support of the entire community.

We should now be able to concentrate all the great ability of our Board, Officers and fine Medical Staff on the improvement of our Winchester Hospital. Maurice T. Freeman

Election

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Two weeks till Valentine's Day! Potential candidates for town office have just until 5 p.m. Feb. 14, to pick up nomination papers at the Town Clerk's office in Town Hall.

Then, by 5 p.m. Feb. 19, the papers must be returned for certification of signatures. For townwide office 50 signatures are necessary; for new Town Meeting candidates, only 10. It's always wise to secure a few extra signatures in case some aren't acceptable.

If after filing papers a candidate should change his mind, he has until Feb. 27 to withdraw. So we urge all the "maybes" to take out papers before the Feb. 14 deadline. Don't stand there - get in the running!

Pay Raise

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

In response to State Senator Samuel Rotondi's comments in this paper that the legislative pay raise repeal petition is an attempt to "revive a sagging party," I am pleased to report that as of Jan. 28th, more than 62,000 registered Democrats, Independents and Republicans statewide have signed the petition to place the pay raise issue on the November ballot.

You will recall that on Halloween night 1979, Massachusetts Legislators voted themselves a pay hike. Rank and file legislators increased their salaries from $18,000 to $20,000. House and Senate leadership salaries increases ranged between $3,200 to $17,550 annually, and the Governor's salary was increased from $40,000 to $60,000.

On Feb. 1, we must file at least 29,434 certified signatures in order to put the question to the public. I expect we will file at least twice the required number. Clearly, the public is outraged. And clearly, this is an issue that has crossed party lines.

Sen. Rotondi's analogy of the "giant dinosaur about to become extinct" is far from true. I assure the good Senator that I and my fellow Republicans in the Legislature and in Winchester, are very much alive and not in danger of extinction. We will continue to represent the people of the Commonwealth in this important issue.

Tax Exempt

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Stripping the town's fraternal organizations of their tax exempt status should be very carefully considered by the Board of Assessors.

This action should not be based on what neighboring communities do. It should be expected that the members of the Board take the time to sit with each organization affected by such intention on their part to see and understand, first hand, just what the clubs accomplish with revenues they collect during the year.

If common sense prevails I'm sure they will see taxation will actually have the Town of Winchester the loser.

Disappointed

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am a concerned adolescent who would probably be referred to as a "spoiled kid." There are always two sides to an argument and I feel that our side is not being represented.

I agree that we do have a problem, and it needs to be resolved. This problem should be dealt with as a two-way street. I speak for a lot of kids and I can safely say that we are disappointed with our town.

If this town can afford to build homes for the aged then why can't we stop the vandalism and give us something to do, rather than be malicious and destructive. I'm not saying that we deserve benefits on a silver platter but we are a vast population that needs something. There are many towns that provide commercial establishments that benefit our needs.

I agree that alcohol is a problem which cannot be solved but can be controlled. We youths have minds of our own and we are open minded enough to know that this problem needs to be dealt with in an orderly fashion.

If our town fathers cared enough about their youths as much as they did about their high class social gatherings then maybe they wouldn't be such a problem. We youths certainly deserve some recognition.

I was personally offended by the letter written to this paper about us. The youths that are malicious are a small majority of us. But, the large majority of us are bored and disappointed with this town. There is plenty of time to join the Armed Forces when we are needed, but for now let's deal with the problem at hand.

Name withheld on request stored in a cold corner of my cellar, were starting to get spotted. "That they shouldn't go to waste," I lugged about eight of them upstairs and chopped them up for cooking and freezing.

I scooped out all the pulp, with the seeds still in it, and threw the whole mess - about one-half the size of a football - out the window to the ground under the feeder.

It is all gone now, one day later. I watched one squirrel working at top speed to clean out what he must have regarded as a gold mine, while another squirrel, three feet away, paid no attention to it whatsoever.

The first squirrel would grab an armful, pat it with both hands into a ball the size of a golfball, then run to the edge of the shrubbery and bury the load among the leaves, raking the leaves over the cache, and patting them down with both hands together.

A couple of times he (or she) was in such a hurry that he stopped dead on the open lawn, before he got to the leaves, and there went through the motions of hiding his burden by burying it. But, the ground was frozen solid and his two-handed gestures of covering it, first two hands on the right side then two hands on the left, repeated several times, accomplished nothing. He left it in plain sight!

Having gone through the instinctive motions, however, he then turned and went back for another load. I noticed that he always went in a different direction with each load.

I find them interesting to watch and have no grievance with them as long as they behave themselves. I hope my squirrels read this!

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Do you ever feel that your opinions aren't heard in Washington? Have you ever wished you could tell Congress what you think? Well, here's your chance!

Sen. Paul Tsongas is holding an open meeting-all citizens invited- Feb. 2 at the Woburn City Hall 10 a.m.-noon. He'll be there to answer questions and hear your ideas. The League of Women Voters of Winchester urges you to take advantage of this opportunity. Democracy is not a spectator sport!

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

They were complaining that they couldn't make it on this. There are, in this country, hundreds of families who live on, or try to live on, $10,000. These folks couldn't buy a decent chair or rug or a cheap TV set. No wonder our stores are hurting.

People will eat before they buy furniture. The politicians don't know this or, in other words, could care less.

Did you ever watch someone in a large super market putting back groceries because they knew they didn't have enough money to pay for them. I like to observe people and know what I am talking about because I visit a neighborhood every weekend where these low paid people live, all struggling to get by.

I would like to see our politicians take a week's vacation in one of these homes. I may not be hurting, but I sure see the other half's plight.

Squirrels 'n Squash

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

It seems that wherever I go around town I meet someone who has a comment to make about squirrels. I gather that the little varmints are everywhere.

It is said that "wherever there is smoke there is fire." I will paraphrase that and say that, "wherever there is a bird feeder, there are squirrels."

Last Sunday I noticed that several of the squashes from my garden, now

Olympic Boycott

It doesn't seem to be overly complicated to us.

If it weren't an election year and Ted Kennedy's campaign weren't on the verge of self-destruction, there would be little discussion about what road to take in international politics.

How we got into the situation is another matter. Certainly President Jimmy Carter's handling of foreign affairs over the past three years has been abysmal. But what to do now is clear.

The Moscow Olympic boycott, for one thing, is the only way the United States and other countries can demonstrate to the Russian people that the policies of their government are unacceptable to the world community.

The United States cannot ignore a situation where the Soviet Union invades Afghanistan with over 80,000 troops, shoots the president, installs a dictator, and makes rubles the country's official currency.

The Olympic boycott will go a long way toward getting the message across. To participate in the Moscow games as if nothing had happened is unthinkable.

Those who would argue that politics should have no part in the Olympics should hold their tongues until the International Olympic Committee (IOC) stops refusing to recognize the Republic of China Taiwan.

Since the 1976 Montreal Olympics the 19 million Chinese on Taiwan, who since World War Two have competed as the Republic of China, have been barred from the Olympics until they adopt (a) a new name; (b) a new flag; (c) a new national anthem.

As long as the IOC continues to deny the Republic of China the opportunity to compete because the Peoples Republic of China - mainland China - objects to their name, flag and national anthem, no Olympic official has any right to pretend that politics is not involved in the Olympic games.

On Monday, in his special "major speech," Ted Kennedy downplayed the Afghanistan situation. He ignored the Olympic boycott issue, not agreeing, not disagreeing with President Carter. He was silent on the issue.

On Tuesday, when the Senate began its roll call on the Olympic boycott resolution, Ted Kennedy walked out, despite his recent rhetoric on leadership. When the time came to stand up and be counted, he wasn't there.

Perhaps, as he has demonstrated in the past, he needs a little more time than the average person to make up his mind when it comes to the issue of right and wrong.

The Senate vote was 88 to 4 in favor of the boycott, with eight not voting.

How all this relates to Kennedy's campaign for the nomination is one thing. Yet another is the fact that he's our senator and we have a right to expect him to fulfill his duty to us in the Senate, not to walk away before his name is called.

But this time we'll just have to look to our other Senator to represent us. And what did he do? Paul Tsongas voted on Tuesday. He deserves credit for having more guts than Kennedy, but, unfortunately, no more understanding of the issue.

Sen. Tsongas was one of the four, and the only democrat, to vote against the Olympic boycott.

It makes one really wonder - how did the people of Massachusetts ever elect two turkeys from the same state?

50 Years Ago

(Editor's note: The following stories reprinted here were compiled from early editions of The Winchester Star by Henry Simonds, local historian, and are taken from approximately the same month as they appear here, 50 years ago.)

The Annual Winton Club Cabaret was held in the Town Hall on Friday, the 31st of January, before a most enthusiastic audience of 600 guests.

By the ingenuity and artistic talent of Mrs. Fulton Brown and Mrs. Robert M. Stone, the interior of the hall had been transformed into the outdoor cafe of a French inn, Le Chat Rouge. Great pots of gaily colored conventional flowers in silhouette and animals and birds of varied description brightened the walls. The tables were dressed with gay covers of orange, green, red, yellow and blue.

These matched the skirts of the French peasant maids selling flowers and cigarettes to the patrons. Back stage represented the front of the Inn itself with two lighted windows at either side of a massive red door surmounted by a red cat. On the town clock perched two ornate pigeons, one in saucy pose with the claw raised to the beak.

For the entertainment of the guests a series of cabaret numbers were rendered with general dancing during the intermission. A substantial sum was made, enabling the Club to make the hospital a gift for the equipment of a dietetic laboratory.

Tsongas Plans Town Meeting Saturday In Woburn City Hall

Senator Paul Tsongas will hold his second Town Meeting of 1980 in Woburn, Feb. 2, from 10 a.m. until noon at Woburn City Hall in City Council Chambers. Residents from surrounding communities are encouraged to attend the informal question and answer session.

Tsongas will respond to questions on any topic - local, state, regional, national or international. At Town Meetings held last year, residents frequently asked him about energy, health care, social security, inflation, foreign policy and transportation.

When Tsongas campaigned for the Senate he pledged to continue the practice he began as a Congressman of holding question and answer sessions open to the public. In 1979 he held Town Meetings in Concord, Cambridge, Springfield, Williamstown, Worcester, Fitchburg, Haverhill, Arlington, Boston, Taunton, Harwich and Nantucket. He will hold his first Town Meeting of the year in Brockton Jan. 26.

Tsongas says the Town Meetings give him a person-to-person idea of residents' concerns. The sessions also give people a first-hand chance to get information on the latest actions in Congress.

Energy will continue to be an issue of major concern for Tsongas. As a member of the Senate Energy Committee he plans to remain active in seeking passage of much-needed energy legislation. He is on two House-Senate conference committees which will be resolving differences on energy proposals. Tsongas is advocating adoption of a stiff windfall profits tax as well as a comprehensive national energy conservation program.

Economic development in Massachusetts is also another priority for Tsongas and his staff. The revitalizing of downtown business districts, investment in community projects by local banks, improving opportunities for expanded import-export operations, stimulating capital formation and securing federal funds to encourage local private investment are among the issues Tsongas and his staff are pursuing.

Tsongas praised officials in Wilmington and Woburn for their successful application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for federal funds for housing and development projects. Woburn received $2.4 million in a comprehensive HUD grant making possible the rehabilitation of 225 housing units and improvements in road surface drainage. Some of the funds will also be used to upgrade storefront facades in the downtown area.

Children's Film Schedule For Next Week

The Children's Film Program this week features "The Doughnuts" and "Of Cats And Men."

On Sunday the Family Film Program will be held in the Story Hour Room of the Junior Library at 2:30 p.m. It is requested that at least one adult accompany each group of children. There will be a Tuesday afternoon film program for school age children at 1:30 in the Meeting Room.

In 1914, four years after the Boy Scouts of America was started, a troop was organized in Winchester by Robert W. Fernald who then became the troop's scoutmaster. On different occasions four

Saltmarsh Files MBTA Bill For Deficit Funds

State funds for the operational deficit of the MBTA will be forthcoming if a bill filed recently by Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. wins passage in the legislature.

The act would prohibit the state from assessing the cities and towns comprising the Massachusetts Bay Transit Authority for any portion of the net cost of service in excess of the income approved by the Advisory Board for the calendar year 1979.

Saltmarsh filed the bill because of recent developments in the running feud between MBTA Chairman Robert Foster and the Advisory Board. Last month Foster requested an additional $12.1 million to keep the transportation system running until the end of the year, but the Advisory Board refused to grant him any supplementary funding. In order to keep the T operating, Gov. Edward King assumed emergency control of the system.

"The T is still running," Saltmarsh said, "but no one seems to have any concrete idea of where the emergency funding 's coming from. It would be grossly unfair to expect the cities and towns to pick up all of the additional tab. Stoneham, for instance, receives little or no service from the system. Yet, like Winchester, the town has paid its share of the operating deficit for the year."

"Surely, the property taxpayer should not be penalized because of the T's budgetary management problems that would be resolved by those in control," he pointed out. "Communities have been forced to live within the four percent tax cap and have implemented belt-tightening measures. We should expect no less from our state agencies," Saltmarsh concluded.

Lincoln Parents' Association To Meet February 5

There will be a general meeting of the Lincoln School Parents' Association meeting Feb. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the school library.

Following the general meeting, Sharon O'Connor, community health coordinator at the Melrose-Wakefield Hospital, will present a film on parental stress. Lincoln School hats and the sixth graders' all occasion wrapping paper will be on sale.

Rotondi Meets Members Of Management Task Force

Sen. Samuel Rotondi and Rep. Nicholas J. Buglione (D-Methuen), chairmen of the Special Commission on Civil Service, welcomed representatives of the Governors Management Task Force Jan. 8.

The Special Commission was created several months ago to take an in depth look at the entire civil service system of the State and to recommend changes to formulate legislation to improve the personnel administration of the State.

Alvaro M. Sousa, Vice President of New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, briefly addressed the commission and gave an overview of the Governors Management Task Force's work in general, and specifically, their examination of the state's personnel system. Sousa is working with Governor King's office for implementation of the task force's recommendations.

Melvyn P. Galin, assistant vice president of the Mitre Corporation, addressed the commission for a half hour and then answered questions from commission members.

Galin was a team leader with responsibility for looking at the state's data processing and personnel administration. Also, the following Task Force's members were present and answered questions for commission members: Bayley Mason, special assistant to the president of B.U.; Carroll Miller, a senior personnel official with the Cabot Corp.; and Carmen Pallotta, vice president and director of marketing and personnel administration for the Merchants Cooperative Bank.

The Governors Management Task Force recently issued a report with emphasis on improving state government. As its primary objective, the task force concentrated on suggesting improvements in four basic functions with broad operational impact:

Personnel Administration: the recruitment, hiring and management of State employees.

Data Processing: the design and use of computer systems to process information needed to make operating and budget decisions.

Financial Management: the allocation of funding resources and monitoring of spending activities within State government.

and services required by State agencies in their respective operations.

Commenting on the current state of Massachusetts' personnel system, Galin said, "In performing personnel management, the state cannot hire effectively, cannot fire, cannot promote, cannot train and cannot plan on any really efficient basis. The basic tools don't exist."

The recommendations of the task force included: strengthening the top level human resources management, decentralizing most personnel functions to the operating agency level and delegating municipal personnel responsibilities to cities and towns.

In summing up the intent of the recommendations, Galin stated, "The fundamental thing that we're saying is that policy making and planning functions should be centralized and should be given as much clout as possible, while operating activities should be decentralized and should be at as low a level as possible, where intelligent decisions and judgments can be made on a timely basis."

Following the hearing, Buglione said, "This morning's testimony pinpointed the major personnel management problems faced by the Commonwealth and the Task force made many constructive suggestions. We have found their input most helpful."

Rotondi said "We really appreciate the members of the Task force taking time out of their busy schedules to address us today. We found the testimony enlightening and it will be of great assistance to our commission."

Woman's Club, Juniors, Plans Membership Tea

A membership tea for prospective members will be held by the Winchester Woman's Club, Juniors (MSFWC) Monday 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mitzi Herlihy, 73 Grove st.

Shirley Gomes, director of the Massachusetts State Federated Women's Clubs, Junior Division, will be featured speaker. Nancy Quirk, assistant director, MSFWC Jr.'s will be a guest. Elaine Lundin is in charge of refreshments.

Gilda Lopez, 17 Plymouth rd., membership chairman and coordinator for this program, says the tea is open to all Winchester women who might be interested. The club has an open membership policy.

Winchester Woman's Club, Juniors, is involved in helping and serving its neighbors in the community as well as the world. This year, the club donated gifts and-or time to an orphanage in Chile, the Safe House Emergency Shelter in Lexington, a camp for special needs children, the study of scoliosis detection, and CPR.

On Jan. 19, President Diane Maher, Vice President Carolyn Thorne, Eighth District Representative Rose Capocello and Mary LaGatta attended the Mid-winter Conference, MSFWC, Jr.'s, held in Harwich.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Guy Celona

Roberta Valeri Marries

Francis Celona Of Arlington

Roberta Ann Valeri and Francis Guy Celona were married Oct. 20 at St. Eulalia Church. Rev. James J. Haddad officiated at the morning double ring ceremony which was followed by a reception at Montvale Plaza, Stoneham.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Valeri of 8 Pepper Hill dr., Winchester. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen S. Celona of 18 Churchill ave., Arlington.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white silk organza and Alencon lace gown with high scalloped neck. Small floral Alencon lace appliques enhanced the bodice and long fitted sleeves and full-length train which was also edged in appliques. A matching headpiece held her three-tier chapel-length veil which was edged in re-embroidered Alencon lace. She carried a cascade of red roses, white miniature carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Kim Valeri of Winchester was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sisters, Carla and Lisa Celona, and Elizabeth Reed.

They wore qiana gowns, the honor attendant in burgundy and the bridesmaids in mauve. They carried silk nosegays of roses and carnations with ribbons in contrasting colors.

Stephen Celona of Arlington was best man for his brother. Ushers were the bride's brother, Carl Valeri; the bridegroom's brother-in-law, John Mello; and Thomas Mac Question.

The couple went to Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Las Vegas on their wedding trip. They are now living in Lynbrook, N.Y.

Mrs. Celona is a graduate of Arlington High School, Class of 1975. She studied at Northeastern University and received an associate in science degree in medical assisting from Middlesex Community College. She is a secretary with Ernst Winter and Son USA Inc., of New York.

Her husband graduated from Don Bosco Technical High School in 1975 and East Coast Aero Technical School. He is an air frame and power plant mechanic with Trans World Airlines at John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York.

Methodist Nursery School Open House

Parents interested in enrolling children at the Methodist Nursery School, 34 Dix St., for the 1980-1981 school year may attend an open house Feb. 5 from 7-9 p.m.

At this time the director and teachers will be present to describe the program and answer questions. Brochures, schedules and literature outlining the teachers' professional backgrounds will be available then upon request. Children may attend; materials and equipment will be available for their use.

The Methodist Nursery School program stresses social and language skills. Provisions are made for motor, visual, memory and cognitive development. Sounds, letters and numerals are introduced in a relaxed atmosphere; kindergarten readiness skills are taught to four-year-olds. Progress reports are sent home semi-annually; frequent conferences are encouraged.

Morning classes are scheduled from 9 a.m. to noon. Three and four-year-old children may attend two, three or five morning sessions. Afternoon classes are held from 12:15-3:15 p.m. and are limited to prekindergarten children. Four and two-day afternoon programs are available.

In the event of a snow cancellation, the open house will be held Feb. 12 from 7-8:30 p.m. For additional information, call Methodist Nursery School Director Carol Callahan.

In 1780 Winchester had to provide 24,078 pounds of beef under the levied "beef taxes" for the revolutionary army. The town, like all Massachusetts communities, was also required to provide as many shirts, shoes and stockings as would cover one-seventh of the town's male population. In Winchester this meant 21 blankets and 42 each of shirts, stockings and shoes.

Mystic Valley Board Meeting On February 6

The Mystic Valley Mental Health and Retardation Area Board will hold its regular monthly meeting Feb. 6 at 7:30 p.m. at the Lexington Town Office Building, Room G-15, 1625 Mass. Ave.

The Board, which is made up of citizens from the six communities in the Mystic Valley Area, Arlington, Burlington, Lexington, Wilmington, Winchester and Woburn, has invited the Lexington selectmen to meet with them to discuss the strategy of community facility planning. Selectmen from each of the Mystic Valley towns will be invited for a similar discussion when the Board meets in their town.

Winchester residents serving on the Board are Katrin Cooper, Deborah Cary and Rev. Alan Ferguson.

Cooperative Nursery Annual Open House February 13

The Winchester Cooperative Nursery School will hold its annual open house Feb. 13, at 8 p.m. at the Winchester Unitarian Church, 478 Main St.

The non-sectarian school, formerly known as the Unitarian Cooperative Nursery School, was founded in 1968 to meet a community need for a school in which parents and children participate in a cooperative learning experience.

The school curriculum is aimed at giving each child a happy first school experience in which one learns to get along with others while developing self-esteem and self-confidence. The teachers stimulate each child's individual development through play, socialization, and creative activities such as games, art, and music rather than through formal instruction.

There are two morning classes and one afternoon class available for three and four-year-olds. The morning classes meet on Tuesday-Thursday and Monday-Wednesday-Friday. The afternoon class meets Monday through Thursday and is designed as a pre-kindergarten class.

The school employs two professionally trained teachers, one of whom also serves as the School's director. Jean Mortensen is both the director and the teacher of the morning classes. Anna Olivier is the teacher of the afternoon class. There are two to three parent helpers, scheduled on a rotating basis, available each class to assist the teacher. As a cooperative the school is administered and maintained solely by the parents of the children enrolled.

The open house is an opportunity for interested parents to see the facilities, meet and talk with the teachers, and a chance to talk with parents of children currently enrolled in the school. Registration for the 1980-81 school year will begin Feb. 13, and continue through March 7. Scholarship aid available.

PINGuins Have A Four-Point Bowling Lead

Guy Pollino led the power-house PINGuins to a four-point sweep with a total pin count of 607 in Saturday night's bowling competition.

His teammate, Chat Watts, reinforced the PINGuins' ruthless attack by bowling 89 pins over his average. Pollino rolled the men's high game with a 207.

Floy Stryker, of the sinking DolPIN team, bowled 81 pins over average including the women's high game of 191. Jean Bradley bowled 58 pins over average in a "pointless" effort to keep the PorcupINS within striking distance of first place.

Food and liquid refreshment were served at the home of John and Jean Bradley where team hostilities were set aside until next time when two flagging teams will exert special effort to stop the PINGuins before their lead becomes insurmountable.

Guadeloupe is an off-shore island located in the French West Indies. It is overflowing with relaxing ideas for the traveler. It is dotted with mountains full of waterfalls. There is a 74,100 acre Natural Park which is the only preserve of its kind in the Caribbean. Local crafts include the bright cloth used as wall hangings. They are usually scenes of a typical island character and can be bought in most hotel boutiques and souvenir shops. There is wood-carving, which is an art, so look hard. The best buys are anything French, including perfume, silk scarves, crystal, fine wine and liquors.

St. Mary's Bake Sale Sunday

On Sunday the fifth and sixth grade students of St. Mary's School will be sponsoring a "Bake Sale" to be held in the school hall after the 9, 10:15 and 11:30 a.m. masses.

This event will help the students raise money for their trip in May to the Cape Cod Outdoor Education Center in Yarmouth. The purpose of the center is to provide an opportunity for children and adults to increase their awareness of the outdoors and to enhance their appreciation of the natural world.

It also provides a loosely structured experience away from the classrooms so that children and teachers can live together for a period of time and come to appreciate talents, abilities, interest and characteristics not apparent in a more formal setting.

St. Mary's Plans Events

St. Mary's School will be participating in National Catholic School Week from Feb. 4 through Feb. 8.

Student Day will be held on Wednesday. The students will have a Macdonald's lunch, movie and special treats from their teachers. Feb. 6 is Teacher Appreciation Day. The teachers will be honored with a special luncheon from the Parent's Association and a gift of a plant.

Registration for pre-kindergarten through eighth grades will take place on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of that week from 9 a.m. to noon in the school office. There are no openings in grades two and six for the 1980-81 school year.

On Feb. 7 there will be an open house at 7:30 p.m.

Coming Events

REAL ESTATE

by Ann Blackham

AGE NO BARRIER

There seems to be a misconception about some people being too old to obtain a mortgage loan because they have no chance of outliving the length of the average loan. Thus, the pointed question: Under normal lending conditions, when does a person become too old to buy a home and obtain a mortgage? With certain reservations... never!

If the real estate equity is there and the ability to repay is established, what is the difference if a person is 30 or 70 years of age? Each case, however, must be judged on its individual merits.

A survey of loans by one major Savings and Loan Association revealed that 25 percent of its recent mortgages were granted to families headed by a person 50 or older. One loan was granted to a man older than 75.

As mentioned before, the economic age of the property, its resale value, and the borrower's ability to repay the loan are far more important than age alone.

Woburn, Melrose Fall To Sachemette Hoopsters

The Sachemettes of Winchester now stand at 8-2 in the Middlesex League following two victories last week over Woburn, 37-36 and Melrose, 51-19.

At Woburn last week, the Sachemettes came back from a five point deficit at halftime to outscore the Tannerettes 8-3 in the third quarter, and held on to that edge to beat their rivals.

"The kids really kept their cool under pressure," said Winchester coach Barbara Hollis earlier this week. Winchester had a five point lead with about two and a half minutes remaining but saw that lead wilt to three. They held on however behind the fine play of Laurie Redmond (15 points) and Kathy Day (12 Points). Senior Barbara Jacobs also had an outstanding game for the Sachemettes with 16 rebounds and six points.

At the outset of the game, the locals were faced with the task of continuing Woburn's Tina Bellushi, the league's leading scorer. The Tannerette finished the game with 17 points, but Hollis feels that she was "held" to those 17. "She did most of her damage in the first half," Hollis pointed out. "She would have had about 25 to 30 if we hadn't used a box and one against her."

The Melrose game was a breeze for Winchester, trouncing Melrose 51-19 at the high school. "That wasn't running up the score either," Hollis pointed out. "They just don't have anything there this year."

Some early Jacobs steals (the first four times Melrose brought the ball down court, to be exact) had the Sachemettes on their way to a 16-2 lead at the end of the first quarter. Melrose got their only hoop late in the quarter at that.

Jacobs and Redmond lead the Sachemettes with 14 points each, while three other girls had six points.

"That was an easy game for us and it allowed us to try out a couple of new things," said Hollis of the Melrose tilt. "We tried a new offense out and it gave us an opportunity to work out the kinks."

Hockey Team Still In Last As Lexington, Belmont Win

The long season continues for the Sachem hockey team as their record dropped to 1-11 last week, following losses to Lexington and Belmont.

In the 8-2 loss to the Minutemen last week, Lexington's Mike Sadeghpour scored four goals to lead the powerful Lexington club to an easy win.

Lexington scored midway through the first period but the Sachems came back quickly on a Doug Ross powerplay goal. However, the Minutemen went back on top with a shorthanded goal by Sadeghpour just under two minutes later.

Sadeghpour would add another, with just over a minute remaining to end the first period 3-1 Lexington, but with the Sachems still in the contest.

The Minutemen quickly upped that lead to 5-1 in the second period before Winchester's Jeff Stackpole could answer back with a blast from the blueline.

The final period was simply all Lexington as the more experienced Minutemen club proved they were just that, netting three more goals for the final 8-1 victory.

On Saturday, the Sachems traveled to Belmont for a game they had a very good chance of winning. Belmont was just off a big win over the Red Devils of Burlington and the chance of a letdown was there.

But the Marauders showed early they weren't about to falter, as they jumped to a 3-0 first period lead on the strength of goals by Mike Hume, Brian Nally and Bill Allard and went on to win 7-3.

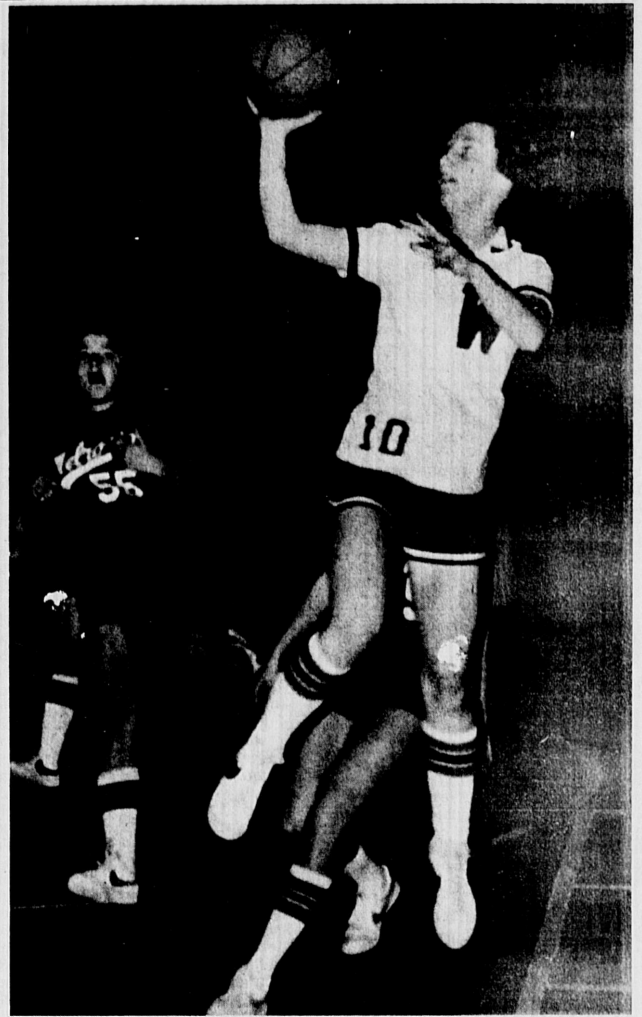

Nally scored a spectacular goal early in the second period to make it 4-0 Belmont, as he snapped a one-handed wrist shot past Sachem goalie Bob Surabian just 33 seconds into the game.

Billy Ferry inally got Winchester on the scoreboard midway through the period when he put a backhand by Belmont goalie Bob Kavanaugh, to make it 4-1 Belmont, which is how the period ended.

Winchester got the quick goal they needed in the third period to get back into the contest, as Ian Donaghey broke in alone on Kavanaugh and put a wrist shot past the Belmont goalie on the far side.

But Belmont put the game away midway through the period when David Silvio and Allard scored 22 seconds apart to give the Marauders an insurmountable 6-2 lead. Winchester's Steve Marino and Belmont's Marty Galway would trade goals later in the period to get the final 7-3.

...On March 20, 1853 the Town of Winchester experienced its first serious fire when, on that Sunday morning, the 12-year-old Congregational Church burned to the ground.

Sachemette Ann Porell goes up for a jumper during last week's one point Winchester victory over the Tannerettes of Woburn. The Sachemettes improved their record to 8-2 this week with wins over Woburn, 37-36 and Melrose, 51-19. (Photo By Marc McGeehan)

Tracksters Wrap Up Season With Victory Over Stoneham, Then Two Losses

By MARK COSTELLO

In the drowning pool of Middlesex League track, the Winchester Sachems struggled for their life: overwhelming an undermanned Stoneham team, and dropping two bitterly contested meets to league co-champs Lexington and Woburn. They finish their short, uneven campaign with a final record of four wins, five losses. Entering the last week of the season angered by earlier losses to defeatable teams, the Sachems closed ranks against two superior squads, Lexington and Woburn, in an attempt to play the spoiler. Against Woburn especially, they came very close to doing this.

Stoneham's track program rests firmly upon the shoulders of a gifted, versatile middle distance runner by the name of Mike Hudson. In most events other than Hudson's mile (which he won in 4:37.6) Winchester was able to take first and often second or third.

The carnage commenced with hurdlers Loukos Natsis and Dave Criscione taking the top two spots in their event. Winchester reinforced this advantage a moment later when Steve Criscione and Tom Wilsack managed second and third in the dash. After two events Winchester had stroled to a six-point lead.

In the 600 yard run, a Sachem strength of late, Ken Kirk sizzled to a first in a league best of 1:17.6. Close behind, a furiously kicking Ken Jacobson managed to overhaul Stoneham's Turner for second. The 300 yard run resulted in Don MacMillan and John Alcione devouring the top two spots. In the high jump Phil Japy took first against thin competition, while in the shot put sophomore Paul Manganaro and senior Rich Montouri ganged up to take second and third.

The Sachem advantage now stood at 24 and for all intents and purposes the track meet was over.

The 1000 yard run saw Winchester take first and third. Danny Joslin, a late blooming runner who has found a home this season in the middle distances, took first in 2:31. Team mate Feza Koprucu hung on for third two seconds later in 2:33.2. Senior Rob Flynn and Tom Doocey swept second and third in the next event, the mile run, finishing in Mike Hudson's wake at 5:02.2 and 5:09. John Provenzano and Pat Kennedy managed first and second in the two mile run with unchallenged times of 10:47.4 and 10:49.8.

The Sachems' second line relay team of Alcione, Rich Fennel, Al Chen, and MacMillan put the icing on the cake with a solid victory in 3:45.6.

Still tasting their sweet and easy victory, the team faced a well-balanced and confident Lexington squad on a cold Wednesday night. Hoping at least to make a good showing against the Minutemen, Winchester stayed even through the early events, but were overpowered in Lexington's one great strength: the long distances. From the 1000 yard run up, Lexington took 25 out of a possible 27 points to blow the meet open.

The night began bleakly, as hurdler Natsis went down to defeat for the first time this season, taking second at 6.4. In the dash, a promising and highly underrated Bob Mueller continued his fine running with a second place finish. In the high jump the Sachems were swamped as Japy scratched for a second with a height of five feet six inches. The Lexington runners had, as expected, an early lead. They were relaxing now, and talking about past meets.

Here, however, Winchester struck like lightning in three events to roar back into contention. Kirk and Jacobson finished on the flanks of Lexington's Kenney, capturing second and third. Manganaro and Montouri again teamed up in the shot put with a first and third. To complete the coup, MacMillan, Alcione, and Wilsack shocked the Minutemen by abruptly sweeping the 300. The once comfortable, humorous track meet had become a bit more interesting.

This, however, was to be the Sachem high water mark. Confident of the overwhelming strength of their hardened distance corps, Lexington subdued their panic and let mathematics reestablish control. Joslin's courageous 2:28.1 was only good enough for a third against the likes of Lexington's Newlands and Ferguson. Running defiantly and in packs, the Minutemen returned the compliment of the 300, sweeping the mile run. Provenzano was a distant, futile third behind Adam Rubin and Charlie Ford, in the two mile run.

Desolated by the slaughter of the distances Winchester's cheering section roused itself to back the Sachems' glittering and gutsy mile relay team, among the best in the league. MacMillan, Wilsack, Jacobson, and the anchor, Kirk took an early lead and then defended it through three legs, winning finally by 10 yards. Their time of 3:39.1 was among the fastest run in the Lexington Cage this winter.

The final meet of the season, against the league co-champs Woburn, was to be the best of times and the worst of times. Without a doubt it was the strongest Winchester showing of the season, and yet in the end it was the most unsettling defeat. Winchester went in as underdog and went out as loser, with seemingly little to show for the effort. But, as the Tanner captain Bob Dabrieo admitted to Winchester's miler Rob Flynn who had challenged him for five laps, "You had me scared."

Natsis, who had been burning on a slow fuse since his defeat against Lexington, exploded in the hurdles. Natsis vanquished a highly thought of Forester of Woburn, taking first in 6.2. Steve Criscione, moved down from the dash, responded with a strategic third in 6.3. Sachem co-captain MacMillan led by example with a first in the dash. Bob Mueller was on his heels, third in 5.5 in the high jump, Japy continued his steady, geometric improvement with a clutch jump of 5'10". Woburn could find no breathing room in the shot put, where Montouri captured first with a heave of 44 feet 7.5 inches. Unanticipated and as magnificent to behold as Donellan's leap, as the dust cleared after the first four events the underdogs lead 25 to 11.

Woburn began the grim march back. In the 600 yard run, a wild, upside-down finish lead to both Lawson of Woburn and Jacobson of Winchester kicking past Kirk (who had led all the way, looking strong and sound) in the dying moments of the race. Jacobson had come from a distant third. The three finished within a stride of each other and the times were three of the fastest of the day. Sophomore Alcione was overwhelmed by Tanners O'Brien and Duran in the 300. He took third. Reaping the benefits of an early tactical charge by teammate Feza Koprucu, Joslin allowed the leaders to tire themselves, waiting for the final laps to rocket to a stunning victory in 2:26.9. Woburn, however, took second and third.

With the ebullient, impossible aura of the early events now dissipated, Winchester's latent weakness in the distance events became plain. The Tanner distance runners - among them the steady, consistent and widely respected Dabrieo, the former child prodigy, sophomore State champ Mike Flynn, and the lesser known workhorses, Stukie, Higgins, and Andrade - went to work, sweeping the mile and the two mile and ending the matter formally.

The relay battle was for pride, and league supremacy. Woburn took both in a bitterly contested fight, with a superb time of 3:36.8. Woburn went home with a share of the league title secure and a combined record of nine wins, no losses, one tie. Winchester had no title and a losing, four wins and five losses final tally. On this, the last day of the season, four points had separated them.

Hoopsters Drop Melrose, Get Crushed By Tanners

The Winchester High boys' varsity basketball team advanced their record to 4-8 last week by splitting two games with the Tanners of Woburn and the Red Raiders of Melrose.

At Melrose the Sachems, down most of the game, came on in the latter minutes of the game to pull out a close 46-43 triumph over the Red Raiders.

"I think it was our overall best performance of the season," said Sachem coach John Myers earlier this week. "We did more good basketball kinds of things."

Winchester, using the press more than they have previously this season, were getting burned in the first half as the Red Raiders were getting behind it, but compensated in the second half to stay in the game.

With around three minutes remaining, the Sachems found themselves behind by about eight points. "But at that point we hung in very well," Myers noted.

Tri-captain John Brosnan, playing the bottom of a 1-3-1 defense which has been successful in spots for Winchester this year, came up with a key steal which led to a basket. Moments later, junior Kevin Thomas made an "outstanding" drive, in Myers' words, through the Melrose zone to put Winchester up by a point.

Eddie Pratt, proving once again that games are won and lost at the foul line, salted the game for Winchester with six seconds left when he hit both ends of a one and one to give Winchester a three point bulge that proved to be the winning margin.

Myers saved his highest praise for tri-captain Jimmy Kohr who tallied 13 points along with some fine rebounding. "It was by far his best game of the year and maybe the best all all-around game that any of the Winchester kids have played," said the first year coach.

Another surprise was the play of junior Matt Groux, who had been called up from the junior varsity team. Starting his first game at guard, Groux had five first quarter points which helped the Sachems get rolling, and finished with seven for the game. "I guess we were hoping he'd give us something from the outside," Myers said of Groux, who had been playing well with the junior varsity.

The Woburn game was not quite as eventful as the Tanners, led by junior Ron Hobby with 23 points, left the Sachems in the dust and never looked back for a 66-49 victory.

"Their overall quickness hurt us," Myers noted. "Woburn shot extremely well from the outside."

Which Winchester did not, especially from the foul line where they were five for 16. Nobody hit double figures for the Sachems, an indication of what a miserable night it was.

Woburn led 19-15 at the end of the first quarter and 31-22 at the half. But it was the third quarter, which saw the Tanners outscore the locals 22-8, that blew the game open.

Fireman's Group Elects Officers

CHOATE HOTLINE NEEDS VOLUNTEERS

Choate Hotline is a 24 hour a day information, referral and crisis intervention hotline with a need for volunteers to answer the telephone and listen with patience and concern in a crisis situation.

Volunteers are needed for daytime and evening hours. The next training class begins February 11, 1980 at 6:30 P.M.

Contact: Susan Clark, 933-6700 - Ext. 375.

What does CLU mean to you?

CLU stands for Chartered Life Underwriter. A CLU is a professional advisor in all areas of business and family financial security encompassed by life and health insurance. Much like individuals in other highly technical professions such as law and accounting, a CLU is a recognized specialist.

To qualify for the CLU designation, candidates must successfully pass ten stringent examinations and meet the high requirements of moral character and ethical business practices.

There is a chapter of the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters in your area. Get to know them better so that they can better serve your life insurance needs.

GREATER BOSTON CHAPTER

On March 20, 1853 the Town of Winchester experienced its first serious fire when, on that Sunday morning, the 12-year-old Congregational Church burned to the ground.

Obituaries

Clementine Hakel

Clementine I. (Koval) Hakel, a former librarian at Winchester High School, died Sunday at Cape Cod Hospital in Hyannis after a long illness. She was 62.

Born in Erie, Pa., Mrs. Hakel was educated in Erie schools and attended Northeastern University. She moved to Winchester from Erie in 1959. Until her retirement in 1977, Mrs. Hakel was a WHS librarian and also worked in the business office of the Boy Scouts of America Minuteman Council in Winchester. Mrs. Hakel was living in Centerville at the time of her death.

Mrs. Hakel is survived by her husband, Carl P. Hakel of Centerville; one daughter, Heidi (Hakel) Zeibig of Winchester; one son, William J. Hakel, Ph.D. of Oklahoma City, Okla.; her mother, Josephine (Abramowski) Zajdel of Hyannis; one brother, Alfred R. Koval, Lt. Col. USAF retired, of Gulfport, Miss.; and one grandson, Steven Carl Hakel of Oklahoma City.

A funeral mass was celebrated yesterday in Our Lady of Victory Church in Centerville. Burial was at Beechwood Cemetery in Centerville. Arrangements were made by the Doane, Beal and Ames Funeral Home, Hyannis.

Jack Harrold

A funeral mass was said last week for former Winchester resident Jack Harrold who died Jan. 22 in at Park View Hospital in El Reno, Okla.

Born and brought up in Winchester, Mr. Harrold was living in El Reno at the time of his death.

A longtime Winchester resident, Mr. Harrold was a retired cattle broker. He was a veteran of World War I.

Mr. Harrold was the brother of the late former Winchester Police Chief Charles Harrold. He is survived by his wife, Matilda.

Rev. Michael J. Hanrahan officiated at the mass. Burial was in El Reno Cemetery with military honors. Arrangements were made by the Wilson Funeral Home in El Reno.

Voke School Drug Program On Tuesday

On Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Listen Inc. of Saugus will be presenting a drug awareness program at the Northeast Regional Vocational School in Wakefield. The Northeast Parent Teachers' Organization is sponsoring the evening in the school auditorium, with the idea that all parents and students of the area will take advantage of this program.

Listen Inc. is a state and federally funded program aimed to promote and support a more effective, satisfying family and community life. Listen has an excellent record with its work with youth in the community.

Wendy Nelson

Former Winchester resident Wendy G. Nelson, 21, daughter of Edwin W. and June (Graves) Nelson Jr. of Maine avenue, South Hampton, N.H., died Jan. 19.

Miss Nelson was a senior nursing major at St. Anslem's College in Manchester, N.H. She was an avid equestrian.

Funeral services were from the South Hampton New Hampshire Baptist Church. Rev. Everett R. Scruton, pastor, officiated. Melvina True was the organist.

Burial was in the South Hampton, N.H. Cemetery. Arrangements were made by the Pillsbury-Gale & Rogers Funeral Home, Amesbury.

Everything for the Bride

Everything for the Bride

Give A Gift That Shows You Care

A wedding is a special occasion — a time to give a gift that sends your best wishes to the newly married couple as they embark on their journey through life, together.

A unique present, something that will not be duplicated over and over again, will be appreciated by the newlyweds and show them that time and effort was taken to choose something extra special for them.

If possible, find out the color and decorating preferences of the couple and select a wall hanging or painting that complements their taste.

Give a planter or hanging basket in an interesting macrame weave, made from various types of ropes and cords. Fill the basket with a plant or a bouquet of flowers.

Champagne buckets, wine decanters, dessert dishes, vases and cheese boards are more traditional gifts yet items that are not commonly part of a newly put-together household — they are luxuries for the twosome just starting out.

Hobbyists will appreciate any addition to their favorite pastime, such as the latest in camping gear, sailing equipment or a weekend of skiing.

And, for those who possess a creative talent, there is nothing like a gift made with the giver's own hands and ingenuity.

Why Brides Say I Do With A Diamond From Marcou Jewelers

To young couples in love the diamond is the universal symbol of engagement.

Though many time-honored traditions have toppled, the tradition of the diamond engagement ring is stronger than ever — 75 percent of first time brides received a diamond engagement ring in 1979.

Invincible symbol

The diamond is the accepted symbol of the engagement promise, representing to young people everywhere the individual expression of their love.

It all began with Mary of Burgundy. She was the first lucky girl to receive a diamond ring for her engagement to Maximilian of Austria, on August 17, 1477.

The diamond has been considered one of the most precious of all materials, almost since the dawn of history. The diamond, the hardest substance known to man, literally endures forever. Once cut and polished, it never loses its beautiful brilliance. The very word "diamond" comes from the Greek word "Adamas" meaning invincible.

Every stone unique

No two diamonds in the world are the same. Each diamond has a personality of its own. Think of a diamond as Nature "doing her own thing."

The major consideration in choosing an engagement ring is, of course, its cost.

Today, a good-quality half-carat engagement ring can cost from $600 up.

Value factors

It is important to know what factors affect the price of a ring. One, naturally, is the size and quality of the diamond.

Another is the amount of gold or platinum in the design.

Because although diamonds, like everything, have increased in price, gold has gone up too. This means that a wide ring will cost more than a narrow ring with the same size diamond.

Putting it another way, for the same price you can get a bigger or better quality diamond if it's set in a narrow band rather than in a wide one.

And it's the diamond, not its setting, that is going to last for a lifetime and beyond. Many diamond engagement rings have been handed down from generation to generation.

What about shape?

The shape of the diamond is also a factor in its cost. The experts at Marcou Jewelers can explain the differences in more depth. In general, the round or brilliant cut is less expensive than the so-called "fancy" shapes, i.e. the marquise, the pear and the emerald cut. The reason is simply that more rough diamonds are found in nature that lend themselves to the brilliant cut.

The oval is an adaption of the round or brilliant cut and appears larger than a brilliant of the same carat weight.

The marquise cut is the name given to the diamond shape that is long and pointed at both ends. The word is a French one in the feminine form and is pronounced mar-KEYS.

The marquise is rather an expensive diamond to cut because some of the rough stone must be ground away in forming the two pointed ends.

It is a very feminine and graceful shape, and has been growing in popularity as an engagement ring choice in recent years. It has a great deal of fire and sparkle like the brilliant.

Brilliant cuts

The pear shape is the English name for the French "pendeloque" which is related to our word pendant. The cut is a variation on the brilliant cut, with one wide end curving smoothly to a point. The point of the pear is always worn toward the fingernail.

The emerald cut — a straight-sided oblong — goes back centuries to the old table-cut method of fashioning gem stones, particularly emeralds. But the emerald cut diamond is the most recently developed of all the popular diamond shapes.

But whatever the size and shape of a diamond, one thing is sure & a diamond is truly forever. Let the staff at Marcou aid you in making the correct choice. They have three convenient locations in Waltham Center, The Watertown Mall and the Meadow Glen Mall.

Chamberlain Photography — Remember The Moments

You're about to celebrate one of the most memorable days of your life, your wedding day; and after the glorious occasion has passed an album filled with cherished portraits recapture the beauty of the day for years to come.

Therefore choosing the right photographer is the most important detail to consider in planning your wedding. Good photographers who can truly capture the mood are hard to find. Jim Chamberlain, recipient of many awards from the New England Professional Photographers Association, recently opened a studio in Watertown Square.

His degree, a B.S. in Professional Photography and ten years of experience have enabled him to perfect a unique style for photographing weddings, family portraits and child portraits. He also has been contracted by Wellesley College, among others, to do senior portraits. One need not question his ability, after observing the many artistic photographs displayed in his studio.

Jim Chamberlain offers an unusual wedding program. His photographs are natural and candid, recalling the true mood of the occasion.

Other photographers, with fancy names, maintain a large staff of part time photographers who are sent to the weddings.

Formally dressed, Mr. Chamberlain takes an unlimited number of candid proofs, without anyone being aware of his presence.

Jim Chamberlain offers many packages which allow the bride and groom the versatility to design a combination of high quality, large and small photographs.

You can see Jim Chamberlain's work displayed at the New England Home Show March 1st - March 9.

After examining his work there will be no question as to who you will trust to photograph your special day.

Visit or call Jim Chamberlain at Chamberlain Studio Photography, Watertown Square, 924-9222.

A Modern Old-Fashioned Wedding

Just about every bride-to-be thinks about having an old-fashioned wedding and capturing the spirit of yesterday for a little while. But not many would like to live that way all the time.

It would be difficult to live without the technical advances that help make life in today's world comfortable and convenient.

A line of color TV sets has been introduced with the technical advances of the space age, in cabinets of varying design—from streamlined ultramodern to the warmth and charm of early American and colonial styles.

These sets, all feature a micro-processor based tuning system which stores channel frequency information and recalls it upon demand.

It provides random and direct access to any of 105 channels—VHF channels 2 through 13; UHF channels 14 through 83; and the 23 mid- and super-band cable TV channels.

To select a channel the viewer simply presses the number of the channel desired, then an enter button, and the station is programmed instantly.

At the flick of a switch on the set, the cable channels can be selected using the keyboard, and non-scrambled programming can be received without the use of a converter or adapter.

A remote control version allows the viewer to turn the set on or off, change channels directly, change volume up or down through a continuous range, mute the sound completely, or zoom in for an instant close-up, without going to the set.

A color TV set with all these features is a gift that will be welcomed on the happy couple's wedding day, and will be a part of many anniversary celebrations in the future.

Here's a tip for photographic sittings. Bring eye drops along with other cosmetics to help capture that special sparkle.

Every bride should try to remember that a woman's personality is most vividly expressed in her face, especially her sparkling eyes. So at a time when most girls are preparing for the Big Day, and don't get enough sleep and rest, let eye drops be a bride's secret beauty helper.

The first step, before applying makeups, is to use eye drops that are recommended by doctors to soothe and relieve irritation. No amount of makeup can make dull, tired, red eyes look attractive.

Beauty Shines Through

Overall good health is important for good looks and is reflected in pictures. So, be sure to get plenty of rest and eat well-balanced meals.

Remember, most brides-to-be lose weight from nervousness, and stringent dieting isn't necessary to keep in shape.

Beautiful skin resulting from daily cleansing and moisturizing is an asset for you and will shine through in your photos.

If you notice a few blemishes from nervousness, try compresses made with a solution of chamomile tea to soothe redness.

A weekly manicure should begin well in advance of your wedding so nails and hands will look pretty. Start with a creamy cuticle remover to refine cuticles.

Since hands show up in photos, moisturize often. For the camera, try a few drops of make-up foundation to cover redness and imperfections.

Experiment ahead for the color polish you'd like to wear. For problem nails, try polishes designed to restrengthening. It comes in a variety of attractive colors. Keep in mind that lighter shades make hands and nails look longer.

A bride's make-up should be natural but not so light that she's left with a pale face in photos!

Highlight your bone structure with contouring and shading. Use foundation slightly lighter than your base to cover shadows under and around eyes, and at corners of your nose and mouth.

For color accents, sweep your favorite shade on cheekbones and lightly at the tip of the chin and across the bridge of the nose.

Accent eyes with a subtle liner on the inner rim of eyelids, curl lashes and use muted shadow colors.

Nature's Wedding Gift

Flowers in season are the best bargains because florists are well stocked with them and can easily order more. What's in season in New York is in season in Chicago, Arizona, California and across the country.

Shop around before choosing a florist. Get more than one estimate of price. Talk to newly wedded friends about their florists. You might profit from their experiences.

But don't shop for too long. Many florists request that orders for large weddings be placed from one to three months in advance.

Because
it's your special day, your cake should also be special.

HAIR OF THE 80'S

Hair to begin the 80's, is soft and chic. The length is flexible. It's up to you. As hairdressers, it's our job to see that your hair looks, feels and is beautiful. At Jon Edwards we're gearing our clientele for pro treatments.

We are pepping up hair, caring more for damaged hair, dandruff, and some complexion problems. They can all be helped and we can do it. More and more women are coming in for hair and scalp treatments to repair hair that's damaged by weather, or over-manipulation, or scalps that are oily or dry. We approach the problems with scalp massage, which brings blood to the hair follicles, and helps you to relax. You'll really enjoy our pure pacs, steamed for conditioning to penetrate into the hair for healthy hair, and our nail manicure program. When you're finished at Jon Edwards, there's no more to be said!

Elizabeth Arden Red Door Beauty Classes

With the wealth of scientific advances in skin care treatments and a new, more sophisticated approach to makeup there's more for a woman to learn about beauty today than ever before. At Elizabeth Arden, beauty experts have devised a unique beauty school designed to meet the needs of today's woman. The Red Door Beauty Classes are fast paced and full of information. Subject matter ranges from the basics of good skin care to the fun and frills of the most recent makeup techniques and how they relate to today's fashion colors and looks. The Elizabeth Arden Red Door beauty classes are being held by Colonial Stores from Feb. 4 thru Feb. 8. Admission is $10.00 and includes a beauty kit of eighteen skin care and makeup products with the use of many other different Elizabeth Arden products during class, plus a $2.50 credit towards an Elizabeth Arden purchase. Each class lasts a full two hours. Register early for the class of your choice by calling, 369-5000 in Concord or 861-7900 in Lexington.

The Basics

The beginning of any great beauty look is good skin. Elizabeth Arden's experts are thoroughly trained in the techniques of skin care for every type of skin, even problem ones. They'll introduce women to some of the newest scientific advancements from the laboratories of Elizabeth Arden.

Products like Visible Difference, a remarkable moisture creme complex that penetrates deeply and actually improves the look and feel of skin in 21 days, will be discussed. They'll teach the all-important three step Elizabeth Arden system of cleanse, tone, moisturize, and will discuss specialized treatment for individual treatment for individual skin problems. There is also a special section devoted to masks and how to use them.

Color Scheming

Once the skin is thoroughly cleansed, the remaining hour of the class is devoted to makeup. The newest makeup looks today are based on adeptness of application. Elizabeth Arden makeup experts will work with each woman to help her master the techniques of using the applicators and brushes supplied in the kit. Under careful supervision women will apply makeup to themselves and will learn where to place blusher, eyeshadow and liner. Color, too, will be discussed and every woman will learn how to choose the makeup colors that work with her skin coloring, hair and eyes as well as her favorite fashion colors.

Today, beauty is a way of life. It's good skin care everyday plus know-how and ease with makeup application. The Elizabeth Arden Red Door Beauty Classes provide the vital information that every woman needs to lead an easier, prettier beauty life.

The Perfect Wedding With Advance Planning

You're in love and you've promised to marry him. Your're feeling as sentimental as old lace and in a bit of a tizzy wondering what to do first. You want your wedding to be a beautiful start to your life together.

The key is organization. A beautiful, formal wedding involves plenty of behind-the-scenes planning. A headstart of six months to a year is recommended.

Once the date is set, the bride usually sits down with her parents to discuss the size, style and budget allocated, taking their personal wishes into consideration.

Wedding expenses are traditionally divided between families of the bride and groom, but the bride's family is entirely responsible for the ceremony and reception expenses.

Six months before the wedding is not too early for the groom to choose his ushers and finalize honeymoon plans. The bride will be busy making the appropriate reservations and shopping for wedding attire for herself and her attendants.

Three months before, the bride and groom should have completed their guest list, taking care to include important members of both families.

This detailed record will be useful later for writing thank-you notes and inviting friends to visit them in their first home.

At this point, the bride should register with the local stores and select her china, silver and crystal.

This is also the time to order the wedding cake if it's not included in the caterer's package. (You can determine if it's more economical to take the cake offered in the caterer's reception package rather than purchasing it elsewhere.)

Next, the unlikely chore of choosing the bridal bouquet and going-away corsage belongs to the groom. Two months before the wedding, he should visit the florist and arrange for corsages for the mothers and grandmothers, and boutonnières for the attendants, as well.

There are so many things to remember in planning a perfect wedding, many couples find it useful to buy a wedding memory album.

It not only serves to record the actual day, but the myriad details leading up to

it. Memorabilia such as snapshots, newspaper clippings, even a matchbook from the restaurant they visited, will revive all the joys leading up to the wedding.

The last few weeks should be a time when the bride and groom can enjoy the festivities being planned for them and the excitement of the wedding to come.

Two weeks before the ceremony, the groom makes a date with his fiancée to get the marriage license. Both bride and groom keep a daily record of the arriving gifts and arrange for transportation for their attendants to the church.

The final week is a time of rehearsal and attendants' parties. The bride gives the caterer a final guest count. And, both she and the groom arrange to move their belongings to their new home.

An Efficient Kitchen

Most of us remember our mom's kitchen as a family meeting place, suffused with great cooking aromas and good things to eat.

Now that it's your turn, and your kitchen, run it efficiently and perform your duties in an enthusiastic fashion, and it will still have pleasant associations for you.

Unique, Etc. — Is Definitely Unique

Keep your kitchen pantry and refrigerator well-stocked with a variety of foods and beverages, including a good supply of basics—bread, milk, eggs, sugar, flour and condiments—and you'll never have to worry about unexpected guests.

With plentiful food, a pleasant atmosphere and a welcoming smile on your face, you're sure to have a kitchen you can be proud of...just like mom.

Webster's dictionary defines "unique" as... "Unparalleled, being without equal, being the only one of its kind." Unique, Etc., 69 Pleasant Street, in Woburn strives to live up to its name by offering hundreds of quality copper, brass, and antique items at very reasonable prices.

If you have driven down Pleasant Street lately, you most surely have noticed the sparkle of the store windows extending a warm invitation to its shoppers.

Owners Jane and Dan Zaiskas travel on a weekly basis from Maine to Washington, D.C. to keep the shop filled with an old-fashioned warmth. The concept of the store originated in 1972 when the couple, newlywed at the time, purchased an old colonial home in Norwood and attempted to furnish it on a limited budget. Their experience showed that the craftsmanship associated with the old wood furniture far exceeded the contemporary styles in quality and yet were available at lower prices. Their search for quality items has grown from a hobby to a business for the Zaiskas couple and they take great pride in offering their selections to their customers.

The sight of an old wood burning stove, a brass coatrack, or a bed warmer can lift the spirits of both young and old. Where else could you find a solid brass clothes pin, a copper spittoon, or that old oak commode that you have been searching for?

The shop is open from 9-5 Monday thru Saturday and boasts a fine selection of brass door knockers, candlesticks, bells, miniature animals, planters, kerosene lamps and many varied gift items.

Shopping at Unique, Etc. is truly a "rare, unparalleled, and unequalled" experience. We are happy to help you with that special wedding gift for that Unique couple.

For Mothers' Of Brides

MOTHERS OF BRIDES: ARE YOUR HOMES READY FOR WEDDING COMPANY?

Mothers of brides, will your daughter's wedding mean steady streams of company?

If so, it may be time to take a close look at your home. It may need some redecorating — the type you have been putting off for years.

Begin with your windows. If your current draperies are old or just boring, consider new ones. Custom draperies can give almost any room a new look or refresh other home furnishings.

At Fabrics for the Home, we have a large and exciting selection of in-stock fabrics, including many brand names. Our prices are reasonable; many are warehouse values. For those who want to take advantage of our custom decorating service, we shall measure your windows at no extra cost.

You will find our custom work of such high quality that you may want to complete your new look with custom slipcovers at Fabrics for the Home, all slipcovers are expertly cut and pin-fitted in your home to fit exactly your chair or couch.

Perhaps your chair or couch needs reupholstering. Fabrics for the Home can expertly reupholster your favorite piece in a wide selection of fabrics: lush velvets, quilted cottons, rich brocades, or serviceable nylons. Check our prices, you will find them way below furniture replacement costs for equal quality.

Even if your daughter's wedding is months away, it is not too early to begin. Avoid burdening yourself with one more last minute rush.

Fabrics for the Home is located at 57 Concord Avenue, Belmont. We are open Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; Saturday, 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Call us at 484-2193.

Hair And Skin Care Center

One of the most important days in a woman's life is her wedding and of course, she wants everything to look perfect. From her hair right down to the tips of her nails. The brides hair and makeup will complete the picture of perfection. She may want a special style or a change of color, perhaps even brightening. All experts agree that the classic bride has a subtle make-up the merest hint of hardness, or too much brightness is not desired. The time to begin learning proper make-up application is during these planning stages, not at the last minute.

Last, but hardly least, skin care is an ongoing concern for all; for the bride it is especially necessary to evolve skin maintenance that makes the face glow and shine with health and beauty. The Hair and Skin Care Center has special packages available which all contain the necessary ingredients to make a perfectly radiant bride!!

Package 1 — Perm or any type of haircoloring; facial with eyebrow-shaping, make-up and manicure along with a wash, cut, blow dry or set. $100. value — Specially priced at $75.00.

Package 2 — Mini-facial with natural make-up; shaping eyebrows; wash, cut, blow dry or set; $39.00 value. Specially priced at $25.00.

Package 3 — Mini-facial; natural make-up; hair style. $27.00 value — specially priced for $15.00.

Say It With Your Lips

Carefully designed lips also are an important beauty statement for a smiling bride, so outline lips before filling in with color and gloss.

Just remember, with a little time spent on beauty care, you're sure to be a vision of loveliness on your wedding day with a beautiful photograph album full of memories to prove it.

Artistic Touch Wedding Cake

Cooking can be creative. Most chefs consider themselves rare artists, rather than slaves of the stove. Adopt the same attitude in your kitchen.

Experiment with unusual dishes from a time-honored cookbook when the time permits. For rushed moments, get down pat a set of easy-to-prepare meals; or have quantities of frozen "whatever" on hand from a previous cooking spree.

When you get right down to basics, it's not the cooking you mind. It's the cleaning-up afterwards that turns you off.

Try wiping up spatters and spills as you go along with an all-purpose degreaser and cleaner. Just spray it on soiled washable surfaces and wipe with a damp sponge or paper towel. Spray a degreaser and cleaner on pots and pans and soak in water in the sink, and the after-the-meal clean-up will go swiftly.

Arrange your kitchen with safety in mind. Place paper towels, dishtowels, plastic cups, electric cords and pressurized containers away from the range-top.

Disconnect small appliance cords, first from the outlet and then from the unit, when not in use. Avoid cramming foods into the refrigerator or freezer, so they don't fall on the next hungry door-opener.

The cutting of the cake is a traditional feature of the wedding reception. Family and friends take special notice of the beauty in this symbol of union.

When everyone takes a bite of your wedding cake, they will be sharing in the joy of the occasion. You will want your cake to be attractive to look at as well as satisfying to the palate.

Start shopping the bakeries as soon as you set the date. Consider professional bakers and friends of the family as well.

A home-made cake can be just as delicious as one purchased from a store.

Consider the cake offered in your caterer's reception package. It's often cheaper and more convenient than shopping for one on your own.

Take into account the time of year of your wedding, remembering that the temperature will influence the freshness upon delivery.

Order the cake three months in advance, specifying to the baker how many people it must serve.

Call and confirm everything two days ahead of your wedding day.

At Mr. Tux, Groom's Fashion: A Coat Of Many Colors

The bridegroom of today has a multitude of chores to be performed before the wedding date has arrived. Among those chores is the selection of formal wear for the male members of his wedding party.

Many grooms seem to leave these arrangements for the very last minute making the selection and coordination a very hard task if not impossible for the formal wear expert to perform. As soon as the wedding date has been set and the colors of the wedding have been decided it is a good idea to go ahead and make the formal wear selection. This is so that the bride and groom will be assured of getting what they want.

At Mr. Tux, complete lines of the three leading formal wear manufacturers are available. After six, Palm Beach and Lord West provide a full variation of styles, colors and sizes.

Today's groom according to Mr. Tux is looking for the more fitted European style and is not afraid to go into different colors to blend the entire wedding party together.

The groom of today is getting more away from the traditional black & white wedding, though it will always be very fashionable. The popular colors lean towards the earth tones from the lightest beiges to the deepest browns and encompasses everything in between.

The collection of formal wear at Mr. Tux is constantly being updated for the benefit of serving every bride and groom in whatever they might want.

According to the Brenners, formal wear arrangements should be made as early as possible to avoid any snags. The bride and groom should come in first and select the style and colors and reserve the number of suits needed. A foolproof reservations system insures no last minute problems. Members of the wedding party come in for their fittings at their own leisure. When the wedding date has arrived they try their suits on the premises. Tailoring services on the premises will provide any last minute alterations to make sure the fit is perfect.

Mr. Tux offers the groom the choice of receiving a complimentary suit if there are five or more in the wedding party, or discounting the cost for the entire wedding party. The bride & groom also receive what Mr. Tux calls "The $1000 plus Dowry." A complimentary coupon booklet worth over $1000 in free gifts and services from local as well as national businesses. This gift is free to the bride and groom just for booking their formal wear arrangements with Mr. Tux.

Mr. Tux is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Reflected In Pictures

Visions of loveliness reflected in pictures

You're about to celebrate one of the most memorable days of your life—your wedding day.

Before you know it, your visions will turn into reality and then a memory—an album filled with photographs of a dream come true.

These suggestions should help you look special both on your wedding day and in those cherished portraits you'll keep for years to come.

Unique Shower Ideas

Unique shower ideas bride, guests and host will enjoy

Almost anyone can host a shower (except members of the bride's and groom's immediate families, of course), and almost anything can be the theme.

A little ingenuity can result in a shower the bride and her guests will remember and smile about forever.

Gifts of scented bath oil, a bottle of champagne, a certificate for ice cream or a sparkling pair of earrings for the wedding day are appropriate presents for this type of gathering.

For the couple who are destined to become "Mr. and Mrs. Fix-It," a shower for women, and for men too, with a hardware theme is fun and different.

Make a table out of sawhorses and a wooden plank (the couple can use it in their new home till the furniture is delivered), and plan a hearty meal of roast beef, cheeses, hero rolls, and salad. Serve oil and vinegar in oil cans. Dish out apple pie for dessert.

Dress the couple up in hard hats

before they open the presents. With gifts of tool chests, tape measures, paint brushes and screwdrivers, the pair will be ready to start putting together their new house or apartment.

A "Round-the-Clock" shower gives company the opportunity to show their creative and humorous side. Each guest is assigned an hour of the day, then brings a gift to match. The guest encloses a note telling why she made her choice.

To start the creative juices flowing: an alarm clock at 7 AM, coffee mugs at 8 AM, and an apron at 9 AM for the breakfast chef—the bride's husband!

Serve Bloody Marys, Chicken a la King in party shells, salad or vegetable and a sweet dessert.

"A thoughtful hostess will plan the shower that best suits the personality and special needs of the couple," says Helen Johnson, Managing Editor of Bride's.

"The hostess can also encourage the bride to list items from the housewares department at her favorite store's Wedding Gift Registry.

"Then the hostess can indicate on the shower invitation where the bride is registered—that way it's easiest for guests to find a gift the bride will use and love."

Modern Meaning

Today, couples enter into marriage based on love. The roles of husband and wife are not as cut and dry as they were in the past — partners grow individually as well as together.

Although the original meanings of certain rituals have gone by the wayside, the rites remain.

We no longer believe, as did the citizens during the Middle Ages, that a vein runs from the ring finger to the heart. However, it is on this finger that the wedding band is still placed.

The Romans also believed that the goddess Juno blessed those married in June. Today, the month of June is still the most popular month in which to be wed.

And, everyone gathers together, dressed in special clothes, to wish good luck and happiness to the new couple.

Relax And Enjoy Your Special Day

Don't hurry the morning of your wedding, nervous as you're sure to be, force yourself to take a deep breath and relax. You'll be a prettier, more radiant bride for it.
